NEWTON HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

Appointment of High Grade Village Committees Gives Splendid Start on Raising $1,500,000

With the raising of one million dollars in preliminary gifts for the Newton Hospital building and equipment fund as their goal the members of the special gifts committee of the hospital campaign organization have begun their work, and at a dinner last Friday night at the Brae Burn Country Club a splendid start in this work was announced by the eight community chairmen, who are directing this work under the general leadership of E. J. Frost, the committee chairman.

The committee is hopeful of reaching this goal by May 21, when a full report of the preliminary gifts will be made at a dinner to which every man and woman engaged in the campaign will be invited.

At the dinner on last Friday night C. E. Kelsey, president of the board of trustees of the Newton Hospital, in urging a number of substantial gifts to the hospital, pointed out that the institution was created 45 years ago by the generosity of a few citizens of Newton and that every large building of the present hospital group had been made possible by donations from wealthy residents of the city. It has been 18 years, he stated, since anyone has come forward to make a donation of a building. Yet in these 18 years the population of the city has increased about 50 per cent, and the wealth of the municipality has grown immensely.

In order to bring to the people of Newton as individuals the importance of the proposed new hospital group, which is to cost nearly $1,500,000, and is to provide for the increased demand for private rooms at moderate cost, a bulletin has been prepared and mailed to about 12,000 persons, Herbert M. Cole, chairman of the campaign publicity committee announced.

Dr. George L. West, who is directing the work of the doctors' division in the campaign, told the group at the dinner that the hospital with its present buildings and equipment was not able to meet the demands made on the hospital, and could not at present do all that the people of Newton were asking and expecting of it. He especially regretted that the hospital had not sufficient private rooms to meet the demand, and that the operating suite was inadequately fitted to care for the regular surgical work and the accident cases that are increasing every year.

Despite the shortage of beds, the cramped quarters in the operating suite, laboratories and X-ray room, and the insufficient housing facilities for the personnel, Dr. West declared that he believed the Newton Hospital was a better hospital than ever. But, he continued, the hospital cannot go on and maintain its high standards unless the physical conditions are improved. The hospital has the highest possible rating by the medical authorities at present, but it may lose this official standing in time unless the present buildings are replaced.

As an example of the non-sectarian character of the hospital, Rupert C. Thompson, chairman of the hospital finance committee, announced that last year of the 3535 patients treated, 59.4 per cent were Protestants, 39.4 per cent were Catholics, and 1.20 per cent were Jewish. To show the charitable character of the hospital's work, he stated that last year 21 per cent of the patients were treated free, 38 per cent at less than cost, and 41 per cent at cost or a slight profit.

It was announced at the dinner that Joseph S. Donovan of Newton Centre, who has just returned from Florida, has accepted a place on the executive committee of the campaign organization.

The committee, which is carrying on the immense task of obtaining preliminary subscriptions of a million dollars, consists of more than 60 leading citizens of all sections of Newton. The personnel of this committee, by communities, follows:

The forty-ninth annual meeting and banquet of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association was held Monday evening in the assembly hall. Over one hundred members and friends of the association attended. The Rev. Ray A. Eusden, pastor of the Eliot church, offered the invocation. After the banquet reports of the various officers were read and accepted. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Harry E. Dodge, general secretary of the Fall River Y. M. C. A. Miss Leonora Farrari, New England's premier accordionist, entertained with several selections.

The resignation of Clarence V. Moore as clerk was read and accepted. Mr. Moore has held this office for twenty-two years, and in recognition of his gift of service to the association was given a vote of thanks.

President Fuller called upon Mr. Harry W. Bascom, general secretary, for his report. Mr. Bascom told the members that the activities that they enjoyed in the various departments of the building were but a part of the Besides Mr. Drummond's historical address at the morning service, there will be at 3 P. M., a service of remembrance, with address by Rev. Charles E. Park, D. The evening service at 7 o'clock will open with a processional, eighty ministers and laymen taking part. Prof. Francis G. Peabody will preach and music will be rendered by the King's Chapel choir.

The pageant by the church school, announced previously, is to be postponed until Children's Sunday.

D., who came to the church as its fourth minister after retiring from the presidency of Antioch College.

LADIES NIGHT

Ladies' Night of the Men's Club of West Newton, held last evening in the parish house of the Second Church, was an unqualified success, both in the large and enthusiastic attendance and in the quality of the excellent program.

After discussing an excellent menu, President John A. Paine gave Hon. George S. Smith an opportunity to present briefly the needs of the Newton Hospital and the reasons for the coming campaign to raise $1,500,000. Mr. Smith made the most of the time allotted to him and made a most favorable impression on his audience.

President Paine took early occasion to call attention to the decorations on the menu card, the work of the well-known cartoonist, Mr. Gluyas Williams, a member of the club.

The lighter portion of the program included singing by Thomas Cooper and company and an impromptu minstrel show in which some excellent jokes were cracked by the end men, Messrs. Thomas Cooper, Jr., and G. P. Sayer, and the interlocutor, Mr. Harold Cranshaw.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Kirtley F. Mather of Newton Centre, whose subject was "The Path of Life," Whence we came, Where we are, Whither we are going. Dr. Mather held the close attention of his audi-

DISCUSS A NEW CITY HALL

Interesting Hearings Held at Newton Centre and Newton Highlands on the Location of a New City Hall

A meeting was held Tuesday night at the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse by the special aldermanic committee on the new City Hall, to ascertain the sentiment of residents of Ward 6 regarding the location of the proposed new municipal capitol. About 250 persons attended. Chairman William B. Baker of the committee presided and a number of the aldermen, including all the members of the special committee were on hand.

John V. Spalding said that most of those present favored either the site at Newton Centre Square or the Homer street location. He advocated the latter because it is the geographical centre of the city. Henry Baily, Chairman of the Board of Assessors, who championed the site bounded by Homer and Walnut streets and Commonwealth avenue, at the first meeting held at West Newton, again took the floor to present more reasons why this locus should be selected. He said that this site would not alone be more accessible to Wards 5 and 6, which contain 52 of the 118 millions of dollars worth of valuation in the city, but that Precinct 2 of Ward 3 and Precinct 2 of Ward 2, both will be much more conveniently served by a city hall at this site. Each of these precincts contains property valued at $10,000,000. Mr. Baily contended that if a city hall will be built, it will serve as a wielding force to make the people of Newton resist any attempt to annex this city to Boston.

According to Mr. Baily, a city hall in the triangle at Homer and Walnut streets will solidify Newton, eliminate the village aspect which has characterized Newton and make the city more homogeneous. He asserted that at present, the neighborhood just west of Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue, the two principal arteries of traffic in the city, is a most unsightly spot. He argued that it can be made into as attractive a place as Boston College and the reservoir grounds at Lake street, which he regarded as one of the most beautiful spots in this state. He referred to the beautiful residences along Commonwealth avenue, contrasted with the glaring ugliness of the undeveloped neighborhood where the city hall and civic center might well be placed. The only public park in Newton that has a garden aspect, according to Mr. Baily, is Farlow Park, and were it not for private gardens, this city could lay no claim to its title, "Garden City." He told of the town hall having been originally located at Newton Centre; West Newton was not the location of the town hall until after the Boston and Worcester railroad had been built about 75 years ago and the north side of the town built up rapidly as a result. Now, transportation is for the most part by auto, the centre of population has moved to near Homer and Walnut streets, and this is where the new city hall should be from the standpoint of accessibility. Mr. Baily argued that the financial problem created by the cost of building a new city hall on this site will not be serious and can be easily met. The city can borrow the money without difficulty, pay for it by a twenty year bond issue and the tax rate will be raised only about 90 cents the first year and by diminishing amounts in succeeding years it would not complicate the school program.

Alderman Baker told of the Board's request to the Mayor to have a committee of citizens appointed to con-

PICKARD STOPS BROOKLINE

Steady pitching by Bob Pickard, the Newton high school pitching ace, won a 5 to 3 victory for the orange and black over its ancient rivals Brookline High Wednesday afternoon at Brookline field in a Suburban league game. Pickard held the Hines' outfit well in hand until the sixth inning when Cotter, first baseman for the home team, drove in three runs with his two-base blow. Newton had enjoyed a four run lead prior to this time and with its margin out to one run it threw a bad scare into the Newton outfit. Pickard had the number of every man on the team except Cotter however and did not allow another run. He fanned eight, passed three and allowed but five hits.

Newton high collected two runs in the first of the third, another one in the fourth, and a fourth run in the fifth. Just to make things a little easier for Pickard his teammates added another one in the ninth. Shaw connected for three safe blows in four times at bat while Gilligan and Murphy who has replaced MacPherson in centrefield, each made two. Pickard smashed out a three bagger.

BURR TENNIS ASSOCIATION

The usual spring tournaments of the Burr Tennis Association, open to residents of Wards One and Seven, will be started next week. These will consist of Men's Singles, Women's Singles, Men's Doubles, Mixed Double, Boys' Singles, and Girls' Singles. Cups presented by the Newton Improvement Association and the Community Club will be awarded to the winners in the Men's Singles and the Women's Singles. Medals will be given to the winners in the other tournaments. The prizes may be seen in the window of Hahn's Specialty Shop.

Registration blanks may be obtained at the Burr Playground, at Hahn's Specialty Shop, and from the secretary, Miss Caroline Fisher, 260 Franklin street, Newton.

Entries for all tournaments close Saturday, May 8th.

COUNTRY DAY WINS

Country Day school baseball team won a free-hitting contest with Browne and Nichols school on the latter's diamond Tuesday afternoon. The local private school emerged a winner 14 to 10. The game was the opening affair of the Private Day School League. The two teams collected a total of 32 hits.

Country Day started off the first inning with five runs. In the third they collected three more; in the fourth, one; the fifth, two; the seventh, another, eighth, two, and ninth, still another. Inglis pitched the whole distance for Browne and Nichols, although pounded for 17 hits. Nine errors behind him permitted many of the runs. Muther carried off the batting honors with four safe blows, while Garrison collected three. Fisher at short and Ellis on second pulled off several nice stops and pretty throws.

Browne and Nichols was held scoreless by White until the fourth frame when they garnered five runs. In the sixth they scored another, and in the seventh sent White to the showers when four runs cut down Country Day's lead to one run. Captain Whorf came into the mound from left field and held the Cambridge private schoolboys scoreless for the remainder of the game.

CANOE MARATHON

The fourth annual cannoe marathon over the five-mile course on the Charles river from Concord street, Lower Falls to Moody street, Waltham, is being arranged. At least 50 entries are expected. Cups will be given as prizes to the first ten finishing, and medals to the members of the Omicron Delta Club who finish in the first 15 after the cup winners. The club scoring the most men in the first 25 will receive a point trophy. The race will be held as usual under the auspices of the Omicron Delta Canoe Association and will take place on May 30th.

MEDFORD UPSETS NEWTON

Medford high upset Newton high 6 to 2 on Claflin field last Saturday afternoon. Newton made six errors behind Pickard and Wilson which aided materially in the defeat. In the second inning Medford scored three runs on only one hit. Newton collected one run in the fifth and in the ninth Captain McCullough belted one for a home run. Connors, pitching for the visitors, allowed but three hits. Holbrook got a single, Proctor a double and McCloough his circuit clout.

AROUND THE BASES

Dummer Academy clouted Richards, the DeWitt Clinton pitcher Wednesday afternoon and defeated the Newton private school nine 17 to 2. DeWitt team made eight errors behind their pitcher which helped to increase the South Byfield academy team's score.

Newton high second team defeated Lexington high school baseball team Wednesday afternoon, 12 to 10, in a return game at Lexington. The orange and black seconds scored eleven of their twelve runs in the first three innings off Perkins but were held to one run in the last six frames by Rauding. Reilly and Brown twirled for Newton. The victory was the second one of the season over the Lexington outfit for Newton seconds as they defeated them 7 to 4 two weeks ago in a game at Newtonville.

Bill Ellison played a great defensive game Wednesday afternoon in the game between Harvard and Springfield Y. M. C. A. college which the former won 2 to 0. The Newton boy made three putouts one of which was a spectacular catch in the 7th.

Allen-Chalmers school was defeated 9 to 2 Wednesday afternoon by Groton School in a loosely played contest at Groton. Allen scored in the second on a pass, two errors and a three bagger by F. Holland. Doyle and Nute were touched for ten hits by the home team.

Jimmie Barr, pitcher for the Wentworth Institute team, won his own game Wednesday afternoon against B. U. freshmen, 4 to 3. Going into the ninth with the score tied at three each, Barr and Castanguay singled. Barr stole third and scored the winning run on an out at first.

In Wednesday's game with Brookline the first fourteen batters to face Pickard went out in a row. Gilligan picked off a few of them trying to steal second. Not one stolen base was made off him.

Newton's infield accepted thirty chances in the game with Brookline with but one error while the Wealthy Town team infield slipped up but twice on thirty-two chances.

In the Harvard-Amherst game last Saturday which was won by the former, Bill Ellison made a spectacular catch of Walker's long fly in the fourth inning after running circles around it.

Howard Whitmore, former Newton high baseball captain and star pitcher, is one of sixteen former high or prep school captains who were among the sixty odd candidates to report for freshman baseball at Harvard this Spring. Whitmore was an all-scholastic hurler while at Newton and is rated the best of the Crimson yearlings.

Whitmore pitched a fine game Saturday against the Worcester academy nine and allowed but six hits, three of which came in the third inning and accounted for the schoolboys' one run. In the seventh the Crimson cubs landed on the Worcester pitcher and scored four runs.

Dick Vaughan, the Yale hockey player, is playing shortstop on the blue baseball team this spring. In the game with Penn Saturday he connected for a single and a sacrifice in four times at the plate. He accepted five chances in the field without an error.

Wentworth Institute, with Jimmie Barr pitching, slaughtered the Allen-Chalmers school nine Saturday at West Newton, 17 to 0. The former Newton high twirler allowed Allen but six hits and he fanned eight.

The Newton Pals won their seventh straight game Saturday by handing an 11 to 4 defeat to the Dorchester Speedways on Victory field. The fast Newton outfit fielded perfectly behind Schlieparker who held the visitors to an even half dozen safeties. The fifth inning was the big time for the local amateurs when five runs crossed the plate.

Five teams in and and around Wellesley have formed the Charles River league, a semi-professional twilight baseball circuit. Three more teams are expected to join. The five already signed up are Sherborn A. C., Needham Town Team, Natick, Newton Upper Falls, and Wellesley. Nines from West Newton and Cochituate are expected to sign shortly.

Newton high to date has won five games and lost three. It has victories over Swampscott, Boston English, Everett, Lynn Classical, and Brookline while it was defeated by Lawrence, Cambridge and Medford. The team is in third place in the Suburban League standing, having won two and lost but one.

In and out baseball has marked the play of Coach Dickinson's outfit. They started off against Swampscott with a bang, collecting 22 runs. In their next two games they got men on the bases but could not bring them over the plate. Pickard and Wilson pulled them through with victories in the following three contests. Against Medford they made six errors which lost the game. Wednesday at Brookline they played the best game of the season. When hits meant runs they made them and on the defense they played nearly faultlessly behind Pickard. Perhaps they have at last found themselves and in future games can be depended upon to a greater extent.

SPORT NOTES

Mr. Howard M. Biscoe of Waban holed out from the ninth tee of Brae-Burn's short course the other day. It is a 150-yard hole and he used his mashie for a putter.

The first big crowd at Riverside on the Charles and the first tipovers of the season were reported Sunday. Two rescues were made by the Metropolitan police. Three Roxbury youths were pulled out of the water near Norumbega Park by Patrolman Tevlin. A Harvard student was rescued near the same place by Patrolman Austin.

William Blaney, the Waban golfer, a student at Williams, has been having tough luck all year. He was ineligible for the first part of the hockey season which kept him from winning his letter and now scholastic difficulties have barred him from baseball and golf. He is one of the two best golfers at the upstate college and his presence will be missed.

Horace Cole of West Newton won second place for Yale in the outdoor triangular track meet between Yale, Dartmouth, and Pennsylvania, last Saturday.

Bill Henrich, former Newton high hurdler, now competing for Harvard, won fifth place in the 120-yard high hurdle event in the dual meet between Harvard and Tech last Saturday.

Newton high outdoor relay team placed second in its heat with Boston Latin and Lowell at the Boston College interscholastics last Saturday. Boston Latin won the heat. Newton's time was not fast enough to even give it a point in the final standing.

Joe Nivling of Wesleyan tossed the javelin 148 feet, 10 inches in the dual meet with Williams Saturday. The Newton Centre boy's throw gave him second place.

Newton high school's outdoor track team will meet Concord high next Tuesday on the Concord track.

Exeter Academy golf team nosed out a three to two win over Newton high last Saturday at Exeter. Exeter won the first three matches handily but Newton took the final two. It took Ted Manning five extra holes to pin a defeat on Fates of the prep school team. P. Gianferante scored for the orange and black by defeating Hemelright 1 up. Capt. J. Gianferante, Devlin and Benger lost to their opponents.

The Newton high track team has entered a strong team in the Harvard interscholastic meet which takes place next Thursday in the Stadium.

Newton high baseball team faces Rindge Technical tomorrow afternoon in Cambridge in a Suburban league game. Wednesday Claflin Field will be the scene of another league game when Somerville high will cross bats with the orange and black. Next Saturday afternoon Newton high will entertain the Natick high nine at Newtonville.

Monday afternoon the Newton high golf team scored a 4 to 1 victory over the Brookline high team on the Commonwealth Country Club links. The feature match was that between Capt. Gianferante of Newton and Steele of Brookline. It took the Newton leader 20 holes to pin a defeat on the Wealthy Town team golfer. Tom Gianferante turned in the best card, a 75, when he defeated Maginnis 5 and 4. His card held five birdies and two eagles. Berger and Manning won their matches handily. Mullowney of Brookline scored the only point for his school by defeating Paul Devlin 6 and 5.

Clem Coady was the guest of honor at the annual meeting of the Harvard Club of Hingham last Friday night.

RED CROSS

On Friday and Saturday, the 14th and 15th of May, at the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston there will be held the Annual Conference of New England Chapters of the American Red Cross.

All members of the Newton Chapter will be welcome at the Conference and it is hoped that many of the officers and directors of the chapter and the various branches will find it possible to attend.

There will be addresses by men notable in the Red Cross organization and particularly interesting will be the talk "Around the World with the Red Cross" by Mr. T. B. Kittredge, Assistant Director General of the League of Red Cross Societies. In addition there will be round table discussions and on Friday, the 14th of May, luncheon will be served at 12.00 o'clock noon.

Anyone desiring to attend may notify Mrs. Marcus Morton, The Charlesgate Hotel, 535 Beacon street, Boston, or communicate with the Red Cross Office at 12 Austin street, Newtonville.

LIGHTNING HITS HOUSE

During the violent thunder storm Sunday night, a bolt hit the house at 149 California street, Nonantum, occupied by Mrs. Martha Halloran, and demolished the chimney. The roof caught fire and Box 246 was pulled. The heavy rain kept the flames in check until the firemen arrived and the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. Later in the night a pole of the Edison Company at the corner of Walnut street and Prospect avenue, Newtonville, caught fire and some person sounded Box 261. It was supposed that the lightning was also responsible for this blaze.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

The Norumbega District Sunday School Association held its annual convention Thursday evening, April 29th, in the Phillips Church, Watertown. Over 200 were present for the dinner, and many more came afterward to listen to the very able and interested address given by Professor Kirtley F. Mather, of Newton Centre, on the subject, "Science, Religion and the Future."

Reports of progress were given by District Committees. The Community Training School at Newtonville has had an especially successful year, having reached over 230 different persons in its enrollment during the two ten-week semesters. Many of these individuals have taken credit for single courses, although not for all courses. Graduation from this school requires that there shall be twelve units of credit, each unit representing a ten-week course of study with assigned outside work and reading. Four such credits may be obtained in a year. There were two graduates this year, Miss Rosamond Hine of Newtonville and Miss Myrtle A. Howe, of Waltham. However, about 60 single credits were issued. Also Certificates of Attendance were presented this year to 10 persons who have attended regularly for three years, although they have not been taking credits for all classes attended. Newton persons receiving these certificates were: Mrs. E. Leslie Colton, Mrs. Freda B. Fisher, Charles T. Harrington, Mrs. Arthur F. Jones, William H. Medlicott, Fannie L. Stowell and James B. Taylor.

The Young People's Council of the District was represented by its president, Arnold E. Nichols, of Newtonville. He presented the purpose of the Council; namely, to foster fellowship between young people of different denominations, to provide opportunity for leadership training, and to assist in raising the standards of Young People's work in all the churches associated with the Council. He followed this by telling of the activities of many types, undertaken by the Council to carry out their purpose.

Plans for the District Music Festival were announced by Alonzo A. Cole, chairman of the music committee. This Festival will take place on Sunday afternoon, May 23, at the Eliot Church, Newton. This is a gathering of Sunday School children of the ages 9 to 15 years, and the program for this year is an attractive arrangement of songs and processionals, under the theme of "A Song Festival of the Twelve Months."

The Finance Committee reported a budget of $4500 for the coming year. Officers elected for the coming year are G. Lewis Foster of Belmont, President; Everett A. Greene of Newton Centre, 1st Vice-President; Nathan Heard of Newton, second Vice-President; Rev. A. L. Blacklock, of Waltham, third Vice-President; Charles A. Haskell, of Newton, Treasurer; Miss H. Bernice Adams, of Waltham, Recording Secretary, and Mr. R. O. Walter, of Auburndale, Chairman of Finances.

NEWTON POST NO. 48, A. L.

Newton Post will endeavor to establish a Legion Flagway in the City of Newton, and their representative will have the proper credentials from the Commander of Newton Post, the proper city authorities, and the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

Commander Stopford is in receipt of an invitation from the Central Church of Newtonville, to have Newton Post attend the Memorial Services which will be held at 11.00 A. M., on Sunday, May 23, 1926. The Post has accepted this invitation and will attend in a body on this date.

One of the features of the Memorial Day Parade, this year, will be the appearance of Company C, M. N. G., in the new style regulation uniform.

Fred Cahill, of West Newton, is arranging for the transportation of the Disabled Veterans of Chelsea Naval and West Roxbury Hospitals, who will be the guests of Newton Post at the Welfare Concert, Sunday, May 16, 1926, at Norumbega Park. Manager White of Norumbega Park has informed the local Legion that the disabled veterans can be the guests of the Park Management under the direction of Newton Post.

"THE GREAT NORTHWEST"

About 300 people turned out to Central Church Saturday night to listen to the illustrated travel lecture given under the auspices of the Central Club, Ace's Club, and Central boys, by Mr. Frank Branch Riley. Mr. Riley is a very gifted speaker with much power of eloquence and a keen sense of humor. He is a great enthusiast in regard to the scenery of this country, and deplores the fact that so many Americans have very little idea of the majestic beauties of their own land.

Mr. Riley dwelt at considerable length in this lecture, the subject of which was "The Lure of the Great Northwest," on the great forest resources of the states of that section, and he showed how the country is dependent to a very large extent on the woodlands of those states for its supplies of building material, and he expressed regret of the waste of forest resources that has taken place in past years.

The pictures that illustrated this lecture show the mountains, forests, rivers, and lakes of those states under their most lovely conditions. One series of slides illustrated the adventures of parties of climbers in ascending Mount Hood, in a realistic way. Mr. Riley feels that people hive themselves up too much in cities and do not become familiar as they should with the beauty of natural scenery and they do not gain the benefits they might have from activity in these scenes of nature. The lecture was for the benefit of the memorial organ fund of the church, and the speaker was warmly applauded.

BOY SCOUTS

The Annual Rally of Norumbega Council will be held at Claflin Field, Saturday, May 22nd, the Assembly being sounded at 2.30 P. M. There will be the parade of the entire council, followed by various contests to determine the winner of the Irwin Cup, which goes to the most efficient troop in the council. Troop 4 of Newton Highlands is now the holder of the cup, and has been successful in keeping it all but one year since it was given, that one year it being in the hands of Troop 7 of West Newton. The contests will be Friction Fire, Signalling, (Morse and Semaphore), Antelope Race, Water Boiling, Knot Tying and Drill with a demonstration by the various Bugle and Drum Corps and the Seascouts. Admission is free and the particular attention of parents is called to the fact that this is the Big Event of the year in Scouting and they are especially wanted to see what their scouts can do to boost the troop from their district. Every Scout and Officer should be on hand in full uniform, but the lack of a uniform need not keep them away. The Committee in charge of the arrangements is Marshall I. Stone of Newton Centre, Frank E. Lichtenthaeler of Newton Highlands, John M. Woodbridge Jr. of Newton and Richard W. Cotton of Newtonville.

Mr. Jerome M. Carley, the Commissioner-Executive after an operation, is around again. During his absence the outside work of the Council has been under the charge of Deputy Commissioner Varney, assisted by Deputy Commissioners Stone and Woodbridge, and Mrs. Carley has handled the office work.

Scouts will again this year decorate the graves of their brothers who have "passed on" and committees are now being formed in each troop to secure flowers and take them to the cemetery the morning of Memorial Day. Information as to the location of any scouts' graves is wanted, and also names of any scouts that have died and been buried in Newton during the past year should be sent to Scout Headquarters, Newton, Mass.

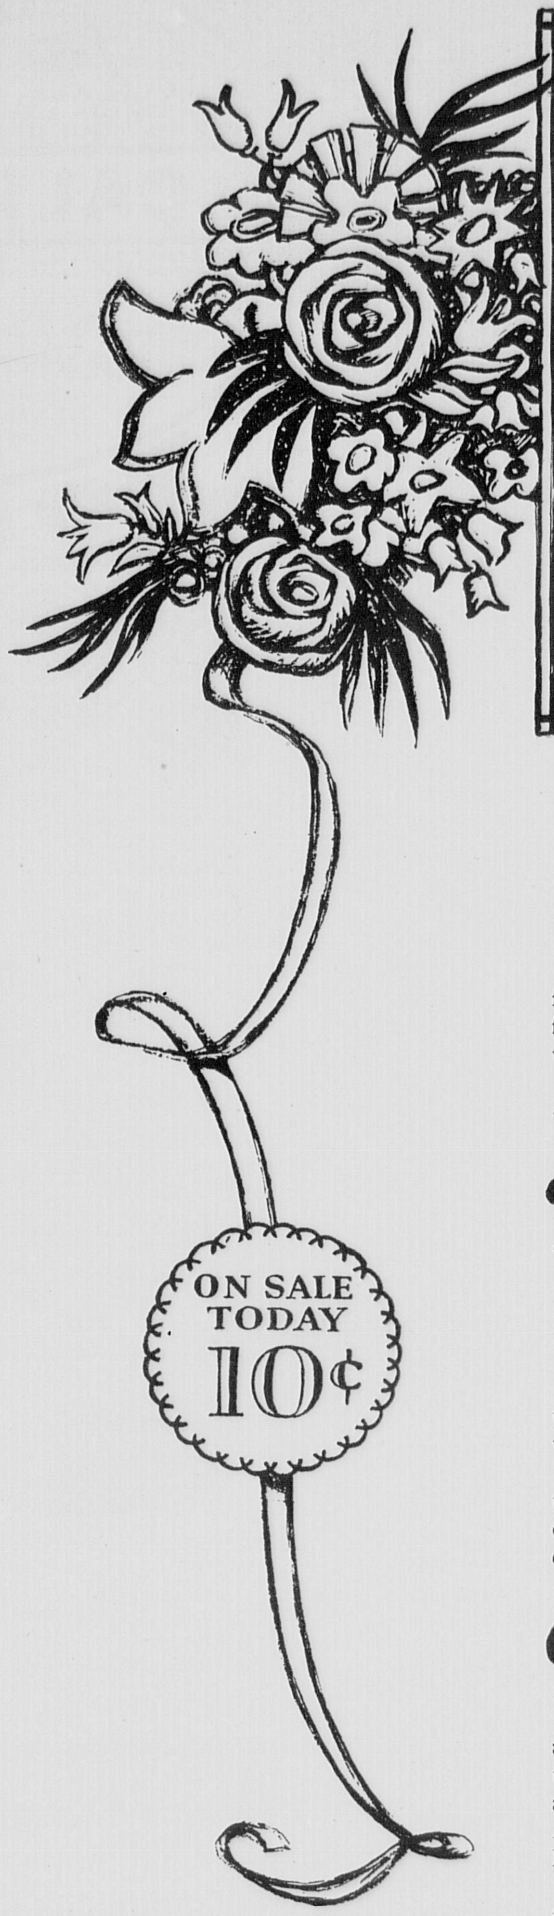
A Court of Honor will be held May 12th at Auburndale; applications should be sent in immediately. This will not be in connection with any meeting, but will be held at the Congregational Church at 7.30 P. M.

PUBLIC REHEARSAL

Many Newton people are interested in the public rehearsal to be given next Tuesday morning, May 11, at 9 o'clock at the Perkins Institute for the Blind at Watertown by the choir and orchestra of the institution. The public is invited to attend the rehearsal which is in preparation for the concert to be given on Thursday at Jordan Hall, Boston, under the auspices of the New England Music Festival Association. The full orchestra and choir will include in its program, "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place" by Brahms, "Chorus of Homage" by Gericke, and Faning's "The Vagabonds."

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HAVE COMMUNION BREAKFAST

Newton Council, Knights of Columbus, held its annual communion breakfast Sunday morning in the hall of the high school of the Church of Our Lady, following communion at that church. About 200 members were present. Following the breakfast Grand Knight John Dunton presided and introduced as speakers Mayor Childs and Peter Collins. The Mayor lauded the Knights of Columbus for the useful activities they have engaged in since the institution of this organization. Mr. Collins, who for many years has travelled throughout the United States and Canada as a member of the Speakers Bureau of the K. of C., took for his topic "The Value of Encouragement." He is soon to become a resident of Newton.



"I LOVE YOU"

THREE WORDS . . . . three words which burn with youth, with hope, with all things clean and fine. Three words which ring ever youthful throughout our lives. Three words which—alone of all words of which man is master—hold that sovereign magic to mock the slow ebbings of the days, the turnings of the seasons, the endless circlings of the years.

And so it was that at the words, "I'm in love with you, Callista Bayne," everything—pride, hunger, vanity, and fear—was forgotten in the sheltering harbor of a splendid love.

BRAMBLE BUSH, by Stacey Hutchings, is a glorious story of love and youth that calls to the eternal youth that lies in every one of us. Complete in the May Journal, NOW ON SALE, ten cents.

Black Water

By Hugh MacNair Kahler

Even the midday sun, filtering through interwoven branch and creeper, threw but a fitful light on the tangled maze of waterways which made Black Water a name of terror.

A few squatters lurked in its furthest depths—a strange, wild race, capable of even the strangest of that whirl of strange events in which Mark Dutton found himself plunged, once he had looked into the cool, gray eyes of Marian Farre.

BLACK WATER, one of the strongest stories of the year, begins in the May Journal, Now ON SALE, ten cents.

How Harold Lloyd Makes You Laugh

Tonight tens of thousands will laugh and thrill at the antics of a tall, solemn, young man with great horn-rimmed spectacles.

Yet how much keener would be their interest if they but knew the tremendous amount of brains and thought that goes into the making of one of these comedies.

Here, in this fascinating article, Harold Lloyd tells you the whole story. Starting with the years before he arrived at stardom, he outlines everything—and even reveals some interesting details of the making of his latest picture. Complete in the May Journal, Now ON SALE, ten cents.

Other Features in the May Journal

Four splendid short stories, four novels and a one-act play swell the list of fiction to a total of eleven. And all by such favorite authors as Booth Tarkington, Zane Grey, Albert Payson Terhune, Sophie Kerr, and Elsie Singmaster.

Maude Adams continues her own wonderful story of her life and art. The Princess Cantacuzene writes on Russia and its refugees. S. Josephine Baker, M.D., pleads for a proper home for every child. ALDERMANIC MEETING

Newtonville Methodist Church Opposes Garage on Newtonville Avenue. Channing Street Widening Discussed

The aldermanic meeting Monday night could hardly be termed dull. On the contrary, it was a sharp session, with some very cutting remarks exchanged between the members. One of the members of the 1924 Board remarked that the aldermanic organization of that year resembled a social club, so harmonious were its members. The present Board of Aldermen is not emulating Quakers at its meetings. No Dove of Peace is fluttering around the aldermanic chamber. The acrimony which is being displayed may not be soothing to the nerves of the participants, but it causes the meetings to be quite interesting to the "gallery."

The first matter on the docket Monday night was the hearing on the petition of John T. Burns & Sons for a 3-car garage at Newtonville avenue. Pronounced opposition developed against this petition. George W. Taylor said he represented the trustees of the Newtonville Methodist Church and that they were unanimously opposed to a commercial garage being erected in proximity to the new $260,000 edifice. Between Walnut and Harvard streets, on Newtonville avenue, according to Mr. Taylor, are 21 residences, mostly single, and private garages with accommodations for 30 cars. There is ample space in this neighborhood to erect more private garages, if they are needed. Mr. Taylor announced that all the trustees of the church were present and ready to speak if the aldermen so desired.

John Finelli said he represented his brother who owns property next to the proposed location of the garage and that the latter, which is intended as a rental proposition, is unnecessary as there are several large public garages in the neighborhood. Others who protested were William T. Rich, Joseph C. Atkinson, Joseph A. Hills, Stanley MacMullen, Calvert Crary and L. D. Baker. Charles A. Haskell of Hollis street, Newton, explained that although not a member of the Newtonville Methodist Church or a resident of that village, he is interested in the city of Newton and anxious to aid in conserving the attractiveness of the city. He asserted that it would be a shame to allow a commercial garage to be erected close by such a beautiful church and that all churches in the city should be protected.

John T. Burns, Jr., said he was the petitioner and that in view of the opposition he would withdraw the petition. Mr. Burns remarked that he thought those protesting had exaggerrated the objectionable features which the garage would cause. According to Mr. Burns, a business block on Bowers street backs up the rear of the lot on which it was proposed to build the garage and the lot is a parking space for rubbish from the stores in this block.

Hugh Boyd appeared as attorney for John McDonald, who is petitioning for a gasoline filling station at 2016 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale. He explained that the lot has a frontage of 189 feet on Commonwealth avenue, mostly on level ground and that a number of large billboards now on this property will be removed if the permit is granted. Mr. Boyd argued that there is little or no foot traffic by the proposed filling station site, that no school children pass by it and that the usual well built station will be erected on the property if a permit will be granted. He said, "The only objection which can be raised against the granting of the permit is that 'there are too many stations.' Gasoline stations are necessary appertenances of motor traffic roads and no sensible business man would build a station if he thought it would not be needed. The nearest houses are across the avenue, which is 50 yards at this point." Mr. Boyd concluded his argument by remarking that an attractive gasoline station would be more sightly than huge billboards advertising "Fairy Soap" and "Schoolgirl Complexions."

Harold F. Young said he lived almost opposite the location sought and he asked if the petitioner has a recorded deed to the property? Mr. Boyd answered that Mr. McDonald has a deed to the property. Mr. Young told the aldermen that the property owners in that neighborhood are in conference regarding the billboards referred to by Mr. Boyd and hope to compel their removal under the law recently passed. He differed with Mr. Boyd regarding the percentage of the lot which is on level ground, and asserted that Auburndale has more than its share of filling stations on Commonwealth avenue. Mr. Young claimed that Commonwealth avenue is four miles long from Lake street to the Charles river at the Weston bridge. There are nine filling stations scattered along this stretch and five of these are in Auburndale. Mr. Young was somewhat incorrect regarding the length of the avenue in this city. It is 29,291 feet from the Boston line at Lake street to the bridge at the Charles river, or over 5½ miles.

Miss Maud Withington objected to the permit being granted because a filling station might disturb her mother, who is an invalid. Attorney Boyd answering Mr. Young's reference to the fact that Auburndale possesses most of the filling stations on the avenue, stated that practically all of the avenue outside of Auburndale is in residential zones.

James P. Gallagher appeared for George A. Haynes who petitioned for a filling station at 104 Needham street, Upper Falls. He explained that this location is in a manufacturing zone, and opposite land zoned as unrestricted. It is situated on a state highway with practically no foot traffic. There will be no danger to pedestrians or auto traffic and the petitioner will erect a substantial, respectable building. No person appeared to oppose the petition. When the hearing was called on the petition of S. Moran for a building for a gasoline selling station at 123 River street, West Newton, no person appeared either to favor or oppose.

On the matter of establishing a building line on the westerly side of Channing street to a depth of 10 feet for a distance of 100 feet northerly from Washington street, James P. Gallagher appeared for Bernard M. Burke, whose land would be affected. He said that the arguments he offered at the second last meeting against the relocating of Channing street at this point, would hold against the new proposition. He had not heard that the first order had been withdrawn and the aldermen could hardly act favorably on both orders. He argued there is no real need for widening Channing street, that the apprehensions of the person responsible for this proposal are not well founded; there is little vehicular traffic on this street and stores on the corner will not increase foot traffic on it. He told the aldermen there is much more need of widening streets and corners in other places in the city. No one spoke in favor of the order.

Anna M. Mutch spoke in favor of the petition of Wheeler & Company for permission to enlarge a 2-car garage to a 3-car garage. A communication was received from the Newton Chamber of Commerce favoring changes in the Building Code to permit the erection of apartment houses in business zones. Rose O'Donnell, who has been refused three times on petitions to have her property at the corner of Crafts and Washington streets changed from general residence to manufacturing zone, entered another petition. The Committee on Public Works recommended leave to withdraw on Order 564-27. There was no opposition to the report and the aldermen voted to adopt it. This was the order presented a few weeks ago by Alderman Madden calling for the widening of the westerly side of Channing street for a distance of 100 feet north from Washington street. The Public Works Committee reported no action necessary on the proposal for a foot passage from Ward street to Waverley avenue as plans for a different location are contemplated.

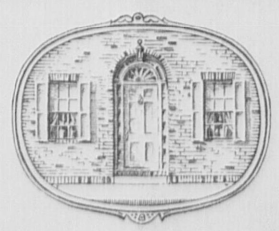
The aldermen voted to hold a hearing on May 17 on the widening of St. James street. It is proposed to take land on the westerly side of this street from Washington street to the Boston & Albany bridge and on the easterly side of the street from the bridge to Charlesbank road. They also voted to settle the Dyson claim by a payment of $75. This claim was occasioned by damages done to a house by blasting.

Alderman Madden, for the Claims and Rules Committee, explained about the rezoning of land in the vicinity of Greenlawn avenue, Newton Centre, from general to single residence. Those parcels of land on Walnut and Beacon street which at present are in business zones will remain unchanged. On motion of Mr. Madden, the rules were suspended to permit the report of the committee being voted upon and accepted. Chairman Weeks of the Finance Committee favored the appropriation of $1000 for plans for the proposed city stable on Eliot St., Newton Highlands. He explained that this stable may not be erected until after the completion of the new junior high school for the west side, but it will be required eventually. Alderman Bail told of the need of the $105,000 bond issue to provide for continuance of work on the 20-inch water main.

Chairman Bliss of the License Committee moved the granting of permits for one and two car garages, a list of which is printed in another part of the paper. He also asked that the petition of George A. Haynes for a gasoline filling station at 104 Needham street be granted without further reference. Alderman Bail said that while he did not object to a permit being granted for this station, he did object to any permit for a filling station or a public garage being rushed through the same night the hearing on such a petition was held. He asserted such procedure is not safe and asked that the matter be referred to the License Committee and be voted upon at the next meeting.

Alderman Hodgdon said he resided in Ward 5 very close to the locus of the proposed station, and that while he has been reluctant to vote for filling station permits, even when they were sought by personal friends of his, he saw no reason for postponing action on granting the Haynes permit. Alderman Bliss stated that his committee had given this matter careful consideration, that he liked to keep the list of petitions cleaned up as much as possible and that he disliked to have aldermen wait until the last minute to register objections. Alderman Bail replied that he had told Mr. Haynes he favored the granting of this permit, but that he still believed that such permits should not be rushed through and he entered a Charter Objection to compel postponement of the vote upon it until the next meeting.

Alderman Earle informed the Board that the Public Works Committee has decided that a special committee should be appointed to investigate the matter of garbage disposal in this city. The present contract expires in October, 1927, and it is the opinion of the Public Works Committee that steps shall be taken to determine whether the city will continue the present method of having the garbage by contract, or whether a change will be made. Alderman Baker and George Pratt referred to the series of public meetings which will be held in different parts of the city to discuss the location of the proposed new City Hall.



President Pratt suggested that if there was no further business before the Board, a motion to adjourn would be in order. But the Board did not adjourn. Alderman Madden arose and asked what action had been taken on the order concerning the relocating and widening of Channing street at its Washington street end? He was informed to his surprise that the Board had voted to adopt the report of the Public Works Committee giving leave to withdraw on this order. He said that inasmuch as two of the aldermen from Ward 1 were in favor of this order, that he thought the Board should reconsider its action on this matter, and he so moved. His motion was lost by a vote of 11 to 7. Aldermen Weeks and Collins then asked for reconsideration out of courtesy to Alderman Gallagher and Madden, but as both had voting on the losing side their motions could not be entertained. Alderman Leahy, who had voted with the majority, then moved reconsideration and his motion was carried.

Alderman Madden said he had introduced the order for the widening of Channing street based on several precedents. He cited Walker and Washington streets, and the corner of Walnut street and Highland avenue as examples. He stated that Channing street is one of the narrowest streets in the city, is apt to be developed as a business street and to protect the travelling public, and the business men who may locate on it, it should be widened. He opined that although Channing street is a one-way street, such streets will be obsolete in five years. Alderman Gallagher told the Board that some of the members of the aldermen have got it into their heads that the widening of Channing street on its southwesterly corner at Washington street is a personal matter with him. He asserted that such is not the case, but that he is interested in this matter as an alderman working for the interests of his constituents. He said that City Solicitor Bartlett had told him that he is in doubt as to whether all owners of property on the west side of Channing street cannot build out to the street line if the block of stores now being erected at the corner of Washington street is permitted to be built out to the line. He asked for a definite ruling from Mr. Bartlett.

The City Solicitor told the Board that he had informed Mr. Gallagher that while it is his private opinion that there is some possibility that owners of property along the westerly side of the street might have the right to build to the street line under the ordinance relating to building lines being determined by the location of any building on the same side of a street within a distance of 200 feet, or as far as the next intersecting street, that under the zoning ordinance differentiating between setbacks in business and residential zones, he must rule that buildings on the part of Channing street included in the general residence zone cannot be erected out to the street line.

Chairman Earle of the Public Works Committee explained that the matter had been thoroughly investigated and it was considered that no danger to traffic will result from the erection of the store building, that one-way streets will continue in vogue as they are less cluttered with parked cars than wider two-way streets, that the majority of Channing street residents do not want their land taken for widening purposes, and that the numerous side streets just west of Newton Corner will always be just side streets. He asked his two colleagues from Ward 1 why they had not put in petitions for the widening of Bacon and Thornton streets at their Washington street ends, why they had delayed asking for widening of Channing street until a permit had been granted for the erection of a building there? Alderman Gallagher asserted that there is no desire to widen all of Channing street and that those signing petitions against the widening were given the wrong impression. He only wants the street widened for 100 feet. Alderman Gordon asked Clerk Grant to read the petition referred to and Alderman Earle explained that the petition had been kept by the Committee and not turned over to the City Clerk. He then read the petition.

Alderman Madden said that it is probable that a large public garage may be built on Channing street and Alderman Hodgdon asked him how such a garage can be built when the street is in the general residence zone? Madden replied that real estate speculators had been considering the purchase of the Gallagher and Cannon properties for such a purpose and that it would be easy to have the zone changed. Mr. Earle retorted that if the Claims and Rules Committee, of which Mr. Madden is chairman, would grant a change in this zone so readily, it would display a more liberal spirit than it has shown in similar petitions for zone changes in other parts of the city. He argued that there are many places in Newton where the need for widening is much more urgent than on Channing street. He cited the corner of Centre street and Centre Place as an example. He said that if the aldermen desire to incur a huge debt by starting a policy of street and corner widening throughout the city, he will vote with them, but that other improvements are much more needed.

Alderman Heathcote endeavored to pour oil on the troubled waters by suggesting that the Public Works Committee hold a recess meeting, and get together with Mr. Burke, whose land would be taken if the order under discussion were passed, and Alderman Gallagher. He eulogized the sterling qualities of the Channing street alderman and his neighbor, and he expressed the opinion that when these two old friends met with the committee, a compromise could be effected that would be agreeable to both. Mr. Heathcote, as a peacemaker, did not receive any blessing from Alderman Gallagher. On the contrary, the latter, believing that the Ward 4 alderman favored the opposition, strongly resented his remarks, whereupon the suggestion of mediation was withdrawn by its maker. The motion to reconsider the action of the aldermen in sustaining the adverse report of the Public Works Committee on the widening of Channing street, was then put—and defeated.

FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL MEETING

Y. M. C. A.'s work and that service was the watchword. He cited instances of State Boy's day, leaders at Camp Day, and in the gym classes, and how all of these were acts of service on the boys' parts. He praised his assistants on the secretarial force, and the physical directors for their work in the past year. Thirty-three groups from various churches and organizations throughout the city and neighboring towns are given the privilege of periodical use of the Y privileges and that 229 boys had thus been benefited. Mr. Bascom congratulated the finance committee on the work that they have done. With a budget of over $53,000 and but slightly over forty thousand being raised through receipts from various departments such as Camp Day, memberships, dormitories, etc., the business men of the community are called upon to raise about $12,000. He told how the finance committee had already secured all but one thousand of this for the coming year.

Every place at Camp Day is spoken for this summer, the dormitories are all filled and prospects are excellent for the coming year. Mr. Bascom suggested that next year when the fiftieth anniversary of the association would take place that appropriate exercises be held in celebration of the event.

Among the needs the general secretary felt that there were not sufficient lockers in the senior room. Camp Day should be enlarged to enable more boys to attend it, the hot water system should be improved, new handball and squash racquet courts should be built, more tennis courts could be used, and more dormitories were needed to accommodate those desirous of obtaining rooms at the Y. He expressed the feeling that $100,000 would be sufficient to enable the new improvements to be made and give the association the chance to grow as it should in the next ten or fifteen years.

Charles D. Kepner, a former president of the association and the chairman of the finance committee, announced the bequest of $5,000 from the estate of the late James E. Pushee. He related how some years ago he had formed a real friendship with Mr. Pushee, and although no solicitation of funds was made the seed of good will towards the Y had borne fruit. He praised the force of secretaries and workers at the building from Mr. Bascom down to Andrew Caspar.

President Fuller introduced Mr. Dodge, who brought a real message and presented it in a very interesting manner. He said that the problem of the United States today was he problem of its cities, that the problem of its cities was the problem of its youth, and the problem of youth was the right way of living. The youth of today is challenging the older generations. He pointed out that the Y was not the building, its equipment, bequests to carry on its work nor its secretaries, but it was the members themselves. It is to the members that the youth is looking for the lift in their fight for character. He stated four rules that were involved in meeting this challenge. First to keep physically fit—this means proper food, proper sleep, and proper exercise. In the latter connection he stated that 80 per cent of the adult diseases were attributable to lack of exercise. Second, to keep mentally alert—there is greater competition in the fight for a place in the world today than there was in his youth. Third, to keep morally straight, and, fourth, to lead the youth of today in the evergrowing desire to follow Jesus Christ. He made an intreating plea that the youths of today should be so influenced and so taught that they would follow the high road and not the low road. There is bad in the world and there is good in the world, but the former can be prevented from gaining a foothold on the youth if he is led to follow Him.

President Fuller turned the meeting over to Mr. D. Webster Anders, chairman of the social committee, who presented Miss Farrari to the audience. Miss Farrari's selections on the accordion met with the fullest approval of those present.

The board of directors adjourned to elect officers for the coming year.

WHO PAYS THE BILLS?

Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Taxation, had some pertinent things to tell the mayors of Massachusetts at their last meeting in Boston. Mr. Long said, "Everybody wants economy in every interest except his own. Economy slogans do not prevent communities from being worse sinners than individuals in trying extravagantly "to keep up with the Jonses.'"

He criticised business men who howl about high taxes and then try to profiteer by selling their goods to municipalities at the highest possible prices. The important thing, according to Mr. Long, is not how high the tax rate is, but how much the tax bill amounts to. Most assessments in this state are on about 75 per cent of valuations, with real estate bearing about all the burden. Of the money raised by taxes in cities and towns, almost 80 cents of every dollar goes to maintain schools, streets, fire and police departments. He asked for local taxes on automobiles to afford relief to real estate assessments.

Mr. Long advocated that some way be found to make property at present exempt from taxation, pay some share of the costs of government. Such property in this state totals in valuation $1,500,000,000. In 1918 the maintenance charges of city governments in Massachusetts was $89,000,000; in 1924 it had increased to $150,000,000. During this same period municipal indebtedness increased from $79,000,000 to $171,000,000. The total expenses of all municipalities in the state in 1924 were $351,000,000, an increase of $50,000,000 in two years. Mr. Long was especially condemnatory in his criticism of unnecessary expenditures for schools. He said, "Most people, who as individuals, have to restrict their expenditures, seem to think nothing of spending an average of $1500 a child on school improvements. It is no bother at all. We are forgetting who pays the bills."

BLUE TRIANGLE NEWS

Tomorrow evening, May 8th, at eight o'clock a dance will be held in the Y. W. C. A. hall,—to be given by the Blue Triangle Club. The proceeds from this dance will be used to send a delegate from the club to the Annual Conference at Silver Bay, Lake George, New York, this summer.

On Monday evening last, the Blue Triangle Club enjoyed very much hearing from Miss Anne L. Leathers of the splendid and beneficial trip which she and Mrs. Louis Stoughton Drake had to the Ninth Annual Convention of the Young Women's Christian Association held at Milwaukee from April 21st to 27th. Next Monday evening the club is to have the pleasure of having as its speaker Miss Lucy E. Allen, of the Misses Allen School of West Newton who will talk on the subject of "Art."

On Saturday, May 1st, the High School Girl Reserves gave a very successful party, at which they entertained several of the children from the Peabody Home.

May 17th has been the date decided upon for the Annual Membership Banquet and Election of the Newton Y. W. C. A., which is to be held in their rooms at 251 Washington Street.

On Saturday, May 15th, The High School Reserves will have a dance in the Y. W. C. A. hall, the proceeds from which will be used in sending delegates this summer to camp Maqua and Winnecunnet.

ROTARY CLUB

At the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club held Monday noon at the Woodland Golf Club, announcement was made that the directors had selected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Duncan Wright; vice-president, Dr. C. W. Clark; secretary, B. G. Rae; treasurer, James A. Senior; serbeant at arms, William A. Alexander.

The guest and speaker was Captain A. C. Armstrong of the Boston Police department, and his subject was "Police Problems."

Especially interesting were his quotations regarding police and court activities from the daily press, with accompanying comment, as to the real facts in the various specific cases mentioned. Statistics quoted tended to show that there is no "crime wave," as it is understood by the public.

While no names or dates were mentioned, the speaker's discussion of recent cases of law violation most of those present felt that they recognized as specific cases with which they were familiar, gave an insight into phases of these incidents with which those not directly connected with their investigation were not familiar.

WABAN CHILD AWARDED TO FATHER

Judge Pierce of the Supreme Court granted Lieut. Howard Montgomery a writ of habeas corpus on Saturday to take his son, Robert P. Montgomery, age two and a half, from the custory of the child's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Morgan of 38 Mossfield road, Waban. The boy's mother died two years ago and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan took the child and claim his father agreed to leave Robert in their care until he reached maturity. Lieut. Montgomery subsequently remarried and is now stationed at Coco Solo, Canal Zone. He has two other boys, aged 5 and 6.

C. A. R.

On Saturday afternoon, May 1, 1926, the monthly meeting of the "Old Ironsides" Society of the Children of the American Revolution, was held on board the war vessel "Old Ironsides," at the Boston Navy Yard.

Because of the absence of the President, the Vice-President conducted the meeting, which was opened by the singing of "America," the salute to the flag, and the American's Creed. The reports of the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Historian, the Registrar, and the Vice-President's report of the C. A. R. Convention at Washington were read. One of the senior boys also gave an account of the April 19th parade in Boston and the President read some notices. A check was presented to Lieut. Commander Brandt for the restoration of "Old Ironsides," and he then spoke a few words about the old ship.

The meeting was then adjourned and the members were conducted, by a sailor, over the boat.

On Saturday, May 15, 1926, from 2 to 6, a May Festival will be given by the "Old Ironsides" Society at the Unitarian Parish House in West Newton.

—o—

It is hardly necessary for the city government to hold these village hearings on the proposed site of a new City Hall. It is a foregone conclusion that the overwhelming sentiment of the city would be in favor of the location on Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue. At the same time we feel it a duty to call attention to uncertainty of the expense involved in obtaining this land, and to suggest grave doubts of the figures advanced by the proponents of this location. Our guess is that the cost would be well over $200,000 and that the figure of $100,000 to be obtained by the sale of the present City Hall in West Newton would be considerably less than the estimate of $100,000, as stated at one of the hearings. All in all, we feel sure that the best thing to do is to spend a little money in fixing up the old church building and let the new City Hall project return to its slumbers.

—o—

We regret that absence from the state prevented us from attending the testimonial recently paid to Dr. Arthur Hudson on the completion of fifty years of active business life in this city. We are glad that the friends of Dr. Hudson took this opportunity to present "flowers to the living" and to show him that his long and unselfish labors in this community are appreciated.

—o—

The statute which prescribes the fixing of a tax limit for city expenses is about as useful as the attempt to lift ourselves by our boot straps. When the same body which decides the amount of money to be raised by taxation is the same body which places a limit on what can be raised by taxation, the farcical aspect of the matter is plain.

—o—

While Mothers' Sunday is neither a holiday nor a religious observance it takes on the most desirable attributes of both those functions. Living or dead, a mother is always one's mother and the tenderest sentiments of the heart are always stirred by the thought of her who gave us the opportunity to live and move and have our being.

ABOUT TOWN

Gustavus Adolphus, Crown Prince of Sweden, and the Crown Princess Louise, are to visit this city on June 20, according to present plans. The royal couple and their suite are to be entertained at a festival to be held in their honor at the Home for Aged Swedish People on Waltham street, West Newton.

The Crown Prince will not be the first royal personage to visit Newton. About 35 years ago Queen Liliuokilani, the then ruler of the Hawaiian Islands, came to this city as the guest of the late Gorham D. Gilman, who was consul general for that country. She was driven from the railroad station to the home of her host in a barouche drawn by a team of magnificent bay horses, with liveried coachman and footman seated on the box of the vehicle. Waiting at the Newton depot on that auspicious occasion, to welcome the queen, was a large delegation of Newton Corner small boys. Among them was one boy of mulatto complexion. When the queen alighted from the train, and this kid observed that her color quite resembled his, the enthusiasm he manifested exceeded by many degrees that of any other youngster in the crowd. He yelled himself hoarse, turned a couple of handsprings and then raced after the barouche on its short journey from the railroad station to the house where Queen Liliuokilani was to be entertained. Any white person who would have attempted to assume an air of racial superiority before that colored boy on that day, would have displayed very poor judgment.

Miss Alice McLaughlin of the Street Commissioner's Office has been enjoying an auto trip to Washington, Atlantic City and way stations, including Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

Building Commissioner Chadwick spent the week of April 26th attending the National Conference of Building Commissioners at Columbus, Ohio.

DISCUSS NEW CITY HALL

fer with the special aldermanic committee. Mr. Baker said, "We want the counsel and advice of these citizens, we want the residents of the various wards to attend the meetings which will be held in different villages, but the final decision will rest with the aldermen."

Rev. E. M. Noyes told of the growth of civic pride in such cities as Springfield and Cleveland where beautiful civic centres have been built. They cause civic consciousness to take concrete form and Newton is lamentably lacking in this respect. He favored the site at Homer and Walnut streets.

Joseph F. Lockett of Hancock avenue said it is a step in the right direction to have the aldermen go about the city and meet the people. He contended that the consideration of schools should always come first but that if the city can build a new city hall without curtailing the school building program, there is no comparison between the West Newton site and the site at Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue, and that the hall should be built at the latter place.

Frank T. Eskrigge of Paul street asked if the site at Walnut street can not be purchased for much less than the site at West Newton? Chairman Baily of the assessors answered that $60,000 will be a fair price to pay for the land at the corner of Waltham and Washington streets, West Newton; that the land in the triangle at Walnut street and the avenue is assessed for $85,000 and could be bought for around $125,000 and would provide 8 acres as against 3½ acres at West Newton. He suggested that the present city hall site at West Newton can be sold for $100,000, which will largely pay for the purchase of the other site.

Mr. Alvord of the Planning Board told how that body has gone on record twice in favor of the city purchasing the land at Walnut street and the avenue for civic purposes. Personally he thinks it the ideal place for a city hall. Mr. Kingman of Newton Highlands told of the city records being in danger of destruction from fire in the present city hall. A showing of hands was asked for and all present with one exception voted in favor of the site bounded by Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue. Some person ungallantly suggested that the lady who favored West Newton stand up. This lady had the courage of her convictions, and did so. Alderman Baker informed the audience that the lone supported of the West Newton site, was Mrs. Baker.

Israel Nesson told of the millions of dollars worth of property on which he has paid taxes in Cambridge and Boston. He asserted that if Newton will build the city hall on the Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue location, he will donate 45,000 square feet of land in this triangle to the city. Referring to the argument against this location because no bank is near it, Mr. Nesson generously offered to start a bank nearby. Mr. Lockett asked Mr. Nesson if the latter gentleman would donate a school for this neighborhood. Mr. Nesson replied that the $75,000 yearly increase in taxes, which the city would receive from property he would develop in this section, would more than pay for a new school.

Mrs. Charline Mitchell said that Newton Centre residents would, from a selfish standpoint, want the new city hall in the square bounded by Beacon, Centre and Pelham streets, but that for the good of the whole city, they wished to see the hall built on the location favored by the meeting. She hoped that West Newton residents will be equally magnanimous.

About 100 persons attended the meeting held last night in the hall of the Hyde School at Newton Highlands by the special committee on the new City Hall. C. S. Luitweiler favored the site at Walnut and Homer streets and Commonwealth avenue and asserted that it is a crime to expose the city records to fire hazards as they are at present. He argued that all now depend on motor rather than on rail transportation, that the Homer street site can be easily reached from all parts of the city by motors, that it is so situated that it will be properly advertising Newton to the thousands of motorists passing by and that the present condition of this site is a disgrace.

James Kingman asked Mr. Baker if the figures submitted by Henry Baily at the meeting in Newton Centre were correct. Chairman Baker referred him to Alderman Weeks of the Finance Committee. The latter replied that the committee does not know as yet as to the exact cost of the different sites and of the proposed city hall, and that its estimates might differ from those of Mr. Baily. Hon. Seward W. Jones thought a wrong start has been made in the city hall matter. He favored a survey being made of school, water, street, and fire department needs and suggested that the people vote first on the question as to whether or not they want the expense of a new city hall. He reminded those present that the tax rate will jump $2 or $3 this year. Mr. Jones favored the Homer street location, if the new hall is to be built. He remarked that South Side residents take no pride in buildings in West Newton or the other villages; if Newton was a compact city its citizens might take such pride, but he has failed to notice any such sentiment. He argued that a new city hall will increase the tax rate tremendously and suggested that the city hire some place in which to safeguard its records.

M. W. Melcher advised that the city buy the land at Homer and Walnut streets now, when it can be obtained much more cheaply than in the future. James Pillion of Duncklee St. favored the land owned by the city at the old Lowell avenue ledge as a site for the proposed new hall.

William B. Wood took issue with Mr. Jones. He stated that he believes many residents of Newton, specially those who are natives of Newton, take just as much pride in seeing beautiful buildings at Newton Corner or West Newton as they do in Newton Highlands. Hon. J. Weston Allen introduced himself as the oldest male resident of Newton Highlands. He gave the opinion that most residents of the city would favor the Homer and Walnut street site, that it is a wise plan to buy land now for future use, and he suggested that perhaps the Newton Trust Company may rent vaults at a low rental rate to the city for the purpose of storing the records. Robert Bonner and James A. Waters favored the Homer street site. Mr. Waters said, Newton will take this site some day and favored the taking of it now. Edwin F. Gibbs said it is time something heroic be done to eliminate the village offishness of this city, and that he personally takes pride in beautiful buildings wherever he sees them. He advocated the Homer street site and said it would benefit the whole city.

All present favored the location at Homer and Walnut streets, except Mr. Pillion, who voted for the Lowell avenue site. Mr. C. S. Luitweiler differed from Mr. Jones that an appreciable increase in our taxes will be undesirable. He favors such an increase because he thought it would keep undesirables out of this city. He said he favored the increased railroad fares for this same reason.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, May 11th at Waban.

LADIES' NIGHT

ence for nearly an hour as he traced the evolution of life.

The geologist, he said, reads the records in the rocks, page by page, monuments left by forgotten animals and plants. Of life itself there is no trace of its origin, we believe it began when the earth was much smaller than it is at present. Life is vital energy, able to reproduce itself and to adapt itself to its surroundings, and Dr. Mather added his own personal opinion that it was also a manifestation of the spiritual power of the universe. The first record we have of life is in Cambrian epoch, which produced such forms as shell fish, coral, etc. At the end of that period great changes had taken place, the clams, the coral and like forms could do things much better than their progenitors. That was an age of shallow water, which advanced and receded at times. When it advanced, opportunity was given for expansion and better forms appeared. When it receded it became a struggle and only the strongest forms survived. The fishes first showed signs of a vertebrae and soon the seas were swarming with sharks and the like. Certain forms of fishes then developed an air bladder, first to help them to float and later becoming an accessory breathing power. The geologist has a record showing that these fishes were actually able to get on the land and to walk. At first these fishes had to return to the water to lay their eggs, but as it was dangerous both for the eggs and for the young, changes took place which enabled them to lay their eggs on land. These forms were able to remain in the water or stay on shore at will, similar to the frogs of the present day. From this form, came the age of reptiles, with small brain power and enormous bodies, and was the climax of the spirit of selfishness. Then followed the age of mammals who lived by their wits and developed the four chambered heart through which pure blood was sent to the brain and developed intelligence. The mammals also took care of their young, and the scientist can tell you when mother love was born.

For the future, Dr. Mather believed that the vista ahead was as long as that in the past. The average span of these epochs was about 500,000 years. Man is about 40,000 years old and can confidently look forward to many eons of life.

Dr. Mather said that evolution did not always stand for progress, it was merely change and said that many forms of life had failed. He urged the cultivation of the spirit of co-operation, the fact that the whole world were neighbors and that an injury to one meant an injury to the whole.

"ELIJAH"

On Friday evening, April 30, a performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" was given in Eliot Church, Newton, for the benefit of the high school music.

Miss Van De Mark's magnificent voice was well received in the artistic interpretation of the soprano solo, "Hear ye, Israel."

Miss Doris Doe, a superb contralto, made an immediate impression with her glorious rendition of "O Rest in the Lord." Miss Doe's voice seemed one of unusual strength and assets.

Mr. Boynton's sympathetic voice was well received last Friday evening. He proved himself a singer to command interest and an authoritative interpretation of the score. Newton should well be proud to claim Mr. Boynton as a graduate of its schools.

Mr. Smith surely shone as "Elijah." He sang with spirit and understanding, and his voice was rich and powerful.

The chorus of 65 voices and the First Church Orchestra with six members from the Boston Symphony Orchestra surely did its part in making the concert a success. Credit should be given Mr. Gideon the conductor and Mr. Truette for their untiring efforts in making the concert a success.

MRS. ANDREW B. COBB

Mrs. Ellen M. Cobb, wife of Andrew B. Cobb, and a former resident of Newton, died suddenly at her home in Brookline last Sunday, after three years of failing health. She was born in Pemberton Square, Boston, February 23, 1855, the daughter of Edmund W. and Charlotte A. Converse. She was married in Newton in 1878 and the following ten years she lived in India, where Mr. Cobb had business interests and was also Vice-Consul General for the United States.

Returning to this country, the family lived in Newton till a few years ago, when they moved to Brookline. Mrs. Cobb had been a director and trustee of the Newton Hospital, a director of the Hospital Aid Association and of the Pomroy Home, in all of which she was actively interested.

The surviving members of her family, beside her husband, are two daughters, Miss Margaret Cobb and Mrs. Francis W. Capper (Kathleen Cobb) of Brookline, and two granddaughters, Margaret and Anne Capper. Sisters and brothers surviving are Mrs. Harold Pierce of Haverford, Mrs. William L. Allen of Chestnut Hill, Edmund W. Converse of Brookline, and Frederick S. Converse of Westwood.

Private funeral services were held at her late home, 1470 Beacon street, on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Henry K. Sherrill officiating.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

There is a great ideal for which education strives year after year and month after month. It is an ideal which if ever attained would act as a permanent blockade against the sort of trouble which now harasses poor worn out John Bull. It is simple enough in its phraseology but startlingly complex in the possibilities of its attainment. It is this: that homes and parents; teachers and books; life and lessons be no longer fenced about with their own separate ambitions but merged into one complete whole.

When the doors of school are closed for the day—it is more or less understood that education is over and done and may well be forgotten until those doors open again on the morrow. School is one thing, home is another and life is still another and each is invited to co-operate with the others only according as the doors are open or shut. The lessons to be learned in each seem to have no particular connection with each other; they're like three peas in three different pods growing on three different vines while all the Luther Burbanks of education are striving to find some way to make them three peas of the same size, on the same vine, growing in the same pod. The home is recognized as the connecting link between the schools and Life after school days are over but so far that recognition is not vivid enough in the minds of millions enough of our people and when it becomes so; when there is no longer any significance placed on the closing doors; when people learn to think of school and home and Life as one complete whole, each helpless without the other, then will the great ideal be attained—then will waste cease to be.

F. A. Day Junior High School

The weather has now started to create a great concentration on base ball. The boys are busy at work on some of the fundamentals and at the same time are under the eye of Coach Simmons.

The first cut in the squad came Tuesday and the second one on Friday of this week. There were 78 boys who signed for base ball. The first cut leaves us with forty-two. Coach Simmons will probably make the final stroke leaving about 30 men on the squad for the season. Everybody has high hopes and is working hard with the one big aim of making the squad. All look forward to the final list. Coach Simmons says in regard to the team, "We lost our complete infield last year and I have nothing to say in regard to the team this year. There is some material that ought to produce good results and with the spirit and fight now existing among my boys, I am sure that the Junior High will be among the leaders." To the many who have failed to make the squad, Coach Simmons says, "You have made the effort and that shows me you have the right 'stuff' in you and some day with this spirit you will succeed."

The School Library has increased from 400 to 600 books for circulation. Many of these books have been given through the kindness of school friends.

A May Breakfast will be served by the girls of IIIF on Friday.

The guests will be Mr. Wheeler, Miss Bragg, Mr. Carr and Miss Tracy.

Miss Manning attended an excellent conference, given by the Progressive Education Association, last Friday. There were several speakers including Mrs. Ensor of England, Professor Mearns and Mr. Smith of the Beaver Country Day School of Brookline.

Angier School

Through the courtesy of Mr. Richardson from the New England Dairy, the school was able to see the two films "The Highland Lassie" and "Just Pals." The fourth grade, Mrs. Jenkins, teacher, had charge of the assembly. Robert Nichols entertained with three harmonica solos which the school enjoyed greatly. "The Kite" and "Up to the Moon" were sung by Peggy Wright, Dorothy Jones, Ruth Wood, Doris Miller, James Gardner, Brenton Bullock and Robert Sullivan.

The boys and girls have each formed a base ball team. The boys played the Hyde School, May fourth. The Angier boys lost with a score of fourteen to eight.

Mrs. Forbes' fifth grade has just completed a set of scrap books on Europe. They have spent some time on them but now they are finished they are worth being proud of.

The traffic policeman in front of the school, has left us, due to the changing of the men's positions. Mr. Connolly is with us now.

Lasell Seminary

On Wednesday evening members of the Music Department gave a delightful rehearsal in Bragdon Hall.

The stereopticon travel-lecture "The Lure of the Northwest" by Frank Branch Riley will be given at the Auburndale Club on Friday evening, May 7. The students of Lasell and friends who heard Mr. Riley when he gave a similar lecture at Bragdon Hall last year feel particularly favored to have the privilege of listening to him again. Mr. Riley is a well-known lawyer of Portland, Oregon, and is sent out by the Chambers of Commerce of Portland, Seattle and Tacoma. Those who have heard him are unanimous in the opinion that his pictures are among the finest and the most excellently presented of any they have ever seen.

The Vesper speaker on Sunday at 6.15 o'clock will be Rev. Ray E. Eusden. Lasell cordially welcomes Mr. Eusden on his first visit to the school since taking the pastorate of the Eliot Church, Newton.

Commencement Day this year comes on June 8.

All Newton Music School, Inc.

The final pupils' recital of the year will be held at the Claflin School, Newtonville, on Friday evening, May 14th, at 7.30 o'clock. There will be solos on the piano and violin and orchestral numbers by Miss Forte's ensemble. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Wednesday, May 12, the final Intersettlement Concert of the year will be held at Huntington Hall, Boston, at 8 o'clock. Tickets of admission may be obtained from Mrs. Hay or Miss Chidsey of the Music School by those interested to hear this concert where the pupils selected as those doing the best work during the year, will play.

Bigelow School

The boys of the Senior Baseball Team have chosen James Timins as their captain.

The Bigelow and Pierce Baseball Teams opened the Grammar School League Season at Burr Playground, Tuesday afternoon. Bigelow won after losing the lead several times to the Pierce. It was a typical "opener" with plenty of hits and errors.

The boys and girls of the Bigelow School and the Burr Playground realized $58 from the Minstrel Show given the day before school closed for vacation. These proceeds are to be used to purchase extra equipment for the boys' and girls' athletic teams.

Newton Grade Teachers' Club

"The Whole Town's Talking," a farce in thre acts, will be presented under the auspices of the Newton Grade Teachers' Club for the Sick Benefit Fund, on Saturday, May 15th, at Players Hall, West Newton, and May 18th at the Woman's Clubhouse, Newton Centre.

The farce is being coached by Miss Lillian Hartigan of Brookline, with the following cast: James Reynolds, Carl Penney, Elizabeth M. Eden, Marian Herbert, Ida A. Broughton, Ralph Acker, Joseph Curtin, Stella Chaisson, Polly Donnelly, Myrtle L. Nixon, Grace Doolittle.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The annual meeting of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, postponed from last month, will be held at the Newton Club, Newtonville, on Wednesday evening, May 19. Dinner will be served at 6.30 o'clock, for which members should make reservations in advance, with the annual business meeting and election of officers, and an interesting speaking program, to follow. A formal notice of this meeting will be mailed in the near future to all members of the Chamber.

The expression of a preference by many members for a discussion of some live local subject, of importance and special interest to members, in accordance with the custom which has proved so popular at preceding meetings of the Chamber, has influenced the committee in charge of the meeting to arrange for a program of this type, believing that this will prove more interesting and attract a larger attendance than one or two visiting speakers on general topics. Past experience has proven conclusively that Newton citizens are interested in Newton problems and it is the belief that one of the most important of those confronting Newton at this time has been chosen for discussion at this meeting.

The adherence by the City Government during the past few years to the "Pay as you go" policy in regard to city finances, has won much praise and approval from the more conservative citizens specially those who desire a low tax rate. There has also been much criticism from others who feel that this policy deprives the people of the city of many benefits that could be enjoyed under a broader policy, one that would permit both present and future generations to share in paying for improvements and advantages that would extend over a long period of years. Whether this "Pay as you go" policy should be continued or whether the City of Newton should petition the Legislature for permission to borrow in excess of the debt limit and carry out many desired improvements in the near future is the question to be considered at this meeting.

The speakers announced for this meeting are probably those who are most conversant with the general subject of municipal finances in Newton, and perhaps best qualified to speak upon this topic. These include Mayor Edwin O. Childs, President George W. Pratt of the Board of Aldermen, Chairman Henry Baily of the Newton Board of Assessors, and Collector of Internal Revenue Thomas W. White, recently chairman of the finance committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen, and also a former president of that body. It is believed that these men will capably present the divergent views on this important question and that practically all helpful information that will assist the average citizen to form an intelligent opinion of his own will be brought out in this discussion.

The importance of the question cannot be overestimated, as it will not only mean a great deal in the way of municipal improvements of the future that may contribute to the comfort, convenience, and pride of our citizens, but it will also have an influence on the tax rate and will be brought home direct to every resident of Newton, either through the necessity of getting along without desired improvements or through the necessity of paying for these—at least in part at the present time—if the more liberal policy is eventually adopted.

President Pratt of the Board of Aldermen and Ex-Aldermen White have both served recently as chairman of the Aldermanic finance committee and the "Pay as you go" policy under which the city finances have been operated for some time is to some extent attributed to their apparently strong belief that a continuation of this conservative policy will be for the best interests of the city and its people. Those who already think otherwise have been encouraged through the recomendation of Mayor Childs in his recent inaugural address that the city borrow money for various purposes, including a new city hall, while all who have heard Chairman Baily of the Assessors speak on municipal subjects during the past few years recognize him as one of the champions of the more liberal policy. Other announcements of perfected plans for the meeting may be expected at a later date.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Newton Choral Society was held Tuesday evening at Central Church. The president, Mr. Archibald Bartington, declined to serve a second year. His retirement is much regretted, as he has conducted the affairs of his office in a very efficient way. Mr. Fred L. Smith was chosen in his place.

The following officers were also elected: Vice-presidents, Mr. Fred W. Woodcock, Mrs. Augustus L. Wakefield, Miss Ethel L. Spencer; treasurer, Miss Marion C. Hardy; secretary, Miss Theresa L. Cram; librarian, Mr. Frank A. Thane; assistant librarian, Mr. Willard Wentworth; executive committee, Mrs. Chester Briggs, Dr. Ruth E. Humphreys, Mrs. Ruth D. Whitney, and Messrs. Fred C. Alexander, George W. Auryansen, Edward K. Titus, Frederick W. Yelland, James A. Brickett, C. B. Harrington.

The secretary reported that the society now has 158 members. The report of the treasurer showed a small balance on hand after all expenses for the year had been paid. Various chairmen of committees and officers gave their reports, after which the musical director, Mr. William Lester Bates, was called upon for remarks. He thought the last concert was the best thing the society has done so far, and the quality of work achieved was superior to anything in the society's history. He urged that efforts be made to obtain more active members, and invited members to offer suggestions as to the musical works that should be taken up next year.

A string quartet of boys from the West Newton Music School then played two selections showing that they are making excellent progress in their art. This entertainment was arranged by Miss Lillian West, whose intelligent work as accompanist has been of great value to the society from the time of its formation. Much enthusiasm was shown at this meeting, and prospects for the next season are better than ever before. At the close of the program, the meeting adjourned for a social hour in the dining room, where refreshments were served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Kimball.

ANNUAL MEETING

On Tuesday, May 4, the Women's Branch of the Church Service League, Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban, held its annual meeting. It was very gratifying to have such a large number of members present at this business meeting which was preceded by a delicious luncheon served under the direction of Mrs. George W. Souther.

During the year there have been many activities which were very successful, both socially and financially.

All-day meetings were held every Tuesday and much sewing was accomplished. These various articles have been sent to mission fields in South Dakota, South Carolina, Virginia, Mississippi, and China. Garments were also sent to the House of Mercy, an Episcopal home in the Roxbury district of Boston. Several layettes were made and sent to the Newton Branch of the Florence Crittenden League. Surgical dressings were made for the Newton Hospital and for the Church Service League Supply Bureau, Boston.

The following officers were elected for next year:—

President, Mrs. Drury L. Sheraton; Vice-President, Mrs. George W. Souther; Secretary, Mrs. Ellis L. Gates; Treasurer, Mrs. Roy A. McMullin; Chairman of Entertainment Committee, Mrs. Gifford Le Clear; Chairman of Luncheon Committee, Mrs. H. C. Short; Chairman of Sewing Committee, Mrs. Max P. Miller; Board of Directors: to serve 3 years, Mrs. Edmund Winchester; to serve 2 years, Mrs. A. D. Lawrence; to serve 1 year, Mrs. E. D. Locke. House Committee, Mrs. Reuben M. Ellis, Chairman, Mrs. William J. Stober, Mrs. Carl H. Gove, Mrs. A. F. Jordan.

This year closes with a balance of about $400 in the treasury, some of which will be used during the summer for beautifying the church grounds.

Lively music opened the way for enjoyable dancing, and the dainty collation served completed a perfect afternoon. Among those present were: Doris Bryant of Watertown, Virginia Josselyn of Waltham and Mary Belle Lenox, Peggy Lamson, Betty Scates, Margaret Reeves, Eleanor McAleer, Jane Black, Virginia Fay, Virginia Crane, Constance Marcy, Barbara Thrall, Margaret Mansfield, Margaret Lenox, Anona Horsman, Eleanor Haley, all of Newton.

NEW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Announcement is made that the beautiful new Christian Science Church, corner of Walnut and Otis streets, Newtonville, will have its opening services next Sunday. There will be two services: one at 10.45, and one at 3.30. The doors will be open one hour before each service.

In next week's Graphic we shall have an account of the occasion and of this latest addition to Newton's family of churches.

MRS. BUTLER'S MAY FESTIVAL

A little later than usual, but just as welcome, Mrs. W. S. Butler's annual May festival, the 38th, will be held at Mechanics building, Saturday afternoon and evening, May 15, with Lilla Viles Wyman in charge of the dancing. One of the features this year will be the impersonation, by the smaller children, of the Dutch babies of the Island of Marken, that quaint spot in the Zuyder Zee. Another group of the youngsters have a Cossack sketch with appropriate costumes and dances.

WASHING & IRONING

—two inescapable burdens that exact more of the home-manager's strength and time than any other of her household duties.

Money is well spent if The Winchester Laundries relieve you of wash-day problems. It is an investment that will yield more abundant return to you and yours each week.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Last Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Leatherbee of West Newton celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage, in their home at 279 Mt. Vernon street.

The event was one of special festivity, as all of the family, including the daughter, Miss Eleanor Withington Leatherbee, the three sons with their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Felton, Robert William and Frederick Keith Leatherbee, and the nine grandchildren were present.

The ushering was conducted by the three sons assisted by the five grandsons: Charles William Leatherbee 2nd, Robert W. Leatherbee, Jr., John Howland Leatherbee, Clifton Felton Leatherbee, Jr., and Richard Crane Leatherbee.

The four grand-daughters, Miss Katherine Leatherbee, with little Virginia, Anne and Harriet Gray Leatherbee, lent added charm to the occasion.

The house was garlanded with golden spring flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Leatherbee received under an arch which was hung with streamers of yellow daisies, pansies and roses. Entrances and pillars were bright with genesta and forsythia.

Mrs. Leatherbee wore gray chiffon and lace, and carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses.

The music, played by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, recalled favorite melodies of 50 years ago.

The gathering of some 250 friends and neighbors in the home where nearly all of the 50 years have been spent, and the wide regard and affection felt for so long for Mr. and Mrs. Leatherbee united to make the reception an occasion of singular pleasure and congratulation.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending May 1:—Patients in hospital 130, patients paying as much as cost of care or more 65, patients paying less than cost of care 31, free patients, including babies, 34, babies born 8, patients treated by out patient department 81, patients treated at eye clinic 7, social service calls at hospital 5, at homes 21, patients transferred by social service car 10.

During the month of April 304 patients were admitted to the hospital and 299 were discharged. The daily average number of patients was 124 but in one twenty-four hours the number rose to 152 and in another twenty four it dropped to 84. During the month fifty babies were born. Five hundred and forty-six patients were treated by the outpatient department and 21 by the eye clinic. There were 50 accident cases, 185 operating room cases and 127 X-ray cases. Forty-four social service calls were made at the hospital and 69 at homes. The social service car transferred 28 patients.

On May 5 Miss Mary Riddle will speak at the Alumnae. Miss Riddle has recently returned from Florida.

On Tuesday, May 11, at 3.15 P. M. WEEI will broadcast from the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Miss Alice Weston will be the speaker and the Ukelele Club of student nurses will play. In the evening, Miss Sally Johnson, Superintendent of Nurses at the Massachusetts General Hospital will speak, from Shepard Stores. There will be music furnished by the student nurses' Glee Club. This is preliminary to National Hospital Day which is May 12.

At a meeting of the Nurses' Training School this week plans for graduation were considered. As at present arranged the baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. Earl E. Harper of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church in Auburndale, at services to be held on the evening of Sunday, May 30, in the Nurses' Home. On Tuesday the first of June the school will give a party to the graduating class and on Thursday, June 3, at 4 in the afternoon the graduating exercises will be held in the great tent to be set up on the tennis grounds.

On Tuesday, May 12, the hospital will be open to visitors, with guides ready to conduct parties about the hospital from 2 until 5 in the afternoon. It is hoped that a large number of the people of Newton will visit the hospital and see for themselves why it is necessary that the hospital have new buildings. Stakes are now set out showing the proposed location of the proposed new 120 bed hospital building so that any who wish may see just where the new building is to be located.

The Association of Hospital Record Librarians met at the Hospital Thursday afternoon of this week.

Those who helped in the hospital surgical dressing work room last month in the making of the always needed dressings were Miss E. S. Rhinds of Newtonville, Miss Mary A. Dix of West Newton, Mrs. E. N. Freeman and Miss Bertha S. Meara of Newton Upper Falls, Mrs. Joseph C. Shaw, Mrs. F. C. Hudson and Mrs. F. M. Redman of Waban, Miss Muriel Conn, Mrs. S. F. Tuttle, Miss Eleanor Davis, Miss Loraine Holmes, Miss Rosamond Tenney, Miss Ruthe Ufford, Miss Priscilla Dennett, Miss Helen Palmateer and Miss Nivetta J. Smith of Auburndale. If all of the villages of the city would do as well as Auburndale the hospital would have a larger supply of dressings on hand. Some of the seniors of the Training School attended the meeting at Steinert Hall, Thursday afternoon, of the Massachusetts League of Nursing Education at which Miss Mary Roberts, the associate editor of the American Journal of Nursing was the speaker.

The wards and many of the private rooms at the hospital were made brighter last Sunday by May baskets and balloons which different groups of friends left at the hospital.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

STATE FEDERATION

The Big Event of the Club year is at hand, and from all corners of the State eager women will wend their way to the mecca—Swampscott, than which there could be no lovelier setting for a gathering than beside this expanse of blue waters, with its distant vista of serene, inspiring skies, that someway seem to symbolize the vastness, power, beauty and steadfastness of purpose of this mighty organization of women. There is certainly no more suitable spot near to Boston to give comfort and service, and to accommodate so large a number than the New Ocean House.

By Wednesday noon, the 12th, there will be a hum in the hotel corridors, with arriving happy throngs, attendant luggage, and attendant, also, merry, pleasurable greetings, as friends who meet possibly only this once each year, come unexpectedly upon one another. During the morning, from 10 to 12.30 o'clock, State Chairmen will be at their respective tables, to meet Club women with questions and problems for solving, and for conferences on new plans.

At 2 o'clock, in the garage, no longer given over to this kind of industry, but transformed with bunting and flags, the delegates will gather, and Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith will call to order the State Federation for her last time as chief officer. Singing of "America the Beautiful," salute to the flag, and the Club Litany will open the meeting. William J. Young, president of the Lynn Chamber of Commerce, will bring greetings, Mrs. Smith will greet her "children," and Miss Florence Dibert, second vice-president of the General Federation, will bring their greetings and felicitations. Following the usual business of minutes, rules of the convention—which includes removal of all hats——and annual reports of officers, there will be community singing, under the leadership of Mrs. Mabel Barstow, who has acquired a distinct reputation for making this a ceremony, indeed, of "pep" and harmony that makes the mention on the program noteworthy; then will be given the first of annual reports of divisions that are especially the business of this great convention. International Relations will be given by Mrs. A. A. Packard; Headquarters by Mrs. Clarence W. Clark; Federation Pin by Mrs. Howard A. Specht; Meetings by Mrs. N. E. Smith; Legislation by Mrs. Robert J. Culbert, and Civil Service by Miss Marian C. Nichols. Resolutions by Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, and other announcements, will be followed by an unusual and most delightful innovation:

Candlelight with the old time composers. Did ever title offer more allure, and promise rest and peace and recuperation? In the hotel ball room, from 5 to 5.45, the Perkins-Beale Ensemble, comprising harp, cello, flute, violin, and contralto singer, will bring this program.

The evening session, once more in the garage, at 8.15 o'clock, brings more music, and this time from various Club choruses that have been recently formed, in conformation with the desire of the heads of the "family." Beverly, Reading, Medford, and Swampscott show to their guests the prowess of their talented ones. Five minute reports from five district directors go on with the resumé of the year's accomplishments, and Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, Mrs. Franklin Russell, Mrs. James N. Smith, and Mrs. Thomas J. Walker will give messages that, judging from former years, will be a source of pleasure, amusement, gratification, and incentive to hearers. Perhaps only those who have listened to such reports can realize how much that is splendid and worthwhile can be put into these few moments of reporting of stewardship and of the achievements of their clubs.

The address of the evening will be given by Rev. Garfield Morgan, and his subject, "Dealing in Dreams," if it lives up to what it prophesies, should be a pleasing one, and, because so different from the practical and material of the past few years, whose speakers have hammered home blunt truths, so-called, and brutal facts, that someway bring a wincing, should be a welcome relief, and a hope that vision and idealism is, after all, to be considered, and is recognized as the great issue of life.

Thursday morning, the 13th, begins bright and early—as must all who gather news of the world—with a press breakfast. In one of the private dining-rooms, Miss Gwendoline Albee, press chairman, whose ideas and whose successful and delightful method of carrying them out, has made her work so outstanding, will bring news of her department. Conferences, discussion of the course in journalism which Miss Albee has been working upon, and all "secrets" of this publicity division—which after all the Federation could not do without, else they perish for no "hearers"—will make this hour most worthwhile for those fortunate enough to attend.

At 9.30 the delegates will gather in the "garage," and after formal business, as usual, the nominating committee, of which Mrs. William H. White is chairman, will report. The ballot which she will present is as follows: For president, Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, of Greenfield; for vice-presidents, Mrs. Clarence W. Clark, of Malden, Mrs. A. A. Packard, of Springfield, Mrs. Edward E. Hobart, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, of Belmont; for clerk, Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett, of West Medford; for assistant clerk, Mrs. Winfield Scott Ripley, of Wakefield; for corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clinton A. Ferguson, of Marblehead; for treasurer, Mrs. Frederick S. Davis, of Boston; for directors, Mrs. Heman A. Harding, of Chatham, Mrs. Henry E. Robert, of Roslindale, Mrs. Bert S. Currier, of Arlington, Mrs. Walter A. Hall, of Swampscott, and Mrs. Walter C. Kenney, of Winchendon; for nominating committee, Mrs. Joseph S. Leach, of Walpole, chairman, Mrs. A. H. Andrews, of New Bedford, Mrs. George B. Churchill, of Amherst, Mrs. George A. Mellen, of Lawrence, and Dr. Lillian G. Perry, of Boston.

The departments to be heard from this morning are: American Home by Mrs. Harry A. Burnham. Education by Mrs. John H. Kimball, Social and Industrial Relations by Mrs. Willard D. Woodbury, five districts, General Federation Director Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, Federation Topics by Miss Alice F. Titus, Endowment Fund by Mrs. George O. Jenkins, Shannon Fund by Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, Conservation by Mrs. Myron Davis, Jr., Community Service by Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett, Press and Publicity by Miss Gwendoline Albee, and Credential Committee by Mrs. Winthrop T. Case.

At 12.30 there is to be a special festivity, when the Junior Membership, vieing with the "pep" of publicity, are to have a luncheon.

The afternoon session, at 2 o'clock, has the always interesting and humorous feature of greetings from past presidents. Department reports will be Art by Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, Mothercraft by Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, Literature by Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, Friendly Co-operation with Ex-service Men and their Families by Mrs. Paul A. Peters, and Junior Membership by Mrs. Clarence W. Clark. The president will also give the result of her "Questionnaire," always an interesting affair, since so many Clubs procrastinate, "get left" altogether, answer in peculiar fashion some questions, to say the least, and all of the pride in her efficient children, and all her dismay in her happy-go-lucky ones, makes amusing discourse, even as did the trials of the old woman who lived in a shoe. She "had nothing on" the president of the State Federation! Miss Florence Dibert will talk on "Our Juniors," and various new children will be added to the family, in the person of the Club presidents or other representatives, who will modestly, possibly tremblingly, tell of their aims and objects.

Tea time will give another delightful respite in the hotel ball room, this time with modern composers, by way of balance, or mayhap contrast. Minnie Stratton Watson, mezzo-soprano; Miss Florence Colby, cello, and Miss Rosamond Critchley, piano, will be these entertaining artists.

The evening session, at 8.15, will be opened by music from the State Federation Choral Society, with many distinguished assisting artists. Dr. Robert McLaughlin will then give the evening's address: "A Quest for a Pair of Slippers." Certainly his topic opens vistas to the imagination, and we wonder what manner of slippers, whether wishing ones, or stay-at-home ones, talented, or plain comfortable ones, will be the slippers for which he takes us in quest. The night is still young when he ends, even though the clocks and watches say ten or after, for there is the reception for the officers to the delegates and visiting club women, and—let us whisper it—after that even into the wee sma' hours, talking parties, laughter parties, and general nonsense and pleasure in the majority of sanctums santorum.

Friday is The Day. Another group of district directors tell of their Club districts, usually pridefully, if not boastfully. Music by Mrs. F. Otis Drayton; Public Health by Mrs. George L. Avery; and Americanization by Mrs. Benjamin D. May will wind up department reports. Then the outgoing president gives her address. This is the moment of keen feeling, of subdued contemplation, of mingled sadness, appreciation of progress, and welcoming of the incoming régime that spells further advancement, and the march upward in high ideals. With the announcement of the elections committee, by Mrs. David Goodin, chairman, there comes the presentation of new officers, the shower of bouquets, enthusiastic greeting from the many hundred Club women, and the general beauty of color, depth of emotion and high resolves that make the end of the Annual Meeting a joyful and enduring memory.

Your editor has given the plans for these three days in some detail, so that Club women may follow the course of events, possibly plan to be present at some, if not all, of the program, and the report of the meeting afterwards in this column will be given over not to the routine list, or personnel, as given here, but to the outstanding features of the convention reports. Keep these lists for future reference, therefore.

NEWTON FEDERATION

Annual Meeting for the Newton Federation comes the day before the State Federation one begins. On Tuesday, May 11th, the Newton Centre Woman's Club plays hostess at their Club House, greeting the delegates from the Newton Federation at 10 A. M. Reports of officers and chairmen, and election of officers will occupy the morning. After luncheon has been served, there will be entertainment provided by the Choral Class of the Newton Community Club. At 2.30 these singers will give Alice Brand, Sir Walter Scott's poem, a fantasy of the wildwood, of elves and fays, outlawry and happy ending, that is always enjoyable.

RECENT EVENTS

Newtonville Woman's Club

Good fellowship, merriment, and the earnestness of the backward and the forward look were all present at the Annual Luncheon and Meeting of Tuesday, April 27th, for the Newtonville Woman's Club. The absence of the president was regretted, but there was rejoicing that on June 6th she will sail for home and that next year will see her at her post. There was a toast to Mrs. Decatur, Mrs. Edwin P. Crawe, toastmistress. A clever and graceful adaptation of Arthurian legend was rendered by Mrs. Crawe, and Mrs. C. A. Richardson, applying the thought of the absent leader to our club's beloved president, far away. Her faithful queens left in her place sent her greetings telling of vows kept, work well done. She in turn bids her knight carry words of cheer and approval to her distant realm.

The vice-presidents, Mrs. Charles D. Kepner and Mrs. Crawe, in turn presided, and their witty sallies and tactful planning made the occasion a memorable one. Replying to the toast to the retiring officers, Mrs. Gorham W. Harris said: "Working together as a board we learn to respect the opinions of others and that it pays to be frank. Someone finding a piece of rubber in a sausage, complained to the manager of the restaurant. He replied that the auto had taken the place of the horse. So some of us old Dobbins are getting off in favor of the Rolls-Royce. We will recall what has been accomplished rather than the hectic days. Between the old board and the new there is the unfailing bond." Miss Marian Bassett responded in rhyme to the toast to the incoming officers.

"Mrs. Crawe takes the fun, and I the serious things of life," remarked Mrs. Kepner as she succeeded Mrs. Crawe, and presided at the business meeting. "Dispatch" had been the year's slogan whenever brevity could be consistent with efficiency and conserve a busy woman's day.

Mrs. Robert E. Bruce, recording secretary, read their reports. "If you want your names correctly listed send them before September 11th to Mrs. Richardson." Greetings had been received from Mrs. Fred Mann, now in Florida. Over sixty names are on the waiting list. The treasurer, Mrs. A. D. Auryansen, reported the following appropriations for gifts, a total of $1,209.64: Scholarship Guarantee Fund, $200; Scholarship, $200; Newton Hospital, $100; Stearns School Centre, $100; Welfare Bureau, $100; District Nursing Association, $50; Gov. John A. Andrew Home, $25; Stone Institute for Aged People, $25; All Newton Music School, $25; Museum of Fine Arts, $10; State Federation Endowment Fund, $10; Fruit and Flower Mission, $20; Central Council, $20; Nurses' Training School, $60; Christmas Party for Needy Children, $142.19; Barnard School, $39.45; Service Boys in Hospital, $15; Dictionary Stand for Reading Room, $38; Rug for Rest Room of Claflin School, $30.

Mrs. Harold Bond, chairman of nominating committee, expressed the hope that the new officers would enjoy the reality as much as the anticipation. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur; vice-president, Mrs. Horton S. Allen, Mrs. Robert E. Bruce, Mrs. Gilbert H. Gleason; recording secretary, Mrs. Norman Southworth; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Richardson; treasurer, Mrs. Albert D. Auryansen; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Clinton W. Tylee; clerk, Mrs. Harry B. Greene; chairman of finance, Mrs. James D. Bennett; chairman of publicity, Mrs. John C. Moench; directors elected for three years: Mrs. Alfred M. Ziegler, chairman of conservation committee; Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard, chairman of legislative committee; Mrs. Kenneth B. Hastings, chairman of music committee; Mrs. Horace Kidger, chairman of program committee; Mrs. Ellison G. Day, chairman of volunteer service committee; at large, Mrs. Samuel Thurber; nominating committee: Mrs. Harold B. Sherman, chairman; Mrs. William H. Allen, Mrs. Harry D. Cabot, Mrs. Edwin P. Craw, and Mrs. Charles W. Davidson.

The report of Mrs. W. H. Timbie, chairman of the civics committee, was read by Mrs. M. W. Murray. A new dictionary stand had been given to the Newtonville Branch Library and sewing materials provided Miss Sturgis for use in the Barnard school. The Federation Number of the Graphic had received co-operation.

Mrs. H. Reginald Bankart, of the volunteer service, referred to the afghans knit for the Children's Convalescent Home in Wellesley, the serving of refreshments at the Christmas party, packing of Thanksgiving baskets, and auto service. Mrs. Nelson B. Vanderhoof read the report of Mrs. J. Mace Andress, chairman of the education committee. "We have tried to help," was the modest claim which covered a successfully conducted literature class, French class, Round Table Talks for Parents, money earned for the Scholarship Fund, and the equipment of a rest room in the Claflin School." This committee should be the servant of the club, co-operating with the minority to provide the desired classes."

The quiet, regular and efficient work of the hospital committee was told by Mrs. Charles J. Trowbridge, chairman. They have held 11 meetings and made 253 garments. "The work is constructive and worth while." At this point Miss Bertha Allen, superintendent of the Newton Hospital, presented the cause of the hospital drive now being launched, likening the present hospital to a big, healthy, overgrown boy.

Mrs. Herbert Slade, of the conservation committee, begs each club member to act the part of the good citizen by planting a tree. "Without future forests our condition is like that of a people without children."

The Glee Club, started by Mrs. Edwin L. Gardiner, rendered three selections, the leader, Miss Julia McCormick, conducting. The numbers were "Spring Song," "The Waters of Minnetonka," and "Dear Land of Hope and Glory." Mrs. Edward P. Hendrick, chairman of the music committee, spoke of this new feature in our Club life which has added so much interest. Started at the suggestion of Mrs. Edwin L. Gardiner, the former president, this year has seen it successfully organized. The exchange with the Waban Glee Club and the broadcasting were noted in the report.

Mrs. Frederick W. Harding told of the six teas served by the hospitality committee, but she failed to mention all it has meant to the club, and the charm of the hospitality extended by the gracious and capable committee. Mrs. Charles W. Colman warned the members of the menace of the ignorant woman's vote, and urged greater interest in regard to matters of legislation. Mrs. George E. Eames had a busy year to report for the American homes committee, with its many classes and the publishing and selling of the Club Cook Book, which is a valuable guide to the housekeeper as well as being a pleasant reminder of Club associations. Mrs. Frank R. Clark has the position of public health chairman on this committee.

Mrs. Liverus H. Howe, chairman of program committee, said "Newton and Brookline are miles apart, but with the aid of seven co-workers the sky brightened." Ten programs had been planned and were successfully carried out in spite of the bad weather which prevailed Tuesdays. Mrs. D. M. Leonard, who had charge of the sale of guest tickets, noted that the stormy days had diminished the number of guests present at the meetings.

Mrs. Crawe read Mrs. J. Mervin Allen's report of the reception at the home of Mrs. W. H. Allen and of the luncheon, the two occasions conducted by the Social Committee. As a gracious hostess she concluded the brief report with the words, "We hope you have had as good a time as we have had in serving you."

The flowers which brightened the meetings are carried to sick members, Mrs. Raymond Thornton of the Flower Committee, reported. Christmas tree decorations, the garden class, and a share in the bridge party were other activities. Mrs. S. L. Sholley had enlarged the scope of dramatics and her report was a significant one telling of the two short plays, and "Barnum Was Right," all so successfully staged. Four hundred dollars had been added to the club treasury. A thoughtful study of continental drama had been carried on during five afternoons.

Mrs. Richardson spoke for Miss Mary Rolfe in regard to the Christmas Seal campaign of the 1377 letters sent and stamps sold in bank and post office, which realized $1120. Mrs. Bion Weatherhead told of the Christmas party and of the gratitude that had been expressed. The sympathy and understanding reach out far beyond the branches of the Christmas tree.

The publicity Chairman expressed appreciation of the generosity of the press in giving space to club matters and especially to Mr. Brimblecom and Miss Coolidge of the Graphic. Mrs. Kepner voiced the pleasure of the club in having Miss Coolidge present as their guest at the luncheon. Mention was made of our page in the Federation Graphic, Mrs. Percival A. Evans, chairman.

Closing words were spoken by Mrs. C. A. Richardson, who has the gift of always saying something original, charming and meaningful. In "blowing out the candle," she said that the co-operation of every one for the good of the Club had been a bigger thing than dependence on the personality of a leader. She commended the services of the retiring officers, and dwelt upon the spirit of loyalty shown by the acting vice-presidents—God bless them!

Social Science Club

The Annual Meeting of the Social Science Club was held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, April 28th, at the Brae Burn Country Club. Following the roll call, the secretary, Mrs. Philip S. Jamieson, gave her report, outlining the course of study which was the "Development of Our Country from 1825 to 1910, as given by papers of members and outside speakers throughout the year. In the report of the social service committee the work for the blind, which had been the exclusive activity of the committee this year, was given by Mrs. E. M. Moore, with emphasis on the new salesrooms just opened at 39 Newbury street for the sale of their goods. Mrs. Ralph Henry, as chairman of the education committee, gave a very complete report of their full year's work, announcing at the close the winner of the Club's scholarship for the year—Miss Eloise Barber of Newton.

Miss Georgia Emery announced that the conservation committee had urged feeding of birds and saving of Christmas greens.

As chairman of the legislative committee, Mrs. Samuel Braman told of the work for law enforcement and investigation of crime by Mr. Goodwin.

There followed the election of the following officers:

President, Mrs. Samuel Noyes Braman; vice-presidents, Mrs. Henry I. Harriman and Mrs. Charles B. Gleason; recording secretary, Mrs. Philip S. Jamieson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John T. Alden; treasurer, Miss Georgia H. Emery; auditor, Mrs. William F. Garcelon; directors, Mrs. Newton A. Merritt, Mrs. H. H. Powers, and Mrs. Franklin E. Smith.

The new president, Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, then took the gavel from the retiring president, Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, and adjourned the meeting to allow the members to partake of an unusually delicious luncheon.

Immediately after the luncheon the Club was entertained in a most delightful manner by experiences of various members of the Club in their travels, both at home and abroad. Mrs. Frank H. Day told of a French wedding she witnessed; Miss Helen Cobb gave a vivid description of the Appalachian trip up to Jackson, N. H., for winter sports; and Miss Florence Heard visualized a Charming village in the French Alps; while Miss Georgia Emery told of the forests overseas, and Mrs. Sidney Peterson concluded with a glimpse of the University at Grenoble, France. Thus the Social Science Club completed its 39th year, one of interest and pleasure to its members.

Boston Women's Civics Club

A delightful affair was the Luncheon and Annual Meeting of the Boston Woman's Civics Club on Wednesday, April 28th, at the Hotel Brunswick. About one hundred members and guests gathered to greet their recently-returned president, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, and the many prominent guests of the State Federation Board. Mrs. Kimball presided with ease, tact, and graciousness, and the business meeting and festivities went with smoothness and enjoyment. The reception took place at 12.30 o'clock, with Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. S. L. Eaton, the first vice-president, Mrs. George Hayden, former president, Mrs. Frederick Smith, Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, Mrs. Mina G. delCastillo, Mrs. A. A. Packard, Mrs. Carl Watson, and Mrs. Arthur Potter in line.

After the Luncheon and the reports of officers, and while the tellers, of whom Mrs. Ernest Griffin was chairman, were counting ballots, there were speeches, amusing stories, and toasts called for by the president from various members and guests who had previously been requested to be prepared to add to the fun of the day. An exciting announcement of the president was the information that the best story was to receive the added reward—other than the enjoyment of the listeners—of a bell which she had brought from Monterey, while on her California trip. This bell was a copy of the old mission bell, and was, of course, immediately coveted by all the participants in the contest.

Mrs. Carl Watson, sixth district director, started the festivities, and told with splendid acting ability the tale of a man travelling in California who was stricken with acute indigestion and sent for a noted Chinese doctor to aid him. Folding her hands on her chest, and closing her eyes with true slant-eyed craft, Mrs. Watson continued the story, showing how the Chinese doctor questioned his patient as to his liking for hot biscuits, pickles, lice cleam, soda water, flied ham, baked chicken, and all hotty and coldy things that became mixy up insidy. When the sufferer finally became impatient and demanded help, the stolid doctor merely retorted: "You eaty all these—no can cure—dam fool!"

Mrs. Packard matched this story with one that emphasized the power of Women's Clubs, since "in unity there is strength." A colored driver flicked his whip expertly at leaves which he knocked off the branches, at flies that settled on his horse, at flowers by the wayside. His companion, watching with interest, pointed at a hornet's nest ahead, drily suggesting: "Why don't you knock that off?" The driver regarded him coldly, then said: "It's all right to play with leaves and flies, but them's different. They're organized!"

The coveted prize was awarded to a Newton member of the Club who had prepared a poem, playing upon the names of prominent officials of the Club, and of the honored guests. A committee of three who retired for a moment brought back the verdict. Honorable mention went to Mrs. W. G. Dennison of Brighton, for her poem on the year's activities.

Music, led by Mrs. del Castillo, singers, community singing, a delightful story of Peg Woffington's time, given in quaint brocaded costume, filled out the day's entertainment.

The following officers were unanimously elected to serve for the next year: President, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball; vice-presidents, Mrs. S. L. Eaton, and Mrs. Ledyard W. Sargent; recording secretary, Mrs. Walter E. Weld; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter G. Dennison; treasurer, Miss Grace H. Howes; auditor, Mrs. Joseph B. Brown; and directors, Mrs. William E. Birdsall, Mrs. Henry H. Cudworth, and Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole.

It is safe to say there is probably no other Club in the State that has so many of the prominent women of the State Federation, chairmen and officers, as members, as this Club, and while it is small in numbers, having not quite one hundred, Oh My!

Christian Era Study Club

A splendid and inspiring meeting is reported for the Christian Era Study Club held from 3 to 5 o'clock on May 3rd, at the home of its president, Miss Ella B. Smith, of 15 Vista avenue. Miss Alice Ranlett, well-known in Auburndale, entertained her fellow members by a most interesting talk on Methodism, giving an account of the life of Susanna Wesley, who was one of twenty-five children, and who herself had nineteen. The lives of John and Charles Wesley were most vividly portrayed, from the time when John, who had not spoken up to the age of three years, amazed and delighted his mother who was searching for him, by calling from beneath the table where he was playing: "Here I am, mother." Her joy can be imagined, for she had grieved in the fear that her little boy was dumb. John and Charles Wesley, in their years of coming word pictures in poems, and sermons that stirred their congregations, proved themselves far from dumb, indeed, and have left records of achievements that are noteworthy. Miss Ranlett, having herself known the pleasure of reading the Journal of John Wesley, and the life of Susanna Wesley, which is given in the group of Famous Women, recommended to her fellows the same reading.

The Annual Meeting followed, with reports from the secretary, treasurer, and officers. The nominating committee brought in the same ballot as served last year, and these officers were re-elected: as president, Miss Ella B. Smith; vice-president, Mrs. Ernest F. Drew; secretary, Mrs. H. E. B. Case; and treasurer, Miss Blanche M. Noyes.

The president then gave out the topic for the next year—the always thrilling one of "The War for Independence." Efficiently manipulating her big shears, as she gave to each member her individual section of the topic, Miss Smith inspiringly instructed each as to her assignment.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the hostess served strawberry frappé and other delicious refreshments.

Newton Hospital Aid Association

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Hospital Aid Association on Tuesday, May 4th, held at the Newton Hospital was a significant and delightful meeting. Miss Allen's talk was new to many people, and the facts she brought forth as to the lack of proper provision for nurses, was awakening as to the need for the contemplated drive. Dr. West also spoke, making a wonderful appeal for the hospital, stressing the fact that its enlargement was due to public demand, in that so many more needed accommodation there now than in years past. Dr. J. W. Courtney made an enlightening speech on nerves and their relation to disease, pointing out that there was great difference between the person who was mentally defective or insane and the person afflicted nervously because of under nourished nerves.

Officers for the coming year re-elected or elected were: Mrs. George H. Talbot, president; Mrs. Joseph Lovell, first vice-president; Mrs. William Flanders, second vice-president; Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, third vice-president; Mrs. Frank Anderson, recording secretary; Mrs. Francis Williams, corresponding secretary; and Miss Florence Tower, treasurer.

A delicious luncheon was served by the Committee from the Hospital Aid. Bags to receive collections for the Benefit shop that will be opened June 1, were distributed amidst enthusiasm. The call for vases was unfortunately not responded to adequately for the needs of the hospital; a few forgetting, and others overlooking the request. Any who would like to contribute even now to this worthwhile cause—a source of comfort and pleasure to those sufferers in the hospital who may delight in the charm and hope of flowers—may do so by sending the vases, or by having them sent direct from the store where purchased to the hospital. Let not forgetfulness or procrastination once more steal away this opportunity for kindly, brotherly service!

NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION

The Annual Meeting of the Association was held in the reception room of the Nurses' Home at the Hospital, Tuesday, May 4th, at 10.30, with a good attendance. Mrs. George H. Talbot, the president, presided.

The annual reports of the Association were read by Mrs. Frank E. Anderson, Recording Secretary, and Miss Rose Loring, acting Treasurer.

Mrs. W. N. Allen, chairman of the Nominating Committee, proposed the following nominations, which were unanimously accepted.

President Mrs. George H. Talbot; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Joseph N. Lovell, Mrs. W. M. Flanders, Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Frank E. Anderson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Francis H. Williams; Treasurer, Miss Florence E. Tower.

The following names of Directors have been added to the Executive Board: Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., Mrs. Pitt F. Drew, Mrs. Herbert L. Felton, Mrs. Francis J. Flagg, Miss Eleanor Leatherbee, Mrs. Grace F. Rice, Mrs. Edward H. Wiswell.

Donations this year have included $250.00 for scholarships, $150 toward a Portable High Frequency Machine for Dr. Moore's use in the Orthopaedic Department, $175 to Miss Allen for an Electric Breast Pump, and $500 more to Miss Allen for urgent requirement.

At the last meeting in April the Association pledged $5000 to the fund for the construction and equipment of the proposed three hospital buildings.

A Benefit Shop located on Bailey Place, opposite the Newtonville post office, will be opened early in June. In this shop, old clothing, furniture, bedding, books, toys, shoes, hats, rugs, and antiques will be collected and placed on sale. The shop is planned as a mutual benefit to buyer and giver and a supply of worth-while articles is promised. The work of the organization of this shop is under the direction of Mrs. C. Peter Clark of Newton Centre. Bags will be furnished to all who have articles to be collected.

Miss Allen spoke briefly of the crowded conditions in the nurses' quarters, laying stress upon the fact that the 98 days' illness among the nurses was due to these crowded conditions. Two workers were necessary at this time, a graduate assistant for night work and an extra worker in the out-patient department. Miss Allen spoke particularly of the feeling of loyalty and support which this Association gave her always.

Dr. West in his remarks showed conclusviely why it was necessary to have a fund-raising campaign for the Hospital.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was a group of songs by the nurses.

Mrs. Talbot then introduced Dr. J. W. Courtney, the eminent specialist on nervous diseases. The subject, "The Practical Psychologic Aspect of Disease." In a way the generality of modern treatises dealing with the mind may be likened to the mixed alcoholic beverages of the present era of prohibition. They contain a little of everything except what is alluded to in the vernacular as—the real stuff. We find certain ingredients conspicuous by their absence; notably, common sense and the realization of the fact that the nervous system which forms an integral part of our physical make-up, has definite functions to perform and that this performance is conditioned by the same physiologic and other laws which govern the rest of the economy. In dealing with the mind both in its normal and abnormal aspects, the tendency is to content ourselves with speculation. The results of this unscientific method of attacking a problem of incalculable importance to human happiness and to general economic welfare, are many. We are prone to regard the stories of mental torment related by those whose nervous systems have become devitalized, as pure figments of the imagination. In the majority of cases of nervous devitalization hereditary defects in the quality of certain embryonic tissues are responsible for their woes. So that until conditions change, the philanthropically-minded in every community throughout the land must be prepared to help intelligently in the care of the victims of vitiated ancestral nervous systems quite as often as in the care of those who succumb to ordinary disease-producing germs. It is not enough to build hospitals and thoroughly equip them—no hospital ever truly fulfills its mission unless the spirit which animates its personnel is truly humanitarian in the highest and noblest sense of the term.

To attain this a broad understanding of the mental reverberations not only of physical disorder which is visible and tangible, but also of those hidden and subtle departures from normal physiologic action is essential. We must know the nature and variety of the physical elements which underlie the senses, for these are the raw materials of mind. We must know how stimuli acting on sense organs are transformed into feelings and how feelings give rise to emotions and ideas. Anatomy and physiology will give us this knowledge. Thus armed, our scorn gives place to compassion and our treatment of the sufferer becomes humane.

Years ago Herbert Spencer, one of the most brilliant psychologists the world has ever known, called attention to the fact that mind is not wholly or mainly intelligence, but consists in one sense entirely of feelings. Feelings are in all cases the material out of which intellect is evolved. Feeling is the substance of which (where it is present) intellect is the form. Feeling is itself decomposable into sensation, although the character of a given feeling and that of the sensation which gives rise to it may be as unlike in kind and degree as can possibly be imagined. This is a point of enormous importance in dealing with mental disturbances.

Biologic science teaches that both development and stability of personality are dependent upon two great systems of nerves, one is called the "organic life," the other the "life relation." The particular nervous system upon which the "organic life" depends for its power to function is known as the autonomic system and is composed of the sympathetic nerves together with the so-called ductless glands. This autonomic system constitutes the basis of emotional life, without its aid the "life of relation" would be narrowed and the up-building of mind seriously stunted.

The nervous tissue presiding over sensation, both common and special, must be of high quality and must be supplied through the blood stream with materials of equally high quality.

Out of this conjunction comes power of various orders. There are so-called vegetative organs of the body, which are below the level of consciousness, all of which are automatic in their activities and are regulated by the autonomic nervous apparatus which in turn forms the basis of emotional life.

When we consider the variety and complexity of the burdens put upon this automatic nervous apparatus, it does not require a medical training to comprehend what an upheaval is bound to ensue both in the physical and mental spheres when the autonomic nerves are out of order.

The mental suffering commonly experienced by the class of sufferers under consideration is neither imaginary nor self-inflicted, but the natural outcome of perverted physiologic action of known nervous structures.

There is a way in which you can be enormously helpful to the sufferers with whom you come in contact. Do not tell them if they would use their will power they would be all right. Will is nothing but the general name given to the special feeling which gains supremacy and determines action. Take away all sensations and emotions and there remains no will.

In conclusion Dr. Courtney said if his communication taught anything, it was that in devitalized nervous states all sensations and emotions are sadly distorted, where they are not annihilated. No, what the sufferer needs from you is sympathetic understanding and encouragement, so for sweet humanity's sake do your best to see that he gets both, in the fullest possible measure.

Following the program a delicious buffet luncheon was served under the direction of Mrs. F. S. Hardy, Mrs. Ralph Albree, Mrs. C. P. Hall and Mrs. C. L. Weaver.

Easy Lessons in - AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON
Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"

Copyright 1925 by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 27

In the previous article, a number of interesting hands were given in which the proper lead was discussed. Here is another hand, of a similar type, that has just been submitted by a correspondent:

Hearts — 9, 6, 5, 2
Clubs — A, 10, 8, 4
Diamonds — A, K, J, 7
Spades — 4

Y
Z

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one heart. A and Y passed and B bid one spade. Z bid two hearts, A and Y passed and B bid two spades. Z bid three hearts, A doubled and all passed. What is A's proper opening lead? A should lead the deuce of hearts. He and his partner have all three suits so why not lead trumps and thus prevent a possible trump by dummy. It is also a hand where the trump lead cannot hurt partner for the bidding and A's trump holding makes it certain that B cannot hold any trump strength. For those reasons it is a hand in which the trump lead is ideal. With the trump opening, the three heart bid would have been defeated by one trick. With any other opening, the declarer would have made his contract; quite a difference.

Another hand has just been submitted and the writer's opinion has been asked as to the proper play.

Hearts — 10, 8, 3
Clubs — A, 9, 5
Diamonds — A, Q, 10, 4
Spades — Q, 8, 2

Hearts — A, Q, J, 9, 6
Clubs — Q, 10
Diamonds — J, 7, 2
Spades — K, 10, 9

A B Z

Hearts — 4, 2
Clubs — K, 7, 6, 3, 2
Diamonds — 9, 8, 6, 5
Spades — 5, 3

Hearts — K, 7, 5
Clubs — J, 8, 4
Diamonds — K, 3
Spades — A, J, 7, 6, 4

Score, YZ 10, AB 0, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade, A two hearts, Y two spades and B passed. Z passed, A bid three hearts, Y three spades and all passed. A opened the deuce of diamonds. How should Z play the hand, provided only the dummy hand is exposed? Z should win the first trick with the king of diamonds and lead the trey of diamonds, finessing the ten spot. He should now lead the eight of spades from dummy and finesse the jack from his own hand. The purpose of this finesse is: First, to catch the king if it is only guarded once in B's hand; and second, to establish a reentry in trumps in Y's hand, if th[illegible]ng of spades is in A's hand. A, of course, wins the trick with the king and no matter what he plays, Z must make three odd. If A plays the ace of hearts, Z's king of hearts will make. If A plays a club, Z should play the ace of clubs in dummy, take two rounds of trumps, winning the second round in dummy with the queen. He should then discard either two clubs or two hearts on the ace queen of diamonds. Played in this way, YZ will only lose one spade trick and three heart tricks at most. It is an interesting hand and very instructive because it is a type that comes up so frequently. With this kind of hand, don't lead the queen of spades toward the king. There is nothing to gain and if the king is on your left as in this hand, you will lose a trick. Play it out in that way and see what happens.

Hearts — J
Clubs — 4, 2
Diamonds — 10, 7, 3
Spades — A, Q, 9

Hearts — none
Clubs — 6, 5, 3
Diamonds — K, 8, 6
Spades — 10, 6, 5

A B Z

Hearts — none
Clubs — K, J, 9, 7
Diamonds — J, 9, 5
Spades — J, 8

Hearts — none
Clubs — A, Q, 10, 8
Diamonds — A, Q, 2
Spades — K, 7

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win eight of the nine tricks against any defense? Z should lead the king of spades and follow with the seven of spades. Y should win the trick and lead another spade and the jack of hearts. B and Z are forced to make two discards. At trick three B should discard the seven of clubs and Z the eight of clubs. At trick four, B can discard either the five of diamonds or the nine of clubs. He cannot discard a club for if he does, Z should discard the deuce of diamonds, and one lead of clubs through B's hand makes all of Z's clubs good. At trick four, therefore, B must discard the five of diamonds. B should then discard the ten of clubs. Y should now lead the four of clubs and Z should win with queen. Z should now lead the ace of diamonds and follow with the queen, which A is forced to win. YZ must now win the ten of diamonds and the ace of clubs. It is a pretty little problem in forcing discards.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Although there are fifty-two weeks in every year it seems that we have heard from time to time of more than that number of weeks "especially set apart" for some admirable purpose. The point, of course, is to emphasize the value of a movement in the interest of the public. A week would seem sufficiently long in which to remind anybody of the importance of eating apples, cleaning-up their residences, considering methods of preventing fires and so forth. Some folks, however, need to have their memories jogged every day in the year, but that is not the thought we wish to set forth.

Now the movement is growing and if every one of the fifty-two weeks have not been "officially designated," or unofficially as far as that goes, they soon will be. Bear in mind, we are not saying it isn't an excellent idea. In fact we shall try to prove it before finally disposing of the subject.

While waiting the other day in an establishment where umbrellas are manufactured and repaired—we own at least one umbrella the right to which ownership we can prove—we saw a sign that made a deep impression upon us. It was an attractively printed post and bore this message: "Springtime! Rain or Shine! Umbrella Week, May 19 to 26!"

"Not so bad!" we exclaimed, though in not too loud a voice. "Umbrella Week" is good for many things and if it accomplishes its purpose it will go down in history—no, it will not go down for it will survive many other movements and be perpetuated for the benefit of human kind. If not it certainly should be.

There is nothing so useful as an umbrella and nothing so easily lost, misplaced or mislaid. "Umbrella Week" as intended by the originators of this idea does not necessarily mean that it is going to rain every day and night of that period. We at least hope it doesn't and we are sure the people who planned it had no such notion. On the contrary it suggests looking over one's stock of umbrellas and making sure that one is thoroughly equipped for the coming year.

Umbrellas, in many homes, seem somehow to be an article of common property. We ourselves have witnessed, not to say participated in, disputes as to their ownership. The claim is often made by several members of a family that the best of the lot is the individual property of each member of the household. The period set forth would be a propitious time to have the whole thing threshed out for good and all. It might be well to have a drawing, a sort of legalized raffle, but anyway it should be held and some decision reached.

And another excellent idea would be to hunt up the umbrella loaned to a friend. This should be done delicately, of course, and yet it cannot be overlooked. To call up by telephone and say to a friend, "Bring back my umbrella to me," might be effective, if abrupt and unusual. Then one might drop a postcard or a short note reminding a friend of his forgetfulness.

But is it our friends who are always at fault? May not we have borrowed umbrellas and failed to return them, although not conscious of what we have done? Would "Umbrella Week" then serve as an opportunity to return the property of another. It would ease one's conscience and at the same time save one the embarrassment of a formal reminder! In short, if the people really start out to observe "Umbrella Week" in every way in which it is possible to observe it, there would likely be a general exchange of umbrellas.

Perhaps it might be made to apply to everything borrowed or loaned. Suppose then we were to set aside "Return that which you have borrowed week." The phrase does sound a bit awkward, but we don't know just how to shorten it and make it inclusive at the same time. Money, and other things, but money especially, are not always returned promptly by a borrower and therefore a week of reminder would not be a bad idea.

As far as these various "weeks" go they may serve in place of a calendar. We might say, "I'll see you sometime Necktie Week," or "I'll meet you Roast Beef Week" or "I shall be away Onion Week." Indeed, there need be no limit up to fifty-two. No, let's make it fifty-one and have a "Nothing Special Week."

In the opinion of Registrar Goodwin, whose opinion is not without weight as all will agree, Massachusetts has a good chance to distinguish itself during the present year. That distinction may, he says, be brought about by a reduction in the number of fatal automobile accidents. His report shows that during the first five months of 1926 "there has been an agreeable improvement over the same period last year." He points out that notwithstanding the fact that there are at least 30,000 more motor vehicles registered the number of killed was sixteen less than during the first five months fo 1925.

Mr. Goodwin is not alone in hoping for a reduced record this year. All thoughtful people share his view. Unfortunately not all those who drive cars in Massachusetts are thoughtful. It is the thoughtless class who are responsible, almost entirely, for the appalling number of accidents. They fail to see their responsibility, or if they see it they promptly detour and avoid it.

Mr. Goodwin can accomplish much by administering fitting and prompt punishment. His vigorous utterances may be criticised as undignified but they are effective in that they keep the subject uppermost in the public mind. Now if th preventive measures could only be extended what a blessing it would be.

Summer is the time when the greater number of cars are on the road and therefore it would seem to be the greatest opportunity for preventive work. The municipalities who enjoy the benefits of a safety council should, in our opinion, do everything to uphold such an organization and such places as are without have a plain duty before them.

Now then, while Massachusetts, under Mr. Goodwin's guidance, is endeavoring to make a record, let Newton also see what it can do in 1926. There are many ways and sufficient means so that our city need not want for funds. All we can say at this time is that we hope that when Mr. Goodwin writes his annual report next January he will be able to tell of the splendid accomplishments of Newton in 1926.

Not long ago it was our privilege to attend a public reception at which a man of prominence was the chief guest. There were many men and women in the gathering who shook hands with him. Quite a natural and ordinary circumstance, we will admit, and one which seemed consistent with all such affairs. What impressed us more than anything else was the ease with which he was able to exchange hearty and cordial handgrasps without displaying fatigue. Never having had to perform such a task as greeting several hundred people formed in line we stood by and viewed the proceedings with unusual interest.

It has been part of our newspaper work at times to observe the work of a number of prominent individuals and their behavior in the receiving line. We recall one man, who at the beginning at his career as a statesman, emerged from a reception with blisters between the fingers of his right hand. We remember that he kept his hand bandaged for several days. But that man, like others before him, had not learned the secret, we should hardly call it a trick, of extending the "glad mitt."

Those well-intentioned people who insist upon shaking the hand of greatness, or near-greatness or would-be greatness, would be astonished if told that the person to whom homage was paid would be just as well pleased to escape the hand-shaking ceremony. But escape is impossible, as they say in the movies, so the victim has to go in training, or at least prepare hmself for the ordeal.

Now there is a way, and we understand that the wisest among our most distinguished citizens have adopted it. They can avoid fractured finger-bones by a very simple device. So simple is it that it doesn't appear like a thought-out proposition. The idea, and this we have on excellent authority, is to prevent one's hand from being squeezed. If the people who offer their greetings get the first grip the result is disastrous to the guest of honor. He will find his right hand all but mangled.

What then is the answer, you say? By putting his hand out first and grabbing the extended-one the "chief speaker of the occasion" merely exercises his muscles. His hand is safe from ill-treatment. He can keep on indefinitely as long as he does the squeezing and the other fellow has no chance to grip him. Thus you will see why there are so few casualties reported after these great hand-shaking carnivals.

The famous rhyme of Mary and her little lamb will, we expect, live forever. We sincerely approve because there was never a jingle that provided so much material for the writers of parodies, joke-smiths and others. In our youth we felt as have all other children that Mary was fortunate in the devotion of her pet. But as time slipped by we began to wonder if the lamb was not receiving more credit than it deserved. Not Mary's little lamb, for the circumstances of that case cannot be questioned, but the specie of sheep in general. Whoever saw a lamb follow a litle girl, whether her name was Mary or Marie, or Marguerite or something else? Maybe there are lambs that follow little girls to school every day in defiance of the School Board's regulations, but their number is few.

But dogs do. Now the other day we saw in the vicinity of a school several dogs. They were making merry on Farlow Park, as dogs will. The sight was not an extraordinary one and we would have thought nothing of it had not a resident of that vicinity called it to our attention. "These dogs," he said, "come to school with their owners, that is, youngsters who attend the school. And the remarkable part of it is they never try to get into the building but drop back when their little masters or mistresses enter the building.

"More astounding to me is the fact that these dogs know when school is out and are right on hand to walk home with the young folks. How do they know? Can they tell time? These faithful pets are as regular in their devoted attentions as can be. How do you explain it?"

We can't explain. Perhaps some of our readers may be able to do so.

MR. WEEKS SLOWLY IMPROVING

John W. Weeks continues to gradually improve at Washington, and it is expected that he will be able to be out in a week's time. He exerted himself too much when he first started to regain strength upon his return to the Capitol and was ordered to see but one friend each day.

ABOUT TOWN

Newton will be conspicuously represented at the New England Foreign Trade Conference to be held in Boston May 26-27 under the auspices of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and the New England Export Club. Charles E. Spenser, Jr., of West Newton is chairman of the general committee; vice-chairmen of this committee include W. P. F. Ayer of Newton Centre and Edwin C. Johnson of Newton Highlands. Other Newton men on the general committee are Victor M. Cutter of Newton, Herbert K. Hallett of West Newton, Henry I. Harriman of Newton, Daniel G. Wing of West Newton, S. W. Wilder of Newton Centre and Sinclair Weeks of West Newton.

The Boston Elevated has had a crew of construction employees placing new rails on Centre street. The foreman of this crew is a veteran. All in his gang are men of middle age or older. And, the skill and efficiency they displayed, would seem to refute the theory that after a man passes 45 he is not of much account when it comes to performing laborious tasks.

James W. French, at the Hudson banquet, told of the election some 40 years ago when Samuel Powers ran for Mayor and he was a candidate for alderman. Both were badly defeated. But Mr. Powers' political eclipse was not permanent. Some years later he was elected to the United States Congress, and probably could have remained indefinitely in that distinguished legislative assembly, had he so chosen.

Another of Mr. French's recollections concerned the "one-hoss" street car line which ran in the 70s along Elmwood and Tremont streets from Newton Corner to Oak Square, where it connected with the street cars to Boston. The rolling stock of this transportation company consisted of one car and it was owned and operated by a man named Pettee. This line did not prosper and was discontinued. Quite a period intervened before the electric cars had their terminus extended from Oak Square to Newton.

In the 90s, however, transportation from Newton to Oak Square was provided by an enterprising individual who bore the sobriquet, "Johny Fresh." This gentleman, whose public vehicle was a barge, among his regular passengers, carried members of a club which he conducted. Those who were numbered among the elect of this organization enjoyed certain privileges which have been denied citizens of this free and glorious country since 1919. This same person once wanted to move a house from Hunnewell Hill to land owned by him off Tremont street, on the Brighton side. The Newton aldermen would not grant him a permit. They were more fussy in those days. But their refusal did not frustrate this resourceful party. He gathered his cohorts one evening and through the darkness of the night they worked intensively. So did the horses on the windlasses. When daylight came the house in question was not on Hunnewell Hill, Newton. It was located on land off Tremont street, Oak Square.

A citizen protests against one condition obtaining near Nonantum Sq. Centre street is a one-way street past the building of the Newton Trust Company. So is Hall street. This citizen fears that some day, some unfortunate autoist will be "knocked for a goal" by Engine 1 when the heavy truck speeds by the corner of Centre and Hall streets on its way to a fire. The fire wagon is exempt from the traffic rule and can go the wrong direction on one way streets. It is contended that some sort of a warning signal such as a siren or gong, should be placed on the Trust Company building, to be sounded when the fire-truck is approaching.

Henry Bailey, Chairman of the Assessors, in his remarks at the hearing at West Newton on the new City Hall, favored the site bounded by Commonwealth avenue, Homer and Walnut streets. Mr. Baily suggested that the objection to this site, because it is removed from a bank building where money could be deposited, can be overcome by City Messenger Lucian Davis learning to operate an automobile. Mr. Maily suggested that there is a possibility of Mr. Davis being blackjacked, if he continues to carry the city's money on foot.

We have observed the City Messenger carrying money from City Hall to the First National Bank and there is little danger of him being attacked while the present method is used. When we saw Mr. Davis walking the short distance from City Hall to the bank, he was guarded by two fair clerks. No yegg would be so utterly lacking in gallantry as to rob Lucian, while he is being escorted by such an attractive convoy.

The other morning, while Mr. John Walsh, the genial proprietor of the Walsh Battery Shop, was eating in a Nonantum Square lunch room, some miscreant attached a sign to Mr. Walsh's sport roadster which caused much embarrassment to that gentleman. Officer Roy Taffe is investigating the case.

We have received a letter from a Stock Salt Company of Omaha, Nebraska, offering us the general agency for their product in this city. This company assures us that we can make from $3000 to $5000 selling salt to owners of horses, hogs, sheep and cattle in this city. According to the assessors' report for 1925, there were 241 horses and 360 cows in the city. The number of sheep and hogs was not given, but there are many of the latter. If we could sell enough salt to make $3000 commission a year, the live stock in this city surely would have to lick up a tremendous amount of sodium chloride per capita.

The distinction of being the first state to establish mothers' pensions belongs to Missouri, the law having become effective there in 1911.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Week ending April 24, patients in hospital, 146, patients paying as much as cost of care or more 67, patients paying less than cost of care 27, free patients, including babies, 40, babies born 9, 3 boys and 6 girls, patients treated by the out patient department 121, patients treated at eye clinic 2, accident cases —, social service calls at the hospital 14, at homes 8, patients transferred by social service car 7.

Miss Humphrys, the assistant superintendent, has returned from her visit to New York.

The nurses welcome the daylight saving season because it means for them greater opportunity for out-door exercise and recreation and the patients welcome it because it seems to make the nights shorter.

Because of the campaign for a million and a half to build needed new buildings there are more visitors than usual at the hospital. Almost all of them go away with the same remark, "The best reason for giving to the hospital is the hospital itself and its work, no one can visit it without wishing to be able to give to it enough to meet all its needs."

Wednesday, the twelfth of May, is to be Hospital Day this year, and the Newton Hospital will be open on that day from two until five in the afternoon, especially prepared to welcome visitors and to conduct them over the hospital.

Many rooms at the hospital were abloom in the early part of the week with flowers sent from the Brown-Stephenson wedding at Newton last Saturday evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Hospital Club was held last Monday evening, with Dr. West presiding.

CITY TREASURER'S BOND TO BE INCREASED

Under the provisions of Chapter 65 of the Acts of 1926, the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation must establish the amount below which the bonds of city and town treasurers and collectors cannot be issued. The Commissioner, in sending out his list, showing the amounts he has set as the minimum for the bonds of the various treasurers throughout the state, says,—"To approach a fair protection to the municipality, but not unnecessarily to increase the expense, and in approximating uniformity in establishing a reasonable minimum that will remain more or less stable, without undertaking the uncertain practice of making the bonds fit the individuals, the Commissioner has adopted, in connection with the commitment, a graduated scale as a guide in reaching the minimum requirement for the amount of the bond."

The table compiled by the Commissioner shows that heretofore some treasurers have been bonded higher than necessary, and others have been bonded much too low, considering the amounts of money they handle. In 1925 the direct tax levy of Newton was $3,259,899. The City Treasurer and Collector of Newton has been under a joint bond of $30,000. Commissioner Long has placed the minimum bonds on each of these offices in 1926 at $71,000.

POLICEMEN SHIFTED

Starting Saturday a number of shifts were made in the Police Department. Patrolman Dave Walton went on traffic duty at West Newton square, and Officer James Kelley was transferred from this post to patrol duty in Thompsonville. Frank O'Donnell returned to traffic duty at Newtonville square, and the two-shift system was resumed on several traffic posts. William Whelan and George Kilmain continue alternating at the corner of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue. Officers Cummings and McMahon direct the autos at the corner of Centre and Commonwealth avenue, and at the corner of the avenue and Walnut street, Officers Sullivan and Marden give the signals.

Patrol routes are changed as follows:—On day duty at Auburndale, Officers Cronin and J. R. Forristall; at Newton Highlands, J. J. Foristall; at Waban, Joe Reeves. On the night patrols the shifts include:—Bibbo to West Newton, Gaquin to Hunnewell Hill, Newton, King to West Newton, Reagan to Nonantum, Hoyt and Lyons to Auburndale, Barry and Ed. Foley to Waban, Dungan to wagon duty.

OCCUPIES NEW CHURCH EDIFICE

First Church of Christ Scientist Enters Handsome New Building in Newtonville

On Sunday, May 9th, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, occupied for the first time its church edifice, corner of Walnut and Otis streets, Newtonville.

This church has developed into a strong, active organization, quietly taking an influential place in our community.

Two services were necessary to accommodate the large attendance, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. There was no variation from the usual order of services, but the significance of the occasion and the joy at the realization of this permanent church home, was reflected in every face.

The corner stone of the church was laid December 30th, 1924, and following that date the work has uniformly progressed towards its present completed form,—a form that makes it a worthy addition to Newton's family of churches. The landscaping of the grounds now in process promises to make the setting of the church unusually effective. Provision has been made for adding a tower or spire later.

The interior as well as the exterior of the church has been most favorably commented upon by architects and experts, and has also successfully met the test of public approval. The underlying thought in planning the church has been fitness for service combined with simplicity and purity of design. The Colonial design has most completely expressed this thought.

Its plan, color scheme, lighting, as well as heating and ventilating arrangements, are all of the latest and most approved type, and are especially suited to the purposes of the church.

The prevailing tone of the interior is Colonial white and light gray, relieved by mahogany finish on the pews and platform, and the gilt on the organ pipes. An effective contrast in color is the rich Italian red of the pew

LEGION CONCERT

Next Sunday evening at Norumbega Park, Newton Post No. 48, American Legion is presenting a Concert and Moving Picture entertainment for the benefit of their Welfare Fund. During the past fall and winter Newton Post has expended several hundreds of dollars aiding deserving veterans and their families in need of assistance, consequently this form of entertainment has been decided upon to raise funds to reimburse the treasury.

In other years the Legion has conducted a Poppy Drive, and appealed to the public in other forms for financial assistance, but it is the expectation of the Legion officers that this Concert will make it unnecessary to continue these appeals. At the same time the public will have an opportunity to assist in a most worthy cause and have the added pleasure of enjoying an excellent program.

The Concert program will be attractive as the committee have arranged for several instrumental and vocal numbers by well known entertainers. In addition the famous photo play, "Behind the Front" a comedy war picture will be shown.

The disabled veterans of Chelsea Naval and West Roxbury Hospitals, will be the guests of Newton Post on this evening. Many members of the Newton Lodge of Elks have offered the use of their machines to Fred A. Cahill, who is in charge of the transportation of these veterans.

Mrs. Charles R. Butler of Auburndale, has forwarded a check to Newton Post, as a donation to this fund and has also donated the use of her machine to assist in caring for the disabled veterans.

HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

A contribution of $1,000 from the Newton Lodge, No. 1327, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, has been received at the Newton Hospital campaign headquarters for the hospital's building and equipment fund.

Wednesday, May 12, was celebrated in Newton as Hospital Day. The Newton Hospital was opened in the afternoon to visitors, and in the evening the occasion was observed by the team captains and division leaders in the Newton Hospital financial campaign at a dinner at the Brae Burn Country Club at which Mayor Edwin O. Childs was the chief speaker, and the continuing plans for the campaign for funds was discussed. In the morning the day was marked at the Newton High School by a special assembly at which the needs and the possibilities of the Newton Hospital were discussed by Charles F. Johnson.

Sunday, May 16, will be observed as Hospital Sunday in many of the Newton Churches. Speakers on the New-

KIWANIS CLUB

The Kiwanis Club of Newton held its weekly meeting at 12:15 Tuesday, May 11th, and was attended by 48 members. After luncheon several matters of business were taken up by President Frank Wilcox. Almond Spear of the Everett Club gave a very interesting talk on Kiwanis, and Arthur Pitman of Everett made a short address and spoke of a benefit the Everett Club were giving for the widows of two policemen recently shot in Everett.

SEVENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Interesting Program at Channing Unitarian Church on Sunday and Monday

With a remarkable series of meetings awakening memories of earlier days and full of inspiration for a future of growing influence, Channing Church observed its 75th anniversary on Sunday and Monday, May 9 and 10. Former members returned in large numbers to renew old associations, while the combining of the celebration with the annual meeting of the South Middlesex Conference gave opportunity for thirty sister churches to bring their greetings. Leaders in Unitarian denominational life and thought gave stimulating addresses and the anniversary dinner on Monday afforded an evening of hearty good cheer and friendliness.

The events of the day included a historical address by the minister, Rev. Chester A. Drummond; a service of remembrance for former members, with communion, the address being given by Rev. Charles E. Park, D. D., of the First Church of Boston; and sessions of the conference in the afternoon and evening, with addresses by Rev. Francis A. Christie, D. D., of Lowell, professor emeritus of church history in Meadville Theological School, Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, D. D., president of the American Unitarian Association, and Rev. Henry Hallam Saunderson, D. D. The conference sermon in the evening was preached by Prof. Francis G. Peabody, D. D., who by an interesting coincidence was the preacher at the dedication of the church in 1882.

In his historical address Mr. Drummond said he had sought by a diligent study of the records, which are remarkably full and well preserved, to make "a transcript for the newer generation, at least, of those events and

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

SHAW'S HOME RUN BEATS SOMERVILLE

With one down in the ninth inning of the Newton-Somerville game at Claflin Field Wednesday afternoon Alan Shaw, Newton second baseman, leaned on one of McHale's fast ones and poled it over the left field canvas for a home run dissolving the three to three tie and bringing victory to the orange and black in one of the most exciting games played in Newton in recent years. All of Somerville's three runs were handed them by misplays by Newton. In the very first inning things looked bad for Pickard who pitched a nice game all the way, when, with one down, Holbrook fumbled putting a man on first. Shaw, the next batter, forced him out at second. McHale, Somerville pitcher, singled and went to second on the throw to third. Both men were safe. McGovern hoisted a long fly to MacPherson who misjudged it and it went over his head for a triple. It should have been an easy one but two runs came over. In the third inning Newton tied the score when Proctor got a life on the shortstop's error. McCullough advanced him with a clean single. Gilligan fanned but Holbrook came through with a hit tying the score.

In the net inning Andres poled one over the left field canvas but Woodlock, who was umpiring, declared it went under and held Andres at third. He was caught napping and thrown out at the plate.

Pickard led off in the seventh with a single, Shaw sacrified him to second and he came home on McCullough's double to left.

Somerville tied the count in the eighth; McGovern singled. Tanner fanned but Gilligan dropped the ball and threw him out at first and McGovern who had previously reached second on a wild throw went to third. Watson laid down a pretty bunt and McGovern scored, on a neat squeeze play.

Shaw saved a run in the ninth by going into right field territory to capture McGovern's high fly by a spectacular catch for the third out with two men on the bases. In Newton's half Pickard was thrown out at first and then Shaw busted up the game with his home run.

SINKING SOMERVILLE

Several pretty plays occurred in the Somerville game Wednesday afternoon. That first inning made things look bad for Newton. Holbrook's error, Shaw's error and MacPherson's misjudgment of McGovern's fly which should have been an easy out, gave Somerville a two run lead. In the second Gilligan made a nice catch of Leveroni's high foul fly. It saved a run at least as two men were on with but one down. Pickard threw the net man out at first for the third out.

Holbrook's hit in the third which scored two runs was down the third base line near the base just out of Sullivan's reach. The Somerville third sacker played a wonderful game and cut off at least five runs by his fielding.

Andres' hit in the fourth inning looked over the canvas by at least ten feet to everybody but Somerville and the umpire, who held the football captain-elect at third. Even so he should have scored as Whitmore came through with a hit but Andres had been caught napping and was an easy out at the plate. Shaw made a nice catch of Watson's fly behind the pitcher's box in the fourth inning.

Captain McCullough slipped up in the eighth and threw badly to second base. Whitmore, who apparently was so surprised at seeing his Captain err, failed to back up the throw and allowed McGovern to go to third where he scored on a pretty squeeze play.

Shaw's catch of McGovern's high fly in right field territory in the ninth was a beauty. Two men were on and two down and the catch saved Pickard a lot of trouble. Pickard, by the way, played a fine game in the field. He is the finest fielding pitcher Newton has had for many years. In the seventh Leveroni hit one straight at him. It ticketed for at least two bases but Pickard's gloved hand went out and the ball stuck in his mitt for an out.

The victory put Newton in a first place tie with Everett, which defeated Brookline Wednesday, in the Suburban League race.

NEWTON TRIMS CONCORD ON TRACK

Newton high school outdoor track team defeated Concord high Tuesday afternoon on the Concord track 46½ to 34½. In spite of the rain and hail the events proved interesting. Newton won five firsts. The summary:

100-Yard Dash—Won by Davis, Concord High; Buzwell, Newton High, second; McLean, Concord High, third. Time, 10 4-5s.

220-Yard Dash—Won by McLean, Concord High; Cole, Newton High, second; Buzwell, Newton High, third. Time, 25s.

440-Yard Run—Won by Kolenmeyer, Newton High; Burton, Newton High, second; Asbjornson, Concord High, third. Time, 55 2-5s.

LODGES

At a dinner of members of Dalhousie lodge of Masons held Wednesday evening, Hon. Robert T. Bushnell, assistant district attorney for Middlesex county, made a powerful protest against the sentimentality of some otherwise respectable citizens, who use their names and influence towards thwarting the ends of justice by attempting to modify or commute sentences imposed for criminal acts. Mr. Bushnell urged that sympathy should be extended to the families of the victims of these criminals rather than toward the criminals themselves and that the protection of the public was more important than any possible regeneration of professional gangsters and gunmen.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY

May 23 has been designated as Memorial Sunday and members of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., all veterans of the Civil War, veterans of the Spanish War, the American Legion and Daughters and Sons of veterans of the Civil War will attend services that day at 11 o'clock in the Central Church, Newtonville.

For the usual Memorial services on Monday, May 31, Mayor Edwin O. Childs will, as usual, act as Chief Marshal, and he has appointed Frank L. Wilcox as adjutant general and Wilfred A. Wetherbee as chief of staff.

The parade this year will form at Newton Centre.

BINGLES

Groton school swamped DeWitt Clinton school 15 to 1 Wednesday afternoon at Groton. Pierce pitched a fair game for the local nine but received ragged support, eleven errors being made behind him.

Joe Kerivarn is playing centrefield for Portland in the New England league which started its season this week.

Dummer Academy defeated Country Day school Tuesday afternoon on the local field 8 to 3. It was a case of White versus White as each team used a pitcher by that name. The Dummer academy twirler held the upper hand all the way and was furnished good support. Johnson hit two triples for Country Day.

Sport Notes

Charlie Considine, the former Newton high football player, was one of twenty-seven backs and ends to report on Monday for the first spring practice of the Brown University football team. He was one of eight veterans included in the list.

Rupert C. Thompson Jr., of Newtonville, was chosen this week as an assistant manager of freshman hockey at Dartmouth College.

George Goodale won the final round matches of the marble tournament at the Newton Centre playground from Robert Dunn, a young Chinese lad, who learned the game in the Orient. This is the only playground championship yet decided in Newton as the elimination series on the other playgrounds have not yet been completed. The winners in the various villages will meet to decide the ciyt championship the winner of which will compete in the greater Boston tournament and if successful there will go to Atlantic City to play in the national tournament.

Chet Pratt got a third in the one-hundred and twenty yard high hurdles for two points. McCrudden scored the remaining point for the orange and black by placing fourth in the mile run.

Fred Onthank won second place in the 440-yard run at the Boston University—Tufts track meet on Monday, which the former won handily. B. U. took all three places in the quarter mile. The Chestnut Hill boy also took second in the same event Saturday in the meet with Tech.

NEWTON 16, RINDGE 5

Newton high school completely outclassed Rindge Technical high in a Suburban league game at Russell Field last Saturday for a 16 to 5 victory. The orange and black gave A. Wilson perfect support, while Rindge made seven bobbles behind Anderson. These seven errors and five passes aided materially in Newton's scoring, while seven passes by Wilson and but four hits, one of which was a home run with the bases empty in the fifth accounted for the losing team's five runs.

Shaw, Proctor, Gilligan and Holbrook were the wrecking crew of the local nine, connecting for ten of the fifteen orange and black bingles. Gilligan led the attack with three hits out of five times at bat, one of which was a two-bagger. Holbrook's two hits were both for two bases. Proctor, Spain and Whittemore pulled off a classy double play. Wilson retired eight by the strikeout rout.

A home run by Harlowe in the fifth was the feature smash of the game.

BINGLES

West Newton A. A. colored team won a close six-inning game at Reading Monday evening when it defeated the Reading Town Team 2 to 1. West Newton's two counters came in the first inning, Lomax received a pass and Gray scored him with a two base blow to left. The next two men were out but on Gadsen's single to centre Gray beat the throw home by an eyelash. These were the only two hits that the local team collected. Reading scored in the second on a single and a three base hit. Wheeler allowed but one other hit in the remaining innings, and was given gilt edged support in the field but one error being charged up to West Newton.

The Newton Pals won their eighth and ninth straight victories Saturday and Sunday on Cabot Park diamond. Saturday afternoon they defeated the Winter Hill B. B. C. of Somerville, 14 to 4. A big seventh inning netted the local team 10 runs. On Sunday the Pals crushed the Victory A. A. of Roxbury 20 to 0, scoring at least one run in each winning and counting four in the third and fifth frames. Mahoney allowed the visitors but one hit.

John Lawless continues to star for Boston University. Although the Terrier nine was shut out 3 to 0 last Saturday by Boston College the West Newton boy put up a fine game. He doubled in his first time at bat, being but one of the two B. U. players to reach the midway. He and one other teammate were the only two B. U. players not retired by the strikeout method. In the fourth he made a great one-handed stop of a hit near the baseline, saving at least a triple, and he made four putouts, three of which were pretty catches; he also figured in a double play. Lawless slipped up in the first inning, allowing the batter to take an extra base, but the error did not do a great amount of damage.

Dick Vaughan connected for a home run in the game between Yale and Brown last Saturday which the bulldog won handily by a 17 to 4 score.

Exeter defeated Harvard freshman 9 to 8 last Saturday in a free-hitting game at Exeter. Howard Whittemore was touched up freely and gave way to Ketchum midway of the game. Exeter had a 9 to 1 lead going into the seventh inning but rallies by the Crimson yearlings in the eighth and ninth frames in which four and three runs were scored gave them a scare. Ned Dewing, another former Newton High school athlete, caught the first part of the game for Harvard, and made two hits out of three times at bat.

Jimmie Barr, pitching for Wentworth Institute last Saturday, lost a tough game to Brown by a 4 to 3 score. A rally in the ninth fell short by one run of tying the count.

Bill Ellison made four put outs and collected one hit in Harvard's 7 to 4 victory over Pennsylvania last Saturday.

In a Private Day School League game last Saturday morning Country Day shut out Rivers School 10 to 0 on the home field. White and Whorf, pitching for the local nine, allowed but three hits between them. Every man on the Country Day team made one hit and Green gathered two. Captain Whorf got a two bagger and Ellis and Green smashed out triples.

Mike Gulian's All-star team defeated the Carter Mills team of Needham on Victory Field last Saturday afternoon, 21 to 6. Al Kroog, former Tufts pitcher, twirled for the All-stars and Gulian was on the receiving end. The third inning netted 10 runs for the local team.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Without offending as a maker of puns we would like to state that there is a limit to the use of the word "limit," or if not there should be. For years, more particularly in Boston than in Newton, we read of "fixing the tax limit." Now, unfortunately, Newton is talking of the same thing. Just why this should be we confess we are unable to say. Not that we have any objection to a method of efficient city management that is a departure from the old established custom. Times change and methods change and problems of today are solved not by the rule of yesterday but by the application of modern ideas.

Very well, then, but where do we get the license to talk of a tax limit when we don't mean that the local tax is to be limited. Such a misuse of the word is misleading. Of course everybody knows that taxes may soar as high as ever and higher, but when the impression goes forth that there is to be a limit fixed—well, there is sure to be disappointment and criticism.

We are with any well-considered plan—and we cannot conceive our city fathers assenting to another kind—that makes for Newton's benefit. If it is the borrowing capacity that is to be limited or the amount that can be raised by taxation, let us understand it as such. But don't let the impression get out that there is a limit to the amount the city may assess its residents per one thousand dollars of valuation. Plain English, after all, is more easily understood.

It is a simple matter to indulge in criticism of the management of a public service enterprise and a very difficult thing to point out precisely what should be done to correct some glaring defect. One of the favorite topics of all newspaper writers, and readers as well, is the Boston Elevated. With that in mind we wish to make certain that we are not unjust, or at least that we have no intention of hurling a brick merely for the sake of seeing somebody struck without opportunity of defence.

Now then there does exist an inconsistency and we call upon our readers to bear witness to the truth of what we are about to state. It is in the matter of boarding trolley cars. People who patronize the cars that run from Newton through Brighton to Boston know that they are expected and required to board the car from the rear end. But cars that run from Watertown to Harvard Square have a sort of free-for-all arragement. Front or rear, it makes no difference, so long as the passenger doesn't take too long to clamber aboard. The practice all over the Elevated system is jumbled.

We were riding into Boston from Newton the other morning when the car stopped in Allston and an elderly man sought to board the car from the front. The motorman was most indignant. "Rear door, rear door," he bellowed and the prospective passenger rushed to the rear door and boarded the car. When he walked down the aisle he had the look of a man accused of holding up a Sunday school picnic. There seemed to be in his face an expression of true repentance. He was most apologetic. Clearly the motorman's censure had had its effect. Yet we cannot see why so trivial a blunder should have aroused the motorman's ire. Perhaps this passenger lived on a line where patrons board the cars from the front or from either door, or perhaps he was used to patronizing a one-man car. Whatever his previous experience he surely was properly reprimanded for his error.

And it was on that very same trip and consequently the very same motorman that suspended the rules, as they say in parliamentary procedure, for a pretty young woman. The latter came running down a side street near Cottage Farm, hailing the car as she ran. We suppose it was her youth and good looks that inspired the motorman to this act of chivalry. Instead of scooting by as is the habit of motormen, he stopped the car and opened the front door (front door, mark you) and invited the young woman to board the car, which she did, walking down the aisle to deposit her dime. We don't pretend that the Boston Elevated is answerable for the motorman's conduct, but we do believe that the public should not be "bawled out" when the rules for boarding cars are so much at variance on the company's different lines.

It is true, although strange, indeed, that people need to be protected by law from their own foolishness. No, we are not going to discuss prohibition, nor any criminal subject, but something we doubt if many of our readers have given much consideration. It is one of those stupid acts of men and women for which there seems to be no cure, except hard and fast regulations provided by the State government.

An act of the Legislature recently signed by the Governor prohibits the sale in this State of eyeglasses "of corrective power" without the prescription of a registered optometrist or a physician. In case you don't know what this means let this be herewith set forth:

For years and years many people, whether for purposes of economy or plain, ordinary pigheadedness, have been buying eyeglasses at those big stores where things are sold in heaps at notoriously low prices. The custom has been for a man or woman to approach a counter where eyeglasses have been dumped in a great pile and select a pair which seemed best fitted to their vision. With these they were satisfied they had "a good pair of reading glasses."

Just imagine what these folks did! They defied all laws of common sense and refused to consult an occulist or optometrist but picked out at random a pair of glasses. And these glasses they expected to correct their vision—one of the most vital senses of the body. In other words, they were willing to wear anything on their eyes regardless of the fact that it might be the cause of gravest injury.

Goodness only knows how many thousands and hundreds of thousands of men and women have spoiled their eyesight by buying these cheap eyeglasses at random and believing themselves well off. It is safe to say that eventually these people, or a large majority of them, were finally obliged to call in a professional man to save them from themselves. But all this suffering and injury that preceded it they had brought upon themselves.

Well, it's all over as far as Massachusetts is concerned. The State Board of Optometry, after years of effort, has managed to get a bill through the Legislature, the effect of which will be to prohibit the sale of eyeglasses which have not been fitted properly and expertly to the eyes of the wearer. It will be possible still to buy cheap sun-glasses so-called, and automobile goggles, but that's all.

Six hearings in six separate parts of the city on the question of a new city hall for Newton. What could be fairer? No one should have objection, save possibly the members of the special committee of the Board of Aldermen appointed to hold these hearings. These gentlemen, who must be weary with the subject by this time, have reason to cry, "Hold, enough!" But they won't; they are good sports and will see it through.

When we sat down and read of the roceedings and the tasfl set before this special committee we were inspired with a desire to relieve them of their burden as far as possible. It occurred to us that if we were to offer some constructive criticism it might be appreciated and when the new hall was built we might get our name in the tin box of the corner stone, along with our latest photograph.

Very well then, our purposes being understood and, we hope, approved, let us see how this thing can be worked out. Might we not have a half-dozen small city halls distributed over the city? Something ornamental in character like a filling station! These would require a larger force of employes to maintain, but that would be only a small matter. By having a sufficient number of city halls, the feelings of the different sections would have been respected and no one could charge the special committee with favoritism or discrimination.

Again, might not there be a number of city trucks obtained which would make daily tours of the city? This plan would permit of three visits a day, for instance, of each city department head. The idea is suggestive of the Rural Free Delivery route and could be, we feel sure, managed quite as well. "Pay your taxes on the premises" would be an attractive slogan.

If there was such a thing as a portable city hall we should be in favor of that. If a building could be placed on rollers and moved periodically from one section of the city to another much feeling of jealousy would be avoided. West Newton could have the hall two months, Newtonville two months, Newton Centre two, and so on. Then the year would be over and a fresh start made. Yes, after all, we are for a dirigible city hall, with power supplied from hot air generated at aldermanic meetings and public hearings.

Now is the time that plans are laid, or at least outlined, for spending the Summer in some spot that is inviting or picturesque. If this were the only thought in mind there would be no cause for criticism, but too many people have a yearning to "get away from Newton," as if Newton were not itself picturesque and inviting. No doubt it is true that "a change is good for one," but we sometimes wonder if people who remain at home all Summer undergo a great amount of suffering.

Of course we know that we offer a vulnerable argument, for anybody can say to us, "Don't you like a vacation yourself?" and there can be only one answer to that. There are many qualities possessed by our good friend, Mayor Childs, for which we hold him in high admiration. Conspicuous among these is his loyalty to Newton. He never, as we understand it, leaves the city for recreation purposes. He manages to find his own city a desirable place in which to live in the Summer as well as at other periods of the year. For that example to his people he has our applause.

But we are confronted with a condition and not a theory, as has been said in many instances, so it is up to us to make Newton a Summer resort. How can this be done? The first suggestion that occurs to us is the presence of tea-rooms. If we had plenty of tea-rooms in Newton, would we be so anxious to get away in July and August? A tea-room, we understand, is a profitable enterprise—for those who run it. An odd name, some old-fashioned furniture, a brass kettle, a spinning-wheel and some dainty curtains, and the stage is set.

Daintiness and conversation are easily provided, although they come high, as one finds as one studies the check when the last dish is taken away. But, after all, what is money compared with "atmosphere" and when one can breathe the air of a tea-room and gift-shop combined for approximately $2.00 a breath, the privilege is really not expensive. More tea-rooms for Newton, say we.

THE VILLAGE PLAYERS

The Unitarian Parish Playhouse at Newton Centre was filled with large audiences on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of last week, when The Village Players presented "Say It With Diamonds," a three act play by Lawrence Sterner. This is the first time the play has been given and it was received with much enthusiasm, and Mr. Sterner is to be congratulated on its success. The scenes were laid in or near London, and the stage settings were most attractive and the parts were extremely well taken.

Those taking part were as follows: Carlton W. Baxter, Lawrence Sterner, S. Woodward, N. B. Powers, Walter R. Holmes, E. S. Stockslager, Cyril Parker, James H. Orr, Mrs. Henry D. Nott, Eleanor Mason, Molly Hicks, Mollie Draper, Mabel Brown Farwell.

Mr. Sterner (Captain Pemberton) took the part at a few days' notice as Mr. Geoffrey Baker, who was originally cast for the role, was called away by the sudden illness of his mother. Mr. Sterner is again to be congratulated for, as an actor as well as a writer, he is surely a success. This group of players is planning bigger and better things for another season, and judging by their ninth presentation it is certain that they will be successful in their future attempts.

WORLD WAR VETERANS

The attention of all Veterans of the World War who have cancelled or allowed their War Time Insurance to lapse is called to the provisions of the World War Veteran's Act, which limits the time for reinstating and converting War Time Insurance to July 2, 1926.

The experience of this office shows that when legislation has been enacted entitling ex-service persons to certain privileges—providing claim therefor was filed on or before a given date, that many Veterans postponed action beyond the given date with the result that many lost their right to avail themselves of the benefit of such legislation.

In order that no one entitled to the benefits of this legislation may neglect, or from lack of time be deprived of its benefits, this matter is being called to your attention at this time, with the request that immediate attention be given to this most important subject. Every Veteran in the community should reinstate and convert his War Time Insurance to one of the following forms.

1. Ordinary Life Policy.
2. 20 Payment Life.
3. 30 Payment Life.
4. 20 Year Endowment.
5. 30 Year Endowment.
6. Endowment Maturing at the Age 62.

If you are found in good health it is only necessary for you to pay two (2) premiums and you have until July 2, 1926 in which to make application for Reinstatement.

Call the Red Cross Hdqts., 12 Austin street, Newtonville, Telephone Newton North 2717. They will send you the necessary forms and arrange to have Mr. Noone fill them out for you if help is required.

Forms can also be procured at meetings of the American Legion.

personalities which constitute the precious memorials and memories of this church." With rare discrimination and sense of historical values Mr. Drummond narrated the significant incidents of the early life of the church, dwelling especially on its first fifty years. In closing he said:

"It was the great Humboldt who said that when he came near the valley of shadows it would be a great comfort if some one would read to him from the old Greek, if only a list of the ships. What he meant was that the music of the words ,the memory of the adventures for which they stood, would bring a rest and strength to his spirit. If time permitted I would like to read the list of those names who, like precious ships, found sanctuary in the harbor of this church and who sailed from their communion here out into the beautiful adventure of fruitful lives. They were noble men and women, of high intent, of lovely character, of great zeal and disinterested loyalty. It is to such as these in each generation that the course of maintaining the spiritual values of life must turn. These constitute the fabric of the world.

"The Christian church has been called a community of memory and hope. May the remembrance of these former years stimulate us to gird up our loins and to go forward."

The service of remembrance was held in the exquisite little chapel recently fitted up through the efforts of the young people of the church. Rev. George L. Parker of Newton Centre and Rev. Paul S. Phalen of West Newton conducted the service. Rev. Dr. Park, in his address, spoke in part as follows:

"There are moments of spiritual sensitiveness, of deep sympathetic insight, that come to us when we seem to be able to enter into an inteligent communion with the soul of things and can hear the soul of things as it speaks to us. Every one of us has come at one time or another to such experiences when we seem to stand before an institution and see its soul and hear its voice and listen to its message. Some such voice as that speaks to our spirits at this time. It is the voice of the church.

The institution as a whole is talking to us, and has a message. It tells us a message of reassurance. No man works for God in vain. It has a message of guidance and teaches us the worthwhileness of spiritual values. Last of all, it gives us a message of companionship and tells us that this church is a sort of trysting place, where seen and unseen are alike and where souls meet each other in the bonds of love, co-operation and comradeship."

The late Prof. Josiah Royce's characterization of the church as "a community of memory and hope" was the general topic of the afternoon meeting of the South Middlesex Conference. Speaking on the first part of the subject, "Memory," Prof. Francis A. Christie drew a parallel between the marvels that have been wrought by the radio in enabling us to listen "over vast reaches of space" to unseen and distant men, and the means which we have "of receiving human influence out of the depths of time." "Historic life," Prof. Christie continued, "is a great stream of expanding energies with definite direction due to the aims and volitions of past men. In our case the current that plays upon us descends from the lives of Hebrew prophets, the civilization of Greece and Rome and the spiritual efforts of men of northern Europe. Our instruments of reception from them are the historic institutions of schools, courts, political and economic oragnizations, differentiating the action of the one great current of historic energy into meanings of truth or beauty or justice or political rights and duties. In this one complex current there is an energy of another wave length, the invisible but powerful reality of historical religion, and in our church institutions we have the means of receiving thus the religious energy which once filled the soul of Jesus of Nazareth.

"It is our care to shape instruments of reception that will exclude all the discordant interference due to ancient and imperfect science or elements of other origin than the religious consciousness and thus make us responsive to the pure essence of spiritual dynamic in Christianity. A survey of the development of religion from lower to higher stages shows that the Christian dynamic is the principle of love as the secret of righteousness and the law of the ideal order which is the goal of human effort. The perfection of this insight and the perfection of his human expression of the divine law of love has enthroned Jesus in the affections and loyalties of our race and evoked as a permanent characteristic of our religion an instinct of self-identification with him. To receive the pure and permanent essence of Christianity is to pray in deed as well as in word that we may have the spirit that was in Jesus enabling us to know and do the divine will of love. It was to receive and transmit this great energy of sacred and powerfully propulsive memory and hope that this church was founded. It wears, too, the name of Channing Church and that means access by loyal memory to forms of conviction that are now reforming theological error and abolishing the old divorce of what is religious and what is secular, offering a yet unfinished program of human creative effort to the united enthusiasm of the democratic state and the Christian Church."

In presenting the second half of the subject, Dr. Henry Hallam Sunderson, editor of the Wayside Pulpit, speaking on "The Ministry of Hope," declared that the Christian religion is always a direct relationship of the living God with the spirits of living men and that to maintain this vital experience is more important than to perpetuate any theory of its meaning.

Dr. Saunderson laid great emphasis on faith in God, prayer and immortality as the essence of religion today. He deplored the materialism which denies superhuman power and the literalism which reduces religion to a mere tradition. He said: "The world has never seen greater heroism, more sublime self-sacrifice, more complete devotion to human welfare, or finer chivalry than it has seen in the lives of those who have a great faith in God and prayer and immortality. The whole course of Christian history has been illuminated by this faith. Today this faith is proving itself a mighty dynamic for the building of the civilization of the world."

Continuing the speaker said: "The human spirit in its aspirations comes in contact with the Spirit of God. Out of the contact is born the spiritual experience of men. There is a great continuity in this spiritual experience of men. There is a great continuity in this spiritual experience; but it is not merely a tradition to be conserved but a new and living thing to be continually recreated. This spiritual experience of contact of the human spirit with the Divine Spirit is dynamic and vital. It has measureless resources of power."

Dr. Samuel A. Eliot brought the greetings of the American Unitarian Association and summed up the discussion of the topic which had been considered by Prof. Christie and Dr. Saunderson. He appealed for some degree of permanence in religious thought as necessary to real progress. "The faith that has no old truth in it is just as near its doom as the faith that has no new truth in it. A faith that denies its ancestry is not likely to afflict the world with a posterity."

As to the present attitude of American youth toward religion, Dr. Eliot said he was unable to discover their alleged indifference—"but if it does exist it is not because religion makes too great a demand on us, but too little. Normal American youth is undiscouraged, eager for risks and for surprises. The boys that I know do not want to swing at anchor in the sheltered harbor—they want and they demand the zest of the open sea."

Supper was served in the parish house for about three hundred members, visitors and delegates, under direction of the supper committee, of which Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer was chairman.

The evening session was picturesque in the extreme, the church being lighted by candles, while the colorful effect was given by the processional, which included about forty ministers in collegiate gowns and hoods, with a like number of lay delegates. Rev. Harry Lutz offered the invocation and Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson gave the scripture reading and prayer. The choir of King's Chapel rendered three anthems and Mr. Raymond C. Robinson officiated at the organ.

Professor Peabody, in beginning his sermon, recalled the fact that he preached the sermon at the dedication of the church in 1882, from the suggestive text, "Even so would he have removed thee out of a strait into a broad place." He had then urged that the Church look for its natural growth, "not by detaching members from other communions, but by winning back to the consolations of religion some of that great multitude of precious souls who have perceived the division of reason from religion, and are waiting for the ministry of reconciliation." These conclusions, continued Professor Peabody, concerning the work of a liberal Christian Church "which forty years ago were prophetic anticipations have now become verifiable realities. In spite of grave diversions within many communions of the Christian Church, the most conspicuous desire of the present time is for unity." Professor Peabody then contrasted the two paths which offer themselves as roads to Christian unity,—the way of institutional conformity and the way of spiritual consecration. Unity in things of the spirit, he concluded, must be a spiritual unity; not identity of doctrine, but unity of desire; not a law but a loyalty; not a creed but a life. "In a singular and providential way," he said, "the little group of churches which has for generations abandoned dogmatic tests, and held fast the tradition of practical loyalty, is offered under the conditions of the present time a unique opportunity to reaffirm its comprehensive purpose. This is the last of times for Unitarians to regard themselves as a separatist sect, sustained through controversy with less reasonable creeds, or satisfied with an attitude of dissent or denial. This is a time to strike with renewed confidence into the path to unity; to revive the authority of spiritual religion; to rejoice in the liberty wherewith Christ has set us free; and to welcome the affinity of souls which, under varied conditions of bondage or misapprehension, have abandoned the doctrinal controversies which have divided them, and are turning to the discipleship which unites and redeems. Such a program would justify the faith and work of churches like those represented here, and to see them, as never before, "removed out of a strait into a broad place'."

Mr. Arthur W. Blakemore, Chairman of the Standing Committee in introducing the Honorable Samuel L. Powers as toastmaster remarked on the fine condition of the Church and the loyalty of its members. He spoke of the various organizations of the Church including the Sunday School, Women's Alliance, Laymen's League and Channing Guild.

Mr. Blakemore deplored the fact that there was so much opportunity for increased interest among the men of today in religious matters and spoke of the enthusiasm of the group of men who had built the very handsome Church edifice over forty years ago and remarked that the same kind of enthusiasm today seemed to be devoted to golf in large measure. Newton has five golf courses with an approximate membership of two thousand who pay nearly $250,000.00 per year for their favorite sport and he suggested that if the Churches of Newton were as well supported as the golf Clubs, they would all be very much better off than they are.

Seated at the head table with Chairman Arthur W. Blakemore, were Hon. and Mrs. Samuel L. Powers, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Hudson, Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lutz, Mrs. Blakemore, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Laurens MacLure, Mayor Childs and Judge J. N. Palmer.

An interesting incident was the presentation of a basket of flowers from the Newton Centre Unitarian Church. Mr. Chester W. Nichols making the presentation.

The post prandial exercises began with the singing of Auld Lang Syne, after which Mr. Charles Pearson sang two groups of songs.

Mr. Blakemore introduced Mr. Powers to act as toastmaster and Mr. Powers fully maintained his reputation as the toast master par excellence of New England.

The speakers included Mayor Childs who brought the greetings of the city, Rev. Dr. MacLure, who brought the good wishes of the sister church of Newton, Rev. Mr. Lutz and Rev. Mr. Hudson.

The young ladies and girls of the parish, appropriately gowned in old fashioned dresses, acted as waitresses.

Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer and Miss Jean Howard were in charge of the dinner served by the Ladies' Channing Guild.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wendte of Berkeley, Calif., who were members of the congregation of Channing Church during their ten years of residence in Newton, were among those to send greetings to be presented at the dinner. Dr. Wendte is president of the board of trustees of his former church in Oakland and also a trustee of the Pacific Unitarian School for the Ministry which he helped to found thirty years ago. He writes to Channing Church.

"I am delighted to note that Channing Church is to observe with so much spirit and ceremony the seventy-fifth anniversary of its foundation, and in response to its cordial invitation my wife and I express to its members and friends our warm interest in its proceedings and our congratulations on its prosperity at present and its happy outlook for the future. Your fellow Unitarians on the Pacific coast will derive much encouragement and inspiration for their own church endeavors from your admirable example of loyalty and devotion to the principles and ideals of liberal Christianity. We have not forgotten our recent all too brief visit among you and your very kind reception of your former friends and fellow workers in Channing Church. There may be more beautiful residential towns and more congenial friends and fellow-workers than those represented in the th Unitarian churches of the Newt but if so we have not found them. send them each and all our l greeting and God speed."

A telegram of congratulation Mr. and Mrs. George Lane, Jr., ledo, O., was read at the dinner, the former members sending gr were the following: Mr. and M D. Mr. John Flood, whose death this week it is our sad duty to announce, was a fine type of a self-made man, and a notable example of good citizenship. From a hostler in a country livery stable to a successful and respected business man, is a life record of which any man might well be proud. In addition, Mr. Flood had more than his share of genuine public spirit and was always ready to give of his time, his energy and his money to all good causes. Memorial Day in this city will not be the same in the future as it has been in the past because Mr. Flood was always a potent factor in its observance and his genial personality added much to the proper observance of the day. "We shall meet, but we shall miss him" will be the sad refrain of a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

The death of Mr. Oliver M. Fisher will be felt in many places, including Channing Church, of which he was a constant member, in the wider Unitarian circles of the country in which he took an active part, in Masonic affairs, in which he had held many high offices and in the community in which he was always one of our most public spirited citizens.

The late Colonel Benyon made a large contribution to Americanism by training many a youth to obedience to constituted authority and to cooperate with others.

CITY HALL HEARINGS

The special committee of the board of aldermen appointed to hold hearings in the various parts of the city visited Waban and Auburndale this week on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. About eighty residents of Waban appeared at the hearing held in the Angier school hall, the majority of whom favored the triangular site at the corner of Homer and Walnut streets and Commonwealth avenue. West Newton scored last night, when a majority of the sixty residents of Auburndale approved the site in West Newton.

Miss Maud L. Withington of Commonwealth avenue, a clerk in the assessors' department, questioned the chair on the purported gift of the entire plot of land at the Homer street triangle, which she understood was the impression that many citizens had obtained. Alderman Baker replied that he had not heard that the entire triangle had been given to the city, but that Mr. I. Nesson had offered to give the city 45,000 square feet of land situated in the triangle under discussion, provided that the new hall be built there.

Mr. Algernon McCarthy asked if there were not some strings to that offer, to which Alderman Baker replied that he understood that Mr. Nesson has agreed to make the offer in writing if so desired.

Miss Withington asked the chair to explain the conditions under which the city now holds title to the old church building next door to the present city hall. In 1946 the land will revert back to the donors if not used for municipal purposes. Mr. Baker also told of the offer of land in the rear of the old church building by Miss Lucy Allen if a new hall is built in West Newton.

Dr. . A. Forbish felt that the school program should not be interfered with and that everything else should be sidetracked until that program is completed. He asked if the city had the necessary funds in sight to do that. He thought it would be best to let the project return to its slumbers for a few more years, as the editor of the Graphic said.

Alderman Baker then explained that it will be necessary to go to the Legis... for authority to go outside the ...r the new hall.

Alderman Bail informed those present that the centre of population was very near the high school at the last census.

Mr. M. C. Hutchens, of the school committee, said that if the city had a million dollars to spend, it ought to be spent on the schools. Many of the children now have to walk two miles to school.

Alderman Baker assured him that the school program would not be interfered with. The borrowing capacity of the city was $424,000 on January 1st, 1926. If the city refrained from borrowing, it would increase to the following amount on the first day of each year; 1927, $739,00; 1928, $1,101-000; 1929, $1,460,000. One of the questions now before the aldermen and the hearing was whether or not the city should go outside of the debt limit for the necessary funds.

Mr. E. J. Winslow stated that he had no personal interest, but that he wished to represent the ideas of those who don't talk. He was willing to see the tax rate go up, but claimed that the city would never get full value for anything it did. He thought it poor business to buy a piece of bog land that all it would do would be to hurt the avenue, make dangerous crossings, etc. All the avenue could do for the city hall would be to create more noise and dirt. Neither did he favor the West Newton site on account of increased danger. He agreed with Judge Weston that the hall should be near a railroad and suggested that land could be bought in Riverside, which is the railroad centre of the city, for $2,000 an acre. Alderman Bail replied that he could get a gift of sufficient land in Oak Hill that would not cost the city a cent.

John H. O'Neil, late candidate for Mayor, said that since he had come in he had heard a lot of talk about a bog. Go to the Copley Plaza or the Statler Hotel—the whole of Back Bay was once a bog. He thought none of the speakers had been to Florida, as many of the projects there are being built upon what was once ocean. He agreed that the Homer street site would cost more than what the city would receive for its West Newton property. The present buildings reminded him of farm buildings, painted gray like the usual hen coop, woodshed and pig pen. Talk of butting into school programs was always heard when any other city project was mentioned, but it mattered not, as no city would allow its school children to be handicapped. He stated he once lived in Danvers, which brought forth some laughter (causing him to make the comment that they send many Newton people there to be cured). He claimed that the present Court House was terrible and abominable and that the county would be glad to pay sufficient rental for modern quarters even if the Homer street site was selected. No one had got at the crux of the situation, although he thought one speaker was when he talked about the centre of population now growing towards the avenue. But then he found out he didn't even know where it was. As for an athletic field, he stated that every one knows that a bog is no place for such a project, that the drainage problem must be first overcome.

Mr. Brophy told of the "Leaning Tower of Pisa" meaning the new South Church in Copley Square and also inquired if the Homer street site was not good enough for an athletic field it was not good enough for a city hall.

Mr. William B. Wood of Newton Highlands answered Mr. O'Neil's question as to why the city hall ever was placed in West Newton by stating that the railroad brought it there because of convenience of transportation. A showing of hands resulted in 11 in favor of the triangle and 26 in favor of West Newton. Alderman Heathcote asked for a show of hands of those who lived in Auburndale. The result was 20 for West Newton and 3 for Homer street.

The next hearing will be held Tuesday night at Newtonville in the Technical high school assembly hall. Thursday night one will be held in Newton in the Underwood School. Both are scheduled for 7.30 P. M.

WABAN HEARING

Waban was visited on Tuesday night by the special committee on the proposed new City Hall. Alderman Baker gave his customary explanation as to the "whys and wherefores" of the city hall problem. William C. Holbrook, representing the Waban Improvement Association, favored the triangle site at Homer and Walnut streets. He stated that the present city hall is located at one side of the city and more convenient for most sections of the Newtons.

Alvin L. Richards asked regarding the alterations which are to be made in the Old Congregational Church at West Newton to relieve the congestion at City Hall. George F. Reinhardt favored the triangle site and asked what it would cost; also the cost of the West Newton land taking. He was informed that City Solicitor Bartlett is endeavoring to get some added information which will permit more accurate estimates of the costs of the sites under consideration. Waban Meadows favored the triangle site. He denounced the present City Hall as a fire-trap.

John O'Neil, who gained some prominence as a candidate for Mayor last fall, also was a proponent of the triangle site. He criticised the inadequate accommodations at the Police Court in West Newton and could not understand why the City Hall was ever located in that village. He said Waban "having no fish to fry" favored the triangle site on its merits. Herbert R. Lane also spoke in favor of the Walnut-Homer-Commonwealth avenue location. A showing of hands was called for and all but three voted in favor of the triangle site. The three voting for West Newton were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Richards and Roland Gammons. Alderman Bail inquired of Mr. Gammons as to the part of Newton in which he resided. The latter answered that he had lived in different parts of the city, but as a tax-payer interested in a large amount of property, he considered the West Newton site the best location for the City Hall.

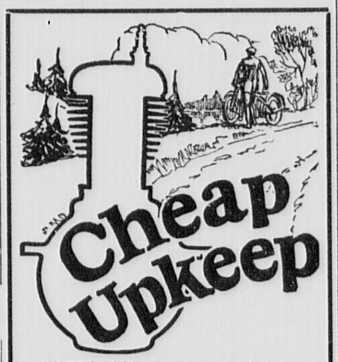
ANNUAL MEETING OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

All arrangements have been completed for the annual meeting of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Newton Club on next Wednesday evening, May 19. There will be a dinner at 6.30 o'clock for those who enjoy the social features of an event of this kind. Advance reservations are necessary to insure accommodations for those who desire to attend.

Immediately following the dinner, an interesting program of speaking will be presented and the annual business meeting of the Chamber will be held, including the presentation of annual reports, and the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Among the most important of the several problems confronting the Newton city government at this time is whether the city shall continue to do without a new city hall and other needed improvements — adhering closely to the "Pay as you go" policy in municipal affairs as has been done during the past few years,—or whether the city should petition the Legislature for permission to increase its borrowing capacity to carry out these improvements in the immediate future, thus permitting the present generation to enjoy their benefits and the future generations to help pay for those things which will be available for their convenience and pleasure in the years to come.



CUTS riding cost to a minimum. Cheaper than shoe leather. Seventy to eighty miles to a gallon of gas. 10,000 to 12,000 miles on a pair of inexpensive tires. 800 miles to the gallon of oil. Park it anywhere. Takes little garage space. Go to work and back for less than carfare. At last you can have a personal mount—to go everywhere conveniently and economically. The price is amazingly low. The payment plan is easy. Come in and ask us about it.

MOVIE HOUSE AT WEST NEWTON

A public hearing was held Tuesday afternoon in the aldermanic chamber on the petition of George J. Martin, Charles S. Ensign, Rupert Thompson and Thomas Gotshall for a moving picture theatre at the corner of Washington and Elm streets, West Newton. The men interested in this project are connected with the Community Theatre at Newton. Thomas W. White was the first speaker for the petitioners and lauded the efforts made by the management of the Community Theatre to provide proper pictures for this city. He said that provision for the entertainments of "The Players" will be made in the new theatre. Players Hall, which has for some years been used by the West Newton amateur thespians is to be torn down. Rupert Thompson also spoke in behalf of the granting of the petition.

Mrs. Forest Barton, representing the Mothers' Council of West Newton, opposed the permit. She thought it unnecessary to have another theatre in West Newton as the Community is near enough and the new house might distract the students at the proposed West-Side Junior High from their studies. Mrs. A. S. Ladd for the Community Service Club of West Newton, with 316 members, objected to the granting of the permit. Mrs. J. Edgar Park also opposed the theatre. She claimed that movies have a bad effect on school pupils, preventing them from properly concentrating on their school work. Mrs. Harry C. Barber said that moving pictures were to be given in the basement of the new library at West Newton and these ought to fill the need of that village.

Hon. Charles E. Hatfield stated that when a questionnaire was sent out to West Newton residents on the matter of a movie house, but 10 persons out of 500 objected to a theatre being built in that section. Mayor Childs told of having received no complaints about the Community Theatre. Mr. White invited citizens, club members or clergy to become guests of the proposed theatre and give suggestions in its conduct. The Mayor took the matter under consideration.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

NEWTON FEDERATION

Mrs. Willard Dalrymple, president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, welcomed her guests of the Newton Federation, most graciously Tuesday morning, the 11th, in the Newton Centre Club House. With quaint humor and delightful grace she said she greeted her family with the statement that she was glad the weather was so pleasant, and how well we were looking, and, as the Mexicans say: "the house is yours."

Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., presiding, Mrs. Herbert S. Kimball, recording secretary, and after her report, Miss Florence N. Bridgman, corresponding secretary, were the only ones seated upon the platform. Reports of officers, and the report of the annual meeting last year were read. The treasurer, Mrs. Alfred E. Vose, stated that approximately $609.00 stood to the Federation's credit in the treasury.

Three muses of poetry—quite appropriately — appeared among the chairmen's reports. Mrs. D. M. Goodridge, on conservation, and Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, on education, gave clever and entertaining rhymed resumés of work accomplished and of advice for the future. These received approving and hearty applause. Miss Emma D. Coolidge, in giving the press report, said, amidst laughter of the audience: "press has certainly lived up to its name this year, for your chairman has not only been hard pressed, compressed, suppressed, and depressed, but she is now ex-pressed, and retires to private life to recover her breath." (As answer to inquiries that have since been made, and to relieve all similarly wondering, she notifies you now, that while this means that she will not act as press chairman for the Federation another year, on account of so many other duties, she does not intend to give up the editing of the Club column in the Newton Graphic). Miss Coolidge ended her report by a toast in rhyme to the personnel of the Federation, officers, and chairmen, as well as prominent delegates, that was found amusing.

The public health chairman, Mrs. William A. Bedford, stated that she was proud that five eminent physicians had spoken before the Clubs during the past year. She reiterated the importance of having some protective measure established in Newton for covering foods exposed for sale, as a preventive measure against contagion.

The legislative chairman said that "legislation spells bills, not payable ones, either, alas, but bills due—due to be read, however lengthy and legally phrased, bills to be scanned for the inevitable joker, bills to be followed to their finish—we speak advisedly—in hearing and Senate chamber."

The Chair thanked Miss Bartlett, social chairman, for her excellent service in the Federation's behalf this day, "although she is busy, and not here to hear this."

Miss Ross, for the District Nursing Association, displayed two comprehensive charts, which she proudly reported had been drafted by girls who had been helped in this by the Clubs, and expressed her appreciation for the financial aid and good will of the Clubs, "without which the Association could not get along." Nearly 13,000 visits had been paid during the year to 1,070 sick persons, and about $12,000 is needed to support this service, of which about half is raised by the organization that the balance has to be contributed from sympathetic friends. She ended by extending a cordial invitation to all who neded their aid to call upon them, for proof of service would be in this rendering.

All Newton Music School reported its splendid work in this line of artistic endeavor, with the personnel of school orchestras taken from their students, with boys' quartet established, and with seven recitals and many other delightful concerts and programs to their credit.

Miss Butters, of the Welfare Bureau, told of over 5,000 careful interviews in the interests of efficient aid to those who needed it, of occupational therapy to lighten burdens and give interest, zest, and financial help to life, of clothing obtained and wisely distributed, of health measures paid for out of the Christmas Seal Fund—due to the Federation—,and of welcome Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets that gave cheer on these days.

The chief items to attract attention in the report of the Hospital Aid Association was the fact that a booklet, compiled by Mrs. B. E. Taylor, would give much information as to their splendid work, and of the Benefit Shop to be carried on in June at 10 Bailey Place. Volunteers to collect articles for this sale and salespersons were sought.

Mrs. Isaac Goddard likened the W. C. T. U., to the G. A. R., necessary but almost gone. With a membership of 150 it still carried on, with the motto "For God, for home, and for native land." The call to arms came when certain foreigners were planning parades through Washington streets to show how they were going to give back to America freedom to indulge in liquor. Committee and mass meetings throughout the country in churches and other places of assembly soon put the quietus on this "license" that is yet another that is not liberty. Her report was noteworthy for its splendid note of high ideals.

Mothers' Rest told of aid to tired mothers, and of childish enjoyment in wonderful out-of-doors, with rocking horses, sand boxes, and swings, that made one glad that such efforts were in our midst for those who needed, and so appreciated, these brightened days.

Mrs. Lodge, for the Newton Circle, stated that $10,000 had been contributed to the new Florence Crittenden Home. Mrs. George Hayden, Chair- of the American Home, stressed junior work, and brightly ended by saying that this youngest daughter of the Federation hoped to grow in wisdom with the years, and make Newton live up to its name—City of Homes—more than ever. Mrs. Winslow, reporting the Christmas Seal campaign, showed that Waban had doubled her quota in contributing to it, as had Newton Upper Falls. The splendid amount of about $6,600 was secured as net result of this work.

Club presidents reported outstanding features. Mrs. Stephen Wright, for Auburndale, "Junior Membership;" Auburndale Review Club, "Raising $400. for new library;" Christian Era Study, Miss Smith, "Spirit of Adventure," from 17th century to modern civilization; Mrs. J. Porter Russell, for Newton Community, "Hospitality;" Mrs. Philip Jamieson, for Social Science, "Year's Study;" Mrs. Dalrymple, for Newton Centre, "The Club House a Community Home;" Mrs. A. L. Pratt, for Shakespeare, "Study Club's important Place in Community Life;" Mrs. Charles H. Keeler, for Newton Highlands, "Art;" Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, for Upper Falls, "Busy Women;" Mrs. Philip L. Warren, for Waban, "Concerts, or Music for Children;" Mrs. Frederick J. Fessenden, for West Newton Community Service, "New Library;" Mrs. John R. McLean, for West Newton Women's Educational, "Travel Class;" and Mrs. C. D. Kepner, for Newtonville, a clever and merry rhyme on the "Life of a Vice-President."

Outstanding for wit and amusement among these: Mrs. Wright said that after the talk of Newton's probation officer at one junior meeting, many girls were heard to express the desire to become probation officers; the girls' activities included being models for style shows. Mrs. Russell declared that she had quoted so many times article two of their constitution that she expected the members would vote to have this section stricken out. Mrs. Dalrymple told of how efficiently their workers secured the funds for a new heater that was needed—"although you may not know this morning there is a heater." Coats attested this fact! Mrs. Keeler declared that it was worthwhile to have met in Lincoln Hall just to see what could be accomplished, in decorating a platform, with a step ladder, a hanging, a tapestry, candle sticks, and a willing art committee! Mrs. Lees said her busy women always stood back of her to get her any money she or the Club needed! Lucky president! Mrs. Warren stated that in Waban they felt that too much had been done for the children for amusement, so they gave them courses in music appreciation and current events, which reminded her of the story of the precocious child who told his mother there were only two things he did not understand, infant damnation and spontaneous combustion. Mrs. Kepner said that she had learned her lesson—in rhyme at that—that a vice-president had something to do except to accept honors, and to attend one Board meeting a month. She wondered—in the absence of the president in the Orient—how anyone could exist without a head, and why three cooks—the three vices—had not spoiled the broth. She advised nominating committees not to tell a candidate for vice-president that she would have nothing to do, and for not such victim to seize the bait, thinking there was no string attached to it.

The other reports were in more serious vein, and held much of inspiration.

Mrs. Willard L. Sampson, reporting the Women's Auxiliary, gave their aim for the next year as one thousand members!

Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, chairman of nominating committee, prefaced her report with the remark that there was no possible way for this report to be put in rhyme. Unanimous election by 106 votes cast re-elected these officers, and the new nominating committee: president, Mrs. Ellis Speare, Jr., first vice-president, Mrs. Samuel L. Eaton; second vice-president, Mrs. Bernard Early; third vice-president, Mrs. Harry S. Wells; recording secretary, Mrs. Herbert S. Kimball; corresponding secretary, Miss Florence N. Bridgman; treasurer, Mrs. Alfred E. Vose; auditor, Miss Emma E. Walker; nominating committee, Mrs. Herbert E. Child, chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Andrews, Mrs. E. J. Winslow, Mrs. John R. McLean, Mrs. Herbert L. Slade, Mrs. Joseph Gerrity, Mrs. Bertrand E. Taylor, and Mrs. Harry B. Bradford.

After the president's speech, the meeting was adjourned for luncheon. The tables were most attractive with their bouquets of pink peas that gave a vista of cheery color as one looked down the room. In the afternoon the entertainment was a cantata, Alice Brand, by the Choral Class of the Newton Community Club, in a well-filled hall.

Mrs. Joseph Congdon brought a message from the State Federation pleading with Club women to attend all business meetings.

Assisting artists were:

Assisting artists were Clara Sexton Crowley, Soprano; Arthur O. Wellcome, Tenor; James L. Houghton, Baritone; and Mrs. Albert Luke Walker, 'Cellist. Mr. Houghton and Mrs. Walker, the latter accompanied by her husband, Albert Luke Walker, rendered some very lovely extra numbers. Mrs. Crowley and Mr. Wellcome were the artists for the cantata, and accompaniments for this were played by Laura Crossman Schell.

RECENT EVENTS

Newton is leading—as behooves this city in which we all so rejoice—as usual in another interesting innovation. Newly-formed Junior Clubs are fast making themselves known and admired in community and Club life. Newton Club women should rejoice that their Clubs are standing first among the organizations to follow the plea of the State Federation that we form such groups. Auburndale has the proud distinction of having had a Junior Club long before the call went forth even from the State powers, theirs having been in existence since 1919.

West Newton Women's Educational Junior Club

Taking advantage of the spring weather, and with truly youthful, peppy spirit making business and pleasure combine, the Junior Club of West Newton Women's Educational Club, set forth gaily by automobile, on Thursday, April 28th, for a house party at Clifton at the "Breakers," where they held their Annual Meeting and elected their new officers. Surely no more lovely spot than this, looking out from dining-room windows upon the sea, could have been found for sixteen happy young girls to have an outing, and at the same time conduct matters of importance. Mrs. Louis Bacon, their director, and Mrs. Fred Blanchard, their honored guest, as president of the West Newton Women's Club, not only went with them, but served to them a real dinner upon arrival at Clifton. In proof that it was a real dinner to appeal to epicurean taste, there were among the many dishes, chicken asparagus, and olives.

Mrs. Blanchard had charge of the table decorations and delighted the eye with pink and white adornments. The table cloth had pink rosebuds; the centre flower piece was pink and lavender and white sweet peas; danty pink baskets, filled with candies, graced each plate. As speaker of the occasion, Mrs. Blanchard told how the Constitution of the Club had been revised to admit junior membership, and Mrs. Bacon, the girls' advisor, also talked on the work of this branch of Club life; both inspiring these new comers in this field of activity.

In the evening a bridge party was

NEEDS OF NEWTON HOSPITAL

Statement by Mr. C. E. Kelsey, President of the Board of Trustees

Every department of the Newton Hospital must be provided for in the new building program, as it is impossible to increase the load on any one department without increasing the pressure on the others. So if we provide more room for patients, it means we must have more nurses. If we have more nurses, we must make provision for properly housing and feeding them. It follows that if we have more patients, greater pressure is brought upon the operating department, the laboratories, and the X-ray rooms, all of which are inadequate and out of date.

Since the last new building was opened 18 years ago, the city of Newton has increased 16,000 in population, and the proportion of smaller household establishments, and of families in moderate circumstances has greatly increased.

Every private room in the hospital, except in the maternity department, is located in a two-and-a-half story frame building 35 years old, which is not a good fire risk and is far from being up-to-date.

The X-ray room utilizes what are virtually two big closets, one as a disrobing room for patients and the other for the equipment, which is modern. So while the hospital has modern X-ray apparatus, the facilities are entirely inadequate to meet the demands which are increasing about 50 per cent annually.

The laboratory, one of the most important of the hospital departments, is located in a cellar, with limited space, poor light and inadequate equipment.

The operating room, to which 2,331 patients were admitted last year, is taking care of more than twice the normal capacity of the one major and one minor operating room. Often there are three or four patients awaiting attention in the operating suite. It will be necessary to have at least three times the present operating room facilities to meet the demands of the present and immediate future.

In order to house the student nurses it is necessary for 25 to sleep in open wards, where they have no privacy, no quiet for study, and inadequate toilet and bathing facilities. In the nurses' dining room the congestion is so great that one table is cleared and set eleven times in the course of every twenty-four hours. Graduate nurses, called to the hospital on special cases, are obliged to sleep in a large, open temporary ward building, which was erected during the war and condemned by the city of Newton a year ago. Employees are obliged to live in basements, in out-of-the-way rooms and in the old morgue. At least twenty-five of them are living under conditions which the citizens of Newton ought not to permit.

Notwithstanding these depressing conditions, the entire hospital personnel is working most enthusiastically and effectively. While the hospital has stood still as regards buildings for the past 18 years, it must be remembered that we have as fine a location for a hospital as there is in New England, that the Newton Hospital has a reputation second to none in cities of our size, and that our graduate nurses are in demand everywhere, and have a high reputation throughout the nursing field.

In all our plans for new buildings, let us remember that we are striving to build a hospital plant which will reduce the high cost of being sick, which will take care of the needs of the poor and the unfortunate, and especially will give to those of moderate circumstances the assurance that their families will be taken care of in time of sickness without the likelihood of facing financial catastrophe.

COMMUNITY CENTERS

"Every new school house constructed in Newton should be planned to be used as a community center" was the text of Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, chairman of the recreation survey of the Newton Central Council, in an address before the Newton League of Women Voters at the home of Mrs. P. E. Woodward, 125 Highland avenue, Newtonville, Wednesday evening, May 5.

Recreation is both a means of obtaining good health and a means of preventing delinquencies.

In some other parts of the country, the school plants are used a large part of the time—for evening schools, including elementary, high school, and trade school work; vacation schools, similar to Newton's summer playground activities; supervised dancing; and community centers.

A play leader in every school in Newton should be the aim, at least one teacher in every school able to direct play and substitute it for the tendency to talk or fight in groups. A director of physical education has just been hired by the Board of Education, Mr. Clifford C. Brownell, trained at the Physical Training School of Columbia University, who will have charge of a complete program of physical training for the entire school system.

Three hundred square feet per pupil is the fair amount of play space recommended for school grounds. This would be five or six acres for the average elementary school and ten acres for the average junior high school. Playrooms are desirable for elementary schools but gymnasiums are not so necessary until children have passed the play stage. It is not enough to pick the few best athletes of a school and train a team, but all the pupils need a well-rounded physical development.

School buildings should provide a room for meetings of outside organizations, a room which can be used without entering the entire building.

The Newton schools are used for Americanization, vocational and elementary evening schools, three branch libraries, the All Newton Music School, three community centers, and for series of educational lectures.

The cost of providing community use of schools is not too exorbitant if it is planned in the first plan for the building. These features are especially desirable in a new school planned for community use: Assembly hall with stage, footlights, storage for chairs (under the stage is a good place), checking room; gymnasium or playroom; place for refreshments; room for clubs, office for director of community center; space for storage of equipment; toilets accessible from playground and other parts of building used by community; separate heat for community rooms; vacation use of playgrounds.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Duncan Wright, the newly elected president of the Newton Rotary Club, occupied the chair at the weekly luncheon held last Monday at the Woodland Golf Club.

The speaker and guest was Mr. Leslie Sprague of New York, who spoke on the "Theory and Practice of Money Raising." Mr. Sprague is in charge of the organization which is raising $1,500,000 for the Newton Hospital and he gave an interesting talk on how money is raised for benevolent purposes in this country. Mr. Sprague first emphasized the necessity of having an adequate cause for the campaign, a corps of volunteer and strictly local workers, who usually reach 15 persons each, and the preparation of the public mind by efficient publicity, all of which must coordinate and function at the proper moment.

Hands of Waban as matron-of-honor, and five bride's maids: Mrs. David Sheldon of Bloomfield, N. J.; Miss Phoebe Day, of Rochester, N. Y.; and the Misses Priscilla Quinby, Isabelle Sweetser and Esther Parsons of Wellesley Hills. Master Samuel Rindge of Ware, nephew of the bride, acted as ringbearer.

BOY SCOUTS

The Annual Spring Rally, which will be held at Claflin Field, Newtonville, May 22nd, is the outstanding event in Scouting for the year. Every Scout and Officer will be on his toes to be on hand, in proper uniform, and ready to do his best for his troop and for the glory of the whole Council. As there is no admission fee and everyone is welcome, parents and friends of Scouts can surely see what their Scouts are doing and also help along by their interest shown by their attendance. A full program will be published in next week's papers, which should be preserved as none will be distributed at the Rally. Keep hte date, May 22nd, 3 P. M.

A Court of Honor was held at the headquarters of Troop 15, Congregational Church, Auburndale, Wednesday evening at which the largest number of scouts came up for second class examination that is on record, twenty-seven being recommended, also nine for the First Class examination and a large number of Merit Badges awarded. Full details wil lbe printed later. At this Court of Honor, Sidney Carter of troop 7 received the last qualifying Merit Badge for the Eagle Scout Rank and with Walter Brandt will receive his Eagle Badge at the Rally. It is fine to see two Eagle Scouts in a troop but this will make three for troop 7, all of whom are active.

The Spring Meeting of Norumbega Council, Inc. will be held at the Parish House of St. John's Church, Newtonville, Wednesday evening, May 19th. Membership of the Council is made up of the Officers, Members of Troop Committees and all Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters a well as other men recommended and elected at meetings of the Council. Men interested in Scouting are cordially invited to attend this meeting. The Executive Committee will meet at 7.30, the regular Council meeting being at 8 o'clock.

Troop 1 of Newtonville is mourning the loss of their Scoutmaster, Mr. Douglas Sloane, who has changed his business headquarters to New York. Mr. Sloane took over the troop last fall and has made an enviable record with the work, not only in additions and in building a wonderful camp on the Ohio, but in real Scouting. His plan to build a very large camp at the Ohio met with considerable objection as many felt that the work was too much to expect the boys and volunteer workers to do but he has won out with gloriously flying colors and the camp is there to prove that it could be done and that "They did it." He has had the support of an enthusiastic troop committee, headed by Mr. John H. Eddy and that has helped greatly. Mr. Quimby, the Senior Assistant, will act as scoutmaster for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will spend a few weeks visiting in Italy and Switzerland, after which they will return home. They will live at 1 Kennedy road, Cambridge, where after Sept. 7 they will be "at home" to their friends.

enjoyed, and the prizes were captured by Miss Leora Bacon, Miss Elizabeth Blackler, and Miss Anne Rae.

The next morning, the girls enjoyed a splendid and enthusiastic baseball game on the spacious grounds, overlooking the sea. At noon they had a real picnic lunch, with the hostess, Mrs. Bacon, serving shortcake and cocoa, to complete this arrangement.

Then they gathered around the open fire and elected their officers and heard their reports. The following were chosen to serve them for the coming year: President, Miss Leora H. Bacon; factotum, Miss Marjorie Bolster; secretary, Miss Constance Hartwell; and press agent, Miss Elizabeth Blackler.

Auburndale Junior Club

Annual Meeting for the Auburndale Juniors was held on the evening of May 3rd, at the home of Miss Lillian Freeman. Miss Katherine Braithwaite was elected chairman, Miss Elizabeth Hall, secretary, and Miss Muriel Conn, treasurer. These officers will serve during the year 1926-27, and Mrs. George F. Nudd will be the advisor. The remaining program consisted of reports from the various committees.

Like the West Newton Juniors, the Auburndale Club felt the urge of out-of-doors, and as Saturday, May 1st, proved a fair, golden day, the Auburndale Juniors, with their advisor, Mrs. Herbert H. Longfellow, and Mrs. Stephen Wright, started for their Marblehead auto trip. The cars took the Shore Road, through Revere and Swampscott, so that the ocean view could be enjoyed.

The picnic lunch was eaten somewhat precariously, to be sure, but very hilariously on the top of Castle Rock on Marblehead Neck. After lunch the cars drove through Marblehead's crooked old streets, and finally stopped at the "House of Seven Gables." There the group of Juniors explored the house and quaint garden. Next, the Salem Museum and the Witch's House were visited, and then the homeward journey began, much to the regret of everyone, for it had been the most delightful of the many Auburndale Junior "sprees."

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

On May 3rd the C. L. S. C. held a pleasurable Annual Meeting, with Luncheon at Alden Park Manor, a place of beauty that offered a pleasing setting for settling of accounts. Besides annual reports, Miss Harriet Ward, who recently returned from a trip to California and Honolulu, gave them a most enjoyable account of her journey, and of her visit to the sugar-cane establishments and canneries. These officers were elected to serve for the next year: President, Mrs. George F. Hardy; vice-president, Mrs. Ernest G. Hapgood; secretary, Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson; assistant secretary, Mrs. Lyman P. Briggs; and treasurer, Mrs. Andrew B. Wright.

The outline of study accomplished in the past brief year proves interesting, as it shows what can be done when one follows a given line, without going upon tangents of other interests than "study." The Club began with a study of the "Makers of America: Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, and Hamilton," giving two days to each one, in biography, fiction, and writings. One meeting was given to a review of some new books of the year; another to a comparison of "English Novelists: Marshall, Walpole, and Galsworthy." Then the Club read Shakespeare's Anthony and Cleopatra, this occupying three enjoyable meetings. An "Art Day" followed, when the works of John Singer Sargent were studied, and many members made a pilgrimage to the Art Museum, while the loan collection of Sargent's pictures was on exhibition. The last regular meeting was on Current Poetry. Surely any Club might be proud of such a year's accomplishments in "education," and many large Clubs have secured far less food for nutriment.

Newton has many times proven herself rich in talents and in ideas, as it has always shown itself rich in history that interests and enthralls, as we look back upon it. The Newtonville Woman's Club in giving an Arts and Crafts Exhibit brought forcibly to attention the ability, even genius of creation, of members or of others who contributed to it, but they did even more, they brought back to memory and to appreciation the talent and creations of older generations, of those who one day in the past gave token of those "gentlewomanly" arts, that for beauty and charm are incomparable. Their handiwork breathes of musk, of the odor of lavender, of rustling crinolines, of gentle courtesy and quiet dignity, and friendliness of those colorful days that mean so much in our nation's strong development. It is a joy, therefore, to see that in this modern exhibit tribute has been paid to those sweetly-sad memories of other days and other faces, of other gentle folk and strong characters who helped to weld their Woman's Club.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Various beautiful articles were displayed at the Newtonville Woman's Club Arts and Crafts Exhibition held at the Central Congregational Church Tuesday, May 4th. Particularly interesting was the work exhibited by Newtonville residents, many of whom have manifested distinctive creative ability.

Outstanding among the effective assortment of exhibits in the Sunday School room was the pillow lace made by Mrs. John Dickinson about 1870, and displayed by her daughter, Miss Susy Dickinson, just as it had been left on the hay-stuffed pillow in the process of being made. The English were placed ready for the next thread. Some of the bobbins, of which there had been 150 originally, had been lost, brass pins used to mark the pattern but otherwise Mrs. Dickinson, the used the pillow just as shown. It was founder of the Woman's Club, had a rare and curious exhibit. Other distinctive work consisted of a linen scarf exquisitely crocheted by Mrs. Donald MacDonald, who is in her 85th year; an old fashioned cross-stitch chair-seat, copied from a 1700 pattern, by Mrs. Basset; the hand woven rugs shown by Miss Monk, Miss Muriel Meyers, and Miss Elizabeth Caldwell; and the wood carving of Mr. Charles Sladen. Innumerable other lovely articles were on display, such as painted scarfs, embroidery, hand painted china, novelties, and hand-made candles. In this room, too, were shown the things made by disabled soldiers, and fine Chinese Embroideries and linens. The by Mrs. Shiland, Miss Jellerson, and three tables of candy, made and sold Mrs. Bigelow, were very tempting.

The Ladies' Parlor served as a gallery for the artistic exhibit of paintings and photographs. Mr. Hubert Ripley's water colors of Nantucket revealed the quaint charm of that isiand, and were the cynosure of many eyes. The water colors of flowers, displayed by Mrs. Hubert Ripley, were bright and pleasing. The oil paintings of scenes on Cape Cod by Mr. F. H. Daniels were rarely artistic, and Mr. C. J. A. Wilson's ships were interesting studies, vivid and realistic. The photographs taken by Mr. Leroy Miner and Mrs. T. Rowe were also effective.

At four o'clock tea was served in the basement of the church by the hospitality committee. The table was particularly effective with its large basket of snapdragons as a centerpiece. Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Eddy, and Mrs. Lutton poured tea.

To the efforts of Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley, assisted by Mr. F. H. Daniels, Mrs. E. Barker, Mrs. Horton Allen, and Mrs. Warren Tapley is due the success of the display of the praiseworthy exhibit.

Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A.

On Wednesday, May 5th, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, at Newton, the Women's Auxiliary held their Annual Meeting and Luncheon. Business began at 11 o'clock, annual reports and election at 12, and luncheon was served at one. There were about fifty present to enjoy the excellent feast provided by Mrs. Henry Urguhart, in charge of the social committee. After dinner speeches, by Mr. Bascom, on general Y work, and Mr. Hess, on boys' camps, especially, and story telling by Mrs. Black, made delightful entertainment, in wit, humor, and inspiration. Mrs. C. D. Kepner, in her own inimitable way, introduced the speakers, as program chairman. The officers elected to serve for the next year were: president, Mrs. Willard L. Sampson, vice-presidents, Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell, and Mrs. George Defren; recording secretary, Mrs. William B. Phelps; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Florence G. Morse; treasurer, Miss Emma Page; auditor, Mrs. George Barber; directors for two years, Mrs. Clarence G. Colburn, Mrs. Clarence Moore, and Mrs. Irving Fletcher; chairmen elected were: for devotional committee, Mrs. David Black; program, Mrs. C. D. Kepner; house, Mrs. Daniel White; membership, Mrs. D. M. Goodridge; social, Mrs. Henry Urquhart; and boys' work, Miss Emma Page.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

"The Sisterhood of Bridget" was the highly amusing three act comedy given by the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, to increase their Piano Fund, in the Emerson School Hall on Wednesday evening, May 5th. Staged under the direction of Mr. James O'Donnell, the play gave great pleasure. Music was rendered by Miss Elizabeth Precious, and furniture was furnished by the Fox Furniture Co., both artistic accompaniments and backgrounds without which no play could be a success!

The cast included: Robert F. Sawyer, Bessie Cook, Adelyn B. Vara, Elizabeth Meara, Bertha S. Meara, John Pope, Henrietta Marchand, William Dugan, John Lane, Esther Vara, and Robert McLaughlin.

The plot was as follows: Mrs. Mason, with socialistic tendencies, finds the "new principles have permeated my soul," and the permeation permeates until the whole household is in a turmoil as result of her experiments. She wants to do by the servants as they have done by her, so decides that Bridget shall give a dinner party and invite her friends, while she (Mrs. Mason), and Eleanor act as cook and servant, exchanging lots in life with her servants for a day. The complications which arise create such ridiculous and amazing situations that the audience was kept in an uproar of laughter. Carlton Redman, in love with Eleanor, and Lord Curton, played by Robert McLaughlin, the fortune seeking suitor, get into predicaments with each other, and Lord Curton with the suitors of the servants that almost imperil his life. The most important parts, and those having the most to do, as the Masons, Bridget, who was the comedian, and the rival suitors, made every opportunity count, and the whole cast was excellently rounded. The evening's pleasure also added materially to the Piano Fund.

Newton Federation

The opening meeting for the new year for the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and, paradoxically, the last one for this season will be held on Monday morning, May 17th, at the Newton Club, Newtonville, at the usual hour, namely, 10.15 o'clock. Confirmation of new chairmen, plans for the next session, and report of the State Federation meeting at Swampscott for the three days, May 12th to 14th, inclusive, will be among the orders of the day. The Club is fortunate to have its first meeting so soon after the State Annual Meeting, while its business is fresh in mind, and when a report upon it will be opportune and immediate.

Now have come—at last—the delightful days when the call of out-of-doors can cleverly and with financial intent be answered in alluring plans by Clubs seeking to add to their funds, or chairmen providing instructive entertainment for fellow members. The conservation chairmen of the Newton Community Club, Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, has arranged an attractive outing, and the All Newton Music School has arranged a fete calculated to ensnare all Newton, indeed!

Newton Community Club

Members of the Garden Class of the Newton Community Club are looking forward to the outing planned for the 21st, under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth Pattee, landscape gardener, with the hope that a warm, sunny day may be furnished for the riders in automobiles to the beautiful Lothrop Gardens at Groton. Other Club members than those who have taken the Garden Course, have been generously invited to join in this enjoyment. Mrs. Philip Jamieson and Mrs. Goodridge have the arrangements in charge for planning the provision of automobiles, and those who wish to go, or can take others in their cars, should get in touch with these two leaders. The Lothrop Gardens may well be spoken of in the words of "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," and the trip should be quite the most delightful activity of this Club for the present year. A box luncheon to be provided by the members will make the affair a real picnic!

All Newton Music School

Mrs. J. F. Capron, Fete Chairman, has worked out such a tempting array of methods to call to All Newton residents and to wile money from their pocket-books for May 26th, that it is a foregone conclusion that all roads of the city will lead on that day to the estate of Mr. M. Lester Madden, at 790 Centre street, Newton. The grounds will be open at one o'clock on that day, and by investing in a combination ticket for two dollars, all comers may enter into all the joys offered for enjoyment and enticement. General admission is scheduled at 25 cents; table for bridge at $4.00, entertainment at 50 cents, afternoon tea at 50 cents, and dancing at 25 cents. Observe therefore, the advisability of the combination investment! If stormy the Fete will be postponed until the next pleasant day. For tickets or information local chairmen in charge of tables may be communicated with, or Mrs. Capron, at C. N. 1098-M.

Among the attractions which are to make empty the full pocket-books with which patrons are asked to come, will be the Book Table, presided over by West Newton, Upper Falls, and Auburndale leading lights, among them, Mrs. Ernest Cobb, Mrs. William L. Garrison, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Lovell, and Mrs. Franklin Hoyt. Tea is in the hands of Waban, with Mrs. Earle E. Conway and Mrs. Eugene Bissell serving on the terrace from 4 to 6 o'clock. Newton Highlands supervises the Bridge, with Mrs. Everett C. Winslow and Mrs. Frank Richardson in charge. It is prophesied that Mrs. Prescott Warren will give a short talk on "The Last Word in Auction," followed by a demonstration hand, at 2.10 P. M.

A program of music and solo dancing will vie with Tea from 4.15 to 5.30, when in the Rose Garden Mrs. John T. Alden, Mrs. James T. Clark and Mrs. Ed. M. Hallett will lend Newton's approval to this entrancing outdoor feature. Mrs. F. Ashley Day and Mrs. Donald Holbrook will be in charge of the Candy Table, and Newton continues her patronage, through the Tea Dance from 5.30 to 7 o'clock, with music by the Tech Tunesters, over these pleasurable pastimes.

Flowers and Plants, arranged to tempt the sight of man—with possibly thought in mind of woman— is Newton Centre's special care, with Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., and Mrs. Frederick Robinson in charge. Mrs. James O. Wright will appeal to the practical—in the midst of all this artistic display—at the Household Table, and Mrs. Fred Bond will continue this practical tempting at a Food Table, of all home-made food. Mrs. George F. Richardson, Jr., will ispense cooling drinks, and from Newtonville Mrs. Robert Chapman, Mrs. E. P. Crawe, and Mrs. Fred L. Morgan will entice at the Ice Cream ladle.

Games— a Putting Contest in charge of Mr. Clark Hodder, and a Model Boat Exhibit, on that ideal spot for such a display, the pond, under the direction of Miss Margaret S. Chapman, Mr. Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., and Mr. Charles Flint, will give that needed excitement to crown all the exhibits of art, beauty, and calm.

The Newton Federation is proud to have as one of her Associate Members an organization that has planned so delightful an outdoor feature, and wishes them all success, in pleasure, and especially financially.

BLANCHARD-TAPPER

The wedding of Miss Elsie M. Tapper and Mr. Carlton Shepard Blanchard, Jr., both of Newton Highlands, took place Saturday evening, May 1, 1926, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands, where the ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by the Rector, Rev. Charles O. Farrar.

The bride was gowned in ivory colored corded silk trimmed with Duchess lace, and a court train, a family heirloom. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Weston Tapper. Miss Rachel Blanchard, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor, and wore pale blue taffeta. Miss Alice G. Tapper and Miss Marion I. Tapper, nieces of the bride, Miss Phyllis A. Swail and Mrs. Donald D. Blackington, were the bridesmaids and wore sunset taffetas of different shades.

Mr. Blanchard had for his best man Mr. Donald D. Blackington and the ushers were Messrs. Pearce L'Estrange of Arlington, Winslow Blanchard of Ashmont, Yendell Badger of Milton and Everett Jenkins of Milton.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard were assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. John Weston Tapper and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Shepard Blanchard, Sr.

Decorations of greens and white roses were tastefully arranged.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard will reside at 15 Floral Place, Newton Highlands.

"YOU AND I"

On Friday and Saturday evenings, May 21 and 22, the Paint and Powder Club, a dramatic society of young people of the Second Church of West Newton, will present "You and I," a three-act play by Philip Barry. This is one of the prize plays of the Harvard 47 Workshop, and had a year's successful run in New York.

It is the charming story of an artist father, who sacrifices his career that his son's romance may have a happy fulfillment.

Those taking part are as follows: William L. Garrison 3rd, Martha Lauder, Alden Dinsmore, Gladys Ratzburg, Donald Frail, Stephen Kidder, Louise Wayland.

The performances will be given in the Second Church Entertainment Hall, and will be followed by dancing to music by a good orchestra.

ANNUAL MUSIC FESTIVAL

The usual large attendance is expected for the Annual Music Festival of the Sunday Schools of the Norumbega District. Children from a large number of churches in the Newtons, in Waltham, Watertown and Belmont, are planning to participate.

The event takes places on Sunday at 4 P. M., in the Eliot Church, Newton. There will be no outdoor processional this year, as in the several past years, but there will be indoor processionals for all the songs used in the program. The theme is "The Song Festival of the Twelve Months." For January, girls in pastel colored gowns, carrying white bells, will form the processional, while the audience will sing "Ring out the old, ring in the new." For February, there will be four characters only, two boys and two girls, representing Abraham and Mrs. Lincoln, George and Martha Washington. Other months are appropriately gowned.

The Music Festival committee is composed of Alonzo A. Cole, of Newton Highlands, Chairman; Miss Thelma Bishop and Mrs. Myron C. Settle of Newton Centre; Charles H. Kierstead of Waltham; Wallace A. Shipton of Watertown; William C. Richardson of Belmont, and Miss Luliona Barker, ex-officio member.

Miss Bishop is having charge of the arrangement of processionals to form the central tableau that closes the Festival, and is supplying many of the costumes used. She is Director of Religious Education at Trinity Church, Newton Centre.

Tickets of admission to the reserved seat section, for parents, District contributors, and friends, are available by telephoning to Newton North 3012.

N. C. SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Centre School Association comes this year on Wednesday afternoon, May 19, at 2.45, in Mason School Hall. The program is different from that of any previous year and should prove interesting to the widening circle of parents and friends who have the welfare of this growing organization at heart. Short reports for the year and elections for next year will be followed by brief talks by two pupils, one from the department of Civics at the High School, and one by a representative of the Junior Safety Council at Mason Miss Bragg is going to explain the new report cards and Mr. Paul will speak on matters of timely interest. Opportunity will be offered for questions and discussion. There will be music and the usual enjoyable social hour.

THE USUAL STORY

Public Hearings On Proposed New City Hall in Newtonville and Newton Attract Little Attention

Less than 100 persons attended the meeting Tuesday night in the hall of the Technical High School, to discuss the location of the proposed new city hall. Chairman William Baker of the special aldermanic committees presided and several of the other members of this committee were present. The first speaker of the evening was Emerson H. Stoddard, a G. A. R. veteran who would pass for the original of Uncle Sam. Mr. Stoddard strongly favored the triangle site at Homer St. He talked most interestingly of his experiences in Nebraska, where he went after the close of the Civil War. That state was just being settled in those days and there were few towns in it. When it became sufficiently populated to need a capitol, the Nebraskans looked into the future. They located the site of their capitol in the midst of a wooded, practically uninhabited region, staked out streets and parks and built their first modest state house. A few years later the railroad hit this embryo city and today the thriving state capitol at Lincoln gives witness to the judgment and foresight of the founders of that prairie state. Mr. Stoddard cited this development as a reason for choosing the triangle site.

Albert M. Lyon, unlike the other advisory members of the committee on the new city hall, did not sit as a juror, but spoke as an advocate of West Newton as the location for the new building. He said that the chief argument for the triangle is—"that it is the geographical centre of the city and will be the center of population. He said that a new city hall on rollers will be needed if the centre of population is to be approximated. He favored West Newton because it affords better transportation facilities and will be nearer the business center. He argued that the locating of the hall on the triangle would cause business blocks to follow it to that section and thus defeat the efforts to keep that part of the city free from business intrusion. If, on the other hand, the Homer street site is used as a memorial park, or for some civic purpose

BAD FIRE

Good work by the Newton firemen, assisted by the Waltham and Watertown departments, prevented a fierce blaze in the J. W. Ferguson Company mill at Auburndale, Wednesday noon, from spreading to surrounding property. The neighborhood containing the mill and adjoining buildings, all old wooden structures, is one of the worst fire hazards in the city. The Ferguson Company manufactures builders' finish. At 12.32 Wednesday afternoon flames were discovered in the upper story of the large mill building. Box 4 was pulled and the firemen were quickly on the scene. The inflamable contents of the structure caused the blaze to spread with great rapidity and ten minutes after the first alarm, a second alarm was sent in, quickly followed by a third, which brought all the apparatus in the city as well as engines from Waltham and Watertown.

Determined work on the part of Chief Randlett and his assistants con-

MUSIC FESTIVAL

Ralph McLean, who has charge of music at the Newton Centre Congregational Church.

One feature of the Festival will be a chorus of 100 children's voices, this chorus being drawn from the vested

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Wednesday evening at the Newton Club. About seventy members and guests were present, the number being considerably held down on account of a meeting of the hospital drive committee the same evening. President G. Wilbur Thompson presided. An enjoyable dinner, which was served by McKechnie of Natick, preceded the election of officers, reading of reports, and a speaking program. The speakers were George S. Smith, past president of the

CAMPAIGN BEGINS TONIGHT

Committees and Workers Gather Tonight at the State Armory in $1,500,000 Drive for the Newton Hospital

After many weeks of preliminary labor the campaign of the Newton Hospital for $1,500,000 for new buildings and equipment will be officially launched tonight when every worker in the project will gather at a dinner in the Newton Armory to get his and her final instructions. This function, to which upward of a thousand people will be invited, will mark the beginning of the canvass of the people of Newton by a corps of 660 volunteer workers. Already a preliminary canvass for preliminary gifts has been made, and it is stated that a good start toward the goal of $1,500,000 has been made.

The aim of the team workers is to raise by personal canvass during the week of May 24 at least $350,000, and this amount has been prorated to the seven wards of the city, and a division leader has been appointed to direct the fund-raising efforts in each ward. The preliminary gifts committee, which is headed by E. J. Frost, is seeking to raise by larger gifts the sum of a million dollars, and the balance of the desired $1,500,000, it is expected, will be raised in the adjacent communities, which depend on Newton Hospital as their medical centre.

Leon B. Rogers, general campaign chairman and head of the hospital building committee, will preside at the dinner, and Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, will pronounce the invocation. The needs of the Newton Hospital will be outlined by Miss Bertha W. Allen,

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

SHAW WINS ANOTHER FOR NEWTON

Alan Shaw's hit in the ninth inning of the Cambridge game on Wednesday at Claflin Field drove in the winning run for Newton. The 6 to 5 victory kept Newton in a tie for first place in the Suburban League with Everett, which defeated Rindge the same afternoon. Newton went into the last half of the ninth two runs in the rear. Spain led off with a clean single and went to second on McCleary's safe blow. They both advanced on a passed ball and Spain scored on Whitmore's hit which placed McCleary on third. Whitmore headed for second but was headed off by a throw from the catcher. He started back to first, and McCleary took a long lead off third attempting to draw a throw. He was more than successful as Horan, Cambridge second baseman, heaved the ball into the grandstand and McCleary came across with the tying run. Whitmore, meanwhile had advanced to third. Hanscom was thrown out at first by the pitcher. Shaw fouled off the first pitch, took two balls and then placed a texas leaguer into right centre out of reach of everyone and Whitmore came across with the winning tally.

Newton started off bad when Gibson got a life on Proctor's poor throw. Horan and Cote followed with clean hits scoring Gibson. Whitmore pulled Pickard, who started in the box for Newton, out of the hole by making two nice catches of fouls near the grandstand for the other two outs after Davis had walked, filling the bases. In the fourth Spain handed the Cantabs two more runs by slipping up with an easy out in sight after two were out. Newton scored its first tally in the same inning when McCullough was passed, sacrificed to second by Gilligan, and coming home on Holbrook's clean hit. Spain hit into a double play and Newton's rally was shortlived.

Proctor and Holbrook made one-handed catches in the fifth and sixth which saved a lot of trouble. In the last of the seventh Newton tied the score. Spain led off with a hit. McCleary, batting for Andres sacrificed him to second. Whitmore drew a pass. Art Wilson, batting for Pickard, forced Spain at third for the second out. Whitmore scored on Shaw's two-bagger. Proctor beat out a hit to first but Wilson stumbled and was caught off third.

Don Wilson went in the box for Newton. With one out he passed Reardon, batting for Dente. Tolle, Cambridge pitcher, splashed a two-bagger to right centre scoring Reardon and Hanscom took up the pitching burden. Holbrook threw poorly on McGowan's grounder. Gibson was safe when Holbrook tried to tag Tolle going to third on his grounder. With the bases full Hanscom passed Horan scoring Tolle. Cote hit through the box which Hanscom grabbed with his bare hand and threw McGowan out at the plate. Gilligan by a fast throw nailed Cote at first for a double play.

Two runs behind going into the last half of the ninth and Newton comes from behind with the necessary runs to win.

NEWTON TAKES NATICK

Newton high baseball team scored a 7 to 5 victory over the Natick high school nine last Saturday afternoon at Claflin Field in a 7-inning tilt. The orange and black got away to a good start, scoring twice in the first inning and was never headed. Hanscom pitched a good game for the locals, striking out twelve, passing three and allowing but eight hits. Newton scored in every inning but the third and counted twice in the sixth as well as in the first. Gilligan and Monahan shone with the stick, each connecting for two hits. Captain McCullough slashed out a double.

SPORT NOTES

Ralph Littlefield in his election to captaincy of the winter sports team at the University of New Hampshire, has been elected to lead two major sport teams there next year. In the fall he will lead the cross country team, and in the winter he will lead the snow team.

Beginning, next fall the faculty manager of teams in the Suburban league will select the officials for all home games in football and baseball. This action was decided upon by a recent vote of the league after a system had been suggested by the faculty managers.

Thelma Coombs of Newtonville was a member of the Simmons freshman track squad which competed in the events at the annual Simmons College Field day last Saturday.

Newton high school football team is without a game for Oct. 23. Faculty manager Dr. Martin thought arrangements were all settled for that date but circumstances have arisen which makes Newton look for an opponent.

Bingles

If Alan Shaw does not make the all-scholastic team this spring it wont be his fault. The Newton high player is putting up a great game of ball this season and can play either the outfield or first or second base. At the best he is a dangerous man in a pinch. His home run last week spilled Somerville and his two hits against Cambridge were responsible for two of Newton's runs. His two-bagger in the seventh scored Whitmore with the tying run and his single in the ninth scored the first baseman with the winning run.

Ned Dewing, substitute catcher on the Harvard freshman nine was the star of the game between Harvard yearlings and the Boston High School of Commerce Wednesday afternoon at Cambridge. The former Newton athlete hit a home run in the second inning with two on the bases. It was one of the longest hits ever made on the freshman field.

Allen-Chalmers lost to Dorchester high school Wednesday afternoon on Chalmers field. The visitors slugged out a 17 to 5 victory, three of its players having a perfect day at the bat. Marshall, second baseman for Dorchester, was the leader of the three with six hits out of six times at bat.

Concord High school baseball team defeated Allen-Chalmers school last Saturday in a six inning game by a 7 to 2 score. Allen dropped its Friday game to Belmont by an 11 to 2 score on the Belmont diamond.

Although Bob Puffer held the University of Pennsylvania to three scattered hits last Saturday, Harvard lost out in the showers 2 to 1.

Dick Vaughan crossed the plate with one of Yale's three runs last Saturday in the Blue's game with Cornell in which the bulldog shutout the New York nine.

Saxony Mills won its opening game of the season last Saturday on Victory Field by shutting out the Somerville B. B. Club 5 to 0 in a seven inning affair. The locals scored three in the third and two in the sixth.

In the fifth inning of the Yale-Catholic University game last Friday Dick Vaughan, the Eli shortstop, smashed out a home run with the bases full. The game was a runaway for the Blue by a 12 to 0 score.

Browne and Nichols school defeated Country Day school in a Private Day school league game at Cabot field Tuesday afternoon 7 to 6 in an exciting game. With the score 6-6 in the first of the ninth an error gave Whitney of the Cambridge team a life. He went to second and then to third on sacrifices by the following two batsmen and rode home on a two-bagger by Fenn. Tenney, pitching for the visitors held the locals at bay in the last half of the ninth. Fenn starred at the bat for the visitors with three hits, two of which were doubles, while Earnshaw, catcher for Country Day, collected a double and two singles.

Reading high school turned back DeWitt Clinton Tuesday afternoon at Reading 8 to 3. The Newton team scored all of its runs in the first half of the first inning, but after that could do nothing with Gaw, who relieved Riley.

Newton high school intermediate varsity lost a close game to Brookline seconds Tuesday afternoon at Brookline, 4 to 3. In the seventh with one out, Wilson, shortstop of the Wealthy Town team attempted a squeeze play and scored Ryan from third, tying the score. Stevenson who was on second scored from there when Newton tried to catch Wilson at first.

Cinders

Joe Nivling of Wesleyan won the javelin throw in the Wesleyan-Amherst dual meet last Friday at Amherst.

Horace Cole took second place in the 220-yard low hurdle race at the dual meet between Yale and Princeton last Saturday. The West Newton boy pushed the winner, Lawrence of Princeton, to 24 1-5 seconds which equalled the dual meet record between the two colleges.

Win Robinson took third in the first heat of the 120-yard hurdles event at the Dartmouth and Harvard dual meet last Saturday. The Newtonville boy failed to place in the final.

Harold Weeks, the former Newton high school track captain, took third in the 220 at the Cornell M. I. T. dual meet last Saturday. He also placed second in the first heat of the century but failed to place in the final.

Horace Cole of Yale is expected to win first in the low hurdles event at the Yale-Harvard dual track meet tomorrow, at the Stadium.

Lobs

Dummer Academy tennis team shut out the De Witt-Clinton school Tuesday afternoon at South Byfield, taking two singles and two doubles matches.

Turner, of the Newton high school tennis team, is one of the semi-finalists in the Yale Interscholastic tournament. Henry L. Johnson of Waban, who is a student at the Loomis School of Winsor, Conn., was another to reach the semi-finals. The fifth round had been almost completed at New Haven last Saturday when rain caused a postponement. The semi-finals and finals will be played tomorrow at the Loomis school.

Trapped

Newton high golf team lost to Lowell high last Friday afternoon at Lowell by five to two in five singles and two foursomes. Nick Gianferante and Jack Devlin each won their singles matches for Newton's two points.

William F. Garcelon was one of the chief speakers at the opening of the new Sandy Burr Golf club last Saturday.

Newton high golf team defeated Dummer Academy, 4 to 1 Wednesday afternoon at South Byfield on the Ould Newbury course. Captain Jimmie Gianferante of Newton was low with 86. Stevens, Nick Gianferante, and Paul Devlin were the other local players to win their matches.

OPENS LEAGUE WITH WIN

The West Newton A. A. defeated the Newton Pals, 12 to 2 Monday evening on the West Newton Common in the opening game of the Newton Amateur Twilight league before a crowd of several hundred persons. It was the first loss for the Pals in ten games this season. Mayor Childs threw out the first ball with Thomas J. Lyons, chairman of the Playground commission on the receiving end. The Newton Graphic Cup, upon which will be inscribed the name of the league champions each year and which will go to the first three time winner, was presented to Hugh Devine, president of the league, by Warren K. Brimblecom, sport editor of the Graphic.

The West Newton team scored first in the second inning when McCleary slashed out a triple to centre field with two men on. He scored on the throw to third which went over the third baseman's head into the stands.

The colored team outhit the visiting team fifteen to five and gave Wheeler perfect support, while the Pals contributed three errors behind Pass, former Newton high school twirler, and Mahoney.

Harry Gray and Brown starred in the field for West Newton, the former making two one-handed stops in the first inning, which undoubtedly saved a score and gave the home team confidence. The pals scored in the third on MacLean's double and Mahoney's single.

Rollins and McLeary both hit home runs in the fifth inning, while Butler of the Pals connected for the circuit in the fourth.

McLeary led the West Newton attack with a home run, a triple and a two-base hit.

CATHOLIC CLUB WINS FIRST

Masterly pitching by Connors gave the Newton Catholic Club a 10 to 0 victory over the Cardinals of Newton Centre on Tuesday night in a Twi-league game on the West Newton Common. The return of the Catholic club to the diamond after eight years was featured by a parade around the field, headed by the Holy Name Fife and Drum corps. T. J. Lyons, chairman of the Playground commission, threw out the first ball. Pres. Devine called the players to the plate and showed them the Newton Graphic cup and explained how it was to be won.

The Cardinals fielded poorly behind Bill Bright, while Connors struck out ten of the visitors. Leahy caught for the Cardinals and McCarthy for the Catholic Club. There were many new faces in the lineups of both teams, among them that of Tom Gilligan, star athlete of the high school who played the hot corner for the Catholic Club.

ABOUT TOWN

Some of the operators of the Middlesex & Boston busses must think they are driving flivvers. These busses are over 20 feet long, but the way a few of the operators "cut in" when they pass other autos, necessitates the drivers of the machines passed doing some rapid swerving to avoid being sideswiped. The buss operators should realize that their vehicles have a wheel-base more than 108 inches in length.

The offer of Israel Nesson to donate 45,000 square feet of land to the city—provided that the new city hall will be erected on the triangle site at Homer and Walnut streets, assumed a decidedly different aspect when Mr. Nesson made the added condition that he be allowed to erect a combined business and bank building across the avenue from the suggested location of the new city hall. Mr. Nesson is such a shrewd business man that he certainly would have realized, were he better acquainted with Newton, that this proposition stands but little chance of being accepted.

This country was settled by people of English ancestry, sometimes referred to as Anglo-Saxons and Nordics. But, if the list of births published in another part of this paper is any criterion of the future racial complexion of the U. S. A., it will not be many generations before the Anglo-Saxon strain will be decidedly in the minority. A Latin discovered this continent for Europeans and it would appear that Latins will form an appreciable part of this land's inhabitants in years to come.

The Newton Free Library was made possible by the generosity of several former residents of this city. It is maintained at public expense to provide for the distribution of books which afford recreation and education to the people of Newton. The library also contains reference and reading rooms where persons go to study and read. In these rooms quiet is naturally supposed to prevail. Young students and persons of mature years who patronize the reading and reference rooms of the library have been disturbed by youths of high school age who have been making the library a mere loafing place. From their rowdyism and vulgarism it would seem that these youths lack proper home training. But, taking into consideration the educational advantages enjoyed by these boys, there is little reason why they should not have acquired sufficient intelligence to conduct themselves somewhat as gentlemen. The library authorities have found it necessary to request the police to visit the library building evenings, in the hope that their presence may act as a deterrent on the young rowdies. These youths should select some other place than the library as a rendezvous.

The Forestry Department has planted along our streets this Spring 500 young trees, mostly shade maples. These young trees will have a hard struggle to reach maturity under existing conditions. The surfacing of our streets with tar prevents water from soaking into the ground to nourish the roots of the growing trees. But the chief enemies of the young trees are children who either break down the saplings or kill them by destroying the bark. Parents and school teachers should endeavor to inculcate on the children a desire to protect rather than to injure young trees.

The members of Engine 1 Company, under the lead of Hoseman Dave Keefe, have beautified the grounds about their quarters. Dave studied horticulture under the guidance of John Cleary.

It has been some problem to keep the streets in proper condition since automobiles became prevalent. When horses furnished the motive power for vehicles and iron tires were used on wagon and carriage wheels, a macadamized road would last for years. The swiftly revolving rubber tires on autos suck off the crushed stone from street surfaces and it was found necessary to use tar preparations to bind the macadam surfaces. Every Spring our streets contain many depressions caused by tire chains gouging through the surfaces in the winter months. Some years ago Newton adopted the method of patching these holes with Tarvia X. This is a superior tar product especially prepared for such work. The depressions are first scraped, then the Tarvia X is poured in hot. Stone crushed to pea size is shovelled into the tarvia and sand thrown over the patch. This is known as a hot patch. From the standpoint of road construction, it is the most effective way to patch a road.

Unfortunately the "hot patch" has some disadvantages. During the Spring months, when the weather grows warm, the Tarvia X becomes soft and juicy. It adheres to auto tires, splashing onto the fenders and bodies of the cars, it sticks to pedestrians' shoes and is tracked into houses, and it works havoc on horses' hoofs. If you want to hear Tarvia X execrated, listen to some blacksmith. There is another method of patching streets; the "cold patch" method. The cold patch consists of pea size stones or pebbles mixed thoroughly with tar or tarvia and applied cold to the depressions in the streets. The cold patch does not become viciously viscous as does the "hot patch," but it is not nearly so effective on roads as the latter. Cold patches project above the street surface, provided they "stay put," and make rough riding for autoists. If one desires to ride over a stretch of street treated with "cold patches," travel on Worcester street, Wellesley, going west from Upper Falls.

The Street Department is between the devil and the deep sea when it has to decide between hot and cold patches on streets. When it uses hot patches many complaints are received regarding the sticky properties of Tarvia X. But, should the Street Department change to the cold patch method, undoubtedly it would receive many complaints because of rough roads. Perhaps it may be better to endure the temporary inconvenience caused by "hot patches" than to have the continuous discomfort which "cold patches" would produce. Whenever an oozy "hot patch" is reported, the Street Department will send men and material to stop the nuisance.

The open season for frugal automobile owners is on. These thrifty gentlemen do not believe in wasting money in garage construction, nor in going to the expense of renting garage space when this latter can be avoided. When the Winter months have departed and the robins and bluebirds come as harbingers of Spring, these students of economy start to use the public highways as garages. No 30-minute parking limit bothers them. They stable their buzz-wagons on the streets near their residences by day and by night. Nor do they trouble to conform to that little statute which orders all vehicles on public highways to be properly lighted. On many of our streets one may see autos parked from April to December night after night. Boston has forbidden this practice and hailed those who indulge in it into court. When public streets are converted into outdoor garages, it does not seem to be asking too much of those who adopt this method of saving money, to at least obey a law enacted to afford protection to the traveling public. The police should insist that cars parked over night, yea over many nights on our streets, shall be properly lighted.

Alderman William E. Earle and Representative Arthur Hollis have secured for autoists of Newton and other places, who use the Charles River Boulevard, a safeguard that has been badly needed. At the instigation of Mr. Earle, Mr. Hollis has obtained from the Metropolitan District Commission a promise that work will be shortly started on the construction of a curbing on that side of the roadway next to the river from the foot of Jefferson street to the junction of Charlesbank road and the boulevard. Shrubbery will also be planted along this side of the roadway to act as a preventative against autoists driving down over the embankment. Several accidents have occurred along this stretch of road in the past because operators of cars drove too near the edge of the embankment.

At the meeting held in Newton Highlands recently to discuss the location of our proposed new City Hall, Representative Luitweiler favored an increase in our tax-rate, because, according to him, it will keep undesirables from moving into Newton. Many persons will not agree with this opinion of Mr. Luitweiler. Men of wealth, who reside in costly homes situated on large estates, must of necessity pay considerable taxes. Such men do not, a a rule, establish their residences in cities or towns where tax rates are high. A high tax-rate in Newton would not only tend to keep wealthy persons from establishing attractive residences here, but it might cause some of our heaviest tax-payers to move to towns where lower rates would prevail.

IMPORTANT MATTERS DISCUSSED

Aldermen Debate Filling Stations, St. James Street Widening and Improvement of City Water

Filling stations continue to fill a large part of the time consumed by aldermanic meetings. The "high spot" at the meeting Monday night occurred when a discussion arose over a filling station permit; and there are a number of hearings on petitions for filling station permits scheduled for the next meeting on June 7th.

The first business on the docket Monday night was the hearing on the petition of Edward L. Monaghan for an additional gasoline tank and pump at 1545 Washington street, West Newton. No persons appeared to favor or oppose this petition. Neither did any proponents or opponents appear when hearings were announced on the following petitions:—P. Antonellis, 4 car garage, 177 Adams street; Antonio Esposito, 5 car garage, 189 Adams street; taking land for drains and common sewers on Dolphin, Gralynn, Fellsmere and Mandalay Roads; laying out and construction of public footway from Ward street to Mandalay Road.

Fred Marsham, speaking for the Charles E. Currier estate, spoke in favor of the relocating and widening of Saint James street, Newton. He said that although the City Engineer's plans for years have called for a width of 30 feet on this street, it is but 17 feet wide. He advocated that the street be widened on its westerly side and that two old trees be cut down, as their limbs menace automobile traffic. Ex-Alderman Henry Lloyd informed the Board that it was planned a few years ago to relieve St. James street of the heavy through traffic by building a new street through the Daniels estate. If this road will not be built, something should be done to widen St. James street because of the constantly increasing traffic. An attorney for the Howard Capen heirs stated that his clients, while not objecting to the improvements on the street, gave notice that they will expect the city to award them proper compensation for any damage done to their property. Henry Kinchilla told the Board that a sidewalk is badly needed on the east side of the street, where at present there is no walk. He told how a woman had been compelled to run up the embankment on this side of the street to avoid being struck by an auto. The near victim then received a reprimand from another woman who lived in the house adjoining this embankment because of alleged trespass. Mr. Kinchilla said that the land on the embankment belonged to the city, and despite his protests to the City Engineer and City Solicitor, the woman who claimed to have exclusive right to this land had built a flight of steps on it. He argued that it will be a waste of money to widen St. James street unless a sidewalk will be constructed on the east side.

The Mayor sent a communication he had received from Israel Nesson in which that gentleman offers to give the city 45,000 feet of land in the triangle bounded by Homer street and Commonwealth avenue, provided that the new city hall be erected on this location and that he be permitted to erect between Beaumont avenue and Walnut street on the north side of Commonwealth avenue, a building to contain a bank and stores.

The following men were drawn as jurors to serve at the criminal session of the Superior Court at Cambridge June 7th: John W. Murray, 49 West street; John Kenefic, 4 Mechanic St.; S. Harold Green, 11 Marshall street; Frank H. Tuttle, 529 Craft street. To serve at the criminal session of the Superior Court at Cambridge, June 14th, Charles W. Chambers, 1126 Chestnut street; J. Reed Morss, 164 Chestnut Hill Road; Webster Hayden, 24 Pearl street.

These petitions were received: Middlesex & Boston Street Railway, 16 car garage, Commonwealth avenue near Auburn street, and 2000 gallon gasoline tank; Newton development Trust by William V. Hayden, gasoline filling station at northeast corner of Washington street and Lowell avenue; Henry B. Day, drainage of Chestnut street near Fuller street; Ethel P. Squier changing of district boundary lines from private to single residence, Parker street, Oxford, Halcyon and Athelstane Roads. The report of the Public Works Committee recommending no action necessary on the changing of the building line on Channing street, was adopted.

Hot Argument on Filling Station

The Committee on Franchises and Licenses reported that it recommended granting the following petitions: John McDonald, gasoline filling station, 2016 Commonwealth avenue; S. Moran, filling station building at 123 River street; John A. Potter, additional gasoline permit at 1203 Washington street; Alfred Jolly, common victualer license, 289 Walnut street; Albert McDowell, 2nd class taxi license, 91 Park street; James D. McKinnon, express license, 50 Lothrop street; Wheeler & Co., addition to garage, 1250 Beacon street. All these recommendations were passed with the exception of the petition of John McDonald. Alderman Noone moved that this matter be referred back to the License Committee because he had since Saturday received new evidence against the granting of it. Alderman Hodgdon opposed such action. He said he has been opposed to granting filling station permits when such stations might be dangerous to pedestrians or traffic, but no such conditions prevail in the location sought by Mr. McDonald and he desired to have the matter acted upon without further delay. Alderman Gordon said that several petitions have been presented during the last few years for a filling station on this site and all have been turned down. It should not be necessary for Auburndale residents to travel to City Hall regularly to oppose such petitions. Answering the argument that but two opponents appeared against this station when the hearing was held on the McDonald petition, Mr. Gordon said, "All residents in its vicinity oppose it, but they had not been notified to appear. There are five gas stations within a half mile of the proposed station. Last year's Board passed a resolution against granting new permits to gas stations within a half-mile of existing stations and former Boards of Aldermen had agreed not to grant any more filling station permits on Commonwealth avenue."

Alderman Favinger asked how the License Committee had voted on this matter. Chairman Bliss replied that it had voted unanimously in favor.

Alderman Noone, who is a member of this committee, explained that he had voted in favor because but little opposition had appeared at the hearing, that the location is in the manufacturing zone, and that it did not seem that any danger hazard would result if a station were established at this locus. According to Mr. Noone, the Newton Board of Aldermen is a legislative body and legislation consists largely in boiling down matters under discussion to a compromise. Since Saturday he had heard from at least 100 residents of Ward 4 and in justice to his constituents and the petitioner he thought the matter should be referred back to the committee.

Chairman Bliss of the License Committee in answer to a question from Alderman Baker, explained the location of 2016 Commonwealth avenue and remarked it is not a danger spot, as alleged, that it is in the manufacturing zone, and that perhaps any other manufacturing or business development will be opposed by residents across the avenue. He thought a filling station would be preferable to the unsightly billboards now on this property. Alderman Gordon stated that it has been the understanding in Auburndale that no more filling station permits will be granted on Commonwealth avenue. The people of Newton thought the aldermen serious when the resolution was passed regarding a half-mile distance between filling stations. Alderman Hinckley was inclined to oppose the granting of the permit. Alderman Favinger asked Alderman Noone what reasons had been given by the 100 persons who oppose the station? He reminded the Ward 4 alderman that at a recent meeting he had objected to a report of the License Committee being referred back. Mr. Favinger commented that present Board of Aldermen are not bound by resolutions passed by last year's Board, and that unless there are some very substantial reasons for so doing, the report of the License Committee should not be overridden. Alderman Noone explained his apparent inconsistency by stating that the Cashman & Ginsberg petition, which Mr. Favinger had referred to, was for a station which would have been in a dangerous location and that it had been referred back two or three times. He said those opposing the McDonald petition claimed their properties will depreciate in value and as there are now several stations on the avenue, there is no necessity for another one. Aldermen Heathcote and Bail favored referring the matter back to the committee out of courtesy to the two Auburndale aldermen, Noone and Gordon. The motion to refer back was then put and carried. Alderman Leahy commented, "In recognition of that which has just gone through, it is fortunate that the License Committee does not handle marriage licenses."

Chairman Pratt of the Board suggested that because of the many hearings on filling stations and other matters scheduled to come before the aldermen on June 7, in addition to the consideration of details concerning the new junior high school at West Newton, the meeting on that date shall start at 5 o'clock. Alderman Earle thought this may be unnecessary but he offered no objection and the meeting will start in the afternoon on June 7. Alderman O'Connell inquired if the Claims and Rules Committee has done anything regarding the making a one-way street of Langley Road? No member present could give him the desired information.

Alderman Bail referred to the condition of the water on the preceding Tuesday. He said, "People who buy water from the city of Newton are curious as to what the special committee appointed to investigate the water situation in Newton is doing. This committee brought in a report several months ago and the Mayor recommended that outside engineers be employed to give expert advice and that money be appropriated for the purpose of cleaning out the mains. Last Tuesday Water Commissioner Whitney and the Board of Health received 150 or 200 telephone calls from persons who were complaining about the condition of the water." Mr. Bail related how Newton's aqua pura was browner in all parts of the city on that day than it usually is. The one place where the water was clear on that day, according to the Ward 5 alderman, was at Mayor Childs' house. The Mayor had told him that he had noticed nothing wrong with the water. Mr. Bail said that the Mayor has acted very slowly in appointing an engineer to give advice on the water problem, and in awarding the contract for cleaning out the mains. He had, however, been informed Monday morning by the Mayor that Mr. Sampson of Weston & Sampson, consulting engineers, had been selected as the advisor to assist in the solving of Newton's water problem. He had also been informed by Water Commissioner Whitney that the gates for use in the cleaning process will arrive this week. These two progressive steps, according to Mr. Bail, should start the ball rolling and within a few weeks some beneficial results should follow in the task of making the local water supply better.

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

It was not without interest the other day that the writer, in reading some of Voltaire's essays came across the one entitled "The Dawn of Reason." It is evident that there never has been an age which did not flatter itself into believing that in it, Reason achieved opportunities of new birth, and it is evident also that no age has ever yet escaped being slightly poisoned by what Voltaire terms the Hydra, Fanaticism. This is the way in which he refers to his age, (the 17th century) and its "Dawn of Reason." "I find some heads of that Hydra, fanaticism again appearing but its poison seems less mortal and its jaws less devouring, though it still exists; and whoever seeks after truth will run the risk of being persecuted. Must we therefore remain in darkness or must we light a flambeau at which envy and calumny will rekindle their torches?" For my part I think the truth should no more be hidden before these monsters than that we should abstain from taking nourishment lest we should be poisoned."

From all existing circumstances Reason has never before had greater opportunities for growth than in our own twentieth century, be it once again flattery or no. And from all evidences the Hydra which Voltaire found still in existence in his day, has never before shown any greater strength than at this present moment. Rather a discouraging outlook for those who have long attempted to slay him were it not for the fact that perhaps his great present strength in politics, education, religion, recreation, and the world of arts is only a final gasp in his struggle for life against the truths which are being hurled in his face, hourly, daily and yearly. Voltaire would claim that in daring to confront him with truths constantly he would eventually draw a few weak breaths and die. Certain it is that as long as he runs riot, truth is only half powerful, and Reason remains "the day without a dawn."

F. A. Day Junior High School

A community night was observed at the F. A. Day Junior High School, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Newtonville Woman's Club. The program consisted of a telephone switchboard demonstration, with real switchboard, regular operators and moving pictures of telephone events. This demonstration was under the direction of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Annual elective blanks are being filled out by the pupils for their next year's work.

Principal Carr has been out of town visiting various schools, where the individual method of instruction has proved successful. Among the schools visited were those of West Hartford, Searsdale and Bronxville.

The baseball squad in the final list includes Maxcey, Annese, Richmond, Mullen, Andres, Harrington, McDonald, Lo Chiatto, Schipper, Brougham, Dalton, Sharpe and Farquhar.

Lasell

The Lasell Glee Club and Orchestra Concert will be given at the Auburndale Club House on Saturday evening at eight o'clock.

Mr. Thomas Hayes Procter, Doctor of Philosophy at Wellesley College, will be the Vesper speaker on Sunday at 3 o'clock.

The annual Field Day sport contests under the direction of Mr. Hugo Seikel will be held on the Carpenter Recreation Grounds on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Senior Class will serve a cafeteria lunch at their conclusion.

River Day occurs on Thursday, May 27, at 2.30. Two senior, three junior, a sophomore and a freshman crew are competing this year. Several members of the winning sophomore crew of last year are out for laurels as juniors this year, so the races promise to be interesting.

Stearns School Centre

Some days ago Officer William J. Kiley spoke to the pupils in connection with "Safety-First Week." He stated that Newton is noted as a law-abiding community—and impressed upon the children how much they can contribute towards maintaining its present good reputation. Officer Kiley warned the children about playing ball in the streets, asked them to heed the traffic officers, and to do their share towards keeping the city clean. He held their attention for a good half an hour.

Mrs. Seaver, who teaches the Mothers' Classes in this district, was instrumental in having three "Health Films" shown in the School Hall. There was a large gathering of mothers and children. The first film was the "Knowing Gnome." This film laid stress upon the value of sleep.

The second film, "The History of Milk," taught the value of milk as a food, especially for children.

There were moving pictures of the animals used in various countries for the milk supply. In America, the cow; in Alaska and other northern countries, the reindeer; in Italy and Switzerland, the goat, and in India, the water buffalo. The Chinese use almost no milk.

The third film was also about milk, and told the story of a little girl who went into country and talked with a "Mooley-Cow."

Since September the Health Program has been kept in the foreground. Recently it has become even more active and much emphasis has been put upon the subject.

Now that the children are able to be out-of-doors, their interest has increased. There is much rivalry in the posture contest. Every child in the school is trying to win one of the "Posture-pins"—two of which are to be awarded in each class. The improvement is so marked that it will be difficult to choose the winners.

The interest in base-ball is keen. The first inter-school game was between Horace Mann and Stearns. The Stearns nine played a splendid game. The good work of Hilton was especially noticeable, as was the fine attitude of the Horace Mann boys when they were beaten; they took their defeat in most sportsmanlike fashion.

Monday, May 17th, was Community Night at the Stearns School Centre. Mayor Childs gave the address of welcome. Then Pietro Mordelea, in costume, began his entertainment on the accordion. From the first he lived up to all expectations. Miss Doris Goodspeed in her readings never failed to get a response from the audience. Next came "The Littlest Girl," a one-act play given by the Parish Players. The stage was attractively set through the kindness of the Fox Furniture Co. So well was the play done, that nobody felt the lack of scenery. The Littlest Girl herself might have been a doll, so still she slept. After more readings and laughs, Mr. Mordelia closed the evening by asking the audience what songs it wanted. He played Irish, Scotch, and Italian songs; especially "O Solo Mio." Always he played as if it were the one thing in the world worth doing. Then the audience sang Southern songs and at last "The Star Spangled Banner."

Next year's Community Night program may be different, but it will be difficult to make it better.

All Newton Music School

The closing exercises of the School will be held in the Technical High School Hall, Elm street, Newtonville, on Thursday evening, May 27th, at 7.30 o'clock. DYNAMITE CAP INJURES BOY

Saturday afternoon Mario Corsi of Thompsonville, age 10, found a box of dynamite caps in the barn of Domenic Maiocca at 7 John street. Mario gathered his chums and they proceeded to have some fun with the caps. A few of the explosives were placed on the tracks of the Boston & Worcester street railway. Others were put on rocks, and stones thrown at them to produce results. The boys got more excitement than they expected. A fragment from one of the caps struck Lawrence Simpkins, 7, of 23 John street in the chest, and caused a wound which was treated by Dr. Lowe, City Physician. The police seized the caps which the boys had not exploded.

The point about the campaign to raise 1,500,000 for the Newton Hospital, which begins tonight is not "CAN" we do it, but "Will" we do it. Newton has the citizenship and the wealth to put this campaign over just as we put the Liberty Loan drives over during the war. "Let's Go."

The "pay as you go" policy has been followed by this city for many years and has more than once proved its value. Why change?

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

Miss Bertha W. Allen, superintendent of the Newton Hospital, was the guest and speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club, held Monday noon at the Woodland Golf Club.

Besides the emphasis made by Miss Allen on the lack of room and facilities for care of patients at the Hospital, a strong point was made of the fact that with additional room and facilities, a larger number of paying patients could be accommodated and thus reduce the amount needed to make up the deficit in operating expenses which has been a feature of the Hospital for many years.

I. C. Paul for the golf committee reported the drawings for match play which begins this present week.

DEATH OF MR. SCOTT

Rev. Dr. Thomas B. Scott, 65, died on Tuesday at his residence, 144 Hancock street, Auburndale, after a long illness. He was a retired Congregational minister and physician.

Born in Burnbrae, Ont., in 1861, he studied at Queens College, Kingston, where he received his medical degree, and from which college he was ordained. He went to Ceylon, China, in 1893, as head of the American Board of Foreign Missions. When his health failed, he returned to this country in 1914, taking charge of Walker Memorial Home, Auburndale.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary McCallum Scott; four daughters, Helen, a teacher in Pennsylvania; Marjorie and Katherine, students at Mt. Holyoke, and Winifred, a student at Newton High School, and one son, Harold Scott of Boston.

GENERAL ALARM FIRE

fined the fire to the upper story of the building in which it started. Roofs of a few nearby buildings caught from flying embers, but these flames were squelched before any damage of consequence resulted. It is estimated that the loss will amount to about $20,000. The cause of the fire is unknown. Just as the blaze was discovered, members of the Mayors' Club of Massachusetts, who had been inspecting the Cambridge water system at Lincoln and Weston, were passing through Auburndale in autos. They stopped for a considerable period to watch the successful flight of the local fire department. A large number of spectators, standing on the Auburn street bridge, received a thorough drenching when a section of fire hose burst.

other than a city hall, the increased values of surrounding property will pay for the cost of taking the land.

Charles E. Hatfield agreed with Mr. Lyon and stated that because many persons thought that the views of Henry Baily, Chairman of the Assessors, who favors the triangle site, are those of Mayor Childs, he had asked the latter what site he favors for the new city hall. Mr. Hatfield said, "Mayor Childs told me he favors West Newton as the place where the new city hall shall be built. The Mayor also wants to see the triangle taken for civic purposes." Mr. Hatfield reiterated that he was not actuated by selfish motives in favoring the new city hall at West Newton; it would be more for his financial benefit to have it located on the Homer street triangle. To contradict the argument that the center of population is moving towards the south side of the city, Mr. Hatfield stated that the apartment houses and small dwelling houses which will be erected on the North side of Newton will more than overbalance the increased population in the larger estates on the South Side.

Charles D. Cabot said he has lived in Newtonville 45 years and was surprised to see such a small gathering present. He favored city hall at West Newton and the taking of the triangle for a soldiers' memorial. He said the boys received a greater reception when they came back from France and then were promptly forgotten. Philip Dunbar of Howland Rd., West Newton, told of having attended all the meetings which have been held by the committee on City Hall. Mr. Dunbar was at first swayed by Mr. Baily's arguments for the triangle site, but after considering all phases of the situation, he now favors West Newton as the location. Mr. Dunbar dealt with the various aspects of the problem, analyzed the arguments offered by the proponents of the two sites and urged citizens to approach the subject without prejudice and with discretion. He favored the taking of the triangle for memorial purposes and quoted President Eliot of Harvard to prove that it is poor practice to attempt to create memorials which combine utility with the artistic. He contended that a city hall will not make a fitting monument to the soldiers.

Allison Newton of Grove Hill Park disagreed with Mr. Dunbar and Pres. Eliot and stated that buildings designed for utility make the best memorials. He said that if the triangle is not taken now for a city hall, it will not be taken at all and will be developed for private purposes. Answering the argument of Mr. Lyons that business will follow the hall to the triangle neighborhood, Mr. Newton thought that we can trust our aldermen to have enough character and civic pride to refuse to yield to the pressure of real estate speculators who would endeavor to have the zoning changed to permit the erection of business structures in the district near the triangle. According to Mr. Newton it will be impossible to make an artistic setting for a city hall at the West Newton site. He compared it to the setting of a beautiful diamond in brass.

Colonel Spofford asked for a showing of hands after advocating the Homer street site. Twenty-six of those present voted for West Newton and thirty for the triangle. Albert M. Lyon then asked for a vote on the question of placing the city hall at West Newton and a memorial park on the triangle. Thirty-eight favored this solution and twenty opposed it. Mr. Wagner of Auburndale then requested that a vote be taken on the two sites and those voting be limited to residents of Ward 2. This was done and 30 of the Newtonville residents favored the triangle, while but 15 voted for West Newton.

John O'Neil of Waban then threw some bombs into the air. He said he had been informed on that same day that a number of the West Newton advocates had "fish to fry." According to the Waban orator who indulges in piscatorial allusions, "Charlie Hatfield and his associates have sold Players Hall to the Stuart-Marshall Trust, Tom White is interested in a new theatre at West Newton, it's all in the bag to put the new city hall there, the aldermen are decided on this, the meetings being held are just 'to kid' the public.' Mr. O'Neil ridiculed the argument that it will cost more to build a city hall on the triangle. He said "To listen to those who throw this bunk, one would think that a city hall at West Newton will be built of red brick and a city hall on Commonwealth avenue will be constructed of Italian marble."

Emerson Stoddard argued that the sale of the property at West Newton, plus the increased taxes which will be received from business blocks built on it, will more than pay for the triangle site.

The sixth and final hearing on the new city hall was held last evening in the Underwood school hall. The smallest attendance of any of the series was present numbering less than fifty and about a dozen of these were members of the board of aldermen or the advisory committe appointed to assist the special city hall committee. A third site was proposed by Attorney James Gallagher of Newton. He suggested that the city take the land bounded by Washington, Peabody, Pearl and Bacon streets. He advocated this site for several reasons.

Representative Arthur W. Hollis started the ball rolling by stating that he wished to be placed on record in favor of steps being taken in the near future towards the construction of a new city hall. He likened the present quarters to the present hospital—over-crowded and in the last twenty years the business of the city had doubled. He preferred the West Newton site for business reasons—it was more accessible to trains, banks and other facilities. He thought that the proponents of the triangular site wanted the building for artistic purposes and would not want the business that was sure to follow. He urged the taking of the triangle for war memorial or other purposes. He cited the recent act of the State legislature in appropriating $50,000 which will be matched by the city of Boston for a war memorial in Copley Square. He thought that might be a way to finance a memorial at the triangle. If such a thing was done he asked that the Spanish War veterans be included as he felt that they had been woefully neglected by the city.

Alderman Weeks asked Representative Hollis how the legislature would look upon a request from the city for permission to borrow outside of the debt limit. Mr. Hollis replied that it was hard to say but that Newton had clean hands and had never asked for very much. He believed that a new city hall could be paid for without borrowing very much and that the school program would not have to be interfered with. He expressed the belief that in case of hard snowtorms in the winter it would be difficult to reach a hall at the triangle and that the board of aldermen might have to wait sometime to get a quorum.

Ex-alderman Joseph B. Jamieson asked if any estimate had been made as to the cost of a new city hall. Mr. Baker replied that nothing definite had been determined as to plans or site and no estimate could be reached. Mr. Jamieson then asked what difference a new city hall would make in the tax rate. Alderman Weeks replied that if the hall cost a million dollars and this was raised by 20 year bonds, that the tax rate would be affected by about ninety cents per thousand, which would scale down as the debt was paid.

Mr. Hollis inquired when the present junior high school program would be completed. Alderman Fitts replied that the end was not immediately in sight, that five more buildings were contemplated and that it would take at least ten years to build these. Mrs. Ralph C. Henry inquired how often a new school had to be built. Alderman Baker replied that the ratio of children to homes in the city was about one to one and as the number of homes increased the number of children increased. About 35 could be accommodated in a room. Alderman Fitts stated that if the triangle was taken for memorial purposes such a project could be financed without borrowing money.

Ex-alderman Arthur Kendrick desired that the committee look to the future and pay for the hall as best determined. Mr. Baily's figures command attention and he did not like to tie a civic centre of the future down to West Newton, where he would prefer to go if he were a member of the present board, as it was too much off to one side.

Mr. John H. Sullivan agreed with Mr. Hollis and put forth the idea that if automobile conditions advanced in the next twenty years as they have in the past few it would not be possible to reach the triangle by that method. The trend of today is toward subways and the B. & A. tracks might be thus used in the future for an automobile subway.

Mr. Jamieson took the floor again and expressed the feeling that the present city hall was nothing to be proud of and that the majority of citizens wanted a new building. He recalled the time when he first came to Newton and the tax rate was lowered from eighteen to seventeen dollars which caused considerable discussion in the city and the people said to keep the tax rate where it was and give better streets and other improvements. Alderman Heathcote asked Mr. Kendrick how much weight should be given to the argument set forth by West Newton advocates that the triangle was inaccessible to which the latter replied that he didn't think that question carried much weight.

Alderman Norman F. Pratt told of conditions last winter when it took over an hour and two changes to get from Newton Centre to West Newton. James Gallagher thought it was about time to call attention to the fact that the same carlines used by people going from the south side of the city to the north would be used by those going the other way if the hall was placed at the triangle.

Alderman Bail presented figures and percentages showing the increase of Wards 5 and 6 in recent years. This caused Mr. Gallagher to say that figures, especially percentages, were often misleading and asked for numerical increases, which Mr. Bail could not furnish. Alderman Heathcote asked Alderman Bail if he had any figures on the time consumed by city employees going to and from West Newton. Alderman Bail replied that he had been wiating for some advocate of the triangle to present the argument of increased efficiency of city departments if the hall was placed at the triangle. Some city employees in Ward 5 make three and four trips to city hall daily which consumes considerable time. Mr. William T. Halliday of the Newton Trust company said his running time from Newtonville to Dedham was from ten to fifteen minutes.

Alderman Heathcote inquired what proportion of the city's banking was done in Newton. No one could answer the question but Mr. Halliday expressed the belief that it was not anywhere near as much as it should be—that strings were being pulled to take the money to Boston banks.

Mrs. Henry asked what site the planning board favored. Alderman Baker said that the committee had not asked for the board's opinion, but that he thought it had recommended that the triangle be taken for municipal purposes, although he did not think they had said it should be taken for a city hall. Mr. Albert M. Lyons was a member of the planning board on the advisory committee.

Mr. Gallagher asked what zone the triangle was in and what change would be made in zones if the triangle was used for a city hall. It is in the private residence zone. Mr. Gallagher then asked if taken would it be placed in the category of a nonconforming use. Alderman Baker thought that the board could easily straighten out any such difficulty.

Mr. Gallagher then stirred things up by stating that the new hall should be built in Newton, where everybody would know where it was located. Strangers, not knowing the geography of the city, were often at a loss to know where West Newton or Newton Centre was. Newton Corner is the business center of the city and should be the best location. He thought it a good plan to put a running track in West Newton and let the candidates for Mayor run a foot race there. He informed those present that he was not in anyone's employ to favor his site, that it was just his own fantastic idea. The site he suggested is bounded by Washington, Peabody, Pearl and Bacon streets and he thought it could be obtained for about $125,000. His closing argument was that there was no brook running through it.

Ex-alderman Parker, a member of the advisory committee, asked if the assessing department had any opinion as to the future growth of the city. John W. Murphy, another member of the advisory committee, and also of the assessors' department, stated that the greatest chance for growth was in Wards 5 and 6. Mr. Parker then stated that when Newton was a town the town meetings were held in Newton Centre but when the raliroad entered it became advisable to make a change. At that time Newton was considered but it was felt that this part of the city was so near the line that a point halfway between it and Lower Falls would be more satisfactory for the majority. For that reason the hall was placed in West Newton.

Alderman Bail told of a conversation he had recently had with a member of the Brookline town government who stated that he felt that a civic building in that town should be built near the Brookline reservoir or on Beacon street towards Washington Square. Apartment houses, this official stated, bring nothing to the city as such residents pay only a poll tax.

A showing of hands was taken with thirteen voting for the Gallagher site, eight for the triangle and five for West Newton. Mr. Hollis asked that for the sake of comparison a vote be taken on the latter two sites as had been done all over the city. West Newton led fifteen to seven on this vote.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

There is but little to be added to the account of last week. The big matters which are delaying prorogation are still held up in the air. The redistricting is waiting for word from the Governor, the water supply is waiting action by House Ways and Means, and the matter of bridging or tunneling the harbor to reach East Boston is being amended in both branches.

The governor has sent in the supplementary budget and fixes the state tax at $12,000,000 the same as last year.

KIWANIS CLUB

The Kiwanis Club of Newton held its weekly meeting on Monday, May 17th, at 12.15 P. M. The Newton club members were the guests of the Brighton and Allston Club this week and a gathering of 150 members assembled and had luncheon at Hotel Princeton, Commonwealth avenue, Allston. After some real good singing by all the members and a special request number, "Sweet Adeline" by Earl Harper and the Allston Club's song leader. President Frank Wilcox was awarded the attendance prize on his lucky number 13. President Bill Short of the Brighton-Allston Club was master of ceremonies. He may be remembered as a former Newton man, now one of Boston's leading undertakers. Ex-Gov. Channing Cox was the speaker of the day and told the Kiwanians to boost New England and discourage that unfair propaganda against this most wonderful section of the U. S. A. His talk was most interesting and the meeting a very successful one.

The younger generation of Newton will have a spokesman at the dinner in Robert F. Kretfchmar, a junior at the Newton High School, who will speak on "The Hospital and the Community." The chief talk of the evening will be the appeal to the workers which will be given by George S. Smith, chairman of the campaign speakers committee. Mr. Smith will be introduced by Henry J. Nichols, who is directing the work of the organization of the campaign.

Community singing will be one of the features of the dinner. The singing will be directed by F. M. Blanchard, of Newtonville, and H. J. Pettengill, of Newton Centre.

The tournament will be limited to golfers of the city of Newton. Prizes will be awarded for combined gross and net, and first net and second net. No preliminary practice round will be permitted, the announcement of the tournament states.

The event is being arranged by the Brae Burn golf committee, S. K. Kerns, chairman, with the consent and co-operation of the leaders in the Newton Hospital Financial Campaign.

One of the preliminary gifts to the Newton Hospital that has been greatly appreciated and has tended to show that the building and equipment fund is being supported by the young as well as the older generation, came this week from the We Jolly Girls Club of Newton Highlands. This group of eight girls, all about 11 years old, have donated $10 to the building fund after earning this money by their own efforts. The members of the club are Althea Adalain, Alice Thompson, Esther Walthes, Florence Chapple, Helen McMullin, Lois Woodworth, Marion Hedler, and Nathalia Beals.

Newton Council, K. of C., has voted to contribute $1000 to the Newton Hospital campaign for $1,500,000. This is the gift of the council and does not represent gifts of individual members. Ex-Representative Bernard Early spoke of the needs of the hospital and its past history.

Twenty-eight young women will be graduated from the Newton Hospital Training School on the afternoon of June 4. The completion of the three years' training course will be marked by formal exercises in a large tent on the hospital grounds at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which Rev. Arthur Maland Ellis, D.D., pastor of the Central Congregational Church of Newton, will deliver the commencement address.

The week of commencement will be ushered in on Sunday, May 30, with baccalaureate services in the nurses' home at 8.15 o'clock in the evening. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Earl E. Harper, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church of Auburndale.

Two parties are being arranged in honor of the graduating class, one to be given by the nurses alumnae on the week preceding the commencement, and another to be given by the training school probably on the evening of Tuesday, June 1.

The program for the baccalaureate exercises follows:

Hymn, "Love and Loyalty," School and Congregation; selection, "The Heavens are Telling" (Beethoven), School; scripture and prayer; selection, "Recessional," (Kipling), School; sermon, Rev. Earl R. Harper; hymn, "God of Our Fathers," School and Congregation; benediction.

At the graduation exercises the diplomas will be conferred by C. E. Kelsey, president of the board of trustees of the Newton Hospital, while Miss Mary E. Riddle, R.N., former superintendent of the training school, will present the scholarship for the Hospital Aid Association, which maintains these awards, and Miss Bertha W. Allen, R.N., superintendent of the Newton Hospital, will confer the gold badges, which mark the wearers as graduates of the Newton Hospital Training School. The invocation and benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity Church, Newton Centre. Music will be furnished by the Newton Girl Scouts Bugle and Drum Corps, and by the school. The two vocal selections by the school will be "When Life is Brightest" (Ciro-Pinsuiti) and "March, March" (A. Farwell).

Four young women of Newton will be among the graduates this year. The local graduates are Dorothy J. Frye, Margaret Humphrey, Marion B. Dixon, and Dorothy L. Breitzke. The other members of the graduating class have been announced as follows: Doris L. Bain, Quincy; Harriett E. Brydon, Berwick; Doris E. McLellan, St. Stephen, N. B.; Mabel E. Cutler, West Somerville, Mass.; Dorothy K. Neill, Watertown; Elizabeth L. Thompson, Framingham; Mary O. Lynch, Norwood; Virginia E. Young, Southwest Harbor, Me.; Helen B. Stone, Windsor, Vt.; Ruth L. Fogerty, Townsend Harbor; L. Maude Smith, St. John, N. B.; A. Winifred Alexander, Campo Bello, N. B.

FUNERAL OF JOHN FLOOD

The funeral services for John Flood were held Saturday morning at 10 in the Church of Our Lady, Newton. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Conrad Quirbach, assisted by Rev. M. Joseph Burke of Cambridge as deacon and Rev. E. Joseph Burke of Cambridge as sub-deacon. Terry's funeral mass was sung by the quartet of the Church of Our Lady, Mrs. William Desmond, soprano; Mrs. Marjorie Wales, alto; Joseph Antonelli, tenor, and Henry Rattigan, bass. The church was well filled with friends of the deceased from Newton and neighboring cities.

Delegations were present from Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., Charles River Court, M. C. O. F., Watertown Council, K. of C., Triton Council, Royal Arcanum and Garden City Lodge, A. O. U. W. Seventy-five members of Newton Lodge of Elks were present to pay final honors to Mr. Flood, who was an honorary life member of that organization. The pallbearers were Hon. Edwin O. Childs, James Condrin, Andrew Carlin, Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher, John Gordon, John C. Madden, Bernard McHugh and Charles Reade. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. M. Joseph Burke. A squad of soldiers from Fort Banks, under command of Sergt. Harry Goss, fired three volleys over the grave and taps were sounded by Bugler Chris Sully. As the coffin was lowered, members of Thomas Burnett Camp, Spanish War Veterans, held the United States flag which had covered the coffin, suspended over the grave until the final salute had been fired.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET

The Mother and Daughter Banquet at the Methodist Church, Centre St., Newton, on Friday evening, was a most successful affair.

Supper was served at 6.30, and Mrs. Charles Smith was chairman. Mrs. Royal C. Warring was toastmistress.

There was Community singing, with Mrs. Florence Mansfield leader, and Mrs. Effie Nagle at the piano.

An original poem, "A Daughter's Memories" by Mrs. George W. Barber was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. J. West Thompson, violin, played "Songs My Mother Used to Sing," and was accompanied on the harp by Miss Ruth Sipple of Mt. Ida School.

There were about one hundred and fifty present, and it was agreed to make the banquet an annual event.

MOTHERS' COUNCIL

The annual luncheon of the Mothers' Council of West Newton was held Tuesday, May 4th, at the home of Mrs. Louis F. Bachrach. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Albert Flint, Mrs. Philip Carter, Mrs. Edward Whiting, Mrs. William Wise, Mrs. John C. Jones, Mrs. Murray Balfour.

Following a most tempting luncheon Miss Ross, Superintendent of District Nurses, addressed the Club on the need of a well organized municipal program for the care of children in the "run about" stage. Miss Riley, visiting teacher of the Newton High School, then spoke of her work in connection with the pupils who had certain problems to solve in their adjustment to school life.

A business meeting followed in which the officers for the year were elected: President, Mrs. Roy R. Merchant; vice-president and chairman of Program Committee, Mrs. Robert E. Mandell; secretary, Mrs. Ernest R. Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Gorham; members at large, Mrs. G. H. Fernold for two years, Mrs. Warner V. Taylor for one year, Mrs. Hartridge holds on for another year.

ENTERTAINS WELFARE CONFERENCE

One of the most delightful meetings of their season was held by the Welfare Conference of the Newton Central Council at the new Florence Crittenton Home, just over the Newton line in Brighton, on May 12. The Home, an attractive brick building on the top of the hill near Oak Square, commands a wide view of greater Boston and of the river, which, on a lovely spring morning makes it a most inviting spot. On the upper porch the members of the Conference were privliged to see the tiny babies, each in its basket, carefully wrapped, with face shielded from the sun. The bed room furnished by the Newton Circle was neatness and convenience itself. All the hospital facilities were wonderfully planned, with up-to-date equipment; and immaculately kept.

Downstairs a delicious and abundant luncheon was served to about 35 guests. Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, Chairman of the Welfare Division of the Council, under the auspices of which the Conferences are held, presided at the brief but stimulating meeting which followed the luncheon. Miss Hyde welcomed the guests, and Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, President of the Council, spoke of her continued interest in the Welfare Division, of which she was formerly the Chairman, and of the aims of the Council.

Miss Louise Lovett was called upon to give her experiences with girls in a girls' club, and did so in a way to make everyone feel that the girls were fortunate indeed who had her for a guide, counselor and friend. Miss Lovett also spoke of the program of the League of Girls' Clubs of Massachusetts with which she is associated.

A discussion followed of how different types of girls may be reached, and how those with unfortunate early experiences may get a normal social life. The difficulties of this were not minimized, but helpful suggestions were: a complete change of environment, and the assimilation of such girls one or two at a time by other social groups.

The Conference will meet on June 16, with the Mothers' Rest Association.

NEWTON POST NO. 48

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, held its Welfare Concert at Norumbega Park on Sunday, May 16, 1926, and in spite of the inclement weather nearly 1000 people attended the performance, and enjoyed the splendid entertainment which was staged under the direction of Chairman Thomas Franey.

The annual parade will be held on Monday, May 31, 1926, followed by the banquet at the State Armory in West Newton. The parade this year will start in Newton Centre and all Legion members and ex-servicemen will meet in Newton Centre square at 1:00 P. M. Further details of the line-up and route of the parade will be announced next week.

One of the features of this parade will be the appearance of Company C. M. N. G., in their new style uniform. The local company will be under the command of Captain Thomas Hickey, M. N. G.

Newton Post, No. 48, will attend the memorial exercises at the Central Congregational Church on Sunday, May 23, 1926, at 11.00 A. M. Members of the Post are requested to appear at Dennison Hall, Newtonville, at 10:15 A. M., and will march in a body to the church.

The local post has nearly one hundred graves to decorate this Memorial Day of members who have been buried since the close of the war. Frank Gaw is in charge of the Graves Decoration Committee.

Newton Post now has a set of rifles of its own, and on Memorial Day the newly organized color guard will make their first appearance, under the command of Sergeant-at-Arms William Donald.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Asso. will be held Tuesday evening, May 25th, at 8 o'clock at the Central Congregational Church, Walnut street, Newtonville.

A full report of the year's work of the Association will be given by President Balcom. Through its large executive committee the Association has been constantly active, not only in working with other civic bodies for the best interests of Newton as a whole, but in opposing undesirable developments in Newtonville and in striving to make that village cleaner, healthier, and more beautiful,—a better place in which to work and live.

Following the report of the president, and the election of officers for the coming year, there will be an interesting illustrated lecture by Mr. William Gorham Rice of Albany, New York, on "Carillon Music and Singing Towers of the Old World and the New."

In no other field of music, have such advances been made in recent years, and outside of the works of Mr. Rice, there has been no available information on this important subject.

All of the great towers of bells in this country are described by Mr. Rice, as well as the marvellous carillons of the Old World.

All residents of Newtonville, and of Newton as well, whether or not members of the Association, are invited to attend on Tuesday evening. Any persons who may wish to join the Association are urged to do so at this meeting.

SCHOOL NOTES

(From last week)

Edited by Dorothy Bushnell

Angier School News

The assembly this week was given by Miss Jones' fourth grade. Besides the usual numbers they gave a play called "Procrastination the Thief of Time." The little boy who procrastinated and afterwards learned his lesson was Wendel Davis. The part of Procrastination was taken by William Junirck. Time was played by Arthur Robbins. The other characters were: Minutes, Imps and Flowers. These parts were taken care of by members of the class. Other members of the class sang songs, assisted by a group from the sixth grade.

Miss Davis has been speaking to the different classes on the library and its use. I am sure each class has received much benefit from her splendid talks.

G. F. L., grade 8.

Mason School

The Marble Contest at Newton Centre ended last Tuesday on the playgrounds. Over one hundred seventy-five boys and girls from the third to the eighth grades answered the call. To work up through such a field was quite an undertaking. The last contest saw Bob Dunn and George Goodale competing for the championship. Bob Dunn is a fifth grade Chinese boy, who learned the game in China. Goodale of the eighth grade learned the game when he was a little boy in Georgia.

George won finally by knocking his opponent's shooter out of the ring. Although it rained the last day, it did not dampen the enthusiasm of either the children or the camera man of the Boston Traveler, who was to publish the picture of the final game in the paper.

Mothers' Club Banquet

The greatest event of the Mothers' Club year has come and gone. On Monday, May 10, the annual banquet was held. Including the guests, seventy-six were present. Since this was for the first time a caterer's dinner, all the mothers and guests were able to sit down together. Mr. Arthur Ellis, minister of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, began the evening's program of speeches. Everyone appreciated his all-round ability to represent the British Isles. Miss Lucy Cobb, President of the Board of Directors, next spoke to the mothers. Mrs. Cyr then introduced as speakers: Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Auryansen, Mrs Boyden, Mrs. Binks, Mrs. Champagne, and Mrs. Womboldt. Mrs. Wolfe and Mrs. Saunders from the West Newton Women's Club invited the mothers to "their house" on Thursday, May 27th.

Mrs. Hay and two pupils from the West Newton Music School furnished the music, that was very much enjoyed, and led the community songs at the end of the evening. The guests had gone before thanks for the flowers and decorations had been expressed. The mother would say their "Thank You" here, however.

Hyde School

Much interest has been shown in flower and bird lists, especially in the lower grades.

The graduating class has left $49 with which to purchase a class memorial.

Miss Sampson's and Miss Barnard's pupils enjoyed a bird lecture at the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain, Monday morning.

The baseball team is well under way with Donald Houghton as coach, Dick Hennessey, captain, and Joseph Bertch, manager. Last week they won a game played with the Angier School at Waban.

A newspaper from Rio de Janeiro has been received by Miss Abbott's class. In it is published, with comments, a letter she wrote thanking Dr. Arthur de Guarana, Secretary General, for a most interesting exhibit of coffee and literature of other industries of Brazil which he sent her last fall.

Last Friday Chief Traffic Officer Kiley of the Newton Police Department spoke to all grades about safety laws and their observance. He especially stressed the point that care should be taken in obeying the traffic signals when crossing the street. The children enjoyed having Mr. Kiley speak to them and made him very welcome.

The children in Miss Sampson's room entertained Miss Bragg and the fourth grade teachers of Newton on Thursday afternoon with two plays, "John Eliot Preaching to the Indians" and a safety play entitled "Prescott Learns a Lesson." The safety play was written by members of the class: Barbara Bedford, Nancy Coan, Prescott Downer, Renfield Lamphere, and Howard Ness.

F. A. Day Junior High School

The Model Yacht Club was in charge of the wekly assembly. Professor George Owen of M. I. T. entertained with a talk on boats The boys showed some of their models which they are preparing for a regatta.

The informal meetings of the teachers was held in the social room last Friday. Tea was served from the new hot plate.

Mr. Hermann has very kindly consented to arrangements for the use of Cabot Park by the boys and girls of this school.

Our baseball team has made a good start and won its first game of the season from Country Day School by a score of 19-4.

The team is of course in the rough now but a great many points came to the surface that will greatly aid Coach Simmons in his work this coming week.

The game was fairly even during the first four innings when Hayes, the pitcher for Country Day, held our boys in check, but at the beginning of the fifth our team hit the ball at will.

Coach Simmons says of the game, "The team did excellent work when one stops to consider that it is the third time we have been together. The fellows are weak at bat, due to the fact that they have had no practice to speak of in this line. The defensive work of the team shows almost mid-season form and I am greatly encouraged. I think it will be one of the best aggregations that we have ever had."

The final cut in the squad will come this week and after that, work on fine points will begin. The team has a 10-game schedule to play off before June 15, making an average of 2 games a week.

Lasell Seminary

An unusual event in the Commencement exercises this year will be the Pageant given on June 4th, at 9.00 o'clock celebrating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Lasell.

The senior class will give a tea on Friday afternoon on the Gardner Lawn for the benefit of their class endowment fund.

Dr. Henry Crane of Centre Church, Malden will be the speaker at vespers on Sunday afternoon, at 3.30 P. M.

The annual Lasell Glee Club and Orchestra Concert will occur on Saturday evening, May 22, at the Auburndale Club, Auburndale.

SUMMER HALF HOLIDAY FOR NEWTON STORES

At a meeting last week of the Mercantile Commmittee of the Newton Chamber of Commerce it was voted to continue the summer half holiday closing schedule which worked out so successfully last year, when the two months' schedule was extended to three months, including Wednesday afternoons during June, July and August. While some members of the committee favored a further extension of the schedule and there was some sentiment in favor of a weekly half holiday throughout the year, it was felt that a majority of the merchants of the city were well satisfied with the three months' schedule, which was generally observed last year throughout the city.

The objective for which the merchants of Newton have been striving for many years now promises to be fully realized, following the success of the extended plan when given its initial trial last year. The cooperation of the public in bearing in mind that all Newton stores will close Wednesday afternoons during June, July and August—doing their Wednesday shopping in the morning and placing their telephone orders sufficiently early to permit delivery before noon—is now invited. This will avoid disappointment and will help the merchants of the city to give their clerks a deserved weekly half holiday for at least three months of the year, at a time when conditions are most favorable for recreation and this privilege will be the most appreciated.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending May 8:—Patients in hospital 116, patients paying as much as cost of care or more 56, patients paying less than cost of care 32, free patients, including babies 28, babies born 10 (4 girls, 6 boys), patients treated by out patient department 130, patients treated at eye clinic 6, accident cases 15, social service calls at hospital 5, at homes 12, patients transferred by social service car 2.

Now that daylight saving has come the tennis courts are in full use whenever the weather is good and some of the nurses are developing into better than average players.

Dr. Howard M. Chute of the Deaconess Hospital spoke on "Thyroid Diseases" at Monday night's meeting of the Newton Medical Club.

Miss Margaret Grant, R. N., who is one of the instructors in the Nurses' Training School has been quite ill and is now convalescing at Marblehead. During her absence Miss Margaret Gould, R. N., of Newton Centre has acted as her substitute.

Miss Allen, the superintendent, attended the luncheon given on Monday afternoon by Mrs. G. W. St. Amant, at the Brae Burn club, to the members of the board of the Newton District Nursing Association and the graduate nursing staff.

ABOUT TOWN

Bert Stuart, mechanic of the Street Department is breaking in a couple of men to operate the new Byers gasoline shovel recently purchased by the city. This shovel is a whole kit of power tools. It can be used for digging trenches, re-surfacing roads, shovelling snow and as a travelling crane. Incidentally, the city is fortunate in having Bert on its pay-roll. He holds three different engineers' licenses and can turn his hand to about anything that pertains to the mechanical side of street construction.

DOGS RESCUED

Wednesday evening residents in the vicinity of Otis street and Forest avenue were disturbed by the howling of dogs. A search was started but the complaining canines were not to be seen. Finally the howls were traced to a manhole at the corner of the two streets. The police were notified and two employees of the street department, Joseph Carroll and Michael McCarthy, responded. They lifted the cover of the manhole and rescued two very muddy and very scared dogs.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

(From last week)

The past week has witnessed several vetoes by Governor Fuller on measures close to the heart of the Legislature. The most spectacular, if that is the right word to use, was his veto of the bill to give the Registrar of Motor Vehicles an increase in salary from $5000 to $6000 per year. The peculiar feature of this bill was the fact that it fixed a minimum figure, whereas most bills for salaries usually fixed a maximum. The Governor aimed his veto at this feature of the bill in addition to the fact that salary increases should have the endorsement of the head of the department in which the official was employed. There is no question but what Mr. Goodwin fully deserves the increase in salary and there is also no question that he will never get an increase if it requires the endorsement of the head of his department. It was this situation which induced Representative Luitwieler of this city to take up the matter, although he, himself, stated on the floor of the House that it was the wrong way to do the right thing. Mr. Luitwieler voted to pass the bill over the veto and Messrs. Hollis and Saltonstall voted to sustain the governor.

On the bill to fix a minimum salary of $6 per day for police officers throughout the Commonwealth when the act was accepted by the various municipalities, the Governor refused approval on the ground that it was a matter entirely for local officials to decide for themselves. The Governor is right in this contention but even a casual inspection of the statutes of the Commonwealth will show that the state has many times taken control of local matters even more vital to local government than the salary of a policeman. Mr. Hollis voted for this bill in the first instances but joined his colleagues in voting to sustain the governor in this veto.

On the bill to widen Exchange street in the city of Boston, Mr. Hollis voted in favor and Messrs. Luitwieler and Saltonstall voted against.

Mayor Childs' bill to allow Newton to expend public money for tree pest control on private property, was admitted by the Senate but refused admission by the House, on account of the lateness of the session.

On the bill to incorporate Salisbury Beach, Mr. Luitwieler voted in favor and his two colleagues in opposition.

While the Legislature voted that the week of May 3 should be considered as the last week of the session, it is doubtful if prorogation is reached for some weeks to come as the question of a water supply for the Boston district is quite a problem. It is thought that the amended Goodnough plan to take over the head quarters of the Ware river and to allow Worcester to take a portion of the water from that source of supply will meet the situation.

There is also the matter of redistricting the state into Congressional, councillor and senatorial districts to be considered. Governor Fuller is giving lengthy hearings to influential Democrats who insist that the lines as now drawn will curtail their reasonable share of senatorial seats and they threaten if not changed to take the whole matter to the Supreme Court, following the precedent of ten years ago, when the Republicans of Boston succeeded in preventing a rank gerrymander of Republican districts. There doesn't seem much doubt that the Supreme Court would require any change if the matter is brought before them but the delay would tie up the County Commissioners from making the representative districts in their several counties and cause more or less confusion in regard to the primaries.

The committee of women who have worked hard this session in favor of the bill to control the night clubs and road houses are most grateful for the assistance they have had from Senator Rice and Representative Luitwieler and "Congratulate the citizens of Newton on sending men to the Legislature who go there not to play politics but to serve humanity."

CHRISTENING PARTY

A unique christening party was held at Bath, Maine, on Saturday of last week when Robert W. Moore, Jr., of the Moore & Summers agency of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of this city had as his guests some thirty of his friends and neighbors and "broke the bottle" over the bow of the new ship "Sumtubtwo." Mr. Moore is well known along the Atlantic coast as is "Sumtub" the power boat in which he has cruised for several years.

The party left the North station Friday afternoon and had a private car to Brunswick. Saturday morning it left by special trolley for Bath and went direct to E. E. Pinson's shipyard where the christening was held. A trip was then taken to Juniper Point, Boothbay Harbor, the home port of the Sumtubtwo where Mr. Moore spends his summers, and other nearby points. Among the features of the day were a golf tournament at the Boothbay Harbor Golf Club, movies and a clam bake.

Sunday the party cruised among the islands, returning to Bath late in the afternoon and arriving in Boston in the evening.

Among those who took the trip with Mr. Moore are Vice-President Andrew Sides and Captain Brewer of the Eastern Steamship Lines; Ensign R. H. G. Johnson of the U. S. Navy; Merle G. Summers, Cambridge; Raymond W. Ferris, Akron, Ohio; Mortimer Y. Ferris, Ticonderoga, N. Y.; Howard Teel, Boothbay Harbor; Edward Pinson, Jr., Bath; and R. O. Ainslie, Charles R. Boggs, Eugene Bissell, George B. Bullock, Earle E. Conway, Charles L. Favinger, C. Y. Ferris, Willis R. Fisher, Albert B. Gould, Donald M. Hill, Henry L. Johnson, H. N. Matthews, Lowell A. Mayberry, Guy B. McKinney, H. W. O'Leary, Ira S. Roe, George N. Roberts, Donald G. Robbins, C. A. Sawyer, Jr., Arthur T. Soule, John S. White, Duncan Wright, and Robert W. Moore III, all of Waban.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

State Federation

By noon last week Wednesday the corridors of the New Ocean House were alive with Club women, luggage and porters, and alive, too, with the enthusiasms and friendships of the coming throng. In the flag decked garage, Mrs. Smith called the meeting to order at two o'clock, with many officers on the platform, and several guests. Singing of "America the Beautiful," salute to the flag and repetition of the Litany lent its usual beauty and inspiration. With all the myriad reports and speeches of these sessions, your editor can not possibly report all the immense detail of work accomplished, and of hopes for the future, but she can only say that some reports were most inspiring and interesting, some had that wonderful aid to digestion of a keen humor, and some—no matter how fine the opportunity to tell of splendid works—were simply deadly! Some directors were charming, delightful in personality and in speaking, others were easily ruffled and resented the "bell" that brought their long-winded resumés to a halt. The contrast was most noticeable, and some districts were indeed to be congratulated upon the courtesy, ability, and culture shown by their representatives, while we were sorry for others less fortunate in their servants. May Dickinson Kimball was a delight when she was given the bell. She playfully speeded her words till not one was more than a gasp, pretending to try to finish, then with a flourish and laugh she surrendered her manuscript.

Mr. William J. Young, of the Lynn Chamber of Commerce, bade us boost New England—and proceeded to boost Lynn and Swampscott, their wonderful ocean front and the latest glory—the Summer White House. He didn't say a word about the rum-runners, just sentenced there!

Miss Florence Dibert, in following him, showed her sense of humor in boosting Pennsylvania—why not, Florida and California act as though there were no other places in the United States?—and invited us all to the biennial, which raised spontaneous laughter. "There's an ocean front there, you know!" she added, as if merely for information.

Mrs. Poole was quoted in the minutes as "study more, endorse less, and know more of all measures before endorsement," a statement that is after the heart of your legislative chairman, whose slogan this has been for two years—somewhat before others took up this cry!

Another former president, Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, voiced the same sentiments on Thursday afternoon. She said she sometimes wondered whether we were doing the best thing to besiege Legislature for certain laws, especially if afterwards these were not understood or obeyed. Reform should be from the inside out, not from the outside in, and it was for wise women to create public opinion to obey the laws, and not only preach it but practice it!

The assistant clerk told of her rejoicing over the last stray lamb (or questionaire) that arrived the last of August after telegrams, night letters and special delivery letters, to secure this result, and of the help in proof-reading of the man who sits opposite her at dinner. It seems a reflection upon our women in office that such a condition of procrastination can exist, and this year such leniency is to stop. If Club information is not in on the date set by the printer to go to work on the Manual that club will be left out—and serve them right! In the list of libraries, etc., to have copies of the Manual, the clerk mentioned Museums—one wonders why women's club data should find its way to this exhibit or entombing place!

Mrs. A. A. Packard on International Relations, was most inspiring and humorous. The Middlesex Club, in studying this subject, has picked out the sore spots of the world, to find out why they are sore and what the United States has to do with it, but, she added,—to our relief—have not started to do anything to remedy them! She declares the women have determined to end war; they have the faith that this can be done, but after all, we come back to the one thing that can do it—religion. Through the golden rule, will be accomplished the biblical prophecy: "Then shall sit every man under his own vine and fig tree, and none shall make him afraid, for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it."

Mrs. N. E. Smith, the meetings chairman, had a great ovation in clapping, and in telling of how she had furnished comfort for other meetings, she stated that Club women were the bravest in the world—that 84 attended the State Board Meeing on the 5th of February, the day of the big blizzard, and they had as exciting a midnight ride as Paul Revere to reach their homes, arriving—as did he—at 4 A. M. She displayed proudly the pendants and chains given by Miss Albee—designed and made by her, having the State Seal—to herself, to Mrs. Poole, and Mrs. Smith for their aid in press establishment. This was done at the reception held at Mrs. Smith's when her board gave her a diamond pin, and they sang, to the tune of the Old Oaken Bucket "When we has beens belonged to the board," a concoction with much of wit therein.

Miss Marian C. Nichols, for Civil Service, told of the finding of the Legislative Committee that state employees had grounds for grievance in the rulings and treatment of the Department of Administration and Finance, and advocated that we follow the Federal Government, which is trying to do away with its department of Personnel, which she stated had failed of its purpose and duty in Washington.

Two resolutions, read on Wednesday, were endorsed on Thursday, one after some rather heated discussion. Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, art chairman, had advocated that we petition our Congressmen to work for a National Art Gallery, to house our American Paintings, and ask that the Budget Commission appropriate ten million dollars for this purpose. The opposition came on mentioning any sum as urged by the women's clubs. It seemed, perhaps, that this was unwisely worded, but might better have read that a sufficient sum be appropriated to erect an art gallery suitable for the dignity and standing of such a country as ours, without antagonizing officials by seeming to instruct them as to what was the proper sum to appropriate. The second resolution was that women be properly listed in the census—not as unemployed—and copies of this resolution were to be sent to Herbert Hoover, Senator Butler, Senator Gillette and others.

Miss Alice Gwendoline Albee could not half report the excellent accomplishments in Press and Publicity for which her able and enthusiastic directing have been responsible. The Course in Journalism is heralded throughout the country in recognition from the General Federation, which has placed Miss Albee in charge of a Journalism Committee, as result of this well-worked out idea. An exhibit of press work attracted much attention and admiring comment, and Newton may be proud to know that in the exhibit that is to go to Atlantic City there is a full page given to the Woman's Club column of the Graphic.

Miss Alice F. Titus was given token of her popularity in applause, and her big item reported was an increase of one thousand subscriptions to Federation Topics this year.

The Press breakfast was enthusiastically attended, and a close rival was the Junior Luncheon, where several of our Newton Juniors were in the limelight, among them Miss Leora Bacon of West Newton who gave a short, informal talk.

Newton was well represented in delegates, among them being noted Mrs. Willard Dalrymple, Mrs. Alfred E. Vose, and Mrs. Bertrand Taylor from Newton Centre; Mrs. Thomas Lees, Mrs. C. Frederick Rogers, and Mrs. Herbert E. Child, from Upper Falls; Mrs. John R. McLean, Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald, Mrs. Harry S. Wells, and Mrs. Arthur M. Teulon from West Newton; Mrs. Stephen Wright, Mrs. Percival Waters, and Mrs. George F. Nudd from Auburndale; Mrs. Irving O. Palmer and Mrs. Charles D. Kepner from Newtonville; Mrs. J. G. Godding, Mrs. Corabelle Francis, Mrs. Florence G. Morse, Miss Emma D. Coolidge and Mrs. Edward H. Keach from Newton; Mrs. B. W. Godsoe, Mrs. S. L. Eaton, Mrs. George M. Hayden, and Mrs. E. F. Gibbs from Newton Highlands.

A pleasing event of Thursday afternoon was the presentation by Mrs. Otis F. Drayton of four—three girls and one boy—of the five children who won the Music Memory Contest—all from Arlington. They gave a most delightful exhibit, telling us what was the composition, the composer, his nationality, the type of music and from what taken, if an opera, etc., as snatches of our beautiful classics were played. They are to go to the Biennial at the expense of the Federation and of the Arlington Woman's Club, and there compete for the national prizes against other States who are sending similar groups of children. We hope the honor falls to Massachusetts—and the prize to Sylvia Porter of a radiola victrola, as she has a perfect score.

The new State Song was sung by some of the Federation chorus—written by Reta Melton—whose address, strangely, is unknown

O, Massachusetts, old Bay State,
To thee this song we raise.
Where Pilgrim Fathers sought a shrine
In peace their God to praise,
Where loyal patriots paid the price,
May we their faith maintain
Who made for us the sacrifice
Humanity their gain.

O, Massachusetts, Beacon Light,
We'll strew thy hallowed ground
With mayflowers sweet and laurel green,
Thy heroes all to crown.
And fearlessly as in the past
Shall Massachusetts stand
For truth and nobility,
The foremost in the land.

Mrs. Emory Leighton, pioneer Club woman, was asked by Mrs. Smith to give a poem of her own composition that relates the entire growth and history of the State Federation, a remarkable poem and a remarkable achievement by a remarkable woman—she has not even written it out yet—verse after verse—surely seventy or more, repeated from memory!

Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, on Mothercraft, emphasized the fact that in all our talk of under-nourishment, we also emphasize the fallacy of overeating as well as undereating! She begged that we keep children away from moving pictures that we did not know about—as deeds of violence and cruelty pictured to their impressionable minds not only were the cause of so much youthful crime, but were bad for them nervously.

Mrs. Paul A. Peters, on Co-operation with Ex-Service Men, said that Mrs. Poole had given her such a big job for the Biennial that she had had "no time to write a report for today." She told of one Club that had given bathrobes to every boy in one of the hospitals; she called attention to the sale of their handiwork in the hotel, and urged us to encourage them by purchasing their products wherever we could. A letter of thanks from our Mrs. Corabelle Francis showed appretions of the Clubs' interest and aid. Mrs. Peters read the heartbreaking poem written by Mrs. Marion P. Gale of Winchester and published in last month's Federation Topics. Hearing this report, reminded of our gratitude and responsibility toward these boys, knowing how the Clubs have always accepted this responsibility, and listening to this poem, should have made Club women vow to aid these men to a livelihood, rather than aid in the slightest degree in depriving them them of it. Consistency, thou art a jewel!

Miss Dibert, on Junior Membership, was most serious, and did not display the wit that we had hoped she would from her greetings of the previous day, which disappointed us, but her message was most interesting, nevertheless. The women whose mankind have given them everything material, and also leisure, should spend that leisure not only on their own girls but upon those others who are deprived because they have not the material supporters. Open your clubhouses to them all—and they will not be walking on back streets with dangerous companions to escape the loneliness and heartbreak of a cold, cheerless hall bedroom. Given your protective chaperonage in a club house no dangerous companion will dare affront them, and bringing the girls in will bring in the boys—for where the girls are there the boys will be! Remember that women have always wanted something—it's their nature—that's why women of leisure want some interest. Let girls be that interest—all girls! They want a hat or a gown or a beaded bag. In these days the men think they want a hat and a gown and a beaded bag! Girls do admire women so—one said to Miss Dibert, when a fine looking woman passed her—do you see that woman? I am trying to walk like her.

There is a smile and a tear in this remark, or, to quote the understanding words of Mrs. Clark, the Junior Membership Chairman, "They are so dear and friendly and poised. I just love to work with them."

Thursday evening was the big evening socially, and to judge from the descriptions of beautiful gowns, beaded and otherwise, our leaders in Club life must have proven that we no longer lack the style that women of convictions were once said to lack.

And Friday morning was the big day! A few reports preceded the change of officers, the event to which all looked forward eagerly for interest. Mrs. J. H. Libby reported three of her Clubs 100 per cent subscribed to Federation Topics and nearly 100 per cent in scholarships. Mrs. Arthur H. Davidson told of the fine work of one Club in supporting a Home for Aged Persons, and of another that raised the money to save an old landmark in its community, proving appreciation of our old history and what it has builded for us. Mrs. Edward A. Rice, "being the shortest director gave the shortest report," and stated that three Clubs had their own Club houses, while one had purchased a lot and was raising its building fund. Mrs. F. Otis Drayton reported with pride that the music chorus had secured $350 in its concerts as a fund to start the new season. Mrs. Benjamin D. May, in Americanization Work, urged us to encourage the foreign-born so they may give to us the best they have to give. "Americanization is the business of making the very best sort of a person of every one on American soil," was her motto, that proved her value in outlook and understanding for her splendid work. Mrs. Carl A. Schrader was received with great applause, and said that "time, in the shape of the Corresponding Secretary held the watch over her," which raised a laugh. She is to speak on drama at the Biennial. Telling of the little theatre movement, she quoted a sarcastic comment in a New York paper to the effect that all who were interested in this movement in Boston were of Puritan stock, and that only those who lived in its environs had the opportunity to see really professional plays.

Mrs. Joseph Leach, another favorite with Club women, who could doubtless have gone on until she became the president had she elected to stay in this work, announced the New England Conference as to be held at Whitefield, N. H., at the Mountain View House, October 6, 7 and 8. This wonderful country at such a season should draw all who possibly can attend.

Members going to the biennial were again asked to learn the songs and especially the State song, and Mrs. Smith announced that there would be rehearsals on the train to Atlantic City.

Then came the president's address of her two golden years, with the many beautiful ornaments of gold, and the alloy with its harder side also, shaping progress and pleasure. The juniors were the biggest ornament of the last two years, her memory of these years would give to her the knowledge that should she visit the Clubs in the future they would welcome her with a glad hand. The year to come she declared could be made a diamond one, even better than gold.

Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, speaking of herself as retiring and expiring resolutions chairman, moved the adoption of the final resolution—the courtesy one to hostess clubs and the New Ocean House management—the hostess club, she said, had proven they had a good pull with the weather man. Mrs. Joseph C. Otis was re-appointed by vote trustee of the endowment fund, and Mrs. Smith was endorsed as the next General Federation Director, a moment of some emotion.

Mrs. David R. Goodin, elections chairman, reported 431 legal ballots cast and the President introduced to us the newly-elected officers and directors. Mrs. Kent, of the 13th district, said she doubted the wisdom of their choice in her, and Mrs. Walter A. Hall told an amusing story of an office boy who declared he wasn't going to work any more, because he was afraid he'd get promoted, like the managers, superintendents, and officers, every one of whom worked harder than the man just behind. "If I had refused to carry a tray when asked to serve at a Club meeting I wouldn't be your director today!" was her true statement.

Mrs. Currier said she was going to be a perfect modern mother. She would not say to a Club do this or do that, but would ask what they were going to do. If she did not approve, she would not say so, but keep silent, lest she lose their confidence, or be considered old-fashioned. Mrs. Harding, of Chatham, followed Miss Dibert's advice, and boasted of our dear old Cape Cod, to which we were invited for the Fall meeting.

Mrs. Shrader told how dazed she was when she received the letter asking her to be the 4th vice-president, and when she proudly told her husband he made "fitting remarks"—she did not specify what these were, to our regret—and her son asked her what a 4th Vice-President was. She said she didn't know, whereupon a twinkle came in his eye and she knew she was to be put in her place. "Well, I know—it's like a spare tire. It gathers dust and they hope they will never have to use it!"

Mrs. Smith then brought her ship safe into port, the crew in good order, and many with things accumulated on the voyage—such as the new law observance division. In the hold they had found many interesting, precious things, such as Junior Members and International Relations.

Mrs. Potter, addressing the convention, added Dr. Smith's name, a courtesy that called attention to the outgoing president's husband, where he sat in the front row. She also paid gracious tribute to Mrs. Leach, who might have been president, a courtesy typical of Mrs. Potter's consideration of others. She told of saying to her son as they travelled through Lynn that a Mary Potter, a Club woman, lived there, and that there were two others of the same name also, among the Clubs, whereupon he had asked if she was sure she was the one to be the next president. "You have answered that question today!"

Her address was full of quiet power, and of a courtesy that was a joy to hear and behold. "We are working together in great harmony, inheritors of a noble heritage, and we will grow in power, in new ideas, and in courage to carry them out." She urged that we take citizenship seriously, become 100 per cent registered and voting, as the ballot is a "real intelligence test." We have great tasks that call for the wisdom of combined study, and also call for altruism. You have had a wonderful president, you are taking one on trust."

If anyone felt before these words that they had not known Mrs. Mary Pratt Potter they could no longer do so, for her winning personality, her heartfelt eloquence, her splendid character and understanding heart were portrayed in her voice, her words, and her posture. The Federation could not have found a fine mind, a clearer thinker, a kindlier nature, and a more refined nature, than is in this new president.

Her emotions were hard to keep in check, as down the aisle many beautifully white-clad figures slowly filed, laden with wonderful flowers for outgoing and incoming officers—roses, roses, more roses, red, pink, yellow! She paused a moment, saying it was hard to continue in the face of this advancing file, and our hearts went out to her in the ordeal. Vigorous and continued clapping vouched for the sympathy of all her hearers. Those of us who have had the rare opportunity to know Mary Pratt Potter in the past few years can promise to all others that they will not be disappointed in her, but will know and appreciate their good fortune in such an unusual leader before her two years have expired.

Newton Federation

Reported by Willia L. Williams (Mrs. Francis H.), Newly-appointed Press Chairman

The regular meeting of the Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs was held Monday evening at the Newton Club, the President, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., presiding.

The matter of handling the Christmas Health Seal campaign was discussed and the point of view presented by representatives of various organizations was interesting and illuminating to the members who had not taken active part in past few years in this fine community work. Some question had been raised whether the Federation was the proper organization to handle this work. After listening to Mrs. Bertrand Taylor, representing many of the activities of Newton, but speaking especially for the Welfare Bureau, Mr. Kendrick, who has so successfully worked for the Health Classes for school children, and Miss Butters, General Secretary of the Welfare Bureau, as well as Mrs. Howard Winslow, who for several years carried the Health Seal work to such successful end, it was the unanimous vote of the meeting that the Federation, representing all sections and all interests of Newton, should carry on the work, considering it was a great privilege as well as a great duty. Perhaps it will interest many to know that not only has the money raised provided milk in the schools for undernourished children, but a fine constructive program of Education has been carried on. Eleven classes for school children have been held at which a nurse is present to examine with a physician's help, the children for defects and lack of nutrition, and to instruct the children in watching their own health and development, and a teacher to interest them in carrying out the plans for their health is also present. The nutrition worker has gone into the homes, instructed and encouraged the parents to build up the children's health.

Mrs. Palmer spoke of the reorganized plans of the Central Council and explained the plan for a volunteer service which it is hoped will draw workers from all the Clubs in the Federation. Certainly Newton offers rich and interesting opportunities for useful service. No woman in the city need complain of boredom if she is willing to serve her community. No woman in the city but has some fitness for some one of the many lines of work which the needs of the city make possible and each bit of work done, unselfishly and intelligently, raises the value and the standard of Newton. The new chairmen of committees for the coming year were appointed and a vote was taken to change the time of the Board meeting to the fourth Tuesday afternoon of each month at 2.30 at a place to be decided on by the President and two secretaries. It was also voted to give an additional sum of $200 to the Newton Hospital Fund, making in all a gift of $250.

COMING EVENTS

General Federation

Many prominent Club women from Newton set forth for Atlantic City in time for the Biennial which opens formally on May 25th, and which will claim their entire attention until June 4th. They—and all others—will follow with interest the place that Massachusets will have upon that big program, and the limelight which our splendid representative women will so justly enjoy. A former State President, Grace Morrison Poole, has been in charge of the herculean task of arranging this lengthy—by days—not interest—program, and at that gathering she will be elected to serve the national organization as recording secretary—no simple honor, but a mighty task. The President who has just stepped from the State platform, Mrs. Frederick Smith, will also be honored at this meeting, taking Mrs. Poole's place as General Director. So that, to quote the words of our new State President, Mrs. Arthur Potter—who so graciously paid these predecessors tribute when she took the gavel—the train that bears our Massachusetts delegation homeward after June 4th, will bear two high officers in the General Federation of whom all Massachusetts Club women may be proud.

But observe these further places of importance to be held by Massachusetts during the events of that ten days. On Thursday evening, May 27th, at 5.45 at the Hotel Traymore the New England Conference will hold its Regional Dinner, and Mrs. Smtih is General Chairman of this dinner and in charge of guests, a special one of whom is Mrs. Poole. Seven speakers from Massachusetts are on the calendar. Miss Alice F. Titus of Lynn, chairman of the northeastern division in the General Federation press and publicity department, will speak on "Intensive Publicity through Regional Organization"; the afternoon of May 27th, Miss Alice Gwendoline Albee, State press chairman, will have for her topic "Lessons in Journalism and How they Grew," for Press and Publicity Day, May 27th; Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, State literature chairman this past year and now a vice-president, will speak at the Conference on Community Drama, May 29th, on "Community Drama and its Place in Community Life"; Mrs. Mina G. del Castillo, past State chairman of music, will have for her topic, the afternoon of May 29th, at the Conference of Fine Arts, "Motion Picture Music Aids Better Appreciation"; on International Relations Day, May 31st, Mrs. A. A. Packard, of Springfield, will speak on "Sound Work for Peace Versus Fallacious Methods"; the evening of June 3rd, Mrs. F. Otis Drayton, State music chairman, will be the piano soloist; and at the Conference on the American Home, on June 4th. Mothercraft will be presented by its founder, Mrs. May Bliss Dickinson Kimball of Boston.

All Newton Music School

Wednesday, May 26th, if fortune and heavens smile, will be Fete Day for the All Newton Music School, in plans for luring full purses to open wide, until not even a lone coin may jingle plaintively. May its happy fate be to accomplish this purpose with multitudes of generous Newton citizens, who will be glad to see the young people of talent, but who otherwise might not be able to develop it, have to them—and to all who know them—the wonderful fulfillment of musical dreams. This is certainly the wish of the Newton Federation which is proud to have as an associate member such a progressive and clever preparer of pleasure in this fete. Should the All Newton Music School be less popular with the weather man than the Swampscott Woman's Club proved to be in choosing their dates for the State meeting, it is announced that the first pleasant day after May 26th will see this out-door affair in progress. The estate of Mr. M. Lester Madden, at 790 Centre street, Newton, is the attractive spot offered for the afternoon and evening. The grounds will be open from one o'clock, and a combination ticket, listed at two dollars, entitles the purchaser to every feature. General admission is 25 cents; dancing is the same price; afternoon tea is 50 cents, entertainment is the same; and the bridge table is $4.00. Thrift, which should not be considered, perhaps at such a moment, would advise the combination purchase, if one is good at mathematics!

A special appeal in the Bridge play is the promise that Mrs. Prescott Warren, authority on the proper thing in this game, is to talk on this subject, and will demonstrate in a sample hand at 2.00 o'clock. Those in charge of the Bridge are Mrs. Everett C. Winslow, chairman, and Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, Mrs. Ralph McLellan, Mrs. W. R. K. Mick, Mrs. Edwin S. Drowne, and Mrs. G. D. W. Marcy.

Tea on the terrace—how alluring is that alliteration!—from 4 to 6; Music in the Rose Garden, with solo dancing, from 4.15 to 5.30—doesn't that breathe the fragrance and charm of June?—; a tea dance from 5.30 to 7, with its quicker appeal of motion and exuberance, and friendships; a boat exhibit, with models on the pond, with its excitement and hope and desire to win the coveted prize; are not these attractive enough to call to all from the various Newtons?

And besides these special enticements, there are the various tables, with their array of property that beholders will wish to transfer, and that they may transfer by the simple deed of opening—wide, wider, widest—that new beaded bag, or pin seal bill fold!

Flowers and plants will be temptingly offered by Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther, chairman, and Mrs. Ellis Spear, Mrs. Frederic D. Robinson, Mrs. Edward A. Andrews, Mrs. Harry H. Stimpson, Miss Edith R. Moir, Mrs. George Defren, Mrs. Henry B. Day.

The Household Table will be shown to advantage by Mrs. James O. Wright, chairman, and Mrs. John R. Perry, Mrs. George A. Remick, Mrs. Frederick W. Briggs, Mrs. J. Rollin Stuart, Mrs. F. Seifert Smith, Mrs. George C. Ewing, Mrs. Willis G. Parmelee, Mrs. Jacob H. Randolph, Mrs. Paul E. Hinchliffe, Mrs. Charles M. Scudder, Mrs. Fred M. Stuart.

The Food Table, with its timely and appetizing articles, will be in the capable charge of Mrs. Fred D. Bond, chairman and Mrs. Theodore H. Piser, Mrs. Chester W. Nichols, Mrs. William F. Coan, Mrs. Ralph E. Hatch, Mrs. Marshall I. Stone, Mrs. Robert F. Hayden, Mrs. George C. Crosbie, Mrs. John J. Harman.

Cold Drinks will be offered in moment of desire, by Mrs. George F. Richardson, chairman, and Mrs. William C. Anderson, Mrs. Edward H. Taylor, Mrs. Kenneth Hastings, Mrs. William W. Colton.

To add to the attractiveness of the picture—and to the pride of Club women who glory in their youthful associates, young women from the Junior Newton Centre Woman's Club will assist as ushers and helpers.

And, finally, has not the Fete Chairman, Mrs. John F. Capron, set well her stage to draw her curious company, and to pipe their happy dancing to her winning tune?

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING

Boston City Club and Boston Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the speakers committee of the Newton Hospital campaign; George W. Pratt, president of the Board of Aldermen; Thomas W. White, former president of the Newton board and present Collector of Internal Revenue for this district; Mayor E. O. Childs, and Henry Baily, chairman of the board of assessors. Mr. Smith gave a very intimate picture of the needs of the hospital and the inadequacies of the present facilities. He likened it to a business which could not meet its trade and must of consequence either enlarge its stock or go out of business entirely.

The other four speakers presented their viewpoint of the city's financial policy. The first two, Mr. Pratt and Mr. White upholding the present pay-as-you-go policy and the latter two advocating borrowing for permanent improvements. Mr. Pratt, the first speaker, stated that it cost $10,000 a day to run the city and that with such amount involved it must be spent according to some plan. There are three cardinal points in the general policy the city now follows and this policy, which has been in effect for the past few years, has built up the city's credit so that it is among the best in the country. This is due more to Thomas W. White than any other one man, said Mr. Pratt. Enumerating the three points he referred to as first,—a moderate tax rate (this does not necessarily mean an exceedingly low tax rate); second, a carefully planned budget system—the finance committee of the board put in some 50 hours spread over a period of a month and the public works and public buildings committees also made an exhaustive study of their needs for 1926. Not one dollar is being spent until after an almost painful examination. Last year only $25,000 was appropriated outside of the budget and Mr. Pratt felt that this was a very creditable record and a tribute to the administrative branch of the city government. Third—the pay-as-you-go policy. Some, many, do not know what that really means but the finance committee construed it as affecting capital expenditure and not current expenditure. Bonds should not be issued except when necessary and then only in limited amounts and of short maturity. He told of the improvements which have been made in recent years in the various departments—new school buildings being built and planned for, forty per cent increase in the number of police officers in five years, new fire apparatus installed, and alteration of the central station in Newton Centre, enlargement and improvement of playgrounds including the purchase last year of Victory Field and the new water main being placed on Commonwealth avenue. He upheld Newton's city government and cited it as an example of a high type. Some city governments, have brought shame to their city but there was no fear of such a thing in Newton.

Mr. Thompson next introduced Mr. Thomas W. White, the former president of the board caused a laugh when he started that having "retired" from political life he was at a loss to know why he was asked to speak on Newton's financial policy. He was embarrassed and hesitant at speaking before the executive, legislative and administrative heads of the present government but the question was an interesting one. His view was that the pay-as-you-go policy was more acceptable as a whole, while the policy of liberal ependitures was an individual viewpoint. The question of borrowing was hypothetical and concrete examples were debatable, but in emergencies, he thought it was possibly all right. The city government was not sovereign and the purpose of higher conrol was to keep out debauchery and the budget system was the result of such laws. The question resolved itself into one of paying bills or mortgaging the future. He said, "beware of experts"—he had quite often discovered later after experts had been called in on certain matters that these gentlemen were experts in many things they didn't know. He classed Ponzi as a piker compared with some city administrations. Taxation he claimed rests on the easiest source of supply and real estate bears the burden. Economy and budget systems were as necessary in city affairs as in an individual home. The auto problem had increased street maintenance, police service and court sessions. If the city borrows a million dollars it pays back two million in twenty years. In this connection he told of the widening of Washington street in the later nineties and that the interest paid on the money borrowed at that time was enough to widen two or three such streets. Interest payments this year were greater than payments on principal. He asked the question how much would be left for a city hall with the Waban school built six years ago now overpopulated and the new high school outgrown in ten years before it was even completely paid for. Never buy on the installment plan when you can pay cash was his warning.

The first consideration must be given to health. The water problem was not tremendous, the city was doing its best. A powerful pump will pump most anything through the pipes. The Newton water was fine if given half a chance.

The school problem was always before a city government; fire and police departments had not received adequate attention in recent years on account of the necessary expenditures for other things. A new city hall is needed less than other things but if it is built build it anywhere—it won't bother anybody. He frowned on the idea of a municipal workshop housing the police and other departments, and expressed the belief that before many years the city would be divided into two or even three police districts, each with its own station. If land is taken for a city hall to be built later, take it, but pay for it out of the tax levy—any site—West Newton or the triangle. He hoped that no attempt will be made to borrow outside of the debt limit while the present business administration sits on Beacon Hill. The answer is self evident. He upholds his successor to the presidency of the TWENTY-FIVE—GRAPHIC ... . Board of Aldermen, Mr. Pratt, in his views of the pay-as-you-go policy.

He suggested that assessments be made according to zones. Not being an ardent supporter of the zoning system he felt that certain privileges of making money were taken from some and given to others. Make the owners of private residences pay more than the others for their exclusiveness. This was his viewpoint and as he had no political ambitions he asked that he be permitted to retire to the hillsides of Newton Upper Falls and be allowed to rest in peace.

The opposite side of the question was first presented by Mayor Childs. His first thought on seeing the speakers on the platform was that the situation might resolve itself into a "Webster-Haines" debate with his friend, who always would be his friend, Mr. White assuming the role of Webster while Mr. Baily would play the part of young Mr. Haines. Government was the biggest business there was but the difference between this and private enterprise was that government was for service and not for profit. Interest in permanent improvements was the question under discussion and there were two ways—pay-as-you-go and borrowing. In the past these improvements had been largely brought about by borrowing. This had been found to be the easiest and fairest way of distributing the load. Let the future generations who are to share in the use of the improvement pay a share of the cost—then nobody felt the burden. Newton had always been conservative and has not run riot as some cities have done. He told of how many people prominent in public life had come to Newton to live and that others were coming. This was so because Newton's city fathers had always tried to be honest and that Newton's government was rated as among the best in the Commonwealth. We have met the problems of the past and will continue to meet the problems of the future. Cool-headedness, and a straight course were all that were needed. He referred to the widening of Washington street, the depressing of the railroad tracks, the construction of the boulevard (and how the man that put that, through was called a fool, that these improvements had all been paid for by borrowing and that those enjoying the improvements today paid their share for the privilege. He urged a combination of the two—a well planned program of current expenditures and a safe program of borrowing for needed necessary improvements. If expansion is regular the pay-as-you-go policy is the most practical but when expansion is irregular it seems best to borrow. A combination of the two is imperative, otherwise when all the needed improvements become absolutely necessary at the same time, the load becomes greater than can be borne.

Mr. Henry Baily gave a detailed account of the workings of the assessors' department. He stated that the pay-as-you-go policy is a misnomer. The city lives on borrowed money and pays four per cent interest from the first of January until receipts come in from the tax bills, about the first of November. Then the city begins to pay its expenses. Speaking of health he urged a new city hall on account of conditions there at present. Crowded and uncomfortable and noisy. He could easily conceive of a situation arising wherein not all of the occupants of the present city hall could get out of the building in time. Valuable records would be lost in case of fire.

President G. Wilbur Thompson of Newton Centre was re-elected to that office. The vice-presidents were: First Vice-President, C. Ray Cabot, Newtonville; Second Vice-President, Geo. J. Martin, Chestnut Hill; Third Vice-President, Ira S. Roe, Waban; Fourth Vice-President, Robert A. Vachon; Treasurer, Walter T. Hannigan. The Directors were elected as follows: Newton, Robert H. Evans; Newtonville, Rupert C. Thompson; West Newton, Henry J. Nichols; Nonantum, E. O. Childs; Auburndale, Charles E. Valentine; Newton Centre, W. E. C. Worth; Newton Highlands, Frank L. Richardson; Chestnut Hill, Leverett Saltonstall; Waban, J. Earle Parker; Newton Upper Falls, Herbert E. Locke; Newton Lower Falls, William P. Sullivan. The nominating committee included John P. Harvell, chairman, Fred D. Bond and John T. Woodcock.

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Several things have occurred of late which have led us to the conclusion that a man may be serving the public and his own ends at the same time. This is not a new thought, either with us or with the dwellers upon earth of previous centuries. The truth is that it has been going on from time immemorial. Each generation sees it in a different form—each decade in a strikingly picturesque manner. Nor is it by any means confined to the operations of the politician—that popular scapegoat for numerous social disorders.

We refer to the man of prominence who is called upon to perform certain duties and who combines with that performance a system of propaganda. He, in our opinion, is the man on whom the public should keep its eye—both eyes in fact. He is one who slyly "puts it over" on the unsuspecting people. We would much rather deal with a man of insatiable political ambitions who is frank to admit his aims. Everybody knows his motives and with that understanding is prepared for whatever may happen.

The man with whom we would be most severe is he who has an axe to grind and who keeps it concealed under his long coat or behind his back. Unfortunately, the plain spoken and blunt individual is not possessed of friends in large numbers. The reason is that none of us is particularly keen to hear the truth when it happens to reflect upon our own conduct or manner of living. We like to be told that we are as nearly perfect as humans can be and that everything will come out all right.

We are wondering what the people of Lynn think about their new Mayor, Mr. Ralph S. Bauer. Here is a chief executive who has upset tradition by refusing to follow the lines of least resistance. He has undertaken the administration of his office with a determination to cut down city expenses, compel city employes to perform a day's work for a day's pay and to reduce the tax-rate by every legitimate means. In doing these things Mayor Bauer has no wish to make friends or to serve any group except the citizens of Lynn.

It is quite a new policy for a Mayor, this slashing payrolls, departmental appropriations, etc., and demanding that the city get what it is entitled to regardless of whose feelings are hurt. City employees and their friends are as "mad as hatters." The climax was reached not long ago when Mayor Bauer told the advance agent for a circus that if his show came to town it would have to pay a larger license fee than ever before but need not supply free tickets to anybody in city employ. We are informed that the circus man was agreeable to the arrangement. We will wager that privately he was delighted.

Every circus is bound to be held up for tickets by city officials, members of the city government and city employes. The circuses expect it and make provision for it. It is what they refer themselves to as "legitimate graft." As a matter of fact, however, a circus would prefer to pay a higher license and not distribute free tickets.

The idea in Mayor Bauer's mind is that the city itself is getting something from the higher license fee, while with a lower license fee and passes for city officials the taxpayers lost out. This is only one of the many ways in which Mayor Bauer has put his foot down. People in Lynn, especially those familiar with city management, can tell you numerous details.

Now then, here is a Mayor who is not seeking public applause and not trying to be a good fellow wherever he goes and under all circumstances. On the other hand he is plain-spoken, perhaps, in his treatment of certain so-called delicate questions. But he is running the city on business principles and not with an idea of reelection. Isn't this a novelty in these days? Just what do you think will be the result? Will the people show they appreciate honest efforts by a blunt, straight-from-the-shoulder executive, or will they display a preference for the time-honored, easy-going, good-fellow stuff, which is so much more costly to the taxpayer?

There is a real reason for the indignation of State foresters and fire wardens against the carelessness, the heedlessness and the—well, you know the word we mean—of picnickers, automobilists, "petting parties" and the like. They have wrought great havoc in Massachusetts by setting fires in the woods, thus causing tremendous damage both to lumber and barns and dwellings. We are with any legislation that will put a stop to it even it it means that auto licenses will be revoked of those found guilty of this offence.

Not alone is this the situation in Massachusetts. All over the country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Ginter to the Economy, is the annual battle on between shiftless tourists and property owners. Public guardians of the same are held accountable and it is asking a good deal for an ordinarily small force to try to keep after thousands of people daily.

The state of mind which makes one indifferent to the consequences of a forest fire is but little different from that which causes one to create litter after an outdoor spread. We believe that the people who will drive off, leaving papers, empty bottles, boxes and what not scattered here, there and everywhere on the landscape would just as soon start a forest fire from a cigarette or a match. The only reason, in our opinion that many of them don't is the fact they never use cigarettes and have therefore no use for matches.

How often are children told, "You mustn't ask questions." No doubt many of our readers heard the same thing when they were young. The idea then and the idea at present was and is to discourage inquisitiveness With what success the attempt then or the attempt in this day and generation met or meets is far beyond us to compute. We doubt if there is much in it, anyway.

The asking of questions is a very human trait and not confined by any means to juveniles. The thirst for knowledge is a dignified yearning while the thirst for gossip is just plain anxiety to mind the business of somebody else without good reason. Therefore, questions are asked at as early an age as the child masters the power of speech. It ends when the indivdiual ceases to exert any powers whatever.

But what most impresses us is the character of questions propounded in the public prints of men who have become famous for disseminating their opinions. We have been reading of late much of the material printed in connection with the queries answered by a prominent clergyman. It is not the character of his replies that has made us wonder; it is the wide variety of the questions. Those who look for knowledge apparently have an idea there is nothing that cannot be answered—no social, economic, religious, political, domestic or general subject beyond the scope of human intelligence .

Well, perhaps it is so. Perhaps one man knows everything or pretty near everything. Just think what his background must be! However, that is not the point, as we said before. The point is, how many different notions strike people. Gosh, what don't they think of and what questions they ask! How can children be called to account for inquisitiveness when their elders are a thousand times more inquisitive?

We are glad to see men's straw hast in fashion—or at least slowly coming into fashion again. We admire the courage of those who put on their straw headgear May 15 and went about as if the air was balmy and the sun shining down. It takes some nerve to keep abreast of the styles. It is a simple matter to trail behind, but to be the first one in your community to step out with a straw lid on the first day for straw-lid stepping is more than commonplace. We are firm in our admiration for the courage of such an individual.

Any man who can wear the first straw hat of the season with indifference is worthy of a great deal more credit than he receives. To stand the stares of men and women on all sides and pretend not to feel embarrassed—well, that is an art which few have attained.

Sixty Chicago ministers have agreed to conduct services on the street corners in an effort to reach the ears and the hearts of those people who refuse to enter churches. These earnest preachers have a firm belief that they can thus bring religion to an irreligious class. We wish that Bert Leston Taylor, the famous humorist, were alive. He would have his comment to make as a resident of Chicago. The circumstances of the present situation recall a famous saying of B. L. T., "I wonder if the well-known human race is worthy saving?"

CAMPING 1926

This summer promises to be the greatest camping season of them all. On June 25th there will be 125 campers and leaders who will make the trip to East Brookfield to open the 1926 season of Camp Frank A. Day, which is under the auspices of The Newton Y. M. C. A. This year the camp will be in charge of Mr. Clyde G. Hess, Boys' Work Secretary of The Newton Y. M. C. A. Milton Edgar, Dartmouth '27 will be Senior Divisional Leader, and Dwight Shepler of Williams '27 will have charge of the Junior Division.

Men are now at work under the direction of the Camp Committee building new steps from the pavilion to the swimming beach, repairing the dining room, and getting everything in readiness for the opening of camp, now only six weeks away.

From now until the camp opens, every week-end groups of young men will be at Camp Day under competent leadership for recreation and worth while Sunday conferences. On May 21st and 23rd the Whitney Class of Watertown and the Watertown Hi-Y Club will be at Camp under the leadership of Mr. Martin Campbell. On May 28th and 30th the Newton Hi-Y Club with Mr. Hess as leader will be at camp. On June 5th and 6th a group from the West Newton Congregational Church under the leadership of Max Kattwinkel will go to the camp, and on June 12th and 13th, the Girls' Class under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Pinkham of Watertown will use the camp. On June 18th and 20th the Junior leaders of The Newton Y. M. C. A. will have an outing under the direction of Mr. Simmons, Physical Director of the Y. M. C. A.

If any other leaders of boys are interested in planning worth-while outings of this kind, please call up Mr. Bascom at The Newton Y. M. C. A.

All over the United States boys and girls are preparing to go to camp this summer and some who have taken the trouble to estimate have predicted that more than 1,000,000 boys and girls will be in the 6,000 camps this year under the direction of various organizations interested in building up character of American youth.

Mr. H. W. Gibson, State Boys' Secretary of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, has been chosen President of The National Camp Directors' Association. He is also a Director of Camp Beckett in the Berkshires where some of our Newton boys go every summer. Camping already is becoming part of the Education movement. Many teachers are taking up the study of camp leadership. Columbia University, Harvard, Boston University, Goucher College, and Western Reserve have included a study of camp management in their curricula, and Harvard offers a degree for a thesis on the subject, "Camping as an Educational Facility."

Within the last ten years the number of boys in Young Men's Christian Association camps has quadrupled. Last year the Association had 103,153 boys and young men enrolled and the Y. W. C. A. had 101,957 girls. The only organization which had more campers than the Y. M. C. A. was the Boy Scouts of America with 259,702, while the Girl Scouts and the Campfire Girls had 22,301 and 17,626 campers respectively.

EULOGY FOR MISS LELAND

The Lincoln Park Baptist Church held its annual meeting on May 5, preceded by an enjoyable supper.

Routine business, was transacted, including the report of several committees, election of officers for the ensuing year, and an amendment to the By-Laws.

The following eulogy of Miss Minerva E. Leland, a teacher in the Newton High School for nearly a half century, who died January 7, 1926, was read:

"The Lincoln Park Baptist Church has lost in the last few months one of its members, whose life has been builded into the church for more years than some of us realize.

"It seems fitting at this first annual meeting without her that some recognition of Miss Leland's service for this church be made.

"Brought in the church as a little girl, she devoted her life from the beginning to its activities. She served the church in such a variety of ways—not only as church clerk for several years, but as president of the Missionary Circle for many years. In the Sunday School, too, her influence was felt for years as an inspiring teacher, and then as her strength failed, she took a less onerous position but served to the end as a careful, painstaking secretary.

"Sweet in her spirit, keen of mind—those of us who have heard her speak in this room, will never forget the quiet force of all that she said—unselfish and even sacrificial in her service, she gave to the church, which she loved because it was her father's church, more than can be summed up in a brief account.

"We could speak of her untiring devotion to duty, her wide and gracious influence upon the youth of this city, her generous giving of herself to her friends, but it is enough to hold in grateful and happy remembrance, all that she was and that she gave to the church.

"As fellow members of her church, we desire to place on record our deep gratitude to God for her useful and devoted life among us for so many years."

The following officers and committees were elected:—

Moderator, J. H. Barber; Clerk, A. M. Teulon; Treasurer of Church Support, Herman A. Foster; Treasurer of Beneficence, C. E. Kimball; Supt. of the Bible School, Miss Olive K. Burrison; Auditors, Miss Ellen Anderson, Mrs. W. A. Sweatt; Deacons, C. E. A. Peck, A. A. Foster, A. M. Teulon, C. T. Harrington.

INTERIOR DECORATING

In order to bring the newest ideas in home decoration before the people of this and other communities, Wadsworth Howland Co., Inc., has arranged to conduct a series of Interior Decorating demonstrations throughout the United States. The people of Newton are to be congratulated that one of these demonstrations will take place at the store of Moore & Moore on May 28th, 29th, June 1st.

A factory expert will be present in the Moore & Moore store to give general advice and suggestions on the newest ideas of refinishing walls, floors, woodwork and furniture. She has been especially trained for this work and her presence here makes available to the women of this community practically a free course in Interior Decorating.

A Pathex Motion Picture Camera free.

Another feature of the demonstration that is sure to arouse a great deal of interest will be a new and interesting kind of contest to see who can plan the best color scheme for the Bay State Model House.

Contest blanks will be provided to all who request them during the demonstration.

At the end of the contest the judges—Moore & Moore, the Factory Expert and the Bay State Sales Representative will judge the winner, who will receive a wonderful Pathex Motion Picture Camera, absolutely free.

MR. FISHER BURIED

The spacious residence of the late Oliver M. Fisher on Franklin street, Newton, was filled to the utmost at the funeral service held last Saturday afternoon. Delegations were present from the many business, fraternal and philanthropic organizations to which, during his long and useful life, he had been devoted.

Rev. Chester A. Drummond, pastor of Channing church, officiated, and a male quartet sang "Still, Still with Thee," "Come unto Me" and "Peace Perfect Peace."

The pallbearers were John S. Kent of Brockton, treasurer of the M. A. Packard Company; Hon. Alonzo R. Weed, Charles E. Riley, Frederick W. Stone and Joseph B. Jamieson, all of Newton, and Ernest Adams of Providence, representing the American Unitarian Association.

The burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

BOY SCOUT RALLY

Newton Troops Give a Splendid Exhibition of Scout Work on Claflin Field, Newtonville

The Annual Spring Rally took place Saturday, May 22nd, and was won by Troop 4 of Newton Highlands, with a total of 27 points. Troop 5, Newton Centre, was second with 23 points, and Troop 1 of Newtonville, third with 22 points. Troop 4 has won the Irwin silver cup each year since 1920, except one year when it was held by Troop 7 at West Newton, it goes to them again this year for the fifth time. Troops 14 of Newton Upper Falls, 7 of West Newton, and 11 of Newton each won points in the rally, but not enough to give them "place." An inspiring feature was that Troop 4 of Newton Highlands and Troop 14 of Newton Upper Falls each had in attendance all of the Scouts registered in these troops.

By events the score was as follows:

Event 1, making fire without matches, Scout Collins of Troop 4, won first place, second and third place being taken by Troops 5 and 7 respectively.

Event 2, antelope race, was won by Troop 1 of Newtonville, with no second or third place.

Event 3, Semaphore signaling, Troops 1 and 4 tied for first place, no third place.

Event 4, Morse signaling was won by Troop 5 of Newton Centre with Troops 1 and 7 in the second place.

Event 5, Water boiling, was won by Scout Collins of Troop 4, with Troop 14 and 5 in second and third place, respectively.

Event 6, First aid contest, was won by Troop 1 of Newtonville with Troops 5 and 4 in second and third place, respectively.

Event 7, Knot tying was won by Troop 1 of Newtonville with Troop 4 in second place, no third place.

Event 8, Troop drill was won by Troop 4 of Newton Highlands with Troop 5 and 1 in second and third place respectively.

For highest percentage of attendance Troops 4 and 14 were each given a first place count making, it is believed, a record for two troops being 100 per cent present.

A particularly interesting "stunt" was put on by Troop 10 of Waban, a bicycle squad which was drilled entirely by hand signals. Mr. J. M. Woodbridge, Jr., Deputy Commissioner, also directed a stave drill demonstration which indicated the action to be taken by couts in holding back crowds while at the same time the squad was taking care of a supposedly wounded scout in the foreground.

The rally was in charge of the committee composed of Mr. Marshall I. Stone, chairman; Mr. J. M. Woodbridge, Jr., Mr. Frank E. Lichtenthaeler, and Mr. Richards W. Carpenter with Mr. Jerome M. Carley, Scout Executive, Member Ex Officio. The judges were Mr. James C. Irwin, Major A. B. Hitchcock, and Mr. Everett W. Varney, assisted by observers as follows: Mr. Charles H. Woodworth, Mr. Rens Schirmer, Mr. Robert Irwin, Mr. George Crosbie. The inspecting party in addition to Scout officials and mem-

CONTRACTS AWARDED

The aldermen held a special meeting last evening to appropriate money for the construction of the new junior high school at West Newton, which will be known as the Levi F. Warren School. Levi F. Warren was for many years principal of the Peirce School. The amount appropriated was $448,-563.04. Of this sum $400,000 will be raised by a bond issue and the balance will come from the tax levy of this year. The meeting started at 7.55 and six minutes later, the aldermen retired as a committee of the whole, thus drawing the veil of secrecy over their deliberations. Perhaps, some day, the benighted public may have advanced to such a degree of intelligence, that it will be proper and feasible to have city affairs discussed openly, but at present, the aldermen deem it expedient to argue matters involving any considerable expenditure of the taxpayers' money in private. The members of the Board who attended the meeting were Aldermen George Pratt, Baker, Hawkins, Hinckley, O'Connell, Norman Pratt, Madden, Weeks, Gordon, Hodgdon, Collins, Fitts, Grebenstein, Favinger, and Noone.

The $448,563.04 appropriated does not include the cost of the grading of the school grounds or the equipment of the building. Neither does it include the total cost of construction. In keeping with the practice, which has been adopted in the building of new schools in Newton in recent years, many items were deferred in the building contracts. These aggregate $113,781.31. So, it can be seen that

The Entire City Is Being Canvassed This Week and $838,197 Was Reported Last Night Already Pledged

With a grand total of $838,197 as the result of the work of the 600 or more workers, the Newton Hospital campaign closed its fourth day of intensive activity last night with an outburst of enthusiasm. The report dinner at the Newton Armory, attended by about 500 workers, was made memorable by the fact that the women's division passed their goal of $30,000 with $1,470 to spare, and that the doctors, who are pledged to raise $15,000 for the equipping of the new operating pavilion, reached a grand total of $20,-806.

As matters stand at the end of the fourth day of work, the grand total for the women's division is $31,470, the nurses' grand total is $14,142, the doctors' total is $20,806, and the aggregate grand total for all teams is $213,301. The grand total of special gifts, including $10,000 reported last night, is $620,000.

The total by ward divisions at the close of Thursday night's meeting is as follows: Wards 1 and 7 (Newton) $30,749; Ward 2 (Newtonville), $28,-553; Ward 3 (West Newton), $50,405; Ward 4 (Auburndale and Newton Lower Falls), $19,423; Ward 5 (Newton Highlands, Newton Lower Falls and Waban), $32,415; Ward 6 (Newton Centre and Chestnut Hill), $41,082.

Last night's report by the women and the doctors were banner reports for both divisions, the women's division reporting $12,071, and the doctors announcing $7,486. Before the grand totals for these divisions were announced the members of these divisions were asked to stand, and when the totals were read the great hall fairly rocked with applause and cheers.

The total reported for last night was $71,701. This included $61,701 from the teams of women, men, nurses and doctors, and $10,000 from the committee on special gifts.

The total for Thursday night was fairly comparable to the totals read on the previous report nights. The first report meeting on Monday night was a banner night, included as it did $550,000 from the special gifts committee, a grand total of $612,443 being announced. At the second report meeting on Tuesday night $74,734, including $25,000 from the special gifts was reported. On Wednesday night, the third report night, a grand total of $79,319 was recorded on the huge blackboard.

Many records have been established in the campaign so far. The working organization, consisting of 660 team workers and special prospect committeemen, is said to be the largest volunteer organization ever set up for a hospital campaign in the United

TWILIGHT LEAGUE NOTES

Johnny MacLaughlin pitched the Highlands A. A. to a 9 to 5 win over the West Newton A. C. in a Twi-league game Tuesday night at Newton Highlands. The colored boys could not do very much with the former Saxony pitcher's delivery.

West Newton A. C. won a Twi-league game 9 to 6 from the Auburndale nine by beating them at their own game Monday night on the West Newton common. Auburndale resorted to the bunting game and West Newton tried the same tactics with better success. Ward's home run with two on put the game on ice for the colored team.

The Newton Pals staged a seventh inning rally netting them seven runs for a 7 to 3 victory over the Newton Centre Cardinals in a Twi-league game Tuesday night at the Newton Centre playground. Murphy's triple with the bases loaded was the feature. Mahoney held the home team to four hits. All three of the Cardinals' runs were scored in the opening inning.

Bernie's All-Stars won their opening league game last Friday night by defeating the West Newton A. C. 3 to 2 on the Upper Falls playground. Both teams were dissatisfied with the umpiring.

Earnshaw won a close game for Bernie's All-Stars at Victory Field Tuesday night 7-5.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

EVERETT WINS IN ELEVENTH

Everett high won an 11 inning battle with Newton high last Saturday afternoon at Everett, 5 to 4. The victory put Everett in first place in the league and Newton dropped to second. The game was marked by brilliant playing, although carelessness cost the orange and black the game. A rally in the ninth by Coach Dickinson's outfit tied the score and had the winning run on second but Newton's wrecking crew failed to connect safely.

The first inning opened auspiciously for Newton. Shaw smashed out a double. Proctor laid down a nice bunt and was safe at first on the first-sacker's error. Shaw going to third. Captain McCullough doubled to left centre scoring them both. Gilligan fanned, Holbrook flied out but Spain scored his captain with a single. McCleary, playing right field, was the third out.

Everett came right back with four runs in their first turn at bat. McLeish beat out a grounder to Spain. Bleiler hit to Proctor who tried to catch McLeish at second. His throw pulled Spain off the bag and Spain's throw to first was wild and both runners moved up another bag. Rice scored both with a single. Dragone followed with a double that scored Rice. DeMott was sale on Holbrook's slip and Tobey was safe on a play to second that failed to retire DeMott. Graffam fanned after Dragone was nailed at the plate but Sparkman atoned for his error by connecting for a single scoring DeMott.

The score remained the same until the ninth. Newton had a chance to score in the second with the bases filled but a force play shut them out. Poor base-running on Newton's part was responsible for no runs being scored in this frame. In the ninth with one out Pickard singled but was retired at second on Shaw's grounder. Shaw scored when Proctor lined out a two-base hit. The next batters for Newton were easy outs.

Shaw saved an Everett score in the tenth when he made a spectacular running catch of DeMott's blow which, had it got away, would have been good for two bases.

Newton started out in the eleventh with determinaiton. Spain singled and went to second on Whitmore's out at first. Pickard singled sending Spain to third. Shaw went out and Proctor forced Pickard at second for the third out. For Everett DeMott flied to McCullough. Tobey doubled. Spain allowed Graham's easy bounder to roll between his legs and Tobey crossed the plate with the winning run.

MEDFORD TOPS NEWTON

Medford high won its second game of the season from Newton high Wednesday afternoon at Medford, 10 to 4. Connors of Medford allowed but six hits three of which came from Johnny Proctor's bat. Connors ha dbut one bad inning, the first, in which a pass, an error, and three hits produced three runs for the orange and black.

After that Newton went runless until the ninth when two errors and a hit counted a fourth run for Newton.

The hitting of Bud Edgerly of Medford was the feature of the game. The Medford star connected safely four times out of five trips to the plate. A two-bagger, a triple and two singles was his day's accomplishment. He counted three times himself and his hits sent four other teammates over the rubber. Newton contributed five errors behind Hanscom and Don Wilson who were touched for ten hits.

John Proctor connected for a triple and two singles out of his four times at bat. McCullough, Monahan, and Warren each got one hit.

SPORT NOTES

William F. Garcelon, ex-Harvard graduate, manager and president of the Mass. Golf Association, has been chosen to represent Harvard on the committee appointed from seven colleges in the six New England states to raise New England's quota of $35,000 in the national drive for a $300,000 memorial to the late Walter Camp.

Bingles

Allen-Chalmers won an easy game last Saturday afternoon from the School of Practical Arts of Boston. The score was 25 to 0. Nute held the visitors to two hits. Practical Arts had 18 errors chalked up against them.

Country Day School defeated Rivers School 15 to 3 Saturday in a Private Day School league game at the Rivers' field. The fourth inning netted eight runs for the local private school nine.

DeWitt Clinton School lost a 4 to 2 game to Mitchell Military Academy last Friday afternoon at Billerica. The cadet pitcher allowed DeWitt but four hits.

Jimmie Barr went the full distance for Wentworth Institute in its eleven inning battle Saturday afternoon with the University of New Hampshire freshman nine. Although he was touched up for ten hits he was airtight in the pinches. Wentworth went into the ninth one run behind but tied it up and won out in the eleventh.

The Newton Pals won an 8 to 3 victory over the Allston Town team on Cabot Park diamond Sunday afternoon. Jakey Pass held the visitors to six hits and was given perfect support. Butler and McLean led the Pals' attack.

Saxony Worsted Mills lost an 8 to 6 game to Medford Town Team last Saturday afternoon at Victory Field.

Allan Shaw played another good game Saturday against the league leaders. His running catch in the 10th was a beauty and his two-bagger in the first inning started the ball rolling. He is a logical contender for an outfield place in the all-interscholastic nine.

Bob Pickard has given a good account of himself in the box for Newton this year. Carelessness on the part of his teammates in critical moments has been responsible for the defeats the young twirler has been charged with.

Joe Kerrivan celebrated his return to centrefield for Portland in the New England Twilight League Wednesday night with three hits in five times at bat. The Newton boy scored three runs in helping to shut out Lowell 17 to 0.

Cambridge high and Latin did Newton a great favor in tripping up Everett 5 to 2 Wednesday afternoon at Everett in a Suburban league game. Newton can tie the Red and Gray outfit by taking all of its remaining three league games with Rindge, Brookline and Somerville while Everett must take both of its games with Brookline and Somerville.

Tom Gilligan was given a rest in Wednesday's game with Medford. Nearly all the Newton squad with the exception of Gilligan was in the lineup. Coach Dickinson used fourteen players in a vain attempt to bring runs across the plate but Connors had the Newton boys' numbers, passing but one and fanning five.

Newton high freshmen defeated the Brookline high yearlings 5 to 4 Tuesday afternoon at Brookline. Bunching hits in the fifth inning brought Newton four runs and the game. Nichols allowed the Wealth Town-team but six bingles.

Country Day school lost its Private Day school league game Tuesday afternoon to Roxbury Latin on the latter's new field, 6 to 2. Whorf allowed the winners but four hits, while his teammates could get but three of the delivery of Nichols. Country Day's nine errors gave victory to the home team. The win also gave the league championship to Roxbury Latin.

Trapped

Newton high golf team continued its series of victories to nine out of ten starts by taking four out of five matches from Reading high at the Meadow Brook G. C. Monday afternoon. Capt. J. Gianferante of Newton turned in a 76 for the best medal score. Paul Gianferante, T. Devlin, and E. Stickney were the other Newton players to win, while Dukelow of Reading beat Nick Gianferante 2 and 1.

Newton high took a rubber match from Lowell high at the Pinebrook G. C. Saturday, shutting out the mill city boys in five matches. Previously the two teams had divided a pair of matches. Newton's loss to Lowell earlier in the season has been its only defeat this spring.

With nine victories in ten starts Newton high golf team has established an undisputed claim to the interscholastic golf championship of the state.

Harriet Ellison, playing for the Brae-Burn C. C. won her first round match in the Women's Golf Association of Boston tourney at the Kernwood Country Club, Salem, Tuesday afternoon. The Newton girl defeated Mrs I. P. Harris of Wannamoisett 7 and 6. In her second round match Miss Ellison was nosed out on the eighteenth hole by one stroke by Mrs. E. W. Baker, Jr., of Oakley.

Lobs

Andover high defeated the Newton high tennis team Monday afternoon at Andover, 5 matches to 2. The prep school team took all the singles. The doubles were incompleted because of darkness and were given to Newton by Coach Kelley of the Andover team. Thomas and Noble of Newton versus Thomas and Sturtevant of Andover were tied at 10 games all in the third set, the former winning the first set 8-6 and the latter the second set 6-4. Parker and Scott of Newton and Huxley and Robertson of Andover were tied at 7-7 in the third set, the former winning the first 7-5 and losing the second by the same score.

Donald M. Hill, Jr., one of the seeded players in the intercollegiate tennis championship matches at Longwood this week, was put out in his first round match by Partridge of Dartmouth, 6-0, 6-2. The Waban boy who is attending Bowdoin college and his partner in doubles, were put out in the first round of the doubles tournament by the Amherst college pair.

Rice and his partner, H. R. Guild, advanced to the final round in the state doubles Wednesday afternoon winning from Lenhart and Smith in a four set match, 7-5, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3. Cinders

At the Yale interscholastic meet last Saturday, Hammond was the only Newton boy to place in the finals. He landed fourth in the high jump for the orange and black's point and a half.

Horace Cole of West Newton and Yale helped the bulldog to nose out a victory over John Harvard in the dual meet between the two great rival colleges last Saturday afternoon. The Yale hurdler and hockey player took first in the 220-yard low hurdles in 24 4-5s. Yale nosed out a win by a third of a point when a Yale man took third in the discus, the last event on the program.

Cole is expected to score three points for Yale in the hurdles at the I. C. A. A. A. meet at the Stadium tomorrow.

Wally Fullerton, Newton high school's versatile track star is out of competition with a serious muscle injury. He will probably not be able to compete agaia this spring. His loss will be felt as he was one of the mainstays of Coach Green's outfit.

Newton high and Quincy are having it out on the cinder path this afternoon at Quincy. Tomorrow Newton will enter some of its leading performers in the Brown interscholasties at Providence.

Only one more meet remains for the track team. This is the state meet which will be held in the Harvard stadium next Saturday, June 5th. Newton has quite a number of possible point scorers, and while no claim is made that they will bring home the championship, they will cut into the point scores of some of the other contenders considerably.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

What is more stirring than the music of a band when something is needed to lift the drooping spirits of a football crowd? We read with much interest that there is a possibility of a 35-piece band for Newton High games next Fall. Not that we expect to find drooping spirits at those games, but inspiring strains are good for one's mental condition at all times, come weal come woe.

A band that can keep up lively airs is pretty sure to save the day under any circumstances whether it be losing at football, showers at a Sunday school picnic or defeat in a political campaign. How often have we read thrilling incidents of war when the strains of a bugle, the roll of a drum or the blare of a full band has turned the tide and made for victory. Truly there is much in this.

When we were somewhat younger we cherished a longing to be a member of a band. That is, we hoped that when we grew up we should have displayed sufficient talent and facility with some musical instrument to create a demand for our services. We wished to walk proudly through the streets, blowing a horn or beating a drum or in some way contributing to the harmony that would put the crowd into a state of marked enthusiasm. As a matter of fact we used to beat our toy drum pretty regularly, and there were those who patted us on the head and said that we were top-notchers in our line. We never heard from those to whom our drumming must have been a source of great annoyance, although they probably constituted the vast majority.

Whether Fate stacked the cards against us or through our own fault we failed we cannot say, but never did we get into a band of any kind. Still, we haven't lost the yearning altogether, and there have been occasions of comparatively recent date when we have longed to play the "traps" as they are called in an orchestra. Now the "traps" includes the drum, the bass drum, the triangle and the cymbals, not to mention the rubbing together of sandpaper to produce the effects of a locomotive under full steam, the shaking of a string of sleighbells for college songs, and the blowing of a whistle to imitate the twittering of birds.

If only we could understudy for a brief period the "traps" of a vaudeville orchestra one at least of our unfulfilled desires would have been gratified. We are sure that we could bang the bass drum when the funny man tumbled prostrate on the stage. We feel confident we could make good, but nobody seems to need us for the job.

There must be something subtle in the appeal of music, for look how it is employed on every occasion. Now the radio programs, for instance, seem to be 90 per cent music, if you can call it music in the presence of real musicians and get away with it. We believe that jazz is a permanent thing, although we have no desire to appear as an apostle of deep gloom. There is a quality of recklessness that reaches out and grasps all hearers. Some people are reckless with their feet, some with both arms and feet, some with arms, feet and head. Others are so reckless they would like to smash the receiving-set altogether, but for the most part those who like jazz like it strong, and those who dislike it refer to it in strong language.

But there is a trickiness in music, too. Look at the circus band. It never stops playing. Of course that is arranged so that no single musician is required to play constantly. There are a sufficient number of musicians which permits of the burden being shifted and the flow of melody to continue uninterrupted. First comes the march with the "grand entry," which brings out the elephants, camels, gilded floats, grotesque clowns, etc. Then the band plays a two-step for the prancing horses and then swings into a waltz for the lady on the slack-wire. It seems a very small thing to the audience but no circus would think of giving a performance without plenty of so-called music, all of which is carefully arranged for the ears of the audience.

We recall a small circus on Boyd's field which had a sideshow as a prominent feature. This sideshow had a band and that band could produce as weird a grade of music as one could ask. It sounded as if there were a group of native Africans engaging in the wildest kind of canibalistic dance. The "barker" would call from the outside, "Is the Congo band ready?" and the answer would be the beating of the tom-tom. We ourselves could scarcely wait to buy a 10-cent ticket.

When we got inside and looked for this mysterious Congo band what did we find? Three colored men, evidently employed at other times in putting up the tent and doing similar chores, were producing the music. One had a bass drum, another a snare drum and the third a clarinet. But the trick worked, as most circus tricks do.

If there is anybody in Newton who has not heard of the campaign for the Newton Hospital building fund he is indeed occupying a unique position. We haven't heard of such an individual and we doubt if, when the campaign closes tomorrow night, it will be possible to produce him, for the reason he doesn't exist. The campaign has been an intensive one, intelligently conducted and worthy, in deed, of splendid results.

Newton is not give nto city-wide movements as they are often called in other places and perhaps it is just as well, for the thing can easily be overdone. In this instance it has not been, as we view the situation. If there had been permitted "drive" after "drive" for this or that object such as are conducted in certain other municipalities, Newton would not have been so responsive as it has.

Again, the campaign of this week have demonstrated what we have tried to emphasize in this column so many times, and that is the value of united effort. When all citizens are interested and are prepared to display that interest by energy, industry and enthusiasm, the result is certain to be notable.

We wonder if the suggestion of Governor Fuller for a large memorial fountain in Copley Square, Boston, in honor of the soldiers of the World War, hasn't set a lot of Newton people to thinking and thinking hard. At this time, with so much public discussion in Newton of a new City hall, the time for such contemplating seems especially appropriate. Not that we wish to advise the special committee of the Board of Aldermen regarding the site of a new municipal structure. We are confident they have heard all the suggestions they need and a lot more.

We still are of the opinion that a War Memorial for Newton should not be permanently set aside as apparently it has been. There was, we distinctly recall, much indorsement of the project just after the World War ended. It seemed that if one person made suggestion of something pretty grand, along came somebody with an idea for an even more elaborate scheme. Imagination and patriotic utterances were running on high with no speed limit set.

Now that the State, through its Governor, has set an example, is there any reason Newton should forget completely the importance of recognizing the services of the World War soldiers? It seems that ingratitude is one of the outstanding qualities of many people and every day we hear or observe some instance of it. However, a philosopher will tell you that it isn't to be wondered at, and that men and women are thus constituted and can't help themselves.

Whether or not that be true it seems to us a pity that forgetfulness and ingratitude should become a civic fault. Cities elect their officers and pass laws by majority votes. Way can't they assume a virtue by a majority vote as well? And why can't Newton display its gratitude to the World War soldiers by a memorial worthy of the city. We are certain that if such a plan had the right start there would be a majority of Newton citizens in favor and that the majority would be overwhelming.

We are glad that by an act of the Legislature one day in the year has been set aside as Memorial Day. If this were not so would the observance be as general as it is? As much as we like our fellow humans we cannot bring ourselves to think they would without public direction, give this beautiful anniversary the thought and attention it receives. Even today, the carrying out of the details is left to those whose hearts are deeply moved by the spirit of the day. The organizations of veterans and their sons and daughters are expected to see that graves are decorated and appropriate exercises held. The rest of the population sits back, taking for granted that there will be a fitting observance of the day. They are not concerned as long as somebody else does the work.

Just how many people manage to dodge civic responsibility is amazing. Memorial Day in the minds of so many people means only a day of golf, a day of automobiling, a day of "going-away for a week-end" or a day of "cleaning-up around the place"—in fact, it affords a day for most everything but that of paying tribute to the soldier dead of the United States.

Of course there is nothing to be done about it. There will always be thoughtful people on the earth and there will always be thoughtless people, and the thoughtful people will look after the thoughtless and the thoughtless will accept all that is done for them and say nothing, not even "Thank you." Memorial Day, therefore, will always be observed because there are those who have tender recollections of the departed or who, possessing ideals, will see that the Nation preserves its most cherished institution—gratitude to those who gave their lives for their country.

NEWTON HIGH '01 HOLDS RE-UNION

The class of 1901, Newton High School, held its 25th anniversary reunion at the Newton Club on Saturday night. Of the 125 who graduated with this class, 70 were present. A questionaire had been sent to all members of the class and answers were received from 75. In the families of those who replied are 104 children. Some of those in attendance came from Connecticut, New York and Vermont. Following a banquet, the meeting was presided over by William M. Wise, of West Newton, the class president, who introduced Raymond Huntington of Wellesley as toastmaster. Leonard Cronkhite, who was a Rhodes scholar from Brown, spoke on "School Days," and tenor solos were given by George W. Boynton. The class prophecy, read in 1901, was repeated to allow those present an opportunity to compare the prophecies with what actually had happened. The class pictures taken 25 years ago were thrown on a screen and afforded much amusement. The committee in charge of the reunion were Marion Fisher, Bertha Hackett, Mrs. Nell Crandell Bowen, Raymond Huntington, John Mudge, William Wise and Leonard Cronkhite. The officers of the class are William Wise of West Newton, President; Bertha Hackett of Newtonville, Vice-President; Mrs. Alice Myers Anderson of Detroit, Secretary, and John G. Mudge of Newton, Treasurer.

A PLEASANT AFTERNOON

Last week Tuesday, "Told in a Chinese Garden," a colorful and poetic play taken from an old Chinese legend, was given under the direction of Miss Bessie M. Stratton by sixteen young women of Eliot Church in the garden of Mrs. John P. R. Sherman on Vernon street. The program was under the auspices of the Home and Foreign Missionary Departments, and was occasioned by the closing meeting of the Women's Association for the summer months.

There were about two hundred people present. The meeting was opened by a word of prayer by Rev. Ray A. Eusden, minister of the Eliot Church, followed by words of greeting by Mrs. George Angier and Mrs. David Black, chairmen of these departments. Miss Stratton then gave a short descriptive outline of the plot of the play. After the production, punch and crackers were served from tables spread under the apple trees and presided over by Mrs. Ray A. Eusden and Mrs. Cornelius H. Patton, assisted by members of the cast.

The beauty of the garden setting, the authentic quality of the costumes, the convincing work of the cast and the hospitality of Mrs. Sherman all combined to make a most delightful afternoon for those who were present.

NEWTON LODGE OF ELKS

On Thursday, June 10, the lodge will honor John H. Gordon, Past Exalted Ruler. Mr. Gordon will be a delegate from Newton Lodge to the coming National Convention of the order at Chicago.

SOME GARDEN

To the Editor:

I have recently come across a letter written some time ago in answer to inquiries made by one C. L. H. in the Graphic. Evidently your correspondent was desirous of starting a garden and needed advice from others who have had experience in such matters.

My answer was mislaid at the time and has only now come to light. Is it too late to offer advice? or might it prove helpful at this season of planting which is about to begin?

Brighton, May 14, 1926.

Having had a garden for many years in an adjoining suburb of Boston I am delighted to give C. L. H. all possible assistance in starting a garden in the Newtons.

As you suggest, it will do no harm to string beans before planting. Use however Adam's Needle and Goldthread for the purpose rather than the cord or wire.—You have been misinformed as to the effects of burning Spinach when cooking. It becomes not Chard but Summer Savory, an excellent herb for the garden.

Your next question is, "Where can I get good tips on Asparagus?" I advise offering the open Palm, the tips usually follow, according to my observations.

Bachelors' Buttons fasten on, not with Snapdragon, but with Ladies' Tresses, should you be so fortunate as to find any. You ask if Corn on the ear is as painful as Corn on the foot. You should know that Acorn anywhere prevents Heartsease. Water in a Melon does not pass through the meter unless you Squash it, in which case the water becomes Bittersweet (no extra charge would be made however, the occasional fishy flavor of our Cochictuate supply being an example in point).

Tomato plants set out later will ketchup with those planted earlier if of better Stock.—I should judge Coltsfott or P(e)ony would make the best Horseradish.—In riding horseback, of course Larkspur may be used; my preference however would be Canterbury Bells, the method is less harsh and not so apt to give one a Bleeding Heart.

Egg Plant begins to lay any Thyme, which is no doubt a Henbane to fowl though pleasant for us. You question whether Cauliflower will make good bread. Why should it not, since Butter and Eggs make good cake? When you inquire if half an Onion is as powerful as a whole one, pardon me if I suggest that you appear a trifle Daffy. Still, hoping I may have been of some slight assistance to you in your present dilemna allow me to sign myself

Your sincere wellwisher,
ROSE THORN.

NEWTON WELFARE BUREAU

Miss Carolyn A. Butters, General Secretary, is attending the Annual Meeting of the National Conference of Social Work in Cleveland, Ohio. This is the 53rd session. It has expanded from a little group of 24 men, meeting in New York in 1874, to 5000 delegates in Cleveland. Many topics are on the program, as Conduct Problems, Personality Adjustments, The Family, Health, Mental Hygiene, Child Welfare, Community Organization, Industrial Problems, Economic Problems, Immigration, Placement Work and Publicity Methods. Twenty-eight national organizations will hold conferences in Cleveland, before, during and after the Conference in order that their delegates may take advantage of the program of the Conference on Social Work.

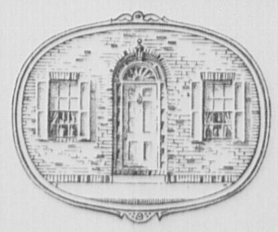
Mr. Kendrick, Chairman of the Health Committee, reports that Miss Barbara Y. Wilson, Nutrition Worker in the Health Classes, attended the Health Congress in Atlantic City, May 17 to 22. This was the first Health Congress to be held in the United States. Seven thousand public health workers were in attendance. The keynote of the Congress was the correlation of health work, national and international, for the protection of the people, which means the carrying out of the local program up to standard.

FALLS DOWN STAIRS AND DIES

Sunday evening at 6.15, Patrick O'Hara, 38, of 61 Galen street, Watertown, an employee of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, was found dead at the foot of the cellar stairs in the house at 16A Middle street, Newton. This house is occupied by Nicolo Civetta, a friend of O'Hara's and the latter was visiting the Middle street house. Dr. West was called and pronounced death due to a fractured skull caused by falling down the stairs. The body was removed to the morgue of the Newton Hospital.

MOTOR-CYCLE OFFICERS ALL DOLLED UP

Talk about your Beau Brummels! The six motor-cycle cops of Newton have been togged out like British aviators by Chief Burke. The new uniforms are replicas of those worn by His Majesty's officers in the late European "free for all." Ex-service men will instinctively snap salutes when they encounter Bill Dowling, Larry O'Donnell, Bob Turner, Jim Goddard, Jim McHugh and Jack McGrath. These six members of the gasoline cavalry of the Newton Police Department are all wearing Sam Brown belts. Most of these demon riders are bachelors, but if they are still in the state of single-blessedness after this summer, it will not be because they will not have made a hit with the girls.



NEWTON POST NO. 48, A. L.

The regular monthly meeting of Newton Post No. 48, now has its nison Hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, May 20, and it was one of the most interesting and entertaining meetings ever conducted by the Post. Members of the G. A. R., Ladies' Auxiliary, and representatives of the City Government attended. A large class of candidates were initiated into the Post, and the Legion Color Guard made their first appearance, assisting in the ritual exercises.

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, has donated the sum of $200 to the Newton Hospital Fund.

On Sunday, June 6, 1926, Newton Post will send a large delegation to Woburn, to assist in the ceremonies of dedicating a World War Memorial in that city.

Newton Post has secured the services of the Knights of the Holy Cross Fife and Drum Corps, of St. Bernard's Church, for the Memorial Day Parade. This Drum Corps is one of the best corps in the State, and has about 45 musicians.

A large delegation from the local Legion attended the Memorial Services in the Central Church, Newtonville last Sunday.

Newto Post No. 48, now has its agents in the City of Newton selling flags for the flagway which it is endeavoring to establish throughout the city, and the officers and members of the Post wish to impress upon the citizens of Newton this this project is to promote patriotism by education on the proper use of the flag of our country.

—o—

One argument in the campaign for the million and a half for the Newton Hospital, which has not been emphasized as much as it should be, is that which states that the raising of this fund will relieve the trustees from coming before the people each year for money to pay off a deficit of $40,000 or $50,000, which has become one of the features of life in Newton. The new buildings will accommodate so many more paying patients that it is expected that the deficit will be entirely absent in the future.

—o—

The money which a few of our citizens think ought to be put into a new City Hall might be more profitably expended in improving our water system so that we can drink pure water instead of a coffee colored fluid masquerading under the name of water. We understand that the remedy is a replacement of many of our large water mains with still larger pipes at an estimated cost of $750,000. We suggest that the water supply is far more important than a new City Hall.

—o—

We are glad to see that agitation regarding the widening St. James street will not down. It is one of the most dangerous streets in the city and there should be no question about its improvement.

—o—

Let us suggest to the board of aldermen that no more permits for filling stations be granted this year. It will save them much time for more important matters.

—o—

Governor Fuller's idea of making certain cities a senatorial district, might result not in "shoestring" districts but in districts shaped like doughnuts.

States. The per capita contributions to date is approximately $15, which is regarded as a phenomenal amount for a welfare organization, and if not unprecedented is, at least, unusual.

Mayor Childs as the only speaker of the evening declared that those engaged in the campaign were at the most crucial period of the greatest race that some of them had ever entered, and warned against being too much elated at what had been accomplished to date, and too much discouraged over what they had failed to do.

"We are doing something more than raising money for the Newton Hospital," the mayor declared. "We are making a better citizenship throughout all Newton."

Among the recent contributions from organizations reported were the following: Monday Club of Newton Highlands, $50; Troop 1, Girl Scouts, Newtonville, $15; Troop 1, Boy Scouts, Newtonville, $25; Troop 5, Boy Scouts, Newton Centre, $50; Boston Letter Carrier Mutual Benefit Association, $50; Troop 10, Girl Scouts, Newtonville, $15; Troop 7, Boy Scouts, West Newton, $50.

The invitation of the Newton Hospital trustees to the citizens of Needham to participate in the campaign for an enlarged and improved Newton Hospital in order that it may serve all who need its services, was considered at a town meeting at Needham Town Hall Wednesday evening. More than fifty people were present and a general discussion of the plan ended in the following resolution:

"That it is the sense of this meeting that the invitation of the Newton Hospital Trustees be accepted."

After this motion was passed another motion was made that the Glover Hospital Trustees of Needham be made a committee to appoint a committee to arrange a canvass of the town of Needham.

Leon B. Rogers, general chairman of the Newton hospital campaign, and chairman of the building committee, addressed the meeting, giving the facts of the present situation and a summary of the careful survey made before the plans were ready for development. "Newton Hospital will equal in equipment and preparedness to serve any New England Hospital and will be better than 90 per cent of the hospitals this side of the Mississippi," said Mr. Rogers. It will be on a self-supporting basis after the additions have been made and are in use 65 per cent, according to the experience of other hospitals. Any hospital having less than 200 beds must be subsidized by the community. When the additions are made, Newton Hospital will have 220 beds. It will have increased its income 100 per cent. It will have increased its personnel by 32 per cent. Our purpose is to provide for the young people and the people with small incomes. The rich can always take care of themselves.

The poor will be taken care of by charity. The self-respecting young people and people of small incomes need the best hospital care and facilities for being sick under conditions which will not seriously handicap them financially.

"We are going ahead with the building plans as far as the citizens of the community served by the hospital want us to. They are telling us what they want with their contributions.

"If the invitation of the Newton Hospital Trustees is accepted and the citizens of Needham join with the citizens of Newton in this cause it will be possible for the Hospital to serve Needham people as it serves Newton people."

The chairman of the meeting, Frank Arnold, president of the Glover Board of Trustees and of the Chamber of Commerce, read an endorsement from the Glover Hospital trustees in regard to the invitation. The suggestion of the trustees is that the Glover Hospital be kept as a health center and for emergency work, sending more serious and permanent cases to the Newton Hospital. Alfred Baker, treasurer of the Glover Hospital trustees, spoke in favor of the plan, and gave financial reasons as to its efficiency and economy for Needham. Dr. Charles W. Pease, Father Smith, Rev. Mr. Mason also spoke for the plan. The motion to accept, as being the sense of the town meeting, was made by Readington Fiske, and was seconded by Preston Mitchell. The motion to form a committee to arange for a canvass through the Glover Hospital trustees was made by William C. Payne.

COMMUNICATION

The following is a copy of a letter recently sent to the Special Committee on New City Hall of the Board of Aldermen.

Gentlemen:

The City of Newton naturally developed first along the line of the Boston and Albany Railroad which runs through the middle of the northerly half of the city.

City Hall was located here because business was always here and business will always stay on the main line of the railroad and on Washington street, until within a few years we will see business blocks throughout its entire length.

The zoning craze that has the people's frenzied attention at the present time, has decreed that practically no business shall be allowed in the City of Newton south of the main line of the Boston and Albany Railroad, which means City Hall will stay where it is as a city hall is purely a business proposition. It is for business alone and can, by no stretch of the imagination be called a place of public assembly in the sense that a stadium or auditorium, or a public park is a place of public assembly. Comparatively few of the 53,000 inhabitants of the City ever have or ever will have personal business to transact in City Hall and those who do visit City Hall are mostly the business men from the business section of the City, and business men from Boston. It is estimated that 25 per cent of the callers at City Hall come from Boston on the Boston and Albany railroad and return the same way.

To transact one's business at City Hall one shouldn't expect to have to go to the geographical center of a private residence district extending clear across the city east and west from West Newton on the north to West Roxbury on the south. The only geographical consideration in this matter is to see that City Hall stays in the business section of the City. In its present location it serves that purpose and is not so far removed from the geographical center of the City as it generally supposed, and as an examination of the map will disclose. There is one mile only between the two sites.

Contrary to the hysterical notion that the former location of Bullough Pond, the so-called triangle, is the manifestation of a superior intelligence as a Civil Center, it is suggested that there are but three places in Newton adapted for a Civic Centre.

The first is in West Newton on Washington street, the super-main artery of the city, with the Unitarian Church and the Savings Bank, and a future auditorium on the south side of the street and the City Hall and Court House on the north side having a frontage of 500 feet.

The second is Newton Centre Square with the Rice School, the present church, the Mason School, one of the handsomest school buildings in Newton, the Bank and the Woman's Club Building on the east side and the present church with a proposed City Hall, Court House and Auditorium on the west side between Bacon and Pelham streets.

The third is the High School grounds in Newtonville.

If you must buy the triangle, buy it, for use as a stadium location or for what, by the nature and contour of the ground, it is best suited for, a bang-up athletic field. It is reclaimed land. Take it as a "memorial" lot and use it as some sort of place of public assembly as it is, indubitably the geographical center of the city, although south of the center of population. Used for such a purpose the lot wouldn't require one hundred thousand dollar's worth of grading as would be the case if City Hall were built on it, and might partially satisfy Mr. Nesson and others who have real estate aspirations in that locality.

The need of the city for the next 50 years, or until we are annexed to Boston, is a modern office building which can be made as architecturally beautiful in West Newton as it can on the triangle site. It is only necessary to take the land on Waltham street and the back ends of the lots on Webster street which can surely be done at less cost than to buy the eight acres of the triangle. The figures of the chairman of the Board of Assessors are not final in this respect.

It is to be heartily recommended that we use the hard common sense that can be found amongst our own citizens who know the conditions, instead of going out of town for so-called experts every time we have a civic problem. Thousands of dollars of the tax payers' money was spent for "out-of-town" experts on just such a "civic center" furore as we are having now inaugurated by these hearings when the Technical High School was built, with the result that that beautiful building sets today with its side toward Elm road and its face toward the back of the new high school. Cut out the fadism! Do not spend our money by the millions for the sole purpose of "keeping up with the Joneses" or for the uprpose of making our neighboring cities jealous. Give us what Mr. Baily has been pleased to call a "municipal workshop" and beautify the swamps with money that cannot be used for a better purpose. Let us solve our own problems by taking the land to extend the present site and by going ahead with the building.

There is a certain amount of sentiment attached to the spot which has been what we might call our "seat of government" for so many years and around which West Newton has developed with seven main streets radiating out from it in every direction: perhaps the same sentiment which is attached to the State House. What would we think of our local representative to the General Court if he should propose taking the State House from Beacon Hill and moving it to the geographical center of Massachusetts for no other reasons than those given by the triangle adherents that it is the geographical center? What sort of a proposition would it be to recommend that the Capitol Buildings be removed from Washington, D. C., to the Rocky Mountains?

The hardest place to get to in Middlesex County, outside of the Cork City triangle, is the group of County buildings at East Cambridge, consisting of the Court House and Jail and the Registry of Deeds and Probate. Why repeat such a condition in Newton?

Boston, Cambridge, Springfield, Worcester, Brookline, Waltham, Providence, Pawtucket, Woonsocket, Marlboro, Salem, Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill, Pittsfield, Fall River and New Bedford and hundreds of other cities in New England and throughout the country stayed with and stood by their business sections, even the Weston Town Hall, quoted by some of our ardent supporters of the Cork City triangle location as the acme of perfection, was not built away out in the middle of a residential section. It was built right in the square where the business is.

Build City Hall in its present location where it will be useful instead of miles from everywhere just for an ornamental show place. It is a business building.

If a memorial park were built at the triangle site, it would retain its identity forever. What sort of a memorial would a city hall building be after the absorption of these suburbs by the City of Boston?

Respectfully,

GEORGE P. BROPHY.

14 Rowe Street, Auburndale.

FRANK EDWIN REMICK

Frank Edwin Remick, who was buried Monday from his home in Newton Centre, with interment in Mount Hope Cemetery, was the son of George William and Mary Paine Remick. He was born in Charlestown, but when three years of age, his family removed to East Somerville, where Mr. Remick resided until the death of his parents. He prepared for Harvard, passing the examinations with the class of 1885. He did not enter, deciding to begin his business career at the conclusion of his high school days. He started in business with Hawley, Folsom & Rominus, wholesale dealers in men's furnishings, and remained with them until he and his three brothers founded a business of their own. He retired from active business several years ago. A sister, Mrs. Ida Remick Crampton, widow of George W. Crampton, died just a month ago. Two sisters, Miss Harriet Remick and Mrs. Augustus H. Childs, and three brothers, William F., George A., and Alfred H. Remick, survive. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Edward T. Sullivan.

ELECTED VICE-REGENT

Mrs. Herbert E. Child of 1146 Chestnut street, is the newly elected vice-regent of Minute Men Chapter, D. A. R., of which society she has been recording secretary for the past two years. Her work as President of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club is well known and she has been honored recently by election to the office of treasurer of the President's Club. She is a member of the State Federation Meetings Committee. Mrs. Charles W. Johonnot holds the office of Registrar of Minute Man Chapter for the coming year. Other Newton residents who are members of the chapter are Miss Caroline Johonnot, Mrs. Charles A. Drake and Mrs. Frank Stewart.

Many calls along patriotic lines are met each year by the chapter and a large amount was raised the past year for Americanization work. On Saturday, June 25, the chapter is to have an outing at the summer home of the past regent, Mrs. Warren H. Gleason, at Lake Boon, Stow.

SCOUT RALLY

bers of the Executive Committee was also honored by having Mr. E. O. Childs, mayor, and Col. F. P. Stopford, Commander of the American Legion for Newton in attendance.

At the close of the rally Eagle Scout badges, the highest rank badge in Scouting, were awarded to Scout Sidney Carter and Walter Brandt, Jr., of Troop 7, West Newton, by the mayor. These scouts have worked long and faithfully to reach this high standing and were complimented by the Mayor for their industriousness and energy.

A certificate of heroism was awarded to Scout Frederick Mouser of Newtonville, a member of Troop 9, by Honorary Commissioner Irwin in recognition of his having saved the life of a young woman at Falmouth, last summer, who was in great danger of drowning. In the absence of adult swimmers, Mouser plunged into a dangerous place and supported the young woman until others could get objects to him to support them and finally got her to shore safely. National Council Boy Scouts of America thus recognizes his act which required great courage and presence of mind.

A Court of Honor will be held at the Congregational Church, Newton Highlands, Wednesday evening, June 2nd. Scouts to be examined must be certified not later than Saturday, May 29th, by their Scout Masters. The badges will be presented at the Court of Honor and Annual Parents meeting of Troop 4 which is to be held at the same place Monday evening, June 7th.

Scouts will decorate graves, in Newton Cemetery, of their brothers who have gone on before, reporting at 10 A. M. Monday at the Cemetery entrance for that purpose. In the afternoon all troops will report at Newton Centre square for the parade which is to be formed at 1 P. M., the Scout division to be directly behind the American Legion forming on Centre street (inner) in order of number.

The dedication of Camp Whidden, the Camp in the Ohio Camping grounds built by Troop 7 of West Newton will take place Saturday, June 12th. Council members and all troop officers are given a cordial invitation to attend the ceremonies which will begin at 3 P. M.

Y. M. C. A.

With the changing of the activities of the boys and young men of the Newton Y. M. C. A. from the gymnasium to the athletic field, two "Y" representative baseball teams have been practicing regularly, and a younger boys' baseball league has been playing Saturday mornings.

The Senior team this year is practically an entirely new outfit, and with its first game this Saturday afternoon at the "Y" field, with the Park A. A. of Waltham, there will be an opportunity to compare it with the outfits of other years. Players who have been practicing regularly and who will probably be in the line-up Saturday are: Moran, catcher; Wellman, Ryan and Hokanson, pitchers; Henry Gray and Winterhalter, first base; Hammond and Rourke, second base; McCarthy and Hitchcock, third base; Baker at short stop, and Macpherson, Varley, Connearney, Murphy, and Pierotti fielders. Games are pending with the Baracas of Waltham, and the Boston Y. M. C. A., for the following Saturdays.

The boys' team has most of the players of last summer back on the team, but with the closing of the school baseball season and with the acquisition of several more players, the team will be reorganized. The members of the team at present are Pambookian, Captain, Sutcliffe, Becker, Pearce, Manning, Hunt, Currier, Colburn, McArdle and Seletsky. Friday night of this week the team is meeting the Boyd A. A. of Watertown on the "Y" field.

In the "Y" younger boys' league, the Pirates captained by Paul Ross have won first games and lost none, with the Senators captained by Fred Wing second with three wins and two defeats. Next in order are the Giants captained by Hogarth Kerr with two wins and three defeats, and in last place the Yankees with five losses.

Swimming classes are now being conducted at the Newton Y. M. C. A. for members of the Association who cannot swim. A class for men and one for boys with free swimming instruction each meet once a week, the men on Thursdays at eight o'clock, and the boys on Tuesday at four o'clock.

With the coming of the summer months which means the renewal of outdoor swimming and the need of a knowledge of life saving on the part of swimmers, the "Y" is promoting classes for instruction and tests in life saving. The boys' class meets Mondays and Wednesdays at four o'clock and the Senior on Mondays and Fridays at eight o'clock.

The Annual Outdoor Athletic Meet of the "Y's" of Massachusetts and Rhode Island is to be at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Saturday, June 19th. The meet last year was won by the Brockton Association but this year Newton is going to make a bid for the championship. Track and field practice starts this week with weekly practice on Thursdays at 6.15 P. M.

The bowling season was officially closed at the Newton Y. M. C. A., on Monday, May 24th, with a banquet, to which the wives and sweethearts were invited. Mr. A. F. Tucker, chairman of the Bowling Committee for the past season, presided.

There was a brief business session, at which Louis Bills was chosen chairman of the Bowling Committee for 1927, and Messrs. C. V. Moore, Hugh D. Chase, F. C. Rodman, and John L. Sullivan as other members of this committee.

Mr. Tucker then turned the meeting over to Mr. John L. Sullivan, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, who presided during the balance of the program. The violin solos by Miss Knowlton and the piano solos by Mrs. Philip M. Horne were very much enjoyed. Mrs. Sullivan was the accompanist for Miss Knowlton.

Mr. F. D. Fuller, president of the Association, presented silver cups to the winning teams and paper cups suitably engraved as booby prizes to those who made the low scores.

The members of the winning team in the Boston Pin tournament just closed were W. H. Haynes, Andrew Kasper, Hugh D. Chase, Joseph Macpherson and Arthur Haynes. The second team prizes went to A. D. Bills, Mian Gulian, John Seavey, Edwin Cole, and Louis Bills. The high single of 149 went to Mr. F. C. Rodman, the high three strings to A. F. Tucker with 368, and the high average of 105 to Arthur Haynes.

The program closed with moving pictures. A very clever menu and program was gotten out by Mr. Carl Swan who was a member of Mr. Sullivan's entertainment committee featuring some of the principal events of the last tournament. There were a large number present and this banquet is likely to become an annual affair because it was so much enjoyed this first year.

Secretaries from the Greater Boston district enjoyed a social gathering at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday. Baseball, tennis, volley ball, bowling on the green, and quoits were played during the morning hours. A bountiful dinner was served at 12.30 by a committee from the Auxiliary of which Mrs. Urquhart was chairman. Mrs. Forsythe, Mrs. Smith, Miss Greenwood, Mrs. Bascom, Mrs. Sylvia, and Mrs. Irving were on the committee.

Mr. Fred Smith, general secretary at Wakefield, had charge of the music. Mr. Carroll L. Chase, general secretary at Cambridge, presided. There were greetings from Mayor Edwin O. Childs, and an address by Rev. Ray Anderson Eusden, pastor of Eliot Church, on "Good Fellowship."

COMMUNICATION

Editor Newton Graphic,

I am intensely interested in the pros and cons relative to a suitable location for a new city hall. While not now living in the Newtons, I was a resident for forty-six years and no one knows the petty jealousies which exist between the different villages better than I . That has been the cause for more needless delays and expense than any other thing with which the city government has had to contend ever since the city was incorporated.

Granting that Newton needs a new city hall, there is one vital point which every speaker at the various meetings has failed to mention, and so I ask for enough space to mention it, because I feel that it is the most important dollar and cents item in the whole plan.

Newton does not insure its public buildings, acting upon the thought that if none of its buildings burn for several years, enough insurance premiums have been saved to enable the city to insure itself. That is all right, IF enough time elapses between fires, but what if a new city hall were to burn within the first few years of its existence?

Is it not a basic question to be considered, and a site selected where the risk of a conflagration is practically nil?

In any of the village business sections of the city, the fire hazard is an important question, and it is particularly a vital one in West Newton, which is conceded to be the most dangerous village from a fire hazard standpoint of all the sections in the city. West Newton village consists of a compact string of inflammable buildings from the Washington street bridge down to the old hotel block which is at the junction of Watertown and Washington streets. The city hall site under consideration is practically in the centre of this line.

Can the taxpayers afford to take the chance?

This committee, headed by Mr. J. R. Chandler, Mr. C. A. Andrews and A. L. CLOSES FIFTH YEAR

At the recent meeting of the Newton Centre School Association, which closed the fifth year of its existence, after reports from the officers and standing committees, and the election of officers, a program of miscellaneous interest was given. Philip Giddings, of the 8th grade, spoke on "The work of the Junior Safety Council in the Mason School." Avis Yeary, of the Freshman class, Newton High School, told of the campaign against "bumming" rides that is being so successfully carried out by the Civics Department of the High School, under Mr. Raymond Greene. The plan is wholly originated and carried out by the pupils. Mr. Paul, master of the Mason School, told of some of the ways in which the home may be of the greatest help to the children and the schools. Miss Bragg, assistant Superintendent of Schools, told, in her usual forceful and convincing way, of the value of the new primary report cards. Both Mr. Paul and Miss Bragg answered questions, bringing out many helpful points.

Miss Martha Wight, a pupil of Dai Buell's, played two numbers, with much style, giving great pleasure to her audience. A social hour followed the meeting.

ECHO BRIDGE
Newton Upper Falls

(For the Graphic)

I span the broad and rushing river,
In pride my noble arches curve
To catch and echo notes that quiver,
Nor from loud thunderous shouts I swerve,—
In strength and beauty joined, I rise,
My massive blocks of granite pile
First upward soaring toward the skies
Then downward droop to rest awhile.

I draw the crowds in summer near.
Mark their admiring upturned eyes,
Beneath my loftiest arch they hear
My voice repeat their varied cries:—
My joy supreme it is to give,
Pleasure delightful grant to all,
Thus taught unselfishly to live
With prompt replies to needy call.

My clear resounding echoes teach
That hearts to hearts should quick respond,
The noble to th' ignoble reach
Warm hands that prove souls feel the bond
Which binds all human lives in one,—
While echoes fall as from above,
Echoes in praise of deeds well done,
Echoes repeating, "God is Love."

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

Not long ago there appeared in the papers a story of a boy who shot his younger sister and killed her. The boy was twelve years of age and the girl was nine. It seems that over and over again the little girl had kicked the boy's pet dog and none of his admonitions had any weight with her. She continued to aggravate him and to mistreat the dog. One day the boy found in his house a weapon which he had seen most effectively used time and again for righteous resentment in the "movies." He had often seen enemies disposed of by one quick shot. He had one particular enemy and for that enemy he waited. It wasn't long before she again kicked his much beloved pet. He didn't hesitate. He fired the one quick shot which was fatal.

There is little doubt that the boy's natural actions belonged in large part to his dog. His sister had probably always been an irritation to him—some younger relations can be, and when he shot her he had no idea of anything but honorable defense of his best friend. The "movies" are like that. They present only one half the picture—they rarely show all the horrible complication that arise as a result of such timely disposal of undesirables. The boy had little or no inklings of the fact that he was committing a crime, until after it was all over.

The papers have not printed the rest of the tale—the punishment that was meted to the boy, but whatever it is, it is safe to say that the parents are more deserving of it than he. They must have seen the little girl's treatment of the dog—must have heard from the boy's lips how much that treatment made him suffer. Had they taken steps to change her attitude the act would never have been committed. But that is not all. Parents and teachers will have to band together and find some other diversion for small boys than playing at murder, defense with guns, and hold-ups.

Angier School News

The tennis tournament has begun in this school. Contestants are requested to wear their pins and be sure to have their registration cards with them.

The Assembly May 19 was a joint assembly by Miss Wyman's and Miss Lincoln's first grades observing "Good Will Day."

There will be a Memorial day programme in the assembly hall Friday, May 28. Mr. Geo. Fiske, speaker.

The sixth grade baseball team defeated the Mason School. The result was 6 to 5 in a seven inning game.

Barbara Hall, Bob McLellan and Vincent Estabrook attended the Junior Safety Council Rally at the Abraham Lincoln School, Boston.

The Seventh grade, Miss O'Connor, teacher, went on one of their regular trips to the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain Wednesday. The subject of this occasion's talk was "Frogs."

The minstrel show which was started has been dropped, due to the lateness of the season.

Mason School

The last open meeting of N. C. S. A. was held in Mason School Hall on Wednesday, May 19.

A good program with an intensely interested audience of parents and teachers made a fitting close to the fruitful year's work of this efficent organization.

The principal speakers were Miss Mabel C. Bragg, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, who explained the new report cards; Principal Paul who asked for even better co-operation between the homes and the schools; Joseph F. Lockett of the School Committee, who stressed needs of the district. Many questions were asked and a general discussion of topics pertaining to school work closed the first part of the program. An enjoyable social hour followed.

In this age of jazz, there is nothing more delightful than to sing the old songs that have survived to this day.

The seventh grade music club demonstrated that fact on Friday, May 21, by holding an American Folk Song Assembly.

Edmund Keane opened the program by giving the audience a short biography of Stephen Foster, author of many songs dear to the American heart. Then his compositions, "Old Folks at Home," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "Old Black Joe" were sung by different members of the club. The story of "Home Sweet Home" and its author, John Howard Payne, was told by Charles Butler, which was followed by the singing of that famous song.

Mrs. Mather, who kindly assisted Miss Merril in preparing the music, then played what she announced as a "truly" American melody by an unknown author. While she played it was amusing to see the hands raised of those who knew the name. A chorus of "Turkey in the Straw" convinced Mrs. Mather that at least that American melody is still popular.

On May 17, Officer Kiley of the Police Department gave a helpful talk on the need of greater caution about the streets. He told how and when to cross and where to ride bicycles. Vividly he portrayed the results of disregarding the rules of safety. It is hoped that the great number of accidents may be lessened and that Newton may stand as high in that respect as she does in her lack of crime.

The Tennis Tournament

A tennis tournament is being held for the boys and girls of the Mason School. Nearly sixty entrants answered the call, but now, by means of elimination sets, only six are left. The contest has brought out some very able material which we never knew existed.

The girls' tournament has finished leaving Margaret Kneeland victor over Regina Ciconne, runner up. The only reward offered is a place on a prospective school team which we shall use against other schools of Newton.

The Mason baseball team has a very bright outlook this season. After winning its first five games, a successful season is in sight as well as the hockey shield which the Masonites won. The Mason is leading the league with a percentage of 1000, Bigelow second with 500 and Pierce last with a 000 percentage. We have an especially strong team this year with two good pitchers and three capable general utility men.

F. A. Day Junior High School

Members of the Illustrators' Club, accompanied by Miss Hinckley, visited the Boston Art Museum and Mrs. Jack Gardner's Palace on Tuesday.

The girls are making plans for a tennis tournament and their annual Field Gymnastic Meet, to be held next week.

The Baseball Team won from the Country Day School 9-4 on Monday. The following are the leading batting averages to date: Richmond 600, Andres 531, Annese 375, Harrington, and Mullen, 333.

The weekly assembly in charge of Miss Williams, was a patriotic program. Mr. Stoddard and a representative from the American Legion addressed the school.

The seventh grade girls baked some very attractive small loaves of different types of bread, which they gave to the members of the faculty.

Lasell Seminary

The winners in the Field Day Events on Monday, May 24, were: High Jump, Dorothy Quimby '27, Englewood, N. J.; Broad Jump, Natalie Best '29, Allston, Mass.; Hurdle Jump, Louisa Mueller, '27, Brooklyn, N. Y. The freshman class secured the highest number of points.

The River Day Races were held on Thursday over a course on the Charles River extending from Fox Island to Ware's Cove, a distance of 600 yds., the record time being 3 minutes, 12½ seconds, made by the Junior Crew in 1919.

After the presentation of diplomas, the Commencement Luncheon and Alumnae Meeting at Bragdon Hall will follow.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

Memorial Day exercises were held on Friday afternoon in the school hall. Mr. W. M. Mick, commander of the Newton Post, was present and addressed the children in eloquent and forceful terms at the close of the excellent program.

Mr. Edward N. Griffin, supervisor of music, was a special guest of the school at the assembly period of last week. He sang several songs to the great delight of the children. The school orchestra played a selection, "Songs of the South." This week's special program number was contributed by grade four and was a dramatic production "Safety First." Other recent program numbers are these:

"Mothers' Day"—Grades Four and Five.
Song—"Voices of the Woods"—Kenneth Johnson, Annie Adukiewicz.
Play—"How the Constitution Saved the Nation"—Grade Six.
Descriptions—"The Visit to the Children's Museum"—Grades Seven and Six.
Play—"The Magic Thrift Lamp"—Grade Five.

The baseball team has Walter Billings for manager and Michael Pagant for captain. Two games have been won and two lost so far.

Grade Six—Harvey Preble, Catherine Woods, Albinus Gaisunas, Margaret O'Leary, Priscilla Sawyer.

Grade Eight—Arnold Seligman, Mary Simoni.

The new teachers for next year are these: Miss Annie F. Doe, Grade Three, Miss Minta Locke, Departmental Teacher of Mathematics, Miss Frances V. Harris, Grade Six, Miss Helen Thurlow, Building Asst.

The visit of Mr. Harry Houston, supervisor of penmanship at New Haven, a few days since was both interesting and helpful.

NEAR EAST BUNDLE DAY

From the headquarters of the Near East Relief in Boston come very gratifying reports as to Newton's part in the annual bundle day. Mayor Childs headed the list of those co-operating by his endorsement of the effort being made. The engine houses and police stations in all parts of the town were receiving stations to which were carried the warm clothing for the refugees. The boy scouts under scout executive, Marshall Stone, scattered flyers in all parts of Newton. The school children also distributed the printed messages and asked for the heavy clothing necessary. This year's supply was marked by care and selection of suitable articles to be used next winter by the refugees. Altogether about ten bales were contributed. This was colleceted by the Clearing House Parcel Delivery Co., and carried by them, free of charge, to the receiving station, where it was packed ready for the steamer. American old clothing has proven of great value in the Damascus and Beirut regions about Syria, following the Druse rebellion. For months hundreds of these people have been out of work and the staff of the Near East Relief has been appealed to for assistance. One hundred bales of clothing have been shipped. For the assistance given so generously by every organization connected with Bundle Day as well as the individuals who gave of their time and materials in this work, the thanks of the Near East office is expressed in no small measure.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

THE BIENNIAL

Club life is one interesting meeting or experience after another, and no sooner have Massachusetts women returned, inspired, entertained, wearied, mayhap, but rejoicing over friendships that would never otherwise have been formed, from their own annual gathering at Swampscott, than they flock, like birds of paradise with fine feathers and thrilling spirits, to that most wonderful of all places, the spot where women from all over the United States, of similar interests and aims, have come together in mighty conclave.

Preparations for the comfort and pleasure and business programs for over 15,000 delegates have been going forward—not to mention the many thousands of Club women not so recorded—and to this end our own capable leader, Grace Morrison Poole, in charge of program, and right-hand man of Mrs. Sherman, the General Federation President, left for Atlantic City last Friday. On Sunday, our president, Mrs. Arthur Potter, and our recent president, Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, made the trip, but Monday morning saw the most thrilling spectacle of embarkment—hundreds of delegates thronged the South Station, gathering — fittingly — around that dearest of shrines in the hearts of all of Massachusetts blood, the Plymouth section, at 11.30 A. M. daylight time.

At 12.05 the Biennial Special pulled out of the station, and to the gay throng were added at Newtonville, at 12.20, at Worcester, at 1.20, and at Springfield at 2.40 P. M. other delegates to the great event. And surely more auspicious omens in fair skies and warm breezes could not have given encouragement and hope for ten joyous days, to these expectant women.

Over two hundred delegates had made reservation for this train, and with Mrs. Potter already on her way to Atlantic City, Mrs. A. A. Packard, first vice-president, of Springfield, heads the list. Others holding high office in the State Federation include Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett, clerk, West Medford; Mrs. Harry H. Burnham, General Federation chairman of Home Making, Newton; Miss Alice F. Titus, third vice chairman, General Federation of Press and Publicity, Lynn; Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, Federation chairman of Art, Newton; Mrs. F. Otis Drayton, Federation chairman of Music, Belmont; Mrs. Robert J. Culbert, Federation chairman of Law Observance, Roxbury; Mrs. Willard D. Woodbury, Federation chairman, of Social and Industrial Conditions, Allston; Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett, Federation chairman of Community Service, West Roxbury; Mrs. Paul A. Peters, Federation chairman of Ex-Service Men, West Roxbury; Mrs. Nathaniel E. Smith, Federation chairman of Meetings, West Somerville; Mrs. Winthrop T. Case, Federation chairman, Braintree; four retiring directors, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Whitinsville, Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, Somerville; Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., Cliftondale; Mrs. James N. Smith, Hyannis; and active directors, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, Waban, Mrs. J. H. Libby, Weymouth; Mrs. Edward Rice, Deerfield, and Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, president of the Boston City Federation.

Other prominent Club women and among them will be recognized Newton names: Mrs. C. S. Marshall, Braintree; Mrs. J. J. Williams, Cambridge; Mrs. Carl L. Watson, Federation Director, Boston; Mrs. William Binley, Wollaston; Mrs. Emory G. Leighton, Everett; Mrs. Clinton A. Ferguson, Federation secretary, Marblehead; Mrs. C. A. Hanson, South Weymouth; Mrs. Charles Wilson, Quincy; Mrs. Joseph S. Leach, secretary, New England Conference, Walpole; Mrs. Jennie Worster, Weymouth; Mrs. May Bliss Dickinson Kimball, State chairman of Mothercraft, Boston; Miss Gwendoline Albee, State chairman of Press, Worcester; Mrs. Daniel Holmes, Middleboro; Mrs. Herbert A. Bryant, Braintree; Mrs. Harry C. Thayer, Braintree; Mrs. Walter H. Woods, Brookline; Mrs. J. W. Rich, West Somerville, Mrs. Herbert E. Child, Mrs. Ainsley C. Armstrong, Mrs. Melville C. Freeman, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle, Mrs. David A. Wescott, Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley, Mrs. J. G. Godding, Mrs. G. W. McNear, Mrs. A. W. Desoe, Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis, Mrs. A. H. Weeks, Mrs. C. J. Horton, Mrs. George Hodsdon, Mrs. E. M. Dean, Mrs. Percival Waters, Mrs. Bernard Early, Mrs. Stephen Wright, Mrs. George St. Amant, and Mrs. J. A. Furbish.

Mrs. A. A. Packard was in charge of the delegation on its way to Atlantic City, a fact that promised well for the cordial reception of all who boarded the train. Delegation badges were given out on board, and Mrs. Burns, song leader at Swampscott, had the task of teaching the new State Song, and of coaching the Choral Society and all Club women in the songs to be given at the various sessions—with the hope that Massachusetts will outrank in vim, vigor, and virtue, and so gain the prize, for being the best State Songsters.

A quite thoughtful plan is that inaugurated in having a headquarters for the Massachusetts Delegation at the Hotel Traymore, so that all lost, strayed, or kidnapped—by seeing unexpectedly friends from other States—may hie them to this Information Bureau, and find out where they and the rest of their party are at! This has also been arranged to be a resting place, as well as trouble-soothing place. Mrs. Allen V. Mosher is to be the comforting chairman in charge of smoothing out such tangles.

And while this special train bore our own delegation, the Federation Executive Committee, and Department Chairmen were already holding meetings at 11 o'clock, 2 and 4, perfecting plans, and preparing for the great mass of interesting detail to be presented.

Arriving throngs were given until Tuesday evening to adjust themselves, except presidents, and members of various committees, whose Club duties called them to various conferences all that day. If anyone reading this mild sentence thinks these conferences are simple matters or on affairs of minor importance that person has only to read the columns in General Federation News listing them—from American citizenship and American Home, to Fine Arts, Legislation, Publicity, Public Welfare, and Applied Education, and on to the intricacies of the convention, with headquarters, finance, credentials, badges and elections, resolutions, revisions of rules, procedure, bylaws, transportation — problems, surely, of some scope, conferences of County Presidents of County chairmen, of State and National Officres, on up to that of World War Service Board!

And then, on Tuesday evening, the opening of the convention, at 8 o'clock, with Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman presiding, with the assistance of Mrs. H. H. Clark and Mrs. M. G. Tull; the latter calling to order. The reception at 10 o'clock, probably one of the most brilliant spectacles, and a most thrilling climax to this mighty gathering from all our land!

On future days of the convention we find the name of an old friend presiding—Miss Florence Dibert who so diverted us at Swampscott with her plea that we boost Massachusetts, just as she vows always to boost Pennsylvania. We imagine her, then, during these moments, making sly references to the glories of her State, to the enjoyment of her audience.

Tuesday and Wednesday were business days with their myriad reports of deeds accomplished, with stewardships accounted for by the many brilliant women all over our land, and with plans for the future. We found among them such reports as the Home Equipment Survey, outline for Uniform State Constitutions, not to mention the greetings and messages, with attendant interesting reminiscences from past General Presidents. Thursday morning was Legislation program, and the afternoon—in lighter vein, a happy balance—Press and Publicity. Take the promise of amusement in their motto: "Short Talks Make Long Friends," and the sly side remark, after telling of "Achievements of the Past, a Six Years' Growth," and coming to "The Present" "really not so bad," wouldn't one know that there was to be pleasure here which would arrest wandering minds, and straighten sliding backbones? Our own Alice F. Titus, of Lynn, on "Little Lessons in Journalism and How they Grew"—it sounds so delightfully Pepperish and youthfully entertaining. Our own Alice Gwendoline Albee, of Worcester, explaining her "Journalism Courses" that have more than put Massachusetts on the map, but have made the General Federation gasp in amazement at what one small lady of big enthusiasm can put into real newspaper "stuff" that's worth reading!

Friday is American Citizenship Day, including our debt to the War Veterans, and in the evening Hon. Gifford Pinchot will prove that "The Law Can Be Enforced." We imagine it's merely a matter of all good citizens obeying it, and being willing to show that they appreciate their opportunity of coming to our shores and being permitted to become American citizens!

Saturday is Fine Arts Day—art, literature, music. Our own Mina del Castillo, of Cambridge, speaks on "Motion Picture Music Aids Better Appreciation." At 4.30 o'clock in Vernon Hall there will be Literary Vespers, a poets' hour. This new kind of "vespers" sounds most attractive! Here Mrs. Carl Schrader of Belmont will tell of "Community Drama as a Power in Community Life." In the evening Art Day is fittingly concluded with an address on "The Spirit of Art," by Mrs. Rose V. S. Berry, chairman of the Art division. The day some way seems a feast of lovely things, only to be equalled in appeal in what the morrow, a most wonderful Sunday, is to give.

Outstanding features of the convention—of which we shall know more next week or thereafter,—include the speeches of Herbert Hoover on his intriguing topic: "What Every Woman Should Know"; (it is noteworthy that no speaker has so far dared to speak on "What Every Woman Does Know") and of Dame Rachael Crowdy, of the Secretariat of the League of Nations, on "An International Aspect of Social and Humanitarian Work"; Princess Cantacuzene on "Nationalism and Internationalism"; Mrs. Rufus Dawes on "Shall the Meek Inherit the Earth?" (we women can vouch for that in these our days of women's clubs); General Garibaldi on "In War and Peace"; Mrs. Schoonmaker, the General Federation representative to the Hague, on "Woman's Part in New Europe"; Mrs. Percy Pennypacker on "Geneva," Hon. William Rice on "Why the Merit System," Gov. Pinchot on "American Citizenship"; and various well-known magazine editors of country-wide repute will bring messages on Press Day, Thursday the 27th.

Our Juniors are to stage a beautiful pageant: "Motherhood and the Home," each episode or period representing some woman or group of women famous in the world's history or romance, an offering to the Club women that will be especially joyous in that we take such pride in these fine young folk, over 100,000 strong in enrollment in the General Federation.

Visits to Washington, to Mount Vernon, to Monticello—the home of President Jefferson, toward the purchase of which a fund is in progress of accumulation, will be remembered events for many delegates.

Special teas and dinners include a dinner for New England women at Hotel Traymore, Thursday evening, the 27th, with Mrs. Poole named as one of the guests of honor. Friday afternoon, the 28th, a tea in honor of the same lady is slated from 4.30 to 6 o'clock in this hotel, with Mrs. A. A. Packard and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart in charge of the committee arranging it: chairmen of hostesses, Mrs. John H. Kimball, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Mrs. R. J. Culbert, Mrs. Edward E. Rice; chairmen of ushers, Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, Mrs. J. H. Libby; chairmen of entrance, Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Miss Gwendoline Albee; chairmen of exit, Mrs. Clinton A. Ferguson, Mrs. Carl L. Watson; chairmen of tea tables, Mrs. Nathaniel N. Smith, Mrs. H. E. Child, Mrs. Charles R. Tuckett; chairmen of first aid committee from public health department. Mrs. Paul A. Peters, Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett, Mrs. Willard D. Woodbury. In the receiving line with Mrs. Poole will be Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, Mrs. Harry Burnham, chairman of the New England Conference, Mrs. May Bliss Kimball, Mrs. Harry A. Burnham, Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley, Mrs. George W. Perkins and Miss Alice F. Titus. Does not this sound quite like a Queen's Court, with ladies-in-waiting for each honorable task?

POLICE NEWS

Saturday night a Ford touring car, the property of Donald Houghton of 167 Woodward street, was stolen from near Norumbega Park. Sunday night Patrolman Teegan caught three youths in an auto accosting young women near Newton Corner. He discovered that the car they were riding in was this one stolen the previous night at Norumbega. The three were James Bell, 19, of Trapelo road, Waltham; Antonio Gorgone, 16, of Cottage place, West Newton, and another 16-year-old Waltham youth. In court Monday, Gorgone, who had driven the car away from Auburndale, was held in $1100 bonds until Friday. He has a previous record. Bell was held in $600 bonds and the third boy in $500 bonds until the same day.

William Powers of Highland street, Waltham, was fined $20 by Judge Bacon on Monday for creating a disturbance at Norumbega Sunday night. Powers observed a young woman acquaintance on the flying horses, started an argument with her and slapped her in the face.

At 3.45 Sunday morning the Waltham police reported that a Hudson coach had been stolen from Earl Maxwell of 58 Adams street, Waltham. Twenty minutes later as Sergeant Moan was driving from Centre street into Pearl in the police auto, another car drove by in a wobbly fashion and without number plates. Moan shouted to the operator of this car to stop, but the latter stepped on the gas and speeded on. Moan started in pursuit and the chase led through Nonantum, Newtonville and West Newton. The stolen car was much faster than the Ford containing the police, but its driver steered such an uncertain course, grazing trees and other autos, that the police car finally cornered the quarry at the bridge in West Newton. During the chase Patrolmen Cleary and Reagan, who were with Sergeant Moan, fired a number of shots, which failed to frighten the pursued. Robert Greeley of 29 Gorham street, Waltham, was the person driving the stolen car. When caught he was so drunk that the officers had to assist him. He was in court Monday charged with operating without a license and with driving while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued until June 2nd. He was taken into custody by the Waltham police for the larceny of the car.

And, an episode that is of great pride and complacency to the Clubwomen who delight to encourage development in art and all matters cultural, the five Arlington children who won the Music Memory Contest, will try to bring to Massachusetts first rank for the nation in this field of endeavor. These five are honor pupils in every line of work, so that studies can not be said to have suffered in enthusiasm for this memorizing of music. They are Sylvia Horter, whose literary ability is also marked, Mabel Tashjian, Ralph Cartullo, from a family of nine children of which three were in the final music contest which determined the winners at Horticultural Hall, Alice Powell, whose father is a well-known flutist, and Esther Churchill, a girl of such marked musical ability that she is bound some day to be known world-wide. There were 27 children in our State who had perfect scores in recognizing bits of music, and stating composers, nationality, and type of music, and it was a long process eliminating to these five. The idea of this inducement to musical knowledge is one that is far-reaching, indeed, and of a value that none can estimate in this early day.

Looking over the splendid musical programs listed for the many days of the convention, one is sure that restfulness, peace, satisfying beauty of harmony, and—lastly, by way of balance and contrast—amusement, even to the ridiculous, will be furnished to all listeners. On Tuesday evening Merle Alcock of the Metropolitan Opera Company was the attraction; on Wednesday evening, songs composed by Harriet Ware, with words written by our poet Edwin Markham were the delightful offering. Such titles as "Joy of the Morning," "In the Old Garden," "The Red Rose Speaks," "By the Fountain," "Wind and Lyre," gave pictures of romance and charm for the evening's pleasure. Thursday was the merry evening in choice of music, and the contrast is marked when we read the titles of these songs: "The Outlandish Suite," "Aint it a Shame to Steal on Sunday," and "Chicken Dance." Friday evening includes prize winning selections of choral numbers, so giving the spice of excitement and pride of the fortunate States. We can imagine—those of us who are not in this vast audience the clapping, the cheers, the State songs which burst forth at these announcements. Saturday evening gives again a feast of gentle music in songs by Mary Turner Salter, including our ever-beloved "Last Night I Heard the Nightingale." And so to Sunday afternoon, in the Memorial Service that surely must be an impressive, magnificent tribute. Martial music will mingle with the sweetly sad strains of religious or national airs.

On this same afternoon, in its most fitting observance of America's day of remembrance, the women are to hear, besides these stirring ,touching strains of music, an address by the Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, Rector of the Memorial Church of St. Paul, Overbrook, Philadelphia. The great steel pier, overlooking the sea, thronged with women from all parts of our land—will it not be a magnificent, arresting spectacle and moment in the Biennial?

The morning, too, will hold its thrill and splendor, for at 9.30 at Vernon Hall, there is to be a Bible Literature Hour, with several addresses on "The Greatest Book in the World," and its "inspiration" in various directions. Appropriately lovely, understanding songs by Mary Turner Salter, the music composed by Isabelle Burns, who will be at the piano, will lend further atmosphere and charm.

A word of the handsome Biennial Programs, that will become treasured souvenirs, not only for happy hours, but from an artistic standpoint. Joseph Pennell, artist of a drawing of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, has given his consent for the use of this etching, drawn for the Sesqui-centennial, as cover design for this program. Surely no design could appeal to the hearts of Massachusetts women, who prize our traditions of Revolutionary Days, than could this one that heralds the proud place of our sister State in those exciting days, and to have it mark their Biennial will draw that time of meeting into a magic circle of memories.

Outstanding events of the Biennial will be reported in this column after the close of the convention. Meanwhile we may all ponder the mass of material in all fields to be presented, and in a measure realize what this gathering of delegates, representing a great organization, is to do not only to them personally, in inspiration and enlightenment and understanding, but to all Club women, and through them to our country!

Auburndale Junior Woman's Club

In proof that even when warm days and outdoors call to us, and the Biennial has lured many from our midst, still there is activity to be chronicled that is indeed worthy of the chronicling, observe this excellent work of the Auburndale Junior Woman's Club.

The Juniors are very busy now dressing a doll, which is to represent Massachusetts at the Sesqui-Centennial in Philadelphia. The doll is to be gowned in a Puritan costume, appropriate for the Bay State, and the Juniors feel very much honored to have been chosen from all the Junior Clubs of Massachusetts to perform this delightful task.

Newton Club women, too, are honored, that such a privilege has been bestowed upon one of their own beloved Junior organizations.

The Juniors also report that in the midst of their sewing and in spite of this motherly responsibility of providing raiment for their beloved child, suitable for such a stately occasion, they have still had opportunity for recreation and enjoyment in attending a performance of "The Oyster" at the Copley Theatre on the evening of May 21st.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending May 15:—Patients in hospital 127, patients paying as much as cost of care or more 64, patients paying less than cost of care 36, free patients, including babies, 27, babies born, boys 7, girls 5, patients treated by out patient department 163, accident cases 8, social service calls at hospital 5, at homes 12, patients transferred by social service car 5.

On Monday evening the Know More Kokki Klub held its regular meeting at the hospital.

Miss Ruth I. Humphreys, the assistant superintendent, is representing the Newton Hospital at Atlantic City at the joint meeting of the American Nurses' Association, the National League of Nursing Education and the National Organization for Public Health Nursing. The Newton Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Association is represented by Miss Gertrude Herrick from the public health group, Miss Hughjean MacAfee from the private duty section and Miss Omo Wellington from the group of institutional workers. Many other graduates of the Newton Hospital are also in attendance at the meetings.

Miss Virginia DeRocco, anaesthetist at the hospital, who was called recently to her home by the illness of her father in Westerly, R. I., is now with her sister in Washington.

Mrs. Herman Goldberg of Auburndale, has supplied the hospital with current numbers of several periodicals.

On Thursday evening the members of the graduating class were entertained by Miss Anne Watters and her brother, Dr. Henry Watters, at their home at 47 Grafton street, Newton Centre.

There was recently filed with the hospital requests for a nurse for the St. James hospital at Anking, China, a nurse for the Chinese general hospital at Wuchang, two nurses for St. Luke's hospital at Manilla, a nurse at the Hudson Stuck Memorial hospital at Fort Yukon, and a nurse for St. Timothy hospital at Cape Mount, Liberia.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

This is probably the last week of the session and the Legislature will be prorogued with a distinctly hostile feeling between the legislators and Governor Fuller.

This has been due to the action of the Governor on the redistricting bill and his many vetoes of bills which were the pet ideas of the members.

Another matter of interest to Newton was the personal attack on Tuesday by Mr. Martin Hays of Boston on Senator Abbott B. Rice of this city. It is said that Mr. Rice has not been sparing of his criticism of Mr. Hays, who is the titular leader of the House, and Mr. Hays took the occasion on Tuesday, in urging the acceptance of a Senate amendment to the bill giving District Attorney O'Brien additional assistance, a bill, by the way, which Senator Rice had defeated when it first came before the Senate,—to "get back" at Mr. Rice.

Mr. Hays said:

"This bill came before the House because of the importunities of the District Attorney and the recommendation of the Governor. It passed without dissent in this branch, but because of the activities of the Senator from Newton, who takes a holier-than-thou attitude and always is holding up his fellow members to ridicule, the bill was killed in the other branch. Such a storm of protest was raised that the next day the Senate changed its position and passed the bill, with an amendment postponing its effectiveness until Jan. 1. 1927.

"The fight against this bill in the Senate was made by the member from Newton, a man who, in my opinion, is dishonest in his business, dishonest in his personal relations and dishonest in politics."

Mr. Hays clearly violated the rules of the House in using this language and it is surprising that the Speaker, or the Speaker pro tem, did not call him to order. It is also surprising that the Newton members of the House did not call this matter to the attention of the speaker at the time. We hear indirectly that our representative deemed discretion the better part of valor, as few men care to tackle Mr. Hays in a rough and ready debate.

The attack by Mr. Hays caused quite a sensation.

Mr. Trussell of Newtonville who has been an ardent advocate of action in the matter of cancer will be glad to learn that a definite step towards control of that dread disease has been taken by the Legislature.

Mr. Saltonstall was associated with Mr. Pond of Greenfield in the preparation this week of an admirable defense of the action of the redistricting committee and which was submitted to the Governor.

J. C. BRUMBLECOM.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETING

The School Committee held a regular meeting on Monday evening. The resignations of the following teachers were accepted: Inez Larcom, Frank A. Day School; Ralph Tower, High School; Dorothy Herland, Peirce School; Josephine D. Baker, High School. A year's leave of absence was given to Cora Swallow of the Mason School. The committee elected as new teachers Susan Olcott, substitute Mason School; Hazel Seale, Junior High; Beatrice Sheridan, Mason School; John B. Butler, Manual Training; Frances Knowles, Hyde; Estelle Ashley Rice; Margaret McKinnon, Peirce; Pearla Hunt, Franklin; Pauline Marsh, Stearns; Doris Chace, Angier; Charles Peterson, Donald Dewart, Gladys Jones, High School.

It was voted to hold the graduating exercises of the High School in the Community Theatre on Friday, June 11th. Teachers transferred were—Miss Eckert from the Stearns to Franklin, Margaret Jonah from Emerson to Mason, Walter Sears from Stearns to Vocational division, Myra McLean from grade physical education to Junior High. The gift of two steel engravings, bequeathed to the Mason School by Emily A. Watters, was accepted. A proposition received from a West Newton physician, to have a number of pupils take cod liver oil treatment, to determine the strength producing properties of this food, was referred to the Physical Director. At a previous meeting Supt. of Schools Wheeler had been requested by Dr. Foster to submit to the committee his views on the feasibility of introducing first year junior high work at the Bigelow School. Mr. Wheeler gave reasons for disapproving of this proposition, among them being the fact of the increased facilities at the new high school. He was requested by the committee to arrange a meeting of the parents of the Bigelow School pupils, and explain the situation to them.

NEWTON VACATION WEEK

The work of the Newton Vacation Week, for which $400 will be needed, will begin its thirty-sixth year, June 1st. Last year members of thirty-five families (100 persons) were refreshed by either automobile rides, picnics, or a week's board at some of the many Rest homes in the vicinity. If any of the friends of former years, would like to aid in giving cheer to some who sorely need it, they can do so by communicating with Miss Elizabeth Spear, 89 Walnut Park, Newton. The use of a comfortable automobile, when its owner is away for vacation, could give untold delight to many invalids who seldom enjoy such treats.

W. C. T. U.

The annual meeting of the Newton Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the home of Mrs. Seward W. Jones, 19 Columbus street, Newton Highlands, on Thursday, June 3, at 2.30 P. M. Special music.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Saturday morning, at the corner of Cabot and Harvard streets, Newtonville, a Ford truck, driven by Albert Brewer of Idewild street, Allston, in attempting to avoid a collision with a Chevrolet wagon, driven by George Hicks of Washington Terrace, ran into the house at 273 Cabot street. Julius Kovitz, 12, of Allston, who was riding with Brewer, was slightly injured. He was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment.

Monday afternoon, cars driven by Mrs. Francis Mason of 288 Newtonville Avenue, and Vito Francione of 9 Morgan place, collided at the corner of Adams and Middle streets. Both machines were considerably damaged and Mrs. Mason, Martha Sandella and Rose Teccia received slight injuries. They were treated by Dr. Petrillo.

An auto driven by Philip Early of 93 Washington street, Wellesley Lower Falls, ran into a car owned by Frederick Ryan of Bow street, Lower Falls, Tuesday afternoon on Washington srteet, near the corner of Auburn street, West Newton. The Ryan car was being driven by Miss Anna Ryan, who had left her machine standing on the road as she went into a nearby filling station for gasoline.

DIES IN AUTO

—o—

Memorial Day afternoon, Eugene Cilley, 59, of 9 Cliff street, Roxbury, was taken suddenly ill with an attack of heart failure while riding with members of his family through Newton Centre Officer McLaughlin, after vainly trying to find a couple of nearby physicians at home, started to rush the stricken man to the Newton Hospital, but Mr. Cilley died as the car was passing the Newton Cemetery on Beacon street.

RAILROAD NIGHT

Tuesday evening Newton Council, K. of C., held its second Railroad Night. Elks Hall, Newton, was filled with several hundreds of members and their friends to enjoy a program that lasted for over three hours. With the exception of some local juvenile performers, all the talent consisted of railroad men. The program was arranged by Lecturer John J. Fitzpatrick of Newton Council, who is a conductor on the B. & A. He supervised the entertainment with the assistance of Grand Knight John Dunton, another "B. & A." man. Among the guests were J. T. Trudden, General Superintendent of the Boston & Albany Railroad, and John B. Hammill, Superintendent of the Boston division.

The principal feature of the evening was the Pullman Porters' Band, a clever aggregation of colored entertainers recruited from the ranks of the smiling "Georges," who preside over some of the parlor and sleeping cars using the South Station as a terminal. This troupe was under the leadership of the portly and courtly J. H. Lee and included a real jazz orchestra, nimble Charleston dancers, and "Shady" Planey, a natural comedian, who convulsed the audience with his antics. Others on the program were Tedd McVee and Marty Welch in songs, Joe Sullivan, Dave Walsh and William Cleveland, dancers; Thomas Kenney, Frank Cunningham, Frank McGrath and Thomas Kirby, soloists. The children who contributed to the program were Masters Kenneth Whelan and Paul Mackin in soft shoe dances, Mary Sullivan and Mary Garvey in folk dances, Daisy Bernier and Katherine Sullivan in a song and dance sketch.

OVER A MILLION DOLLARS

Newton Hospital Fund Carries Its First Objective. The Women, Nurses, Doctors and Teams Exceed Their Several Quotas. Clean Up Campaign Inaugurated

The goal of a million dollars for the Newton Hospital building and equipment fund by June 1 was exceeded by more than seventeen thousand dollars, when the workers in the campaign assembled on Thursday night at the hospital grounds to count their totals and to celebrate the completion of the first major task. The business of raising the balance of approximately a half million dollars will be undertaken this coming week, it was announced, when the special gifts committee, which has already raised $657,000, will resume its task of obtaining a million dollars in larger gifts, and a clean-up, house-to-house canvass of Newton will be undertaken.

When the last reports were received last night it was found that the amount pledged to date stood at $1,017,123. Of this, $351,445 was raised by the efforts of the teams, whose goal was $350,000 by June 1. Of the team workers, the women's teams turned in a grand total of $56,697, despite the fact that their goal was only $30,000; the nurses, who had a minimum goal of $15,000, reported $20,052; the doctors, who set out to raise $15,000 for the furnishing of the new operating suite, had raised on Thursday night a grand total of $30,880.

The total by ward divisions on Thursday night, which was the final report meeting of the teams, as such, showed that three wards had exceeded the quotas set for them, namely Ward 3, quota $60,000, raised $75,185; Ward 4, quota $25,000, raised $30,167, and Ward 6, quota $70,000, raised $70,219. The other wards and the quotas and amount raised, follow: Wards 1 and 7, quota $70,000, raised $54,981; Ward 2, quota $55,000, raised $49,980; Ward 5, quota $70,000, raised $55,507.

While Thursday night's rally at the hospital was in the main a jollification over the success thus far of the campaign, it served as a final report meeting of the teams, $6,815 being reported.

Several unique contributions to the fund were announced on Thursday night by Chairman Leon B. Rogers. The 28 members of the graduating class at the Newton Hospital Training School jointly donated $500 to the building fund, and the undergraduate

JUNIOR HIGH DISCUSSED

There was a good attendance of parents at the meeting held Tuesday evening in the Underwood School hall on the matter of having a Junior High School in the Bigelow district. Mr. Frank W. Chase, principal of the school, presided and the speakers included Superintendent of Schools Wheeler, Dr. Foster of the school committee, and Mr. Francis L. Bacon, of the Newton High Schol. Messrs. Church. Tracy and Lockett of the school committee were also present.

Supt. Wheeler explained the object of the Junior High School. Dr. Foster spoke of the new opportunities at the present senior high school and urged work on athletic lines for all members of the High School instead of work for the various teams.

Mr. Bacon spoke of the standing of pupils of the Newton High School at college and believed that public school pupils did better work at college than graduates of private schools.

There was an animated discussion on the floor in regard to the teaching of languages in the early grades and on other minor matters.

A favorable vote was taken of the proposition of having a junior high school in the district, even if it would lack the equipment and facilities of the present F. A. Day School.

MEMORIAL DAY

The usual Memorial Day exercises of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., were carried out on Monday according to the program outlined in the Graphic of last week.

The graves were decorated in the morning, and the simple service at St. Mary's Church Lower Falls, followed by casting flowers in the Charles river, were most impressive.

The parade formed in Newton Centre square, following a luncheon given the veterans in the Newton Centre Woman's club house.

Mayor Childs was chief marshal and he was assisted by Frank L. Wilcox as adjutant general and Wilfred A. Wetherbee as chief of staff. One familiar face, that of John Flood, was missing.

BROOKLINE WINS 2-1

Brookline High School baseball team defeated Newton High 2 to 1 last Friday afternoon on Claflin Field. The defeat kept Newton from entering in to a first place tie with Everett. Newton had many chances to score, but could not bring the man across except in the third when Shaw singled. Proctor advanced him to third on his single and on the next pitch stole second. Monahan and Shaw attempted a squeeze play twice but it failed each time and Mickey finally struck out. Holbrook drew a pass filling the bases. Spain beat out a hit scoring Shaw and McGrath, Brookline shortstep saved a second run by going over back of third and nailing Potter's throw to catch Proctor at the hot corner. Warren flied out to second.

Pickard was in hot water in nearly every inning but Brookline could not score until the sixth when McGrath singled. Potter followed with a single to left which McCullough fumbled and both runners moved up another base. Nyhan scored the Brookline track star with a single and Conroy sacrified Potter across the plate with the second run.

McGrath led the Brookline attack with four singles out of five times at bat. Shaw and Proctor each got three out of five. Pickard was touched for thirteen hits, he fanned six and passed none. Sondheim, the Wealthy Town team pitcher, fanned seven, getting McCullough and Monahan each three times. He passed Holbrook in the third for the only free ticket he issued.

Doc Mooney umpired and several times he seemed to be way off in his decisions. In the seventh Sondheim hit to Holbrook who threw wide to first. Whitmore got the ball but lost his balance and fell on the baseline. It looked as though Whitmore touched the bag with the ball before Sondheim did but Mooney couldn't see it that way. Holbrook nailed the Brookline pitcher at second on Hall's grounder on the next play, however, so no damage resulted.

Spain got a hit in the second and Warren sacrificed him to second but he was left there. In the sixth Warren got a hit with two down and went to second when the centrefielder let his hit get by him. Whitmore hit an easy grounder to second and the side was out. Proctor got a life on Nyhan's error and stole second in the seventh but McCullough struck out for the third out. In the eighth Spain was safe on McGrath's error but Warren struck out retiring the side. In the ninth things opened auspiciously for Newton when Whitmore led off with a hit. Pickard sacrificed him to second. Shaw beat out an infield rap but Proctor forced Whitmore at third. McCullough hit an easy grounder to the pitcher and was thrown out at first cutting off Newton's vain attempt to tie the count.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

STATE CHAMPIONS

The Newton High School golf team of 1926 with ten wins in twelve starts has established an undisputed claim to the State high school golf championship. Lowell High and Exeter Academy are the only two teams to gain victories over the orange and black. The defeat by Lowell last month came in a return match, Newton having shut out the Lowell golfers in an earlier meeting. In a deciding match two weeks ago Newton once again shut out the mill city team. The championship has been held by Quincy High for the past three years and in the last ten days Newton has defeated the Granite City golfers 5 to 0, and in a return match at Wollaston on Tuesday gained a 4 to 1 verdict. Newton's victory in the first match with Quincy stopped that team's winning streak of six straight, and the win on Wednesday increased Newton's successive victories to the same number.

Jerry Gianferante, captain of the team and holder of the high school and Woodland caddy championships, is playing his sixth year at the game and it is his last for the high school, as he graduates this month. In the twelve matches in which he has participated he has been beaten but twice and each of his defeats came at the hands of C. D. Grasse, Jr., of Lowell. His low score of the season was a 74 which he made at the Charles River C. C. and also, earlier in the season at Brae-Burn.

Pat and Nick Gianferante, brothers of the Newton captain, have also been playing golf for six years and give promise of filling their brother's shoes in a creditable manner. Pat has one more year and Nick two more in which to represent Newton High on the greens. Pat has won all but three of his twelve matches. Jim Stevenson, who graduates with his captain, and Tom Manning, a freshman, have both been undefeated in their five matches. Stevenson's low score was a 78, while Manning turned a 76. Parker Devlin, the manager of the team who has been playing but three years, has done remarkably well in winning eight of his twelve starts. He has one more year in school, as has W. L. Benger, who has a record of five wins out of six matches for the season.

Newton's record for the season follows: Newton 5, Fessenden 0; Newton 5, Lowell 0; Newton 5½; St. Maty's 1½; Newton 2, Exeter 3; Newton 4, Brookline 0; Newton 2, Lowell 5; Newton 4, Dummer Academy 1; Newton 4, Reading 1; Newton 5, Lowell, 0; Newton 5, Quincy 0; Newton 3, Reading 2; Newton 4, Quincy 1.

Prospects of winning the state championship another year are excellent, as only two members of the team, Captain Gianferante and Jim Stevenson will be lost by graduation.

QUINCY RUNNERS TAKE NEWTON

Quincy High defeated Newton High last Friday in a dual track meet by the score of 48½ to 23½ at Quincy. The feature was the 100-yard dash, which was run in 10 4-5 seconds. The summary:

100-yard Dash—Won by Wayne of Quincy; Buswell of Newton, second; Cole of Newton, third. Time 10 4-5s.

880-yard Dash—Won by Baltzer of Quincy; Chapman of Quincy, second; McManus of Quincy, third. Time, 2m., 23s.

Shotput—Won by Sansone of Quincy; Coniff of Newton, second; Francis of Quincy, third. Distance, 38 ft., 4¼ in.

Running Broad Jump—Won by Collins of Quincy; Kinraid of Newton, second; Cole of Newton, third. Distance, 19 ft., 5½ in.

440-yard Dash—Won by Chapman of Quincy; Kolmyer of Newton, second; Minot of Quincy, third. Time 55s.

Running High Jump—Won by Hammond of Newton; Reardon of Quincy, second; Fullerton of Newton and Crofts of Quincy, tied for third. Height, 5 ft., 3 in.

Mile Run—Won by MacLean of Quincy; Schultz of Quincy, second; McCrudden of Newton, third. Time, 5m., 4 1-5s.

220-yard Dash—Won by Wood of Quincy; Buswell of Newton and Sayles of Quincy, tied for second. Time, 24 3-5s.

Bingles

Newton Upper Falls was on the short end of a 10 to 3 game with the Wellesley Town Team on the holiday. Manning allowed the Upper Falls team but four hits while Sezak and Crowley were touched up for eleven. Saturday Al Cross, pitching for the Needham Town Team let Upper Falls down with but three hits in a close 3 to 2 game on the Upper Falls Playground.

Dick Vaughan connected for two singles in four times at bat for Yale in the Yale-Georgetown game last Saturday which the bulldog won 6 to 2.

Wentworth Institute shut out the Middlesex School 5 to 0 last Saturday. Jimmie Barr, former Newton high pitcher, who has been in the box in nearly all of the Wentworth games, played left field and connected for a single and a two-bagger in his four trips to the plate.

Johnny Proctor, Newton High's shortstop, led the Suburban league last Saturday night with a batting average of .516. He stepped out ahead of Roger Potter, Brookline's hard-hitting first baseman, who led the league the week before. Potter is in second with .485. Shaw and Gilligan, both of Newton, are in third and fourth place with .438 and .410 respectively.

Tommy Gilligan was forced to sit on the bench in the Medford and Brookline games with a muscle injury in his side. The peppery catcher wanted to get in there in the worst way against Brookline with the tying run on second base and he possibly could have come through. But Gilligan was not quite right and a sudden twist to his side might easily have done serious injury and ruined his future athletic career. Victory in any sport is not worth possible life-injury to any one boy and the assistant Newton coaches did right in refusing to allow Gilligan to take part in the game.

Coach Allie Dickinson's team was without the services of its capable coach in the Brookline game. He was confined to the house with an infected face. The assistant coaches, aided by Tommy Gilligan, who knows baseball as well as any scholboy in the ranks, did their best to bring victory to the orange and black, but they couldn't make basehits when hits counted.

The Surburban League baseball schedule comes to an end tomorrow. Newton High has had an up and down season. It has played good ball in the majority of its games. The pitchers, Pickard, Wilson, McCleary, and Hanscom have performed creditably. Proctor, Shaw, Gilligan and Spain have led the team at bat. Captain McCullough started off the season like a house afire against Swampscott but since that game has fallen down woefully in the pinch. Newton has had many runs left on bases because of failure to come through when hits mean runs. The fielders have handed Newton's opponents many runs on a silver platter but several times the opponents have been extremely polite and handed the game back in later innings. A successful season is not measured by league championships or victories but is measured by the amount of baseball knowledge a team absorbs in the season. Newton High is fortunate indeed to have such a coach as Allie Dickinson. The Newton mentor knows baseball as well if not better than any scholastic coach in the East and deeds of his teams are known all over the country. Many of Newton's athletes will go to college, there to be developed into even more able athletes than at present. Wherever they go, whoever takes them in charge, it will be found that the majority of them have a well-founded knowledge of the game. And that, in the end, is the measure of a successful season.

Lobs

Henry L. Johnson of Waban, interscholastic tennis champion last year while at Newton High and now a student at Loomis Institute of Connecticut, was forced to relinquish his crown Monday to Julius Seligson of Columbia Grammar School of New York city in a three-set match. The Waban boy won the second set 6-3 but was defeated in the first 6-0 and in the third 6-1.

Newton High landed in a tie for fourth place in the Harvard interscholastic tennis tourney at Cambridge over the week-end. The orange and black annexed six points which was equalled by Malden High. Turner advanced the furthest for Newton, winning his second and third round matches but going down to a 6-3, 6-2 defeat in the fourth round at the hands of Cox of St. George's School, who was defeated in the semi-final round by Turner's former teammate, Johnson. Scott of Newton won his second round match but was put out in the third round. Arthur Noble got into the third round by default and was defeated by Johnson in that round. Louis Volpe was put out in the second round. Charlie Parker won his first round match but went down to defeat in his second.

Newton High has one remaining tennis match to play. On June 14th the local team meets its great rival Brookline on the home courts. Brookline has been cleaning up all contenders recently having won nine straight matches.

Larry Pratt is winning consistently for the Harvard tennis team. Last Saturday he defeated Reed of Yale, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5 in the dual affair between the Crimson and the Blue, which the former won.

Lawrence Rice and his partner, Henry Guild, lost to Abbott and Weld in the final round of the state doubles tourney at the Newton Centre Tennis Club last Saturday. The winners played a net game throughout despite the attempts of Rice and his partner to lob the ball.

Dates have been announced for the boys' tennis tourney at the Newton Centre Tennis Club. On June 25-26, there will be a tourney for boys who were under fifteen last January 1. Nehemiah Boynton, Jr., chairman of the club's executive committee, has offered a trophy. M. Mark Noble, Jr., will conduct the tournament.

Cinders

William F. Garcelon presided at the 50th anniversary of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America Saturday night which was celebrated with a dinner at the Algonquin Club. He had a big job on his hands and was busy introducing various champions of various events since 1876. Records of all kinds were on the tip of his tongue and many of the oldtimers themselves were present to enjoy the good time.

Among the former intercollegiate champions present at the Stadium last Saturday at the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet were Dr. Charles A. Davenport, who was a half-mile and mile champion and Harold Curtis who was one of the best quarter-milers Cornell ever had.

Horace Cole of Yale placed second to Hank Steinbrener of M. I. T. in the fifth heat of the 220-yard low hurdle trials for the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet Friday afternon. In the first semi-final heat he placed third, beating out

NEWTON POST No. 48, A. L.

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, was well represented in this year's Memorial Day Parade which was held on Monday, May 31, 1926. The local Post had several hundred men in line, under command of Colonel Stopford. The Knights of the Holy Cross Fife and Drum Corps, of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, furnished the music for the Legion, and made a splendid appearance, being continually applauded all along the line of march.

Amos Oldfield and William Tolan were in charge of the boys.

The Legion Flagway was much in evidence along the route of the parade, and this patriotic display of our country's flag was an inspiring sight. It is hoped that by July 4th, all the sections of the City will have the flags installed.

On Sunday, May 30, 1926 on the lawn of the Newton Catholic Club at West Newton a detail from Newton Post No. 48 presented the Knights of the Holy Cross Fife and Drum Corps with a banner in appreciation for the services which the boys rendered to the Legion at various times during the past year. Julius Ramm, Finance Officer of the Post, made the presentation and Rev. Fr. O'Brien accepted the banner for the boys.

On Sunday, June 6, 1926, Newton Post is to participate in the parade in the city of Woburn, and all members of Newton Post will report at 1.00 o'clock to Adjutant Barry at Dennison Hall, Newtonville, where special busses will be available for the members.

MOTHERS' MEETING

The mother who enters her child in the kindergarten of a modern school is apt to find the experiences of those opening days of school as strange and as novel as does the child—so greatly have schools changed since she was first taken to kindergarten by her own mother a score of years ago.

Because so many mothers are not sure what they should do before bringing their children to kindergarten or what the kindergarten does for him after he gets there, the kindergartens of Newtonville have arranged to explain these matters of school age, vaccination, health, and school work at a Mothers' Meeting which will be held at the Claflin school at 3 o'clock Monday, June 7th. The meeting is open to any mother interested, and will be addressed by Miss Bragg of the School Department, by Miss Ross of the District Nursing Association, and by Mr. Brainerd, principal of the Horace Mann district.

In order that there may be accommodations planned for every child entitled to enter kindergarten or the first grade next fall, parents are urged to register with the school this spring their names and addresses together with the name and date of birth of the child who is entering for the first time next September. This may be done at the meeting or the information may be mailed to the proper kindergarten—either at the Adams or at the Claflin school.

MOORE-GRUENER

The wedding of Miss Katherine Elizabeth Gruener, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Gruener of Franklin street, Newton, and Mr. Wallace Moore of Rochester, N. Y., took place Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who wore her mother's wedding gown, was attended by her cousin, Miss Katherine Elisabeth Gruener of Cleveland, Ohio.

Clifford Penland of Memphis, Tenn., was the best man and the ushers were Herbert Mooney of Woodsville, Ohio, and Leopold Gruener, brother of the bride.

Miss Gruener, after her graduation from Vassar in 1921, studied at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts School and also in Paris.

Mr. Moore, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Moore of Knoxville, Tenn., is in business in Rochester, N. Y. In the World War, he was a lieutenant of Infantry in the Twenty-ninth Division and served for two years with the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

After the wedding tour, the bridal couple will make their home in Rochester, N. Y.

LIBRARY VACATION LOAN

Perhaps the summer brings the only leisure when you can read at will on some of the many subjects that especially interest you outside of your regular work. Or perhaps you simply want some books for the rainy days during your vacation, or the hour or two now and then when you have no other special plans. Why not have some books on hand?

The Newton Free Library is ready to loan books to borrowers who are leaving the city for vacations, as in previous years. Leave your name and full summer address at your nearest library, with a small deposit to cover postage in case you wish the books mailed to you, together with list of books you wish. Or you may, of course, take the books with you.

Under this plan you may borrow any EXCEPT SEVEN-DAY BOOKS, NON-FICTION PURCHASED WITHIN A YEAR, AND BOOKS IN GREAT DEMAND BY OTHER BORROWERS. Additional books will be sent you from time to time, upon request. This applies equally to juvenile books, except that we do not send more than three fiction and three non-fiction at a time to one juvenile borrower.

If Summer Vacation Books are not returned by October 1, a charge is made. Books may be retained until the borrower returns to the city, unless there is other demand for them, in which case a notice asking prompt return of a particular book by mail will be sent. The library is, of course, glad to have books returned by mail, when the borrower is thru using them, so that they may be at the disposal of others.

POLICE NEWS

Because of the number of cases to be heard, two sessions were held in the district court at West Newton on Tuesday morning. Judge Brown of East Boston presided over one, and Judge Connelly of Waltham over the other. Included in the lengthy docket were 16 charges of drunkenness against 16 persons who had inbibed too freely of hooch over the week-end.

Driving autos while under the influence of liquor, does not appear to be growing less frequent. Four operators of autos were in court Tuesday charged with this offence, one of them a woman. Saturday night at 11.50 Motorcycle Officer Turner stopped a car on Commonwealth avenue. As he was taking the license and registration numbers from the driver, another auto driven by Mrs. Laura York of 45 Westland avenue, Boston, ran into Officer Turner's motorcycle, demolishing the machine and tearing the sole off one of the policeman's shoes. Fortunately Turner escaped injury. Mrs. York was arrested charged with drunkenness and with driving "wutiol." Her case was continued until June 7.

David B. Alter Jr., a student from Cambridge, was arrested at 1.10 Monday morning for driving "wutiol" and without a license. He will be tried June 16. Arthur G. Brooks of 14 Pelham street, Newton Centre, was arrested early Tuesday morning by Sergt. Bannon and Officer Coulon, charged with driving "wutiol" and operating an auto after his license had been suspended. His case was continued until June 8th. Nicolo Zaola of 174 Chapel street, Newton, was arrested Sunday evening for driving wutiol. He will be tried June 9.

Ruth Lundquist of 46 Myrtle street, Waltham, was arrested by Serg. Veduccio charged with larceny. It is alleged she took some articles from the house where she had been employed. She will be tried June 7.

The correctional school for boys at Shirley did not succeed in reforming James Powers of Waltham, 15, and Howard Muise of Wakefield, 16. These two boys escaped from Shirley and for ten days toured the state in stolen autos. Not having funds to buy gas, they adopted the alternative of appropriating different machines. They stole cars in Waltham, Wakefield, Manchester and West Newton. They were caught at Leominster on Saturday after they had abandoned a stolen car on the outskirts of that town, when it ran out of gas. Leominster police searching for the occupants of the deserted car, came upon the two adventurers asleep in a hotel in that town. They will be tried in the juvenile session on Friday.

HORSE SHOW

Despite the weather, at least 1500 persons turned out for the Chestnut Hill horse show last Monday. There was color, there were thrills, there was class enough to satisfy everyone. Nine hunt teams made the most colorful showing that class has enjoyed outdoors this season. The hunters and jumpers furnished plenty of thrills, as well as two spills, on the slippery turf.

Of course, no other show probably draws such a large number of younger riders. They were in their element, as plenty of opportunities were given them to display their horsemanship, as well as their horses. They responded in plenteous numbers and justified the committee's decision to add a junior jumpers class by giving a performance quite worthy of their years.

Miss Lydia M. Lund and Leverett Saltonstall were the victims of the day's two spills. Though shaken up considerably, neither suffered any injury, both gaining a good hand when they remounted and carried on.

As on Saturday, at the Metropolitan show, Miss Wolfe again proved the most successful exhibitor. Her total was four blues, two reds, a yellow and a white. In addition to the two victories already recorded, her Sir Knight led the regular saddle class for horses 15.2 and over, while her Sunrise proved the best of the sporting combinations. Sunrise took a red among the lightweight hunters and paired with Panther for a yellow in the pair hunters class, in which her Hotsy Totsy and County Cork also placed fourth. Her hunt team was awarded the red.

Miss Miriam Winslow's collection of ribbons included two blues, three reds and two yellows, all registered with her Tip Top, a bay pony, and her Mimi, a bay saddler. Tip Top was first among the combination ponies and among the harness ponies, and second in the saddle pony and pony jumping classes. Mimi gathered reds in the class for saddle horses, riders under 18 years, and paired with Arthur Black's Red Roberts. Mimi also was third in the 15.2 and over class.

Miss Alice Stuart had a chance to gain permanent possession of the Nora Saltonstall memorial cup for qualified hunters, as she had won it last year with Widow's Hope and in 1924 with Swoon. But her two entries, Blue Fern and Widow's Hope, failed to come through with perfect performances, thereby losing all chance to be judged with the four ribbon winners, which did.

George S. West, Jr., and Miss F. Jeanette McGregor were awarded cups and blues in the two divisions of the children's horsemanship class for residents of Chestnut Hill only. In similar divisions open to all, the awards went to Miss Nancy Hickey of Shrewsbury and Miss Ellen Phillips.

The judging was done by George H. Timmins, James Maddux and Richard Danielson. Arthur Vignoles was ringmaster.

SERIOUS FIRE AT NEWTON

Sunday afternoon at 4.07, smoke was seen issuing from the windows of the house at 52 Newtonville Ave., owned and occupied by Lewis Walters. Box 16 was pulled and Chief Randlett ordered a second alarm at 4.23. When the firemen arrived, they found that the blaze, which had started on the cellar stairs, had spread up to the hall on the first floor. Because of the extent of the flames, the firemen were obliged to use considerable water, causing damage to the furnishings of the house. Good work prevented the fire from spreading to the upper floors of the building. The loss is estimated at about $4000. The occupants of the house were away over the week-end. The cause of the fire is unknown.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Many of us firmly believe in vacations. Nearly everybody agrees that rest is beneficial. This naturally applies to individuals as no one ever thinks of vacations except as the playtime for young and old. If it were possible for the idea to be applied to municipalities we think that Newton is entitled to a "lay off" and that it should be permitted to forget one or two, or maybe more of its vexatious and fictitious problems.

Things that are not of immediate concern may easily and properly be laid aside. It provides opportunity for fresh ideas or no ideas at all. It makes the whole world seem less sordid and brightens the general outlook. Now then we assume that as many of Newton's citizens as find themselves able are to take vacations this summer. Why not let them go away with minds free from care. Let them and let our city forget for a few months all this talk of a new City Hall.

Some years ago when the Legislature enacted a law permitting Sunday sports we wondered just how it would work out. We thought that the measure as drafted put it up to the communities themselves inasmuch as it allowed each municipality to vote whether it should allow baseball games, tennis and golf between certain hours of the afternoon of the Lord's Day. Newton was one of those places which accepted the provisions of the law and this made the playing of these games permissable in our city.

If conditions have arisen which demand a change, or at least a modification of the law, then there is something for people to think about. Personally we have never indulged in any of these games on Sunday, for the reason that other matters occupied our time. Only on a few occasions have we looked on at a Sunday baseball game and then for a few minutes and usually at the suggestion of a friend who was enthusiastic over the game.

There is, in our opinion, such a thing as overdoing that which of itself is not harmful. We believe that the purpose of those who voted for the "Sunday sports" bill at the polls was not all in hopes that it might eventually mean professional games. No doubt there were those who did. But recreation under wise and wholesome restriction was aimed at, we firmly believe.

If those who have watched with unprejudiced mind the operation of the Sunday sports law now believe it has proved detrimental, then it is desirable that this information be made public in some form or other. If it is the danger of the spread of professional sports on Sunday that is feared, this is something that can be corrected by the licensing authorities. There should be no delay in reminding these officials of their obligation to citizens who are entitled to enforcement of the laws whether they deal with crime or Sunday diversions.

Having resolved that perhaps it would be as well to take advantage of the comparatively reasonable price of gasoline and see a little of our native State of Massachusetts before the cost of said "gas" became prohibitive, we have of late been doing a little "running round" via automobile. The experience has been "educational," indeed, for several important things have lodged themselves in our mind.

We were perhaps most impressed with real estate development. Tracts of land which only a short time ago were almost wild in their uncared-for state are now growing "communities of beautiful homes." The standard of beauty, it is true, is more or less conventional, if beauty may be considered a thing of convention. The "dear old Colonial idea" seems to predominate. Just how perfect these modern Colonial dwellings are when compared with the houses of the early days of Massachusetts, is hard to say. We think that the architect of today has a touch of daintiness, which, after all, must be desirable.

However, it is not of the character of these dwellings that we would write. Rather we would discourse of the names that have been imposed on these different, er, let us see—shall we call them settlements? The realtors that have undertaken development here and there have used their imaginations, it must be admitted. They have turned to the esthetic and endowed these places with names that cannot fail to arouse the loftiest thoughts. They have chosen names that will read well and sound even more inspiring when spoken.

Years ago it was the Pullman cars that bore the odd and highfalutin names. Then came canoes and Summer cottages. Now it is the communities where homes are located—homes that one owns and learns to like. An elegant name is worth all it costs if you feel that way about it.

Threat of an ocean voyage and landing on a distant shore has caused us to devote some small amount of study to those folders you will find in railroad stations and hotel lobbies beneath a sign, "Take one." Incidentally the folder is the only free thing about a European vacation, according to those who know. If you are thoughtless enough to take one you may as well make up your mind that you're going to travel. The fact is that the mere act of turning over the leaves and studying the pictures and the reading matter is fatal. You have been bitten—the germ has located itself in your system and only a long ocean voyage can remove it.

It is amazing what the individuals who prepare these folders for distribution can do with mere words. That of the United States Lines tells us that its ships have "a complete complement of efficient and experienced stewards and stewardesses." Now that's a trip we'd like to make just to put our eye on a "complete complement." If, and we quote our Webster's unabridged, the words "complement" means anything it means "full quantity, number or around; a complete set; completeness." If the United States Lines can produce double this, or, as it advertises, a "complete complement," it has performed something heretofor unknown.

On this same folder under the caption, "Dogs, cats, monkeys, birds," etc., is printed, "These should be properly caged before being brought aboard, and turned over to the Baggage Master, who will deliver them to the butcher for care-taking." What owner of a pet, be it dog, cat, monkey or parrot, would be willing to entrust it to a butcher for "care-taking"? This butcher may be the most tender-hearted lover of animals in the world, but the suggestion is a bit unpleasant.

"All passengers except American citizens are required to show that they have complied with the United States Income Tax Law." Get that, "except American citizens." Who wouldn't be a patriot!

If there is one thing that puzzles us more than another it is the constant need of prodding that some people require to keep them alert to the common standards of good behavior in public places. Here we are as a State, blessed with a wealth of glorious trees, shouting at each other the need of preventing forest fires. Who is it that starts these destructive fires? Can it be, as the State Forestor has said, that the young and old are careless with lighted cigarettes? Have we become a community of "butt snappers"?

It appears to us that somehow or other this situation can be corrected. Hundreds and thousands of dollars are wasted for the simple reason that there are people who are indifferent to the comfort, safety and rights of others. We wonder how this is to be checked. The Legislature was asked to pass a law imposing a severe penalty. It may be that the request came too late, but anyway it was refused, largely on the ground that the session was approaching a close.

We are not sure that the Legislature acted wisely. There is a tendency to avoid enactment of laws placing restriction on personal liberty. At least that is the argument offered. We fail to see this and believe that personal liberty can be overdone. If people do not appreciate the marvelous woodlands of our commonwealth and do not care whether they are destroyed by fire or not, then let them be penalized or else open the woods and have a State-wide bonfire in celebration of the advent of individual freedom in Massachusetts.

One of our readers was so impressed with what we had to say about band music that he dashed off the following communication.

"Dear Mr. Bentley—You say that you would like to play in a band. As I understand it you do not ask to do much more than manipulate the drum, bass drum, cymbals, triangle, bells, bird-whistle, sand-paper, shuffle, etc. I wish I had an orchestra for if I had I should invite you to join. Would you charge for your services or would you be willing to pay for the chance? How do you rate yourself as a musician and would you pose as an amateur or a professional? What would be your charge for services and would you like to engage a manager? Please advise me at once."

If our correspondent thinks he can discourage us he is mistaken. As far as that goes we may yet achieve this ambition, with or without his assistance. Let him try that on his ukelele.

DEATH OF MR. CLOSSON

William B. Closson of Newton and Magnolia, prominent as an artist, is dead at the home of his sister, Mrs. Katheryn F. Gallaudet, in Hartford, Conn. His wood engravings were exhibited at the Columbian Exposition and he had received medals at the Paris salon in 1882, the Exposition Universelle, Paris, 1889, the Columbian Exposition, Pan American Exposition and St. Louis Exposition. He was also a painter of note and had canvasses in the National Gallery in Washington, the National Arts Club in New York and in many private collections.

He was a member of the Boston Art Club, the Copley Society, the American Federation of Arts, the Society of Washington Artists, the National Arts Club, Allied Artists of America, Arts Club of Washington, Connecticut Academy, and the North Shore Art Association at Gloucester.

When photo-engraving came into vogue, about 1890, wood engraving became almost immediately a lost art, and Mr. Closson was one of the few left of the old, great engravers. He took up painting at that time and rapidly gained a high standing among the painters of the country. He exhibited in all of the great exhibitions of the country and his pictures are in many of the great private and public collections.

William B. Clossin was born at Thetford, Vt., Oct. 13, 1848, son of David Wood and Abigail (Palmer) Closson. His father had been a member of the Vermont Legislature and his mother was related to Benjamin West, the famous Quaker painter of revolutionary times. William attended Thetford Academy and after a brief period in a railroad office his love of art brought him to Boston, where he studied in the Lowell Institute. In 1880 he began engraving on wood.

The past Winter Mr. and Mrs. Closson spent at Southern Pines, N. C., which he painted a number of landscapes that aroused a great deal of interest in the South. On their way home Mr. and Mrs. Closson called on her sister. He was taken with an attack of heart disease. He leaves a widow, a daughter of the late Dr. Edward M. Gallaudet of Hartford.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

The Newton Archers are holding pleasant archery practise on the Range at Newton Centre.

Since there is now a merit badge in archery for Girl Scouts, some are going to take it up. Miss Virginia Gray, a recent addition to the Newton Archers and a prominent Scout, is taking up archery more in earnest. Girl Scouts should be very careful that they take instruction from properly qualified instructors, as archery not done in the regulation way would prove their undoing.

Memorial Day afternoon proved too rainy for shooting, but some archers met under shelter for a basket lunch and one enthusiast even shot the whole afternoon in the drizzle.

EDITORIAL

—o—

We are justly proud of the excellent showing made by the residents of this city in the Newton Hospital Campaign, although it is only what we should expect from a community with the public spirit and the wealth of Newton. Besides raising a most substantial sum for a most worthy object, we have received a lesson in co-operation between the various villages which will be invaluable in the future and will furnish a precedent for the accomplishment of any worthy object whenever it will be necessary. No one could witness the gathering of the workers night after night at the State Armory and not be thrilled with the enthusiasm there manifested and proud to be associated with such an outstanding group of men and women. It augurs well for the future of our beautiful city.

On account of the space given the Newton Hospital story, a large amount of news matter has been crowded over to next week.

and the roll call of the Post showed that its membership has dwindled to about 40.

The parade marched thru Beacon street to Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery where the usual exercises took place around the Soldiers' Monument, the orders of the day being read by Edwin H. Stoddard and the Gettysburg address by Colon S. Ober.

The line then reformed and marched thru Walnut street with a short detour to pass the John A. Andrew Home on Washington park, thence thru Washington street to the state armory where the usual banquet was served, Comrade Wetherbee acting as toastmaster.

Mayor Childs referred to the day as one of remembrance and resolution and called for a resolve for friendliness, understanding and good will starting at home and spreading to all peoples.

The Mayor also made a plea to the veterans of three wars to assist in the prevention of further wars by wiping out the causes of war, substituting love for hate, good will for ill will, and service for selfishness.

Col. F. W. Stopford, commander of Newton Post, A. L., told of the educational work the legion is attempting in Newton in teaching young and old respect and love for the flag. The local post has started a city wide flagway and it is the hope of the legion that by 1930, when Newton celebrates its 300th anniversary, there will be a flag in front of every business establishment and every home in the city.

It is also planned to have the Boy Scouts in every neighborhood care for the flags on their streets, flying them at the proper time, lowering the colors at sunset so that on future holiday evenings taps will be sounded all over the city at sunset.

Capt. Thomas F. Hickey of Company C, 101st Infantry, M. N. G., announced at the dinner that his company was the first National Guard unit in the country to appear fully equipped in the new style uniforms.

Capt. Hickey also extended an invitation to all patriotic organizations in the city to assist Newton Lodge of Elks in the celebration of Flag Day on June 13. There will be a parade from Newton Corner to Claflin Field, where James M. Curley, Ex-Mayor of Boston, will be the orator.

Other speakers were William M. Mick, commander of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R.; Frank L. Wilcox, Adjutant General of the parade; Commander William Hughes of Thomas Burnett Camp, U. S. W. V.; Edward Cauldwell, head of J. Wiley Edmands Camp, S. of V.; Miss Francis M. Cahill, president of Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, D. of V.; State Representative Arthur W. Hollis; Capt. Frank L. Nagle of Newton, commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

NEWTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Newton League of Women Voters held a meeting at the Newton Welfare Bureau, Wednesday evening, and elected officers for the ensuing year. Dr. Mary A. Willcox of Oakwood road, Newtonville, was elected president; Miss Rhoda Ziegler, 580 Walnut street, Newtonville, vice-president; Mrs. E. R. Caverly, 40 Winchester road, Newton, secretary; Miss Sara E. Teeling, 11 Parsons street, West Newton, treasurer. Miss Katherine Wakefield was chosen chairman of the Finance Committee, Miss Lizette Henderson, chairman of the Legislative Committee, Mrs. Wallace D. Boyden, chairman of the Public Welfare Committee; Miss Helen F. Ross, chairman of the Membership Committee.

Miss Lizzette Henderson gave an account of the convention held at Swampscott by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. Dr. Mary A. Willcox discussed the two leading political parties, what they stand for, how they work, some of their disadvantages, and some remedies.

OVER A MILION DOLLARS

nurses, who are now being housed in open wards, had raised among themselves $200. Five little girls of West Newton, Barbara Wooley, Virginia Kretschmark, Nancy Waddell, Evelyn Waddell, Lucy Ogden and Elaine Wainwright, have given a play, and raised $7.50 for the fund.

George S. Smith presided at the Thursday night meeting, and told of the beginning of the movement to initiate the campaign back in January. Chairman Rogers, when called on praised the work of all who had made the campaign a success, paying special attention to the work of his associate chairman, Rupert C. Thompson, to the publicity committee, which was headed by Herbert M. Cole, and to the work of the local bank clerks, who nightly volunteered their services in order that the accounts of the campaign might be balanced each night. In turn cheers were given by Mr. Rogers, Mr. Thompson, Chairman E. J. Frost of the special gifts committee, the hospital nurses, and Superintendent Allen.

Community singing enlivened the evening, at the close of which refreshments were served, buffet style. The presence of a large number of the student nurses gave a color to the evening's entertainment.

The report dinners which were held nearly every evening last week and on Tuesday evening of this week in the State Armory have been most interesting. About 600 persons have been present each night, the various teams being grouped about their captains and division leaders. Across the stage a huge blackboard was erected, bearing the names of the division leaders and captains of the different teams and the amount of the pledges expected from the various sections of the city.

At the conclusion of the dinner, reports from each team were read and when the figures were above $1000 there was hearty applause. The figures for each day were written in white and the totals in red. These figures as they were read were put on the board by Mr. R. B. Wilson. There was one team in each section captained by a woman and its reports were always of interest.

Tuesday night's report meeting was one of the most remarkable meetings in the history of the city. Coming as it did after a holiday period, a letdown in enthusiasm was expected. On the contrary, the second largest number of workers in the history of the campaign was present, about 600 sitting down to dinner together at 6 o'clock, and the largest total, with the exception of the opening meeting, was reported by the team groups. Enthusiasm ran riot, and the hall rocked with cheers as the thousands piled up, and the divisions approached the goals set for them.

The announced goal of the team organization for June 1 was $350,000. When the last report was in on Tuesday night, it was found that the grand total for the team fell short of this high mark only by $5,176, the teams having rolled up a total of $344,824 during the nine-day intensive period. Of this grand total the women's division which sought to raise $30,000 raised $53,057, of which $9,009 came in Tuesday night. The doctors, whose aim was the raising of $15,000 for the furnishing of the new operating suite, reported a grand total of $30,630, more than twice the amount they went out after. Of this $5,645 was turned in on Tuesday night. The nurses, whose minimum quota was fixed at $15,000 on Tuesday night, turned in $3,386, and thereby reached a grand total of $18,822. The special gifts at Tuesday night's meeting reported $20,000, bringing their total to date up to the high sum of $655,000.

At the close of the intensive period two of the six ward division had exceeded their quotas, and a third ward division was within easy shot of its goal. Ward 3, West Newton, with a quota of $60,000 on Tuesday night, had reached $73,448, and Ward 4, Auburndale and Newton Lower Falls, with a quota of $25,000, recorded a grand total of $29,807. Ward 6, Newton Centre and Chestnut Hill, all but made its goal of $70,000 by reporting a grand total of $67,748.

The grand totals by wards up to the close of business on Tuesday night follow: Wards 1 and 7, $54,052; Ward 2, $47,697; Ward 3, $73,448; Ward 4, $29,807; Ward 5, $54,551; Ward 6, $67,748.

Among the gifts reported at Tuesday night's meeting was one aggregating $2,500 from twelve of the churches of Newton. Those participating in this gift and the amount subscribed by each follow: Newton Centre Congregational, $300; Newton Centre Unitarian, $300; Trinity Church, $300; Newton Centre Methodist, $150; Newton Highlands Congregational, $300; Newton Highlands Episcopal Church, $150; Newton Highlands Methodist, $50; Newton Baptist, $300; Auburndale Methodist Episcopal, $150; Central Congregational of Newtonville, $600; Newtonville Methodist Episcopal, $300.

The colored population of West Newton, who organized a team of their own race, pledged $1,030, it was announced. One Italian resident by his own efforts raised and turned in $595 to the fund.

Further group gifts, announced on Tuesday night, included the following: Newton Constabulary Association, $400; Newton Catholic Club, $100; employees of the Brae Burn Country Club, $100; Newton Highlands Women's Club, $100; five little girls of Ward 6, receipts from a flower sale, $6.

A unique testimonial of the plea for the hospital came in the form of a gift of $1,000 from a 95-year-old man, a resident of Ward 3, who asked that his name be withheld.

In the raising of the first million of the $1,500,000 Newton Hospital building fund, the women's division under the direction of Mrs. L. F. Muther, the division leader, easily carried off first honors. The women's division, which was asked to raise $30,000, on Tuesday night had reported a grand total of $53,057. The high team captain of the entire team organization was Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, of West Newton, who has to date reported $10,121. In three of the ward divisions women were the high ranking captains. These were Mrs. Chas. D. Kepner, of Ward 2, who turned in a grand total of $6,433; Mrs. Fisher, whose total of $10,121 was almost two thousand dollars ahead of her nearest competitor; Mr. C. F. Leatherbee, whose total was $8,349; and Mrs. Earl E. Conway, Ward 5, who reported $7,468.

The high ranking captains in the six ward divisions at the close of the sixth and last report dinner of the organization on Tuesday night, and the amount raised by each follows: Wards 1 and 7, F. M. Sheldon, $9,626, and Mrs. Frank Scofield, $8,259; Ward 2, Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, $6,433, and A. D. Auryansen, $4,770; Ward 3, Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, $10,121, and C. F. Leatherbee, $8,349; Ward 4, Alfred Murray, $3,612, and H. T. Dougherty, $3,132; Ward 5, Mrs. Earl E. Conway, $7,468, and H. P. Forte, $5,083; Ward 6, A. W. Rayner, $7,579, and G. W. Taylor, $7,546.

Dr. Henry Watters, of Ward 6, was the high man in the doctors' division, having turned in $6250, and Dr. Withee, of Ward 5, was second with $4435. The doctors' division turned in a grand total of $30,630 up to and including the report of last Tuesday night.

The grand totals of each team, and division follows:

Wards 1 and 7, Philip S. Jamieson, leader; H. D. Lloyd, $4,608; H. Norton, $2,249; E. B. Church, $1,917; F. A. Day, $6,605; J. B. Jamieson, $4,629; E. O. Childs, $5,344; F. M. Sheldon, $9,626; T. P. Murray, $2,956; F. B. Cummings, $1,974; R. I. Dwyer, $2,165; Mrs. Frank Scofield, $8,259; Dr. Cummings, $3,720; Division grand total, $54,052.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

On Tuesday evening the nurses of the lower classes gave a party to the seniors. When the curtain was raised by Miss Gasper and Miss Frude, who had it in charge, there was revealed a tiny log cabin surrounded by trees and flowers with a grand and brilliant full moon shining through the trees. On the lawn about the cabin were seated nine darkies having a summer evening visit. They sang songs to the hospital, internes, instructors and seniors and then a chorus of eight girls dressed in pink danced to the front and sang a song to the Newton Hospital after which they fell back among the trees and became part of the scenery. After them came six little dancing pickaninnies, eating huge pieces of apple pie and then a suspiciously fat Rastus who was found to have concealed under his coat some eggs and a live hen which he was accused of having stolen. The darky host announced that a wedding was to take place and a darky, half male, half female marched solemnly to the front, a small flower girl carrying the flowing wedding veil of the bride half. After the minister had performed the ceremony uniting the hesitant groom half to the over-willing and determined bride half the whole company sang several popular songs. As they sang the song "Horses" two chariots, which looked as though they might have been laundry baskets from Founders, were drawn out on the stage by weird looking horses and Ben Hur, behind two white steeds, finally vanquished his foe in a most thrilling and exciting race. The nurses who took part in the play were the Misses Hussy, MacGregor, Young, Sherman, Oakes, MacLennan, Brackett, Kneeland, Mooers. The chorus girls were the Misses Morrissey, Jones, Aldred, Turner, Elkerton, Littlefield Schmidt and Baker. The pickaninnies were the Misses oGrman, Binney, Baillie, Stafford, Bartlett and Richardson. Those who as horses dragged the chariots were the Misses Stuntzner, Moynahan, Belyea, Rankin, Cogswell and Odel. After the minstrel show Miss Virginia Young read the will of the senior class, and Miss Sherman, as an old witch stirring a cauldron over red flames, found in its broth prophetic missives concerning each senior. From ten until midnight the whole company then enjoyed dancing on the canvas floor of the big tent.

The graduating exercises of the Training School for Nurses took place at four o'clock Thursday afternoon in the tent on the hospital grounds. There was singing by members of the school and bugle and drum selections by the bugle and drum corps of the Newton Girl Scouts. The invocation was by the Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, D. D., and the address by the Rev. Arthur Maland Ellis, D. D. President Kelsey, of the hospital trustees, awarded the diplomas and the badges were bestowed by Miss Bertha W. Allen, R. N., the superintendent of the hospital. Miss Mary M. Riddle, R. N., awarded the scholarships. The members of the graduating class were Verna M. Hooper, L. Maude Smith, M. Christine Cummings, Marion B. Dixon, Mabel E. Cutler, Marion L. Ambler, Nora A. Thompson, Harriett E. Brydon, Gertrude J. Deming, Doris L. Bain, Dorothy L. Breitzke, Mary O. Lynch, Margaret A. Fogerty, Muriel E. Hanson, Amy W. Foster, Dorothy K. Neill, Elizabeth L. Thompson, Margaret Humphrey, A. Winifred Alexander, Virginia E. Young, Helen L. Gordon, Doris E. MacLellan, Leola El'Hatton, Bessie E. Lank, Helen B. Stone, Dorothy J. Frye, Ruth L. Aldrich, M. Clare Frohock.

MT. IDA SCHOOL

Closing exercises of the Mt. Ida School, at Newton, were held yesterday, when a class of thirty-two seniors received diplomas from Frank H. Damon, who has been made principal to succeed the late George F. Jewett.

Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace Church, Newton, made the prayer and pronounced the benediction. There was music by the pupils and an address to the seniors by Dr. Thomas Chalmers, headmaster of the Allen-Chalmers School at West Newton.

—Miss Edith Frost, Smith '27, is chairman of the Freshman Commission at that college.

MARSHALL-BULLOCK

Appleton Chapel in Cambridge was most attractively decorated Friday evening for the marriage of Miss Grace Helena Bullock, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Charles J. Bullock of Cambridge, to Mr. Gordon Preston Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Newton Marshall of 114 Kirkstall road, Newtonville. The pillars of the chapel were wound with Southern smilax and the balcony garlanded with the same. Clusters of white roses and white lilacs were at the pew heads, making a white border for the wedding party as it proceeded to the altar. The bride wore a gown of white satin and old family lace, which had a long court train of white satin and old lace, an heirloom from her grandmother. Her veil fell over her court train from a coronet of lovely lace which her mother had worn at her wedding. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bride had Miss Louise Hill of Brookline as her maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow chiffon and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas harmonizing with it. The bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Dodge, Miss Josephine Cushman and Miss Katherine Wing, all of Boston; Miss Marion Fincke of Englewood, N. J.; Miss Mary Bell and Miss Charlotte Kennedy, both of Cambridge, and Miss Dorothy Marshall and Miss Virginia Marshall, sisters of the bridegroom, of Newtonville. They were all gowned alike in orchid chiffon and carried harmonizing bouquets of roses and sweet peas.

Mr. Marshall had his brother, Howard Marshall as his best man and the ushers were Messrs. Paul Lamb of Concord, Fred Morse of Brookline, F. Hartwell Green of Cambridge, Paul Goddard of Newton, Duane Newton of Philadelphia, James Ryan of New York, Blake Dunphy of Brookline and Gregg Neville of Wellesley Hills.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. William H. Van Allen.

At the reception in Buckingham Hall immediately after the ceremony, the young couple were assisted in receiving by their parents. Mrs. Bullock was gowned in blue chiffon embroidered in silver, and Mrs. Marshall wore a gown of chffon in varying wisteria shades. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will make their home in Boston.

The groom is a graduate of Yale, class of 1921 and the bride graduated from Vassar last year.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

Since it is the motive and not the act that is generally conceded to be the most important, it would seem a trifling matter to notice whether in our display of patriotism we disregarded (or remained ignorant of) the correct use of our country's flag, or not. The principal thing would seem to be whether or not we used it at all.

In the schools there is much time and thought devoted to the celebration of the memorable days in our Country's history. There is deep reverence for the beautiful flag and the children are taught the respect for it which they will always feel, but there seems to be a lack of knowledge somewhere concerning the detalis of the treatment it shall receive. On this last Memorial Day it was not an unusual sight to see large American flags draped over the radiators of automobiles, hanging from the backs of cars with little care as to whether they dragged at the corners, wrapped around pillars of houses or hanging over dirty railings for anyone to learn on who might be so careless. Last summer the writer witnessed the use of one, in still another, more unbelievable way. A man who was, by title, a judge in New York, appeared at a masquerade party with the American flag tied around his head as a turban and several others sewed together to make his robe. He won a prize for the cleverest costume and the prize was given by an American ship's captain. In the first few cases mentioned, ignorance was probably the cause, for surely the motive was of the best, but in the latter, rank carelessness of the proper respect could have been the only reason for such a display.

It is customary to treat an ordinary tea napkin with its due respect. Why should we mind being a trifle more particular about our FLAG?

Angier School

Memorial Day was observed in the school, Friday morning, May 28. Those who participated in the program were: Louise McKinney, Elizabeth Adam, Mr. George Fiske of Auburndale introduced by Marion Willard, Sam Davis, Barbara Hall, Edith Chandler, John Argersinger, Donald Fyfe.

Mr. Simmons has always been with us in past years, but due to his age was unable to be present this year. Mr. George Fiske, who is a Civil War veteran, was presented, at the close of his talk, with a bouquet of flowers.

The stage was beautifully arranged with lilacs, tulips, iris and other seasonable flowers as a tribute to the soldiers.

The month of May had the lowest rate of reds ever recorded in the school's weights. It was 3 per cent.

Wednesday afternoon, June 2, Miss Clair, a representative from the National Dairy Council, gave an illustrated talk to the 5th to 8th grades, inclusive, entitled "Health and Citizenship." She also gave an illustrated talk to the 1st to 4th grades inclusive, entitled "A Journey to Health Land."

Mason School

In memory of our soldiers, appropriate exercises were held in the school hall on Friday, May 28.

The operetta, "Columbia's Appeal to the Flowers" put on at the first assembly by the fifth grade carried the spirit of the day and won the approval of the audience.

At the upper-grade assembly, the seventh-grade tableaux recalled scenes from the Civil and World wars, while the eighth grade play taught the origin and manner of observing Memorial Day.

The school was especially fortunate in having present Mr. Henrikus of the World War, Mr. Mick of the Civil War and Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Newton Centre M. E. Church.

Rev. Mr. Mick, who has been present on many former occasions of the kind, addressed both groups with words of encouragement, cheer and hope. Rev. Mr. Davis, who spoke, at length, to the older pupils stressed the fact that the spirit of respect and gratitude toward both the living and the dead, must carry into the lives of all in order that we keep safe the spirit of liberty and democracy.

Newton Centre is honored to have the champion marble player of the city this year. In the final city championships held at the Newton Centre playgrounds last Tuesday, William Dunn fought his way thru a group of ten other playground champions. Next Saturday, he will go to Boston to attempt to win the Greater Boston matches. The games are sponsored by the Boston Traveler.

Dunn is a Chinese boy, and has been in the United States only two years. He is a student at the Mason School. He played "ringer marbles," as it is called, in China before he came to this country.

The children in Miss Nixon's and Miss Chase's third grade classes had another of their pleasant trips to the Agassiz Museum in Cambridge, on May 27. There was much of interest, but the glass flowers, the birds, and fishes were especially liked.

All Newton Music School

The closing exercises of the Music School, which were held last Thursday evening May 27th, at the Technical High School Hall, were enjoyed by a large number, among whom were many parents and friends of the children in the School. There was a very interesting musical program, after which Miss Fyffe awarded prizes for the best year's work, gave the diplomas and read the Honor Roll and promotions. Miss Gandell's classes gave an excellent demonstration of the work done in this important branch of the school work.

Presentation of a gift and memory book was made to Mrs. Alice W. Hay, who is leaving the Claflin School Branch this year, and who will be greatly missed.

The program included chorales by the classes, a suite de ballet by the seniors, a demonstration by the junior and intermediate classes, solos by Alice Colleran, Anna Kovitz, Mary Gannon, Anna Austin, Frederick Bradshaw, Theresa Caruso, and a quartet composed of Donald Dewire, Harold McNeil, Sigmund Romanskievicz and Frederick Bradshaw.

LASELL SEMINARY

The canoe races on River Day, Thursday, May 27, between seven crews was won by the Sophomore crew with the Junior I Crew second and the Junior Green Crew in third place. The time of the final race was 3.11 3/5 minutes, a record which broke the previous record held by the juniors in 1919, of 3.12½ minutes.

Miss Marta Aspegren of the Junior Class, whose parents were former residents of Sweden, has just returned from a trip to New York City, where she went with her parents to meet the Crown Prince of Sweden on his recent visit there.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the Commencement Week is the Pageant held on Friday evening to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Lasell. It is entitled "A Beacon Light," written by Miss Constance Blackstock, Lasell '09 and directed by Miss Elinor Stearns, head of the Expression Department.

The Pageant represents the history of the school from the time of its founding to the present day, covering the principal features of the school life with special emphasis on the introducing of the Domestic Science Department in 1877, since Lasell was the pioneer schol in that development. The "Lamp" in the shape of an old Roman candle is depicted on the seal which has served as a symbol of all Lasell activities, is to be used in the Pageant throughout.

A large number of former students and graduates will be present and remain for the rest of the commencement festivities, which will close with the exercises on Tuesday, June 8, held at the Congregational Church at 10.45, followed by the Commencement Luncheon and Alumnae Meeting at Bragdon Hall.

KIWANIS CLUB

The weekly meetings of the Kiwanis Club of Newton was held at its usual place, The Auburndale Club, on Tuesday, June 1st, at 12.15, and 45 members were present.

Two guests were present from the Boston Club and Phil Byfield of Coral Gables, Florida, Club was also present. Frank Harrell gave a few musical selections and Earl Harper led the singing. Bob Robinson won the attendance prize which was donated by Les Woodman. Several matters of business were discussed by the members.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Nearly one hundred and fifty Scouts and officers marched in the Memorial Day parade Monday and were entertained at an "Informal" lunch at the High School Gym afterward, the City of Newton standing the expense and the Scout Organization doing the serving. Mr. Marshall I. Stone, Deputy Commissioner, was in charge of the Scout Division and was assisted by Mr. John M. Woodbridge, Jr., Deputy Commissioner, and Mr. Richard H. Brown, portmaster for the Seascouts. Mr. Charles H. Woodworth, Asst. Deputy Commissioner, did able work in preparing the luncheon and seeing that it was served on time. The Drum and Bugle Corps of Troop 4 of Newton Highlands and Troop 5 of Newton Centre did great work in helping the Scouts keep in step and made a fine appearance.

Scouts delegated by different troops decorated the graves of Scouts in Newton Cemetery Monday morning. This is the second year that this has been done, and it is proposed to do the same at other Newton cemeteries next year. Anyone who has knowledge of graves of Scouts in the various cemeteries will confer a favor on the Scout organization by sending the information to Headquarters, Newton.

A Court of Honor open to the public will be held at the Headquarters of Troop 4, at the Congregational Church, Newton Highlands, Monday evening, June 7th, at 7.30 P. M. At this Court of Honor Scouts will be received into all of the different grades of Scouting, Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life and Eagle, the latter badge to be awarded to Scout Fred R. Black of Troop 4, the son of Lieut. Col. Frederick and Mrs. Black of 63 Clark street, Newton Highlands. Scout Black qualified for some of the twenty-one badges necessary for the Eagle rank at Washington, D. C., and at Hul Mass., while a member of troops at those points before being transferred to Troop 4. Thic will make the third successive year that an Eagle Scout has been prepared in Troop 4.

Meetings of Norumbega Council, Inc., are held three times yearly, the third Wednesday in October, January and May. The Executive Committee meets the third Wednesday every month except July and August and at the call of the President. The Post Office address of the Council is 128 Jewett street, Newton.

Eleven of the second class scouts of Troop 15 together with Scoutmasters Cook and MacLellan, went to Standish State Forest in Plymouth over the Memorial Day week-end for their "over night" camping trip. They played ball, swam, hiked, played "Capture the flag" and were continuously active, even during the night hours. Mr. Cook found that there was no "week-end" to the boys' appetites. Thanks to the kindness of Messrs. Shaw and Van Patten Steiger, the boys returned home by auto rather than by train.

Dartmouth freshmen defeated Andover Academy last Saturday on the track. Rising, former Newton High athlete, won the javelin throw for the Hanover yearlings with a toss of 151 feet, 8 inches.

NEWTON DOWNS RINDGE 4-2

Coach Dickinson shook up the Newton high school line-up for the Wednesday afternoon matinee with Rindge Tech, and as a result the orange and black ballplayers crashed out a total of eleven hits against Anderson, the Rindge pitcher, and added a 4 to 2 victory to their list. All that is needed to insure Newton a first place tie with Everett for the Suburban league title is a win over Somerville this afternoon at Somerville.

Alan Shaw, who has been hitting all kinds of pitching this season and who has played first base, second, and right and centre fields, donned the catcher's mask and glove and went behind the bat. He did a very creditable job on the receiving end of McCleary's slants and in addition crashed out three hits in four times at bat. Frank Spain followed Shaw and connected for two out of three but did not have a chance in right field. Johnny Proctor, who continues to lead the Suburban league batters, slashed a long triple to the left field canvas in the first inning, scoring Spain for Newton's first run. In the seventh he beat out an infield rap by making his average for the day .500. Tommy Gilligan, who has been on the bench in the last few games, returned to the lineup in centrefield. He and Proctor pulled a pretty squeeze play in the first inning for Newton's second tally. McCullough followed Holbrook, who batted fifth and the Newton captain found his batting eye for two hits in three trips to the plate. His triple to the centre field canvas in the seventh started things on the right road for Dickinson's outfit. Anderson made a balk and McCullough strolled across the plate with the run that broke a tie, Rindge having knotted the count in the first of the seventh. Harlow doubled. Whitmore dropped Proctor's throw on Mazmanian's grounder, Harlow going to third. Siders sacrificed and Harlow counted. Proctor threw wide to first on Trodden's grounder and Mazmanian scored.

McCleary pitched a nice game for Newton, retiring ten Rindge batters by the strikeout route. Rindge gave him a scare in the ninth when with two down McCleary passed three men in a row to fill the bases. Gilligan took the next batter's fly and the game was over.

What a mix-up the Suburban league race has become. Newton, Everett and Cambridge Latin are tied at the top each with six victories and three defeats and one more contest to play. Newton has a slight chance to end up on top provided it defeats Somerville this afternoon and Everett and Cambridge Latin lose to Brookline. There is little possibility of Coach Hines' team taking a fall out of both of these nines but the Brookline nine is apt to do the unlooked for. Cambridge put Somerville out of the race by knocking them off Wednesday but the Dickerman outfit will put up a stiff fight. Everett had the league all sewed up until the holiday when Somerville upset things by nosing out a victory in the rain.

Whitmore's catch of Harlow's foul fly in the ninth inning of the Rindge game took all the pep out of the league cellarites' attack. The Newton first baseman dashed over within a foot of the first seats in the grandstand and took the ball while going at full speed. The catch undoubtedly saved a possible score, as the Rindge shortstop had previously crashed out two doubles.

The Philadelphia colored Giants shut out the Saxony Mills nine in a twilight game Wednesday at Victory field. The game was called at the end of the sixth. Crudup held the local nine to one hit while McLaughlin was touched up for eleven. The colored team bunched their hits in the first, second and sixth frames for all their runs.

Allen-Chalmers team closed its season Wednesday afternoon with an 11 to 10 victory over Polly Harris' Belmont team. The game went eleven innings after Allen had come from behind in the ninth with four runs to tie the score.

Cambridge freshmen defeated the Newton high freshmen nine at Russell field, Cambridge, yesterday afternoon, 6 to 1. McFadgeon, pitching for the Cantabs, fanned 23 Newton batters and held them to one hit.

Winchester high school girls' tennis team continued its winning streak at the expense of the Newton high girls' team Wednesday afternoon at Winchester. Doris Rowe was the only singles winner for Newton, while Betty Richardson and Barbara Farnham scored two points in doubles.

Dr. Oscar Martin, faculty manager of the athletic teams at the high school, has had his eye out on the golf team and has directed the boys in the efficient manner with which he looks out for the welfare of the boys in other lines of sport.

The state championship which Newton High has won is the first of its kind to come to Newton and Captain Gianferante and his teammates deserve credit for their play on the greens and fairways this spring. With the two younger Gianferantes, Devlin, Manning, and Bill Benger as a nucleus for next year's team perhaps the state title will remain with the orange and black still another year.

TWI-LEAGUE NOTES

Dowling, pitcher for the Newton Catholic Club, allowed the West Newton A. C. but one hit in defeating them 4 to 2 Tuesday night on the West Newton common. Dowling forced in one of the colored team's runs when he passed Gray with the bases full, while their other run came as the result of an error.

The Highland A. A. played two tie games this week. Tuesday at Victory Field darkness set in with the Highlands and Earnshaw tied up at 5 each. Wednesday night on the Highlands playground the game with Auburndale was called with the teams deadlocked at 4 all.

The Cardinals of Newton Centre won their first league victory last Friday night in upsetting Bernie's Upper Falls All-Stars 10-6.

The Newton Pals nosed out the Centre Cardinals last night at Victory Field 6 to 5. The Pals came from behind in the fifth with two runs only to see the Cards go into the lead in the next frame with one tally. In the seventh the Pals tallied two more and won out.

MISS LUCY MORGAN RETIRING

On Thursday afternoon, June 3rd, Miss Lucy Morgan was given a surprise tea at the Peabody Tea Room at Oak Hill by the teachers of the Mason District, which includes the Mason, Rice and Bowen Schools of Newton Centre.

Miss Morgan found at her place thirty dollars in gold concealed in a beautiful corsage bouquet, not only as a tribute to 22 years of service, but as a tribute to her love and unselfishness that have been unsparingly showered on all that she came in contact with.

Miss Morgan was guest of honor at a tea last week given by the N. C. School Association and the Educational Committee of the N. C. Woman's Club, where she was presented with flowers, a bead bag and about $250 in gold.

Miss Morgan is a real loss to the teaching service. Untiring in her efforts for the children, efficient to the last degree, and possessed of an unusual love for childhood, she can seemingly never be replaced. It is with real regret that the people of Newton Centre see her retire this June.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

On account of the holiday, the regular meeting of the Newton Rotary Club was postponed from Monday to Tuesday and held at Watertown as the guest of the Rotary Club of that town. There was a good attendance and it was a most enjoyable occasion. Mr. Macdonald, the physical instructor at the Watertown High School, was the speaker.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

News from the Biennial

Fifteen thousand women—and many men—thronging the great Steel Pier at Atlantic City on opening night, Tuesday, the 25th of May, until every seat was taken and even the aisles at the rear were filled. The great empty platform, bordered with brilliant pink hydrangea and blue iris, with many, many lovely green cedar trees. Tiny lights sparkling overhead, the roar of the ocean without, and the great hall hung with rose and gold Chinese lanterns, and festooned with evergreen. Impressive and lovely surely, but wait the opening moment for a real heart's stir. Four trumpeters—the Gloria Trumpeters from New York—gowned in long, flowing white satin robes of Grecian charm, their hair bound with gold fillets, stepping upon the empty platform, and through the hush of catching breaths for the sheer beauty of the entrance, sending forth through their raised trumpets the clarion call to attention. Signal for the approach of the procession of Federation officials, a long train of notables, directors, chairmen, officers, led by the president, Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, and preceded by a tiny girl carrying a basket of flowers. Amidst the tumultuous applause, the rising emotion we wonder how many thrilled beneath the significance of this tiny girl leading this representative group of national leaders in all that vitally concerns feminine ideals.

As "America the Beautiful" pealed forth we wonder, too, how many realized that actually in that vast concourse there were women who haled indeed "from sea to shining sea."

And to every listener in that vast audience came the messages of speakers as clearly as if they were in the cozy nearness of their own living-rooms, through the efficient use of microphone and amplifiers.

Charles A. Eaton, Congressman from New Jersey, brought the opening message of the convention, in an appeal for woman's influence against the lawlessness that he truly described as "cursing mankind." He urged the Federation to make the influence of women more strongly felt in public affairs. An alarming tendency to lawlessness particularly needs the attention of women, he said.

"In my judgment the chief contribution of womanhood to the world is a spiritual interpretation of its problems," said Mr. Eaton. "Women are setting their faces against war, class hatred, and personal antagonisms based on selfishness, which menace the welfare of mankind. The influence of the world's womanhood must be directed toward an awakening of a new moral sense in the individual."

Wednesday morning held for the audience the forceful, powerful address of the president. Giving an account of her stewardship during two years, she declared that the remarkable growth in the power and effectiveness of the organization was but an indication of the ever broadening field for public service by the organized clubwomen of America, opening up a "wonderful vision of possibilities ahead."

"With all the earnestness that I can command, I urge upon you the one great object of a more effective citizenship," said Mrs. Sherman. "I recommend to you here and now the adoption, as the one increasing purpose of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, such organized study of both law observance and law administration that it shall become the central theme of each of our departments of work. This recommendation, carefully worked out, cannot fail to bring about a universal and righteous use of the voting privilege, making less and less necessary the special campaigns for that purpose.

"If knowledge gives power, as our copy books of old taught us, let us have knowledge. If respect begets obedience, let us create respect."

"It is my wish to turn the attention of our people from their mad flight toward irresponsible pleasures to the lasting satisfaction found in the peace and joy of ideal family life. To bring to their consciousness that the weakness or strength of our homes is reflected in the weakness or strength of our Nation."

This study of the American home, she said, has brought the federation face to face with practically every outstanding problem, social, industrial, political.

"It plunged us headlong into a study of our enacted laws and our needed laws and resulted in a deeper consecreation to law observance. It brought us face to face with the problems of welfare work as it reacted on the home; with the bearing of education and the necessity for elimination of illiteracy. We found that our citizenship depended upon a deepened respect for the home, and that our relations with other countries could only be adjusted after we had made a deeper study of our own method of living."

The Federation, Mrs. Sherman explained, "will not permit itself to be used by selfish interests for selfish purposes, but will use private agencies for public good, even though a by-product of such connection may yield a benefit to the private agency."

"But to refuse to make use of all reputable agencies in the varied fields in which the Federation must achieve its fundamental purpose would put it in the position of trying to operate in a vacuum," she said.

Other outstanding recommendations were:

That a "board of trustees" be established within the federation as a more permanent official group than is now provided for, to assure continuity of action and more steadiness of purpose in Federation activities; that a fund be raised, known as "The General Federation Foundation," contributed to by foundations and individuals in sympathy with the work of the Federation. The necessary preliminary to this needed enlargement of the restricted financial resources of the organization is to put the administrative group on a more permanent basis, as indicated in the recommendation for a board of trustees; appointment of historians by every club, to keep a permanent record of activities; that in the future the Federation's indorsement of specific legislative measures before Congress be in the form of support for the ideals of a bill rather than the document itself, since a bill is open to many amendments and changes before it is finally voted upon.

A tense moment in her reading of her report was when she was reminded, just ts the convention was about to recess, that she had omitted a section that had already aroused much controversy, especially from the Louisville, Kentucky, delegates, who had come prepared to combat the stand taken at the West Baden convention. Mrs. Sherman then reiterated her stand for unity of action in the Federation as expressed by her previously given parliamentary opinion, as follows:

"When a resolution has been adopted by a meeting of the General Federation either unanimously, or by a majority, it should be considered the action of the organization.

"State Federations or individual clubs opposed to the action taken should not conduct a campaign in opposition."

In this respect, it might be stated, that this insurgency, called the Louisville Rebellion, because the Louisville Woman's Club sponsored it, was officially "put down" on Friday when the Executive Board of the General Federation decided that their resolution asking that this policy of majority rule be rescinded was not an emergency measure and therefore could not be considerd at this convention. Emergency methods certainly were used, however, to meet an emergency revolt that might have stampeded the convention.

Mrs. Sherman's attitude upon the moving picture situation, which the Clubs have been trying for a long time to remedy, is worth recording. She told of the withdrawal of a Federation representative from the public relations committee of the Motion Picture Producers of America because of lack of cooperation.

"When the industry sees fit to withdraw a number of most objectionable films now being shown it will go a long way towards establishment of a greater degree of confidence in that oft-repeated statement that the industry is doing everything possible to raise the standard of motion pictures," she said.

This commentary, and action of the Federation, is significant, when we recall how suavely producers declare they aim to please their patrons in the type of pictures produced, and how they await with pathetic eagerness suggestions for improvement!

Other noteworthy business of Wednesday was a resolution offered, and problems concerning our relations toward the "wards of the Government," our reservation Indians.

Deportation of all aliens illegally in the United States, installment of practical courses in citizenship-training throughout the public school system, and immediate steps to obtain additional funds for home extension work under the terms of the Smith-Lever bill were urged in resolutions placed before the convention by Mrs. John Sippel or Baltimore, chairman of the resolutions committee.

And a new program for Indian welfare work is expected to result from proposals put forward by the division of Indian welfare, headed by Mrs. H. A. Atwood of Riverside, Calif., which would direct activities in the interests of Amercan Indians toward the guaranteeing of their full citizenship rights.

Along these same lines, Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson, of Oklahoma, vice-chairman of the Indian welfare division, who is representing Mrs. Atwood at the convention, said in an interview:

"The law giving citizenship to the American Indian has not guaranteed to him his just rights and privileges as an American citizen. This guarantee must be supplied in the form of supplemental legislation giving him every right guaranteed to American citizens under the Constitution."

That women are wiling, nay eager, to accept the responsibilities of remedying all situations, and of showing gratitude for all agencies that have given to our country its place in the world, is proven by this attitude toward the early owners of this continent in bringing justice to these, their remaining descendants, and in attention likewise to our war veterans, whose method of livelihood is given exhibit in the great steel pier. Mrs. Paul A. Peters, with members of her staff of the disabled veterans' department, including our own Newton Club woman, Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis, and Mrs. Charles Wellman, preside over an exhibit of handiwork of the veterans. Two uniformed world war veterans, one a legless victim from Washington, assist in selling and explaining the goods. This is the first time that work done by the disabled men has been sold at a biennial, and not only is the enterprise proving of appeal and interest to the women, but it should prove a most worthwhile method of aiding the boys, and of presenting the real facts of their cause.

A word about the exhibit of this room. Almost it is a County Fair with its tables of craftsmanship for each mighty department, with its gaily attired throngs of interested, chattering women, with their enthusiasms in projects aroused to white heat, as they stroll about between sessions, gaining knowledge of every point of interest in this their wonderful organization.

Doubtless the proudest moment for each State was that when her own President arose on Wednesday evening to respond to the toast "That Which Is Closest to My Heart as a Club Leader." Delegates arose with their President, and waved a noiseless greeting. The thrill of the tribute, and of pride in their leader, was quite the most interesting event of the evening. Massachusetts, in a section close to the platform, was the largest delegation, other than the hostess State, and to see them rise in tribute to Mrs. Potter, must have been a pleasing sight. Mrs. Potter, gowned in gold lace combined with soft purple, and wearing a corsage of orchids, looked very lovely, an effect heightened by her impressive speech. Her friendly greeting in which she waved her bouquet of roses was typical of her cordial courtesy. Her desire was that everyone might take time for well ordered thought and leisurely reflection in order to secure wise leadership; in short, "to chart our goal and the technique of achieving it without making life a fitful fever."

California club women were a joy as they waved bright California yellow poppies. Iowa gave a most catchy song, with variations in melody, "We're from I-o-way, I-o-way, I-o-way! That's where the tall corn grows," as they waved long tasseled stalks of corn, when some representative was introduced to the audience, but on this occasion, when music was not in order, they contented themselves with the waving corn stalks. The South Dakota president, Mrs. S. C. Polley, showed her quick wit when she bade the Iowans remember that the seed corn that is sent to all the "tall corn" states, is raised in South Dakota. She gave almost an axiom in wisdom and brevity when she said impressively that she hoped the 19th amendment to the Constitution would be able to enforce the 18th amendment.

Mrs. Sherman, it is said, has daily won new friends and warm admirers, by her excellent judgment, her skill in presiding, her tact, her courtesy, and her kind heart. One evidence of this quite won her audience, and saved a most awkward and pathetic situation. The president of a far southern state, who was suffering from slight illness, became overpowered with the sight of the multitude confronting her and the metallic amplified sound of her voice, faltered in the midst of her speech, and broke down completely. Immediately Mrs. Sherman, who had not been presiding for a few moments, having turned a part of the session over to a vice-president, stepped forward, and took command. In ringing, enthusiastic tones, she said: "I want to tell you that the president of this state has a better knowledge of birds and game and outdor life than any woman I know of in the entire General Federation." Rounds of applause broke forth instantaneously on every hand, and what had looked like defeat for the distressed president turned out to be a resounding triumph.

Mrs. Virginia White Speel, president of the District of Columbia Clubs, a woman of regal bearing, and with wonderful snow-white hair, quickly gained the name of "Queen," as she stepped forward in her purple velvet gown, and her wise words were much applauded that "women should stop espousing all sorts of wild causes and come down to common sense."

Thursday was Resolution Day, and noteworthy discussion and voting came to pass on that day. One of the furtherance of a law-abiding attitude finest measures endorsed for the in this country and one which it is ardently hoped the Government will heed at once, would put into strict enforcement is that all law-breaking immigrants be deported. This one thing would do more to stop disrespect for our law and our land than any other one move on the part of law regulation departments. Resolutions favoring enrollment of aliens, and extension of citizenship teaching in schools were also adopted as a means to combatting the deplorable spirit of "license" that animates the new comers to our shores.

An amendment to the Charter, signed by President McKinley, "as his last official act," to make its declared purpose conform more closely to its present program was adopted, practically unanimously. Specified as "culture" originally as its purpose, the amendment states that "the object shall be to promote projects for the betterment of humanity and to take concerted action to that end." The Federation officers believe that this wording better includes the work for world peace, education and public welfare that now are the aims of the organization.

Mr. William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, made a stirring appeal for continued efforts for ratification of the Child Labor Amendment.

Over 2,000,000 child wage-earners are now competing with adults in industry," he said, "and a federal amendment to establish a minimum standard for child protection is necessary because of the present patchwork legislation with which the states are attempting to meet the problem.

"The products of child labor are sold on the open market. The manufacturers of this country whose products compete with those made by convicts, are persistently demanding that laws be enacted prohibiting convicts from making goods to be placed on the market. It is strange, indeed, that these same employers' associations, chambers of commerce and employers of labor, are fighting federal legislation which will take children out of the workshops and factories and simultaneously they are fighting against the introduction of prison-made goods upon the market."

It is gratifying that on Thursday—the next day—after a spirited debate, the General Federation adopted by a vote of 678 to 263 a resolution favoring a federal minimum protection law "to guard against the industrial exploitation of children." A substitute resolution favoring state control of child labor through laws adapted to local conditions, was decisively defeated.

Thirteen women spoke in favor of the substitute resolution after 10 had urged adoption of the original resolution, offered by Mrs. Gilbert F. Davis, chairman of the legislation committee.

The resolution adopted read:

"Whereas, a federal minimum protective law is necessary to guard against the industrial exploitation of children, and whereas, the General Federaton of Women's Clubs for years has supported such protective legislaton, therefore, be it resolved, that this Federation reaffirms its faith in the child labor amendment, the intent of which is to make constitutional a federal minimum law, and further that the Federation continue its educational campaign interpretive of said amendment."

The opposition was led by a group which has come to be known as the "Louisville rebels" from Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. W. F. Blackman, state president for Florida, offered a substitute resolution, which had the support of the delegations from West Virginia, Alabama, Georgia, Virginia, Missouri, South Carolina, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Michigan and parts of the Pennsylvania delegation.

Mrs. Sherman first asked those favoring the original resolution to stand. Those who stood were widely distributed. When they did so it was impossible to tell which resolution had the strongest support; so she put the question to a vote which resulted in a victory for those supporting the original resolution.

The convention also passed a resolution favoring the establishment of a federal department of education.

Four past presidents sat upon the platform Wednesday afternoon, and an aged honorary vice-president. Realization that the Federation must sooner or later face the question of its stand on the League of Nations was forced upon delegates in greetings from two of these past presidents, Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, which plainly indicated their desire for the Federation to support the League as an instrument for world peace.

Having achieved the main objective of its international relations program of the last two years, when the Senate passed the World Court resolution, will a similar campaign by the Federation for entrance of the United States into the League of Nations be the next step?

Can Federation members divorce their stand on the League from partisan politics, considering it solely on its merits as an instrument of peace? These are the questions being asked by leaders in the Federation's peace program. The answer will probably not be made until a future convention, but the issue has been squarely raised, in the first business sessions of the biennial.

Literature on the League of Nations is prominently displayed in the exhibit of the International Relations Department, with Mrs. Winter in charge of the booth, and hundreds of League bulletins and articles are being distributed among the delegates.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is increasing its contacts in foreign countries, according to reports brought by foreign delegates from China, Australia, and European countries. These foreign and territorial clubs vary from a group of 15 members in Athens to 10,000 members in the Sydney, Australia, Club, which has sent two delegates to the convention.

Mrs. Edward Franklin White, chairman of the division of law observance, made a clear cut issue of the Federation's stand on law enforcement and modification of the Volstead Act. Her appeal for the convention to again go on record as opposing modification was dramatic. Its enthusiastic reception by the delegates left little doubt that the Federation is ready to repeat the unanimous declaration of the Los Angeles biennial of 1924 against liberalizing the law in increase the legal content of alcohol in beverages.

"Have we not, as a matter of history, adopted all these resolutions without a dissenting vote and therefore held ourselves out to the world as unquestionably in favor of strict prohibition? Should we say we have done all that could reasonably be expected of us? Or is there something more we should do?

"Yes. The whole question of law observauce is on trial now, with a disregard for the prohibition law engendering a disregard for other laws.

"Do not understand me to say that the prohibition law is responsible for its violation nor for the violaton of other laws. I would not insult your intelligence by assuming that you would believe such an anomalous proposition. But since the time of Adam we have been prone to seek some alibi for our transgressions and lay upon the law itself the responsibility for our transgressing."

Declaring that the highly organized opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment and the enforcement laws makes it necessary for the Federation of women's clubs to give concentrated attention to the prohibition law in its campaign for law observance, Mrs. White called upon the delegates to again declare their unqualified support of the prohibition law and to use every instrument in their power to make their demand for its strict enforcement effective.

Thursday, Press Day, brought some inspiring messages.

"You women can get anything you want—if you really want it," W. F. Bigelow, editor of Good Housekeeping, assured the delegates in a forum discussion by magazine and newspaper representatives.

"You wanted the vote and you got it. You wanted prohibition and you got it—although you are letting yourselves be fooled into thinking that you made a mistake. You wanted the maternity act and you got it. You did not want the child labor amendment and you did not get it, and you won't get it now or ever, unless you decide that the protection of child life is more precious to you than anything else in the world.

"I am sure that you want a federal department of education, with a secretary in the President's Cabinet. I wish you did want it, because we need it and it waits on you."

Representatives of the Delineator, Scribner's, Pictorial Review, the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and The Christian Science Monitor also spoke.

"Training for Citizenship," Mrs. William R. Alvord's subject, brought out this telling truth: "Men must come to realize that the machinery of government is as important as the mechanism of their automobiles."

Miss Josephine Junkin, director of Federation headquarters in Washington, described the effort to stimulate recognition of American authors by establishing a headquarters collection of books by native authors of each state, contributed by state clubs.

To impress upon delegates that not all the finest contributions to modern art, literature and music come from the old world, native Americans contributing to the development of the fine arts are featured on the daily programs. Booths piled high with suggestions for club programs in music and literary study stress the responsibility of local groups in bringing American talent before the public.

In this line of thought, and bringing honor to Newton, is the delightful announcement that one of the three women to win the Federation annual awards for playwriting was Miss Mary Richmond Davidson of Auburndale, who received the third prize of $50.

Friday must have been a very exciting day for the Biennialites, for various resolutions were resoluted after spirited debates, the Board of the Federation did some resoluting of their own, and a heated discussion of having women with "bobs" on the Board was entered into—two candidates having bobbed their hair since accepting nomination, a breach of contract, since it is an unwritten law that no woman in office may be bobbed, and the Women's Clubs in all States have prided themselves upon the fact that they have no "bobs" among their membership—sure proof that the activities connected with the head are strictly internal! Quite aside from the question of the beauty or advisability of "bobs" there is the point that as the women knew the attitude of the General Federation Executive Board, and in fact of all Club women in the United States as a whole, they were most unethical to "bob" just after nomination. "Different times, different customs," (one might add, different hair, and a fatter pocketbook to keep "trimmed" and "curled") and various other tolerant expressions of opinion were heard amidst the uproar of horror.

And then, just as if the Club hadn't troubles enough of its own, Major John Taylor, counsel for the American Legion, had to "start something," by an assault upon those of anti-preparedness ideas. So that the Board had to sit in conference, punish the naughty Louisville Reds, and agitate what could be done about this broadside delivered by Major Taylor. That he will be fittingly nad resolutioningly rebuked will be evidenced before he is many days older! The Board also—although these are quite tame when compared with these other matters—voted to abolish the office of corresponding secretary, transferring those duties to the Washington headquarters and authorized appointment of an assistant treasurer, who shall be a salaried officer.

Two resolutions were authorized for introduction as emergency measures.

Major John Talyor urged the women to give their earnest attention to the new measure of drafting for war, not only in men, but in money, and would have made more impression and gained more aid had he refrained from his other tactlessness. The universal draft bill, giving the President control of industries and all national resources in time of war, will mean "no slackers and no profiteers," and should have the support of every member interested in striking at the causes of war, he said.

Of equal force and impressiveness was the evening's speaker. Calling on the General Federation to abandon a defensive attitude and to carry the contest for prohibition into the strongholds of the wets, Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania, made one of the strongest pleas for war upon the lawbreaker and the modificationist which the eighteenth biennial convention has yet heard.

Introducing himself as "a defeated candidate in a very cheerful frame of mind," Mr. Pinchot declared that he regarded the wet and dry contest as "the greatest moral issue now before the people of the United States," warned that the return of the saloon and hard liquor is the real purpose of the "beer and light wines" advocates, and asserted that, although the attack on the Eighteenth Amendment continues, it is but an indication that "the law is being enforced with steadily increasing success even in the wettest states."

"As for the prohibition law, it can be enforced. My three years' practical experience in law enforcement in Pennsylvania has proved that beyond question. Were conditions in Pennsylvania today such as they were when I became Governor in 1923, there would be no occasion for a wet movement camouflaged under this fake cry for light wines and beers. Of the 166 breweries in operation at the beginning of 1923, only 52 are now operating. The flood of Pennsylvania brewed beer has been checked, and, while the production of high-powered beer has not been entirely ended, the output is virtually a trickle as compared with the torrent of three years ago."

Our old friend the enemy, the Billboard army, came in for some effective discussion, when Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman for the Billboard Restriction committee, made her report.

The campaign to end exploitation of public highways and country landscapes by commercial advertisers will be vigorously pushed by the General Federation.

"The landscape is no place for advertising," declared Mrs. Lawton. "We urge the restriction of all outdoor advertising to commercial districts. No other country carries outdoor advertising to such excess as does America. No other country so commercializes its landscapes."

Thirty large national advertisers are now co-operating with the federation and have agreed to restrict their signboards to commercial districts.

"The billboard industry promises some reforms. We are grateful. But they still assume that our landscapes are their legitimate field for advertising. We disagree.

"We are not fighting the billboard industry. We are asking it to play in its own yard. We want a chance to escape from the rush and turmoil and ugliness of American cities into an open country which is not commercialized, where we may forget business, where we may feel that calm of spirit which only nature's beauty brings."

These are a few of the interesting matters that have been holding the attention of Club women at Atlantic City, during their first week of convention. The events of the present week, in such noteworthy instances as can be reported, will be given in this column next week. So may they become a matter of record, and reference, to the 4,000 Club women of Newton who were not able to attend this Biennial, but who are vitally interested, nevertheless, in all projects of Club life.

Automobiles lined both sides of Centre street to such an extent that a traffic man was kept busy, and it must have amazed the chance rider through Newton last Wednesday afternoon, May the 26th, for truly all roads in the city led to the estate of M. Lester Madden, where a fete was in progress. Weather conditions could not have been more ideal, and the appeal to out-door enjoyment, to festivity, to "bargains" and to the desire to aid one of Newtons best works combined to draw curious or pleasure-seeking folk. Attractive tables of various articles, bridge under the tutelage of our famed Mrs. Prescott Warren, shining lights among women of talent presiding at the tables, contests in boat models and racing, solo dancing on the lawn, tea on the terrace, golf putting in charge of Clark Hodder, formerly junior champion of Massachusetts, and lastly, a most charming entertainment, in an abbreviated version of "Robin Hood," that tale of merry wildwood that the dale and forest seemed to suit, in miniature, played enthusiastically and prettily by girls from the Newton School for Girls, left nothing to be desired as to what is proper and essential to a well-conducted fête, as this certainly was.

The girls who played the parts in "Robin Hood," were Barbara Thrall as Robin himself, Mary Belle Lennox as Maid Marian, Georgia Scates as King Richard, Margaret Lenox as Will Scarlet, Doris Bryant as Alan a Dale, and Margaret Reeve, Margaret Mansfield, Elinor Haley and Elinor Spencer as his merrie band. Miss Catherine S. Swett was in charge of the production.

There were booths for the sale of useful and fancy articles in charge of people from West Newton, Newton Upper Falls and Auburndale, Mrs. Ernest Cobb, Mrs. William L. Garrison, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Lovell and Franklin Hoyt.

Waban was in charge of the tea with Mrs. Earle E. Conway and Mrs. Eugene Bissell heading the committee. Newton Highlands directed the bridge with Mrs. Everett C. Winslow chairman, assisted by Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, Mrs. Ralph McClellan, Mrs. W. R. Mick, Mrs. Edwin S. Drowne and Mrs. G. D. W. Marcy assisting.

Flowers and plants were sold by the Newton Center District in charge of Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther, assisted by Mrs. Ellis Speare, Mrs. Frederic D. Robinson, Mrs. Edward E. Andrews, Mrs. Harry F. Stimpson, Miss Edith R. Moir, Mrs. George Defren and Mrs. Henry B. Day.

Music was in charge of the Newton Corner Section. Mrs. John T. Alden, Mrs. James T. Clark and Mrs. Edward M. Hallett supervised a program of music and solo dancing in the rose garden by pupils of the music school. Mrs. F. Ashley Day and Mrs. Donald Holbrook sold candy, and cold drinks were dispensed by Mrs. George F. Richardson, Mrs. William C. Anderson, Mrs. Edward H. Taylor, Mrs. Kenneth Hastings and Mrs. William W. Colton. Mrs. James O. Wright was in charge of the household table assisted by Mrs. John R. Perry, Mrs. George A. Remick, Mrs. Frederick W. Briggs, Mrs. J. Rollin Stuart, Mrs. F. Selfert Smith, Mrs. George C. Ewing, Mrs. Willis G. Parmelee, Mrs. Jacob H. Randolph, Mrs. Paul E. Hinchliffe, Mrs. Charles M. Scudder and Mrs. Fred M. Stuart.

Ice cream cones were hospitably dispensed by Newtonville with Mrs. Robert Chapman, Mrs. E. P. Crawe, and Mrs. Fred L. Morgan in charge.

The food table committee was headed by Mrs. Fred D. Bond, assisted by Mrs. Theodore H. Piser, Mrs. Chester W. Nichols, Mrs. William F. Coan, Mrs. Ralph E. Hatch, Mrs. Marshall I. Stone, Mrs. Robert F. Hayden, Mrs. George C. Crosbie and Mrs. John Harman.

Mrs. John F. Capron of Newton Centre was general chairman of the fête and members of the Junior Newton Centre Woman's Club assisted as ushers and helpers.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

One of the nicest things about serving in the Clubs is the gaining of friends and the many social affairs that these friendships engender. So we gain our reward, and efficient, pleasing service for the enjoyment of members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club brought its delightful recompense to Mrs. John Bergeson, last Friday afternoon in a surprise tea at the home of Mrs. Fred L. Morgan of Commonwealth avenue. Mrs. Bergson is the chairman who has given such splendid Art Exhibits during the past two years and planned for trips and lectures on Art at the Museum during the past winter. Her committee, as a farewell token of their pleasure in the work she has mapped for them, gave her this tea, and more—from the gracious hands of her successor, Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton—a wonderful bouquet of flowers, including the always gorgeous snap dragons, yellow daisies, and other beautiful and harmonious flowers and foliage. Mrs. Bergeson's committee for the past year was composed of the following members and only two were unable to attend the "party" for their chief: Mrs. Alfred E. Alvord, Mrs. W. Cornell Appleton, Miss Mary Lewis Ayer, Mrs. John B. Babcock, Mrs. John V. Beekman, Jr., Mrs. Charles Wood Bond, Mrs. Sarah R. Comer, Mrs. I. N. Enyard, Mrs. A. H. Emily, Mrs. E. V. Hickey, Mrs. Fred L. Morgan, Mrs. Lewis R. Speare, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., Mrs. Alfred H. Whitney, and Mrs. John E. Whittlesey.

Newton Hospital Aid Association

An appeal from one of the officers of the Newton Hospital Aid Association should be of timely interest to all Newton residents as well as to Club women, who naturally desire to aid one of the associate members of the Newton Federation. Many who would like to contribute largely in cash to the hospital drive may be able to add many dollars by gifts to this other cause that possibly may not be so difficult.

The Benefit Shop of the Newton Hospital Aid Association is to open next Friday, June the 4th, at one o'clock, for service to the public. It is hoped that this enterprise may prove of real and permanent help in the community, both to buyers and to those who are glad to find the right place to send clothing and other articles which they no longer need or desire, but which are still of real value and service.

Nowadays no efficient housekeeper hoards away an attic-full of moth-and dust-collecting, back-number clothes or furniture. She sells or gives away, as fast as articles cease to serve in her home. Please seek out all your unwanted possessions, and cooperate with the Benefit Shop in doing a triple service—to yourself in lightening your cares, to someone else who will be enabled to buy serviceable articles for a small sum, nad to the Newton Hospital which will receive every cent paid in to the Benefit Shop.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

We wonder how many clubs have become so interested in some study undertaken during the Club season that they cannot forego its interest during the lazy vacation months? We think that the West Newton Women's Educational Club can probably claim proud distinction to being the only Club to continue such study. Probably that is because the Travel Class has plans for some delightful trips—we would not imply with the pretense of study, for we know that they are enthusiastic in pursuit of real information along a splendid and worthwhile line—but it certainly is suspicious when we learn that in the course of their study they hied themselves to Clifton last Thursday, the 3rd of June, to enjoy a wonderful Lobster Dinner served by their generous hostess, Mrs. Guy C. Holbrook. Nothing short of capitals could properly express the importance of that dinner! At that time the fortunate members of the Travel Class were to decide the place and time of meeting for their next getting together—sometime next week—with Mrs. A. L. Jordan, of 228 Highland avenue, West Newton, as hostess—for the continued study of their fascinating research into the "Ten Great Religions of the World." This is the outgrowth of their Bible study. Already they have been taking fascinating peeps into the Life of Confucious and into the history of Buddha. Their method of study takes the form of reading certain most interesting or informative parts of various books written on these topics or outstanding men, by a few members at each session.

We certainly congratulate the Travel Class upon their enterprise and upon the splendid times they are sure to have during the summer season!

ALDERMANIC MEETING

Permit for Gas Filling Station in Auburndale Against Protest of Local Alderman Granted

The aldermanic meeting on Monday was scheduled to start at 5 P. M. instead of at 7.45 as usual; the earlier hour was set at the last regulr meeting for the purpose of obtaining time to discuss the financing of the new junior high school at West Newton before the many hearings scheduled to come before the Board on June 7th would begin. Present in the aldermanic chamber at 5 P. M. were Aldermen Baker, Bliss, Hawkins, Hinckley, Heathcote, Noone and Norman Pratt. Alderman Weeks arrived at 5.16 and Alderman Gallagher at 5.23. These aldermen, who had made sacrifices to arrive on time at the early session, were somewhat indignant at the tardiness of their colleagues, who because of tardiness in making an appearance delayed the starting of the meeting. The failure of President Pratt and other members of the Board to reach City Hall at the appointed hour was not of serious consequence as the school matter had been taken care of at the special meeting called last week by Mayor Childs.

The evening session of the Board was called at 8 P. M. by President Pratt. There was but a small "gallery" at this hour, considering the many hearings on the docket. Shortly after the meeting was called, a considerable number of citizens appeared. The first petition to be heard was that of J. Edward Callanan who seeks a permit for a filling station at the northwest corner of Bridge and California streets. Mr. Callanan acted as his own advocate. He told of the dimensions of the lot where he proposes to erect the station, the distance the building will be from nearby residences and the acquiescence of abuttors to his project. According to Mr. Callanan, this filling station will be an attractive structure, surrounded by shrubs, it will be set back some distance from the street, and like the "village smithy's shop" will be under spreading chestnut trees. He asserted that Bridge and California streets are important thoroughfares and that a filling station is badly needed in this neighborhood. No one appeared to oppose the petition.

On the petition of J. P. Davis for a filling station at the northeast corner of Lexington and River streets, formerly known as Night Cap Corner, no person appeared to favor or oppose. James P. Gallagher, as attorney for Fried & Litchman told of the petition presented by his clients last September for a filling station at 1233 Washington street, West Newton. No action was taken by the aldermen on this petition and it was presented again under slightly different circumstances. Last fall Mr. George Brophy, who conducts a sidewalk pump in front of a store conducted by him in a building recently purchased by the petitioners, was a strong objector. Mr. Brophy does not now oppose the petition. Mr. Gallagher explained that if the petition is granted it will permit the discontinuance of an existing sidewalk pump and its replacement by an attractive drive-in station with modern facilities for the benefit of the automobile public. In this respect the matter is parallel to a similar petition recently granted on Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale. He called attention to the unsightly old dwelling

MR. GEORGE S. SMITH DEAD

The community was shocked to hear Tuesday afternoon of the death of Mr. George S. Smith, one of our leading citizens.

Mr. Smith was playing in the senior golfers' tournament at the Woodland Golf Club and had reached the sixth fairway.

Mr. Smith's ball lay on the fairway outside the home of Charley Burgess, the club professional. He was about to address the ball for his second shot when he collapsed. Mrs. Burgess, who was watching the play, called Dr. Henry Godfrey on the telephone and the caddies cried out for Mr. Smith's companions, telling them he had fainted.

He was carried into the Burgess home, where Dr. Godfrey was brought by Superintendent Frank Clough of the club. Mr. Smith was dead when the doctor arrived a few minutes later. The doctor said that death was instantaneous.

Mr. Smith was born in Boston on Oct. 3, 1863, the son of John Oliver and Charlotte Catherine Smith. He attended the public schools of this city and early in life entered the clothing business, becoming associated with his father in the wholesale firm of John O. Smith & Co. Later he was for a number of years senior member of the firm of Smith, Sherman & Co. For six years he was president of the Clothiers' Association in Boston and for four years was vice president of the National Clothiers' Association of America. He was director of a number of banks and of several business houses in Boston and other sections of Massachusetts.

In 1909, Mr. Smith, while president of the Boston Clothiers' Association, was named to serve on the board of directors of the Boston-1915 movement, a plan started in 1909 for the improvement and future growth of Boston. He was active in this campaign during the six years it was in operation.

In 1909, when the Boston Merchants' Association was consolidated with the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Smith was chosen director of the new Chamber and two years later he was made its president. He held this office for one year, refusing to be considered for re-election in 1912.

For several years he was a member of the executive committee of the Boston City Club and served as president of the organization in 1917, 1918, and 191. He was trustee of Boston University and Northeastern University, a director of the Commonwealth-Atlantic National Bank and the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, president and director of the New England Company Power System and director and vice-president of the New England Power Company. He was a member of the Brae-Burn Country Club.

During the last years of his life, Mr. Smith's business interest was real estate development and he was instrumental in erecting the mammoth Park Square building and developing that section.

He was greatly interested in the welfare of boys and young men, which led him to originate and set in motion the Father and Son movement which has been followed out by associations and business houses during recent years. He was a member of the board of overseers of the Bunker Hill Boys' Club and was trustee of the Boys' Club of Boston.

Mr. Smith was active in the present drive for the Newton Hospital and during the past month, as chairman of the speakers' committee, he has spoken before many clubs, societies and other gatherings.

The only political office he held was that of presidential elector at the election of President Harding.

Mr. Smith has resided for many years on Grant avenue, Newton Centre.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Louise B. Smith; a son, Malcolm H. Smith; two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence G. Tighe of Cambridge and Miss Charlotte R. Smith, and two brothers, Charles L. Smith of Brookline and Everett L. Smith of Westboro.

The funeral services held yesterday afternoon in the First Church, Newton Centre, were attended by a host of friends and business associates.

The Episcopal ritual was used and the service was divided by the pastor, Rev. Edward McArthur Noyes, and Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, D. D., rector of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, and one of Mr. Smith's close friends. At the organ was Francis W. Snow, organist of Trinity Church, Boston, who played Handel's "Largo"; Schubert's "Ave Maria"; "In Paradisum" by Dubois, and Mulet's composition of the same name.

Honorary pallbearers were: Walton L. Crocker, Fred P. Hayward, Godfrey Robinson, Elwyn G. Preston, George Bramwell Baker, Philip Young, Herbert R. Lane of Waban, and Arthur C. Badger of Newton Centre.

The ushers were William H. Rice, William W. Brooks, W. J. McDonald, H. Frederick Lesh, Walter B. Phillips, Charles W. Bailey, E. Ray Speare, Thomas W. Proctor, George E. Leonard, Adams D. Claflin, Dwight S. Brigham and Charles E. Kelsey.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery, and the committal service was private.

LIEUT. McNEIL ACQUITTED

Lieutenant Roderick McNeil of Hose 6, Lower Falls, was found not guilty by Judge Lloyd Allen on Tuesday morning on two charges preferred against him by Patrolman John Green. Green testified that on the morning of June 1, while he was directing traffic at the corner of Washington and Elm streets, West Newton, and while his hand was raised signalling westbound traffic to stop, McNeil drove by him at a speed of from 25 to 30 miles an hour. He told the Lieutenant to stop and an argument followed with the result that the fireman was hailed into court. The principal witness for the prosecution was Henry Burnham of Needham and the defence presented as a witness Benjamin Thomas, Jr., of West Newton.

Lieutenant McNeil testified that he had stopped his car upon seeing Green's arm raised and had not started until the patrolman lowered his hand and started to walk away. He denied using insulting language to the policeman. Ben Thomas offered as evidence a map he had drawn which showed in detail the position of every auto moving and parked on Washington street between Watertown street and the railroad bridge at the time of the incident. Refuting Green's testimony that McNeil's auto was traveling at the rate of 30 miles an hour, Thomas stated that the car was going so slowly that he could have stopped it by grabbing hold of the mud-guard. Green asserted that he had not seen Thomas in the vicinity at the time of the occurrence but Thomas' testimony seemed to establish the fact that he had been near the scene. Decided discrepancies were evidenced in the testimony offered by Green and Thomas as to subsequent conversations between the two regarding the case.

Judge Allen gave little credence to Green's statement regarding the alleged speed of the automobile. The judge commented that it would be impossible for any automobile, much less the type driven by McNeil, to gather such momentum in the few yards intervening between the point where it had been stopped and the spot where it passed the officer. He found McNeil not guilty of ignoring the stop signal of the policeman, and stated that he thought the lieutenant had manifested obedience to Green's command when he stopped his car and had acted in good faith when he started the machine again. In summing up the case Judge Allen gave the opinion that McNeil had become irritated when stopped by Green and that the latter was justified in cautioning him. The judge commented that the members of the police and fire departments should practice equity and comity with one another, and should not attempt to take undue advantages because of being affiliated with either organization.

Lieut. McNeil has been a member of the fire department for over 25 years and has an excellent record. He has driven motor vehicles for many years, never had any accidents, had never been reported or any violation of the automobile laws.

BOY SHOT BY OFFICER

Early Wednesday morning five young men drove an automobile up to the Chestnut Hill Garage on Commonwealth avenue near the Boston line and had 10 gallons of gasoline put in the tank of the car. Then they asked the garage attendant to obtain some water for the radiator. While he was getting the water the auto was started. The garage employe shouted and Patrolman Edward Chadwick who happened to be nearby jumped into a passing auto and went in pursuit of the quintet. The chase continued along the avenue until Cedar street was reached. There the fleeing machine ran into a tree and its occupants were thrown out. They ran behind the house at 750 Commonwealth avenue and the policeman took up the pursuit on foot. While he was running he drew his gun. As he followed the fugitives around the house he stumbled, and the revolver dischraged. The bullet hit Frank Shiavone, 17, of 31 Tuckerman street, South Boston, lodging in his hip and causing a serious wound.

In the meantime police headquarters had been notified and the patrol auto arrived just after the shooting occurred. The police who came in it placed under arrest Shiavone's companions, who had stopped their flight when their comrade was wounded. They gave their names and addresses as James Cassidy, 19, 46 Rogers street; Edward Sweeney, 18, 269 Silver street; Thomas Francis, 17, 501 Southampton street, and Harry Linkey, all of South Boston. They were turned over to the Boston police who charged them with having stolen the automobile in South Boston. Shiavone was hurried to the Newton Hospital.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

Plans Being Made to Complete the Drive for $1,500,000 for the Newton Hospital

Plans for the follow-up campaign, by which it is expected that at least another $300,000 will be raised for the Newton Hospital building and equipment fund will be outlined to the leaders in the campaign at a dinner-meeting at the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday evening, June 14. This meeting, originally set for Thursday evening of this week, was postponed because of the sudden death of George S. Smith, associate chairman of the campaign advisory committee and an active worker in the canvass for funds.

To date the campaign organization has raised in cash contributions and in subscriptions a grand total of $1,019,087. Of this sum the team organization, which had as its objective the raising of $350,000, has amassed a total of $353,253. The doctors' division which sought to raise $15,000 has raised $30,183, and the nurses' division which had $15,000 as its minimum goal has reached a total of $20,052.

In making a clean-up campaign the committee plans to see that every house in Newton is visited. Those who have already contributed in cash will be asked to make a subscription over a three-year period, and those who have not as yet given will be asked to subscribe as liberally as possible. The committee plans to make this follow-up campaign a most thorough-going one in order that no one in Newton may say he was not asked to do his part for the hospital.

The meeting on Monday night is set for 6.30 o'clock. To it are invited the executive committee of the campaign, all members of the special gifts committee, and the division leaders and captains, who served during the intensive period of the campaign.

The executive committee has been asked to meet at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon with Leon B. Rogers, general campaign chairman.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

TWELFTH INNING VICTORY

Newton high went into first place in the Suburban league Friday afternoon by scoring four runs in the twelfth inning to defeat Somerville high 7 to 3 on Dilboy Field. Newton did not stay in the lead very long as Tuesday afternoon Cambridge trounced Brookline 8 to 2 and is now tied with Newton. Everett and Brookline meet tomorrow afternoon and should Brickley's nine win Everett will also be tied with Newton and Cambridge. There is talk of a play-off for the title but this does not seem likely.

Newton scored first in the second. Gilligan doubled to the fence in left centre. Went to third on Holbrook's neat sacrifice and tallied on McCullough's single.

Somerville knotted the count in the third on Sullivan's single and Aylesbury's twobagger to right field.

Somerville counted again in the fifth. Aylesbury led off with a single and went to second on McHale's sacrifice. McGovern singled scoring his captain. In the sixth Somerville added another when with one down Corbett walked. He went to third when Proctor threw poorly to force him at second on Sullivan's rap and scored when Gilligan interfered with Aylesbury when the latter attempted to squeeze Corbett home.

Newton got a big break in the eighth. Spain led off with a single. Proctor drew a walk. Gilligan beat out an infield rap to Aylesbury who retired Spain at third on a close play. Holbrook hoisted a foul fly to Watson who made a spectacular catch off the screen near the stand. McCullough flied to right centre on which Tanner and Leveroni crashed causing Tanner to drop the ball and allowing Proctor and Gilligan to score, tying the count.

The score remained tied until the big twelfth. Proctor singled. Gilligan hit to McHale who tried to catch Proctor at second. The throw went to centrefield where Tanner dropped it and Proctor moved to third and Gilligan to second. Holbrook came through with a single scoring his two teammates. McCullough doubled scoring Holbrook. McCleary hit to the pitcher and was thrown out, McCullough taking third. Whitmore laid down a pretty bunt scoring his captain. Somerville got one man on in their half of the twelfth by a single with one down but Sullivan grounded to Holbrook and Aylesbury flied to Proctor.

SOMERVILLE SIDELIGHTS

Shaw made a pretty play of Corbett's grounder in the tenth. The Somerville shortstop hit through the box. Pickard batted it down and it rolled towards second base. Shaw came in fast and by a lightning underhand throw nailed Corbett at first by inches.

Watson, Somerville catcher, took a bad toss going after a foul fly in the early part of the game. He ran right into the Newton bench, oblivious to the warnings yelled at him by the Newton players. He apparently caught sight of the bench and tried to hurdle it but struck it with his instep. The toss threw him over onto his head and knocked the wind out of him. In the tenth he made a spectacular catch of Proctor's high foul fly right off the screen in back of the plate. It took nerve to make the catch after the toss he had sustained earlier as the ball was within three inches of the screen.

Gilligan was knocking McHale's slants all over the lot. He gathered four hits in six trips to the plate, won a two-bagger to the fence. His other two attempts were infield raps which he might have beaten out but as the ball was not played to first they had to be scored as fielder's choices.

Proctor continued his savage batting by connecting safely three times out of five. His first attempt was a long low fly to left field which would have been good for the circuit if it had been a little higher. In the eighth he drew a walk and in the ninth he fouled to the catcher.

Somerville had a beautiful chance to score in the fourth. Runners were on second and third because of Whitmore's and Holbrook's errors. Watson attempted to squeeze but Gilligan got the ball and tagged Tanner at the plate. Leveroni tried the same thing but interfered with Gilligan and was called out and the runner sent back to third. Corbett walked putting two men on again but McCullough caught Sullivan's fly for the third out.

MARBLE CHAMPION

The marble championship of Greater Boston was won this year by a product of the Newton schools and playgrounds, William Dunn of Centre street, Newton Centre, a Chinese boy who learned the game in the Orient. He won the city championship handily by defeating his schoolmates in the preliminary rounds and breezing through all comers in the city finals last week and defeating Edwin Weidig of the Bigelow school for the title.

Saturday morning on Boston Common in the tournament conducted by the Boston Traveler he won the Greater Boston championship and the right to represent this part of the state in the national tournament to be held in Atlantic City the last week in June.

In the first set-to Saturday morning Dunn could not seem to get started. He lost his first game to Harry Cohalan of Everett but took the next two for the match. In the second, third, and fourth round matches he defeated Colclough of Medford, Foster of Melrose, and Barry of Revere two straight games each. Then with the championship in sight he went after Antonio Baglione of the South end and came through a winner.

William Dunn was 14 years old the day of his victory and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ng Bow Dunn of 1221 Centre street, Newton Centre. He was born in Roxbury but when but three years old went to China with his parents, returning to this country a few years ago. While in the Orient he learned the game of "ringer marbles" and when he enrolled in the Mason school and heard of the Traveler tournament he began to practice in earnest.

Besides the trip to Atlantic City he receives a gold medal for winning the championship of Greater Boston, a silver medal for winning the championship of Newton, a free season pass to all the Boston National league baseball games and visits to New York, Philadelphia, and Valley Forge.

CLOSES SEASON WITH WIN

Newton closed its official season Tuesday afternoon with an 8 to 4 victory over the Brockton high school nine. Unless there is a play-off for the Suburban league title many of Newton's stars have played in the orange and black colors for the last time. As Newton high has a rule prohibiting post-season games it is unlikely that a championship series will be played. However, as it is a Suburban league title and not a state or interstate affair the authorities may decide it is not a post-season game, and permit a play-off.

Tommy Gilligan, playing for Newton high for the last time, was the star of the Brockton game connecting for three doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Proctor speared a hot liner off O'Connell's bat with one hand in the first inning that saved a two-base hit.

McCleary started on the mound for Newton and was given a one-run lead in the very first inning after Spain singled, stole second and tallied on Gilligan's first two-bagger over third base. Big Sam got in trouble in the second frame. Dee led off with a single and was sacrificed to second. McCleary passed the next two batters and filled the bases. Pickard relieved the colored boy and was greeted with a ringing single to left field by Disalle, Brockton twirler, scoring two runs. Disalle stole second and when Proctor threw wild on Matthews' grounder two more runs counted. That was all Brockton could get as Pickard settled down in the later innings and although touched up for five more hits kept them well scattered.

Newton kept hammering away at Disalle's slants scoring once in the first, second, third, sixth and seventh, and three in the fourth. That one inning was a big one. Andres led off with a hot shot to third which struck O'Connell's leg and caromed off into the long grass putting Andres on second. He rode home on Pickard's triple to the left field canvas after Whitmore and flied to right. Pickard scored on Shaw's single. Shaw stole second and went to third on Spain's sacrifice to second. Proctor scored Shaw with a clean hit.

NEWTON "Y" WINS 2-1

The Newton Y. M. C. A. baseball team defeated the Fleischman Yeast Company Team of Cambridge two to one last Saturday afternoon on the Newton "Y" field. This is the third "Y" game this season with two wins and one defeat by the Brooksides. The game was a pitcher's battle primarily with George Hokanson on the mound for the Y. M. C. A. and "Peg" Wood pitching for the Yeast Cakes. Newton brought in the first run in the second inning when Hokanson scored and then the game was scoreless until the sixth when the Yeast Company scored its only run by McKinney. In the seventh Varley scored the winning run.

Saturday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. is playing Harry Gray's West Newton team at the "Y", while the Junior Y. M. C. A. team is meeting the Hobos of Watertown at Watertown.

Y. M. C. A.

A group adjourned over to East Boston last Sunday, June 6th, to give an entertainment at the immigration station. The concert was very much appreciated by about forty people of different nationalities that are detained there. The musicians taking part were: Mrs. Philip Horne, Pianist, Albert Hansen, Violinist, Stephen Currier, Celloist, Paul Noble and Albert Fish, Cornetists.

SPORT NOTES

Jake Stafford is slated to be the first string quarterback at Harvard this fall. The peppery Newton athlete is at the Brooks hospital recovering from a recent operation on his knee. Last fall Stafford was troubled by a "trick" knee and so submitted to having a cartilage removed by Dr. Tommy Richards. The operation was successful and it is expected that Stafford will recover his old-time effectiveness as a signal-barker.

Boston University Athletic Council has awarded letters to several Newton athletes enrolled in the school. Harold G. Thompson of West Newton was awarded his letter in track. John Lawless of West Newton won his in baseball. Minor sport letters in tennis were awarded to Donald Martin of Waban and George E. Hill, Jr., of Newton Centre. Donald T. Fairweather of Newtonville won his letter in golf, another minor sport. Lexington high school golfers interrupted Newton high's winning streak Monday afternoon by holding the orange and black to a tie with 3½ points each at the Lexington Golf Club.

Arthur Noble, Jr., won the boy's singles tennis tournament at Chestnut Hill last Saturday defeating David Scott in the final round. Paired with Virginia Rice in the mixed doubles the Newton Centre youth annexed the title in that tournament as well, defeating Sarah Palfrey and N. W. Niles, Jr. Virginia Rice reached the final round in the girls' singles but was defeated for the championship by Sarah Palfrey.

Newton high school outdoor track team scored 1½ points at the State meet Saturday afternoon in the Stadium to place twelfth. Kinraide of Newton placed fourth in the broad jump. Buswell won his heat in the century and Kohlmeyer placed second in his heat in the 220, and Cole won the third heat of the low hurdles. All three failed to place in the finals. Medford high defeated Newton in the relay.

Last Friday night the Saxony Mills nine was defeated by the Saxonville Town team 10 to 0 at Framingham. Heperton held the Saxony team to two hits.

The Newton Pals were swamped by the Arlington Town Team on Cabot Park Sunday afternoon 18 to 2. The Arlington team batted four pitchers, Lyman, Nickerson, Sleiparker, and Pass, for 21 hits while all the Pals could get off McSweeney was four.

Saturday afternoon the Saxony Mills team defeated the St. Patrick's 9 to 1 at Victory Field. McLaughlin held the visitors to three hits.

Dick Vaughan produced a single in the sixth inning of the Yale-Princeton game last Saturday scoring Kline and increasing the Bulldog's lead over the Tiger to four runs.

John Proctor, Newton high shortstop, has clinched the Suburban league batting title with an average of .655 in nine of the ten league games. Proctor connected nineteen times out of twenty-nine attempts and is well ahead of the second place batter, Roger Potter of Brookline. If Proctor's arm was in keeping with the rest of his ability he would doubtless be named all-interscholastic shortstop but Eddie McGrath of Brookline has the call.

Tommy Gilligan and Alan Shaw were the outstanding baserunners on the Newton high school baseball team this spring. Both are versatile and heady players. Gilligan has played every position on the team this year except in left field and in the pitcher's box. Shaw has also played several positions having appeared in right and centre fields, second and first bases, and in one game donned the catcher's paraphernalia when Gilligan was out.

Gilligan has stretched more hits into extra bases than any other man on the team. The reason for this is because he worked out with the indoor track team for a month at the end of the season and learned how to run under Dickinson's eye. At Somerville he showed his ability when he scored from first base on a muffed fly in right centre.

Unless there should be a play-off for the Suburban title many of the Newton team played their last game for the orange and black against Brockton Tuesday. Alan Shaw, who enters Bowdoin in the fall connected for two hits out of five attempts for a final appearance. Tom Gilligan went to bat four times and slashed out three doubles and a single for a perfect day as his last. Bob Pickard, who relieved McCleary in the second tripled to the canvas in one of four tries. Captain McCullough, who has had a disappointing season, singled once in four trips Whitmore and Holbrook failed to hit safely in four times at bat for each although each sacrificed once.

The remainder of the team, namely, Spain, Proctor, Stubbs, and Andres, will be on deck next year to represent Newton on the diamond.

The Newton Pals won a Twi-league victory over the Newton Catholic Club after the shower Tuesday night on West Newton common 4 to 3. Pass held the Catholic Club to five hits while Riley was touched up for eight by the Pals. Bunching hits in the third inning for three runs brought victory to the Pals.

In addition to the awards given at B. U. to Newton boys in athletics are honors won by two Newtonville girls. Chevrons and numerals were won by Ruth Daggett and Emily Chamberlain.

Newton will be represented on the Boston tennis team to compete for the Church Cup against Philadelphia and New York today and tomorrow at the the West Side Tennis Club. Lawrence B. Rice of Newton Centre will play in the singles.

Malcolm T. Hill will also play on the Boston Church Cup tennis team. The Waban youth has replaced N. W. Niles who found it impossible to make the trip.

The West Newton A. C. won a free-hitting game from the Allston Town Team Wednesday evening at Allston 10 to 5. The colored boys scored two runs in the opening frame. Allston retaliated when Whitaker poled a home run off McCleary with the bases filled. Cooper replaced McCleary and held them to one more run—another homer by Whitaker. West Newton came through in the fourth with eight runs three of which came on Lomax' triple with the bases loaded and two out.

BAD FALL

A stunt that has thrilled audiences at Norumbega for three weeks came to an end not scheduled Friday night when one of the men was hurled from a whirling wheel and tossed 50 feet to the ground.

Gus Stenos, 46, of 23 East 7th street, New York City, one of the team styled "The Attenos," is the injured man. At the Newton Hospital Friday night it was stated that he will recover. He sustained a broken arm and several broken ribs.

His partner, Joe, was so startled and shocked that he was helpless in his wheel, 50 feet high, and ladders were thrown up and he was taken to the ground and given first aid.

The stunt was performed on an aerial structure that had two huge wheels joined in a fashion suggesting spectacles. Pivoted in the center, the wheels whirled around with a man fastened to each wheel, his figure appearing from the ground to be in the shape of the letter "X," arms stretched upward and feet spread apart, ankles and feet being fastened.

"Love Me Less or Love Me More"

Certain it is that today we are out of favor with Europe—and no dislike is so difficult to cure as an unreasonable and unreasoning one. What can one say to a lady who merely reiterates, "I no longer love you"? Patience—and good will, and good sense are the only weapons that can serve us. And how skillfully President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg are employing them is outlined in Richard Washburn Child's salient article, "Patience Our Policy," in The Saturday Evening Post, now on sale, five cents.

BANBURY CROSS By Frances Noyes Hart

Imagine if you can a great opera star who loathed her own singing, and a great music critic who hated music. Imagine a background of romantic mystery for the lady—hints of European intrigue, shadowy castles in the Pyrenees, Basque bravos muffled in their great cloaks, cheering crowds in every capital from Leningrad to Rome.

Then toss lady and critic into a tiny New England village—and watch the fireworks.

CRIPPLES ENTERTAINED

More than 50 boys from the Peabody Home for Crippled Children were guests of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church, Newton, Saturday afternoon, at an outing and dinner at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. None of the afflicted was more than 15, several have just passed their 6th birthdays, and all are badly crippled. Many were carried in the arms of their hosts. Others hobbled about on crutches. Still others had their bodies braced with steel waists.

The children were taken to Swampscott in a fleet of motor cars provided by A. E. Bloom, and were in charge of Herman J. Pettingill, Jr., both of whom are members of the Men's Club.

A varied program of sports was given on the golf green in the rear of the hotel, chief of which was a baseball game between the fathers and sons, won by the former by 12 to 7. Prizes were awarded the captains of both teams, and special favors given each member of the boys' nine.

The sport program was in charge of George W. Taylor of Newton Centre, the children from the home being guarded and assisted by a committee of which Paul Goddard was chairman. Others on committees were Ernest W. Deering of Newton Centre, who distributed the prizes; Dr. Harold G. Giddings, who was general chairman; William H. Raye, Chester Churchill, James H. Ritchie, A. Leslie Harwood and Ferguson Hayden.

BENEFIT SHOP

The Benefit Shop of the Hospital Aid Association, which was opened to the public on Friday, June 4, will be open daily during the summer, except on Thursday. The hours of business are from 1 to 5 o'clock on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday, and from 1 to 7 o'clock on Monday. Ladies from different sections of the Newton will be in charge of the shop, which is located at 10 Bailey Place, Newtonville, on these days.

As an indication of the popularity of this shop, the entire proceeds of which go to the Newton Hospital, the committee in charge announced that the proceeds for the first day amounted to more than $100, and a $50 business was done on the second afternoon.

Household articles, clothing of all kinds, hats, shoes, books, pictures, antiques, and furniture will be received for sale. Clothing of all kinds is particularly in demand, and those in charge ask that any thing in that line be saved for the shop. Particularly is men's and children's clothing needed. A postal card to the Benefit Shop will bring a representative to call for any articles that are to be donated.

The shop is not collecting articles for salvaging, and anything that is given should be usable, the committee desires to make plain.

I. O. O. F. CARNIVAL

Spring time, as every one knows, is circus time, and as the circus companies are not allowed to show in Newton, the Odd Fellows Building Association of Newton, Inc., are, on the 24th, 25th and 26th of June, to conduct on their grounds at 15 Northgate Park, West Newton, a gigantic Carnival, where every thing to please both old and young will be found in full swing, including a ten act side show, a Punch and Judy show for the kiddies and the world's greatest high dive act, in fact many of the interesting things such as would be found under the large tents of the traveling circus.

In addition to the above there will be candy, peanuts and red lemonade and best of all, a chance to win one or more of the many wonderful prizes that will be offered, so here is your chance, good folks, to enjoy an honest-to-goodness good time in your own town, in the interest of your own people, where the money obtained will be used for benevolent purposes.

The Odd Fellows' Building, which as has been stated, is located at 15 Northgate Park, West Newton, is owned and controlled by the Odd Fellows of Newton, was purchased by them some two years ago, to be used for Lodge and social purposes, to date it has proved to be a success to the fullest extent.

DORFER-FAGANDER

An attractive home wedding took place on Saturday evening, June 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rogers, 78 Page road, Newtonville, when Miss Hilma I. Fagander was united in marriage to Mr. Philip E. Dorfer of Everett, Mass., in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur M. Ellis of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville.

Miss Agnes Olson played the wedding march and the dance music.

The bride's gown was of white satin and lace, with a veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Agnes Soderlund acted as flower girl, carrying a baket of sweet peas.

The Misses Alma Warner and Annie Anderson were ribbon bearers, each carrying a bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. Richard Dorfer, a brother of the groom, was best man, and Miss Elsie V. Anderson, maid of honor, her bouquet being of butterfly roses.

After refreshments and dancing the newly wedded couple started on their honeymoon. They will reside in Newtonville.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Again Fills Community Theatre

An unusually large audience listened to the lecture on Christian Science at Community Theatre last Sunday afternoon. The subject: "Christian Science: The Fulfillment of Scriptural Promises," is one that appeals to thoughtful people in every community, and this interest was reflected in the close attention given to the lecturer.

He was introduced by Wentworth P. Barker, the First Reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, in these words:

"Some of you are possibly wondering why we did not invite you to come this afternoon to our new church edifice—The fact is, there were so many of you who wanted to hear this lecture that we just had to open our arms to you and ask you to come here.

"Our welcome here is none the less cordial and we extend to you all an invitation to visit our church and attend our services: and I am glad to announce that arrangements have been made to have our church open to visitors for one hour after the close of this lecture. The ushers will be glad to direct strangers to the church.

"The opening of our new church has been a joyous occasion for us and we want you to share our joy.

"It seems a happy working out of divine Mind that has brought to us today the lecturer of the afternoon, who has for us all a message of joy.

"He speaks with authority on the subject of Christian Science for he is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

"It gives me great pleasure to introduce to you Mr. Salem A. Hart, Jr., C. S., of Cleveland, Ohio."

Mr. Hart spoke as follows:

When the seventy disciples, whom Jesus had sent forth on a mission of healing, returned with rejoicing, the Bible tells us that he said to them: "Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you." (Luke 10:19). This promise, or assurance, of spiritual power to heal is beautifully set forth in the following correlative passage on page 55 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. "The promises will be fulfilled. The time for the reappearing of the divine healing is throughout all time; and whosoever layeth his earthly all on the altar of divine Science, drinketh of Christ's cup now, and is endued with the spirit and power of Christian healing."

Webster defines the word "promise" as that which causes, or gives ground for, hope, expectation, or assurance. Now, I feel sure that we will all agree that the promises made in the Bible are true, and were made for all time; so have we not the right to expect the fulfillment of these promises? Christian Science answers this question in the affirmative, and is fulfilling the promise of health and long life to the afflicted; of deliverance and forgiveness to the sinning; of comfort and protection to the sorrowful; of peace and plenty to those in want and woe; of wisdom and strength to the humble and obedient. It fulfills God's promise found in Isaiah: "And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them" (Isaiah 42:16). So, if there be any here to-night seeking a solution for the problem of grief and separation; if there be any who are sick or in want; if there be any who are struggling with misfortune or sin; if, perchance, there be any who for the first time have crossed the threshold of Christian Science, we have for you a joyous message of Love, of deliverance, of comfort, and happiness.

GOD

Jesus said, "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed: and ye shall show the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (John 8: 31-32). The truth about what? Why, the truth of being as recorded in the first chapter of Genesis—the truth about God and man, the truth which Mrs. Eddy discovered and brought to light in her study of the Bible.

In order to know this truth, it is necessary to know God aright; for Christian Science teaches that God is Truth. It is a regrettable fact that in this enlightened age so many differing beliefs about God are entertained. Many have been taught from childhood to believe that God is a corporeal or superhuman being, old in appearance, with a long, white beard, seated on a throne somewhere afar off, clad in flowing robes, with a sceptre in His hand; that He listens to our petitions or prayers, and condemns or pardons according to His judgment, which judgment is accepted as His will. Many also believe that He sends pestilence, famine, disease, and disaster to mankind as a punishment for wrong doing. It seems almost incredible that anyone to-day could accept such a concept of God, and yet, many individuals are worshipping just such a concept. And it is because of these false or contrary beliefs about God that men and women are suffering, and paying the awful penalties accompanying such beliefs, the penalty of sin, sickness, and even death. Ignorantly believing that God causes all these afflictions, they even fear God: and this universal fear on the part of mankind is the cause of nearly all disease, all sin and poverty, in fact, suffering of every sort.

On page 19 of the Christian Science textbook, we find these words: "Jesus urged the commandment, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me,' which may be rendered: Thou shalt have no belief of Life as mortal: Thou shalt not know evil, for there is one Life,—even God, good." Christ Jesus was the son of the God that is infinite good, who made all things good, and hath done no evil. Therefore, Christian Science teaches that God has ordained no law or sin or disease for you—no discomfort of any kind. It is sometimes asked, What is God's law? Christian Science answers His law is the law of Life, Truth, and Love, the law of health, of perfection, of infinite good. This ever-present law is ever operative, and is an ever-present help that is the healer of disease. Therefore, all we need to do is to stop being afraid, to correct our thinking, to trust God, and know that when man has no law to govern him other than God's law, the law of health and Life, he is God-governed, hence perfect. The Bible tells us that God gave man dominion, and that means that we should be master of our surroundings, our environment, our business, our thinking. Christian Science declares that to know God aright, we must know Him as infinite good, as Life, Truth, and Love, Spirit, Soul, infinite Mind, Principle, intelligence, substance. We must understand Him to be the only power, the only presence, All-in-all. Therefore, if God is All-in-all, then He is all there is.

Here someone may ask, If God is All-in-all, what and where is evil? The Bible tells us that God made all, "and without Him was not anything made that was made," and that He pronounced all He made good. Hence, evil, or devil, being no part of His creation, has no abiding place, is not power, and at best its only existence could be in a false belief. When asked, "From whence comest thou?" the devil answered, "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it." (Job 2:2) Thus it is readily seen that there cannot possibly be two opposite powers occupying the same space at the same time, because God, good, Principle, fills all space, and, consequently, there is no room for His unlikeness, for malice, envy, hatred, fear, jealousy, revenge, anger.

MAN

With this concept of God fixed in our consciousness, let us consider for a moment His image and likeness, man. In the first chapter of Genesis it is recorded that God created man in His image and likeness. The Bible also records that God is a Spirit, or Spirit. Therefore, man, created in the image and likeness of Spirit, must be spiritual, and not material. On page 468 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy has given us the scientific statement of being, which, when understood, makes this point very clear. It reads as follows: "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all. Spirit is immortal Truth; matter is mortal error. Spirit is the real and eternal; matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God, and man is His image and likeness. Therefore man is not material; he is spiritual." Thus it is shown that man is the reflection, or image and likeness, of all that is good and perfect, that he reflects the peace, joy, and happiness of perfect health. He is thinking good, healthy, pure and loving thoughts as the direct result of reflecting divine intelligence. As Paul says, "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." (II Corinthians 3:18.)

If there is any one thing that we ought to be grateful for, it is our God-given ability to think. In Proverbs we read, as a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he." Can you not see the importance of thinking correctly about all things? As we come in contact with the problems of human experience incident to daily life, as we encounter difficulties in our business, and entertan thoughts of inactivity, dull seasons, lack and discouragement, we are shown by Christian Science that it is largely our own wrong thinking that causes our difficulty. So let us correct this error; let us be careful about our thinking, and, as St. Paul says, "put off the old man with his deeds: and . . . . put on the new man" (Colossians 3-9-10).

SENSE TESTIMONY

One of the basic causes of so much discord and sickness to-day is the general acceptance by mankind of personal sense testimony as reliable and true. We are not trusting God when we accept and rely upon the testimony of the senses as real or true, for we are then believing that matter has life, intelligence, and sensation. The five physical senses cannot be depended upon for guidance and truthful information, and I feel sure many of us have experienced striking examples of the falsity of sense evidence. Let us consider for a moment two parallel lines, such as the tracks of a railroad. Sense testimony would have us believe that these two lines converge into one at a distant point. Can we accept such a statement as true? Certainly not. And why? Because we know the truth about this proposition, and no amount of argument can change it. We also know that the sun does not rise in the morning nor set in the evening. We also know that the earth is not stationary, but revolves on its axis once every twenty-four hours. We also know that any object in the distance is not as small as mortal vision would have us believe. And so I could go on and cite many instances of the unreliability of sense testimony. There is a marked difference between understanding and belief. Sense testimony subjects us to many conflicting beliefs, while Truth only is knowable, for there is only one Truth. Mrs. Eddy states on page 203 of the Christian Science textbook, "If God were understood instead of being merely believed, this understanding would establish health." Christian Science bids us awake from this material dream of sensation in matter, from this snare and delusion which has victimized mankind, to the full realization and understanding that God is All-in-all, the only power, and that everything unlike Him is unreal and untrue.

NEED OF SALVATION

Now how is this to be accomplished? Christian Science is demonstrating that the Christianity preached and practiced by Christ Jesus is as available to-day as it was centuries ago. Now, as then, does it lead the way out of the depths of sin and disease to the heights of purity and health. It matters not how long one has wandered amid the woods and mountains in profound darkness, gloom, and despair; it matters not how low one has fallen in the depths of sin; Christian Science teaches that Love is the liberator. As Mrs. Eddy has so beautifully stated on page 454 of the Christian Science textbook, "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way."

The Bible tells us that now is the day of salvation, that "now are we the sons of God." What a blessing to know that salvation is not afar off, is not a future possibility, but is a present available and practical accomplishment, the realization of which is made possible by knowing, as Christian Science teaches, that God is the only Mind, intelligence, and that man in the image and likeness of God is reflecting this Mind, this intelligence. Paul said: "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:5). The mind which was in Christ Jesus is a mind entirely filled with goodness and godliness; it is a state of consciousness wherein God is ever acknowledged as the only presence, the only power, the only reality, and this is the mind the student of Christian Science must attain in order to be saved. Answering the inquiry of Nicodemus, Jesus said: "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3), showing the necessity of regeneration, to put off mortality and put on immortality—to reflect that mind which heals the sick and reforms the sinner and demonstrates that "the Kingdom of God is within you."

SPIRITUAL HEALING

Many are under the impression today that Christian Scientists are cold, indifferent, and unsympathetic regarding the belief of sickness and suffering, and charge us with doing nothing to afford relief to those who are struggling with such beliefs. This is because it is difficult for a person thinking in terms of matter to comprehend how healing can be done without drugs, manipulation, or material means.

Christian Science does not approve of or recognize the use of material remedies or materials means of any sort as an agency of healing; on the contrary, it adopts the purely spiritual teaching and practice of the blessed Master, and only by intelligent and absolute reliance on God, "Who," as the Psalmist declares, "forgiveth all thine iniquities; Who healeth all thy diseases," is true healing made possible, and is man rescued from the false beliefs of sin and disease. Christian Science treatment is not a system of denials; it is not the hypnotic influence of one human mind upon another; nor is it suggestion nor mesmerism, as is sometimes ignorantly stated. To the accusation that he cast out devils by Beelzebub, Jesus replied, "If I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out?" (Matthew 12:27). Error cannot correct error; no more can the human mind uninstructed in spiritual law grasp the import of spiritual healing, nor the means by which it is brought about.

The Christian Science practitioner never attempts to heal matter, never regards person as a patient. He knows instantly that a patient is an erring sense of mind, recognizes that causation is mental, and endeavors to reveal to the patient the Science or truth of being; and when this truth is revealed to the consciousness of the sufferer, he is healed.

Thousands of men and women have been healed of sickness and sin through reading the Christian Science textbook alone, as evidenced by testimonials which will be found in the last chapter, "Fruitage," and also by those given at our Wednesday evening testimonial services, proving that the revelation of Truth contained in those pages opens the door of human understanding, brings to human consciousness man's true relationship to God, and permanent healing, unlabored and joyous, follows as a natural consequence. This understanding of God impels man to learn His will and do it. Thus governed, man learns that it is God who "healeth all thy diseases" and is an ever-present help in trouble. Christian Scientists are learning to trust this God and rely on His promises. They are proving that He does answer the righteous prayer of the sick and sinning.

PRAYER

True Christianity includes prayer, and prayer is generally believed by Christian people to be the means by which man communicates with God. There are many different opinions among Christians as to what constitutes true prayer, and we sometimes hear the opinion voiced that Christian Scientists do not pray, that they are a prayerless people. It seems almost incredible that such a belief could exist to-day. Christian Scientists not only pray without ceasing, but they pray understandingly. It is true they do not petition God to grant material desires and pleasures. They do not ask Him to conform His will to theirs. On page 1 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy states, "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God,—a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed Love;" and it is from this standpoint that the Christian Scientist prays the prayer of affirmation, and such prayer is answered by removing from consciousness everything unlike God, good.

Jesus attached so much importance to the right concept of prayer that he gave us the greatest of all prayers known as the Lord's Prayer. The first chapter in the Christian Science textbook is on prayer, and in this chapter Mrs. Eddy sets forth clearly and concisely what constitutes true prayer and what the purpose of prayer must

The Court of Honor and special parents meeting of Troop 4 of Newton Highlands Monday evening was one of the most inspiring meetings Scouting has ever seen in Newton. Over one hundred and fifty parents, friends and guests of scouts were present in addition to over fifty scouts and officers. The meeting opened with the usual scout meeting, roll call, flag ceremony, scribe's report, etc. This was followed by a short business session at which Scout Fred Black was elected Senior Patrol Leader, Richard Marcy appointed Patrol Leader and Edward Schirmer an assistant Patrol Leader, then came demonstrations of signaling, First Aid, and Stretcher Work and Friction Fire. The report of the Scoutmaster, Mr. Frank E. Lichtenthaeler, called attention to the fact that the troop now consists of 51 Scouts, 46 of whom are active, 4 non-resident and one non-active and was a well-balanced troop with 17 in each of the three grades, Tenderfoot, Second Class and First Class, including Merit Badge, Star, Life and Eagle. He reported favorably on the results of the work of the Drum and Bugle Corps and its combination with troop 5 of Newton Centre as a step toward the Council Corps which should be the aim. Mr. Lichtenthaeler paid a high tribute to the Scout who received the Eagle Badge, Fred Black, saying in part, "It is a credit to Fred and to his parents that his purpose to attain Eagle rank has survived so many troop changes, having been in three troops before transferring into troop 4 last fall. His fine spirit was apparent to us from the start. No sooner had he made his connection with troop 4 than he immediately set to work to complete his unfinished task and tonight sees the accomplishment of his object, Eagle Rank, and we are glad to be the awarding troop."

Scout Black is the son of Lieut. Col. F. F. Black, now in command of Ft. Andrews, Boston Harbor. The Eagle badge is the sign of a hard four years' work in the scout requirements, it being necessary to obtain 21 Merit Badges after reaching first Class rank, some of them very difficult to obtain. Mr. Lichtenthaeler also referred to Eagle Scout Cobleigh who is Junior Assistant Scoutmaster in the troop as being the "Foremost Scout" in the troop. He has served the troop from Tenderfoot in June, 1920, to Eagle Rank in May, 1925, and has been recently appointed Assistant Scoutmaster after having successfully carried along the positions of Scribe, Patrol Leader, Senior Patrol Leader. Due to his leaving in the fall to enter college Talmadge Fletcher was elected as assistant Scoutmaster. Mr. Grosvenor D. Marcy reported for the Troop Committee and gave a very excellent report of an active committee, paying their tribute to the Scoutmaster and other officers. The session of the Court of Honor then awarded the badges of rank as referred to following: Tenderfoot Badges to Candidates Cannon, Owen Collins, MacLellan, Gilmore, Evans, Tudbury and Haberstroh. Second Class badges to Scouts Burns, William Dillaway, and Edw. Cobleigh of troop 4 and Edwin H. Parkin, Jr., of troop 5. First Class to Robert Bonner and Robert Warfield of troop 4. Star and Life Badge to Henry Colony of Troop 5, Life Scout badge to Robert Wilke of troop 4 and William Carleton of troop 5. Other Merit Badges to Julius Ober of troop 1, Fred R. Black, Emmons B. Brown, Evan Clooins, Richard Marcy, Edward Schirmer, Richard Schroeder, and Robert Wilke of troop 4. William T. Carleton, Henry Colony, Leslie Doton, John M. Hitchcock, Fred Purdy and Bartlett Thorogood of trop 5, Palmer Congdon and Ritchie Garrison of troop 10, Waban, a total of fifty-eight Merit Badges in all. The Eagle Scout Badge was presented to Scout Fred R. Black of troop 4 by Mr. Jerome M. Carley, Scout Executive, in the absence of Mayor Childs, who sent his regrets.

The dedication of the camp of Troop 7, West Newton, which was to have taken place Saturday the 12th, has been postponed until fall.

Another Court of Honor will be held probably at West Newton in the last week of the month of June.

A meeting of the Executive Committee will be held on the usual date, the third Wednesday, June 16th.

AUTO KILLS LABORER

Wednesday morning as Tomaso Determino of 418 Hanover street, Boston, an employee of T. Stuart & Sons, was crossing Washington street in front of the Woodland Golf Club with a heavy plank on his shoulder, he was hit by an automobile driven by James Brackin of 1 Appian Way, Allston. Determino's neck was broken and he died while being carried to the Newton Hospital, just across the street. Brackin was arrested and in the Newton Court was charged with manslaughter and driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. His case was continued to June 23rd. The police claim he was driving at a high rate of speed, and because of this circumstance preferred the manslaughter charge against him without waiting for the inquest as is customarily done.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

The Newton Archers are now practising for the Eastern Archery Association tournament on July 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, at Deerfield Academy, Deerfield, Mass. Miss Ruth Brewer of Newton Centre is secretary-treasurer of this association. Mrs. Burton Payne Gray of Newton Centre is to be the Lady Paramount. Many unique prizes are planned for this event. Boy and Girl Scouts are to compete and delegates are already assured from Smith and Mt. Holyoke Colleges.

Dr. Paul W. Crouch of Newton Centre brought home the open championship medal of the Metropolitan Archery Association, also winning the honor of making the highest score at the tournament. Newton may well be proud of the record of this archery champion.

COLONNA CLUB

On the evening of Tuesday, June 8th, the Colonna Club held its banquet. It was a real Italian banquet, with Raviolli and meat balls, prepared and served by the club members. This being the club's first banquet at the school, it was a real adventure in the catering business. The refreshments committee feels ready to start in professionally. Mr. Winslow spoke of his interest and pride in the club, now a year and a half old. Mrs. Margaret Merlino, who was the club leader in the fall, spoke in Italian. To Mrs. Carlo Montanari the girls gave a bouquet of sweet peas, to show her in a little way how much they appreciate her "interest and friendship through the last year." Mrs. Hay with a pupil from the All Newton Music School furnished music which was much appreciated. The chief entertainment from club memmers came after the banquet in seeing living pictures of various members as they appeared as "baby," at "sweet sixteen," the "bride and groom," and the "popular town beauty." Everyone enjoyed these sights of the past. One picture only, seemed a bit pathetic. The poor groom, hen-pecked and shrunken, seemed hardly an object for laughter.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the informal reception given on Sunday the sixth, by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fay Hatch of Waverley avenue in observance of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Hatch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Loomis, now of Newton, but for more than forty years residents of Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Loomis were married in Columbus, Ohio, June 6th, 1876. They came to Medford in 1879, and for many years were identified with the varied interests of the town and city.

Many prominent citizens from Newton and Medford were present at the reception.

The spacious house was a veritable bower of bloom, every available space being filled with the beautiful floral remembrances of friends.

One especially attractive piece was a cluster of magnificent roses, the gift of Governor and Mrs. Fuller. Another was the splendid bunch of lilies of the valley, carried by Mrs. Loomis, the thoughtful gift of a friend.

Mrs. Carrie W. Hoover of Medford, who was one of the guests, was the attending lady fifty years ago.

A shower of gold pieces was among the gifts; among them was a jewel case containing fifty dollars in gold, from the associate directors of Mr. Loomis in the Medford Co-operative Bank.

The hours of the reception were filled with good wishes, congratulations, and happy salutations.

Among the gifts to Mrs. Loomis was an original poem, printed in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch were a charming host and hostess, and their arrangement of details for the pleasure of their guests, elicited many congratulating expressions.

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

There is much that is to be admired in our complicated social system; there is much that is to be criticised and there is much to make us open our eyes in surprise and wonder, but one peculiar characteristic of the race of men seems to remain unchanged and always a source of amazement. That one characteristic is merely the invariable tendency to think in the extreme. It has been said that perfect balance of one's life would contain four elements: work, play, love and worship. Many lives we know lack one or the other of those four elements and some lack as many as three at once. The well balanced life is exceedingly rare and the result is the characteristic above mentioned. As regards our thought just as regards our lives we most often lack a "happy mean." And the children follow our lead.

This lack leads us into peculiar and many times humorous attitudes. Let us consider one of the most glaring. It will make us smile at our own stupidity if nothing more.

When a man fails to contribute largely to a popular cause, he is at once labeled: stingy. If he gives with unexpected generosity he is doing so for show. If he takes an active part in religion he is very apt to be called a hypocrite and if he doesn't he is almost certain to be called a heathen. If he gives of himself to his friends and with much affection he is said to be sentimental and if he stands aloof he is cold-blooded and cares for no one. If he goes into politics he is said to be in it for graft and if he stays out of them he is a disinterested citizen. If he is thrifty and lives within his means he is a miser and if he spends money freely, he is pointed out as an idle spendthrift. If he says little he is "dumb" and if he says much he is a "gabber." And so it goes.

They showed the visitors what they had done to improve the kitchen with the help of the boys in sloyd, who made the splendid kitchen cabinet and helped in painting of the furniture and woodwork. The girls' cook books were on exhibition at that time.

Tuesday, June 7, marked another victory for the Mason baseball team which defeated the Pierce School with a score of 7-6. The Mason is now looking forward to the championship games with the Burr.

Last week the sixth and seventh grades went over to the library where Miss Chase of the library talked to them about books, their value, and how to use them wisely and to their advantage.

Tuesday, June 8, the graduating class held their class day exercises in the nature of a field day. The first event was a baseball game between the boys and girls. The boys won. Prizes were awarded for the following events: Marathon, Edward Patterson, first, Carl Watt, second; fifty yard dash for girls—Everill Pinkham, first, Janet Ryther, second; boys' three legged race—Edward Patterson and Ellsworth Benson, first, Donald Briggs and Merrill Duboy, second; girls' three legged race—Esther Walther and Marion Hessler, first, Mary Carrick and Catherine Thompson, second; boys' sack race—Antonio Simone, first, John McCourt, second; girls' sack race—Esther Walther, first, Grace Thompson, second; boys' high jump—Thomas Howley, first, Donald Briggs, second; girls' high jump—Everill Pinkham, first, Alice Gallagher, second. At the close of the events refreshments were served by a very able committee.

At a recent assembly posture pins were awarded to two pupils from each grade who were voted as having had the finest posture throughout the year. Vincent Del Gallo sang to the great pleasure of the assembly and Miss Sampson's fourth grade presented a safety play entitled "Prescott Learns a Lesson." This play was written by members of the class.

On Tuesday afternoon, June 8, the fifth and sixth grades combined played the Angier fifth and sixth grades baseball team. The final score was 4 to 7 in favor of the Angier team.

A BIRTHDAY TEA PARTY IN WABAN

On Thursday, June 3rd, Mrs. Frederick Parsons of Cluny Lodge, Waban, entertained many St. Luke's Guild ladies and relatives at an informal English Tea Party. Mrs. Parsons was for years a resident of Allston, one of the original members of the Ladies' Guild of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, with memories and associations reaching back to the year of their coming from England in 1893. The arrangements were in the hands of her nieces, Miss Ethel F. Birchley of Brookline and Miss Beatrice D. Birchley who is on a six months' visit from London. Mr. Frederick Parsons very acceptably poured tea, English fashion, and also entertained the guests with lyrics by Celtic and English poets. The table and floral decorations were in pink, green and white. The guests were decorated with lilies of the valley on arrival, and before leaving were presented with prizes of various kinds,—more humorous than artistic.

There was dancing by guests and a general flow of wit prevailed. On behalf of the Guild Ladies, the President, Mrs. Edward B. Martin, brought congratulations and a handsome luncheon set to the hostess. There were many other individual presents from both relatives and guests, and the house and garden were taxed to the full to accommodate all present.

CAPODANNO-SIMONE

Because of the recent death of the bride's father only the immediate families of Miss Rose Phyliss Simeone and Mr. Frank S. Capodanno were present at their marriage Monday, June 7th, at 9 o'clock at the Church of Our Lady.

Rev. Robert W. Mantle officiated at the Nuptial mass immediately after the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of white crepe, trimmed with rhinestones and fashioned with a long train, which fell from the shoulders. The veil was of imported princess lace, caught to the low coiffure sweeping beyond the train. Sprigs of orange blossoms adorned the bride's slippers. Lilies-of-the-valley and white roses made up the bridal bouquet. Miss Mary G. Capodanno, sister of the bridegroom, attended in the maid of honor role, wearing a dainty frock of coral colored georgette. Her hat was of matching color, and she carried a bouquet of sweet peas and tea roses.

Mr. Salvatore Simeone acted as best man at the ceremony. After an extended wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Capodanno will reside in Auburndale.

NOTEWORTHY ANNIVERSARY

A noteworthy anniversary was that observed last Sunday at Trinity Church, Newton Centre, when Rev. Dr. Edward T. Sullivan celebrated his 35th anniversary, as its rector.

The wardens and vestry of the church, knowing that the rector would not mention the fact of his 35th anniversary in advance, sent to all who attend the church a souvenir leaflet of the occasion on which was printed a tribute to Edward Taylor Sullivan from Bishop Lawrence.

The bishop said, "It is a rare pastor who in these days of people's active minds and bodies can remain and work with ever increasing leadership in the same parish for 35 years, especially if it is his first parish. This Dr. Sullivan has done. If he has ever drawn a sermon out from the bottom of his barrel he has so freshened it with living thought and illustration as to make it a new sermon.

"Native ability, work—persistent work—and the spirit of consecration have brought him to the happy day when he is recognized as preacher and beloved pastor and citizen of wide influence. To Dr. Sullivan's pen the diocese is indebted for a knowledge of itself and its opportunities. To him I am deeply indebted for strong support as bishop and for years of happy friendship."

Of him the wardens and vestry said, "No one has ever turned to him in joy or in sorrow without receiving help or consolation; no one ever left his presence without renewed faith and courage."

After the morning services at the church today the members of the congregation left their cards at the doors in order that Dr. Sullivan might have the pleasure of a record of those expressing their appreciation of his years of service to them and the community. The flowers on the altar were in memory of Dr. Sullivan's mother, Elizabeth Boxwell Sullivan.

Thirty-five years ago, when he was a student at the Episcopal Theological school in Cambridge, and at the time when Bishop Lawrence was dean of that school, Dr. Sullivan used to journey to Newton Centre each Sunday to preach to a congregation composed of six or seven families. These services were held in a room on Pleasant street. Upon his graduation he was made rector of the newly-formed parish and five years later a wooden church was built on Pelham street. Later this building was moved to the present church property at Homer and Centre streets and in 1914 a handsome church was built.

be, all of which is in exact accord with the teachings of Jesus. Christian Science treatment is prayer which delivers men from the false beliefs of sin and sickness, and is the means of gaining the perfect understanding of God and His reflection, man. On page 16 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy writes, "Only as we rise above all material sensuousness and sin, can we reach the heaven-born aspiration and spiritual consciousness, which is indicated in the Lord's Prayer and which instantaneously heals the sick." And then follows the Lord's Prayer with its spiritual interpretation, the reading of which has healed thousands instantaneously. The fervency and tenderness of the Lord's Prayer as revealed in the spiritual interpretation quiets fear, removes malice, envy, hatred, and jealousy, stills the tempest of mad ambition.

In June, 1924, it was my privilege to attend the Republican National Convention held in Cleveland, where I witnessed a practical demonstration of the foregoing statement. Each session of the convention was opened with prayer, and the privilege of opening the fourth session was granted to the Christian Scientists. On Thursday afternoon, after a stormy and confused session, recess was taken for one hour after conferences, the convention being called to order again at 4.00 P. M. It was a seething mass of humanity numbering 12,000 people. The delegates were hot and tired from long and tedious labor trying to unite on a candidate for Vice-President. It seemed impossible for the chairman to restore order, and, almost in despair, he asked the Christian Scientist present who was acting as chaplain to invoke the divine blessing. Stepping to the front of the rostrum, he raised his hands and requested all to arise and unite in a few moments of silent prayer, to be followed by the audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. In an instant you could hear a pin drop, the peace and quiet was so marked during the silent prayer, and then followed the reverent, audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer, all present responding in perfect unison. The inspiration and confidence that came to those leaders was beautiful to behold. Several expressed themselves as impressed with the thought of its being the most effectual prayer of the convention. A minister in the audience said it seemed as though the gates of heaven had opened to receive that vast audience into the presence of the Almighty. It is needless to say that the convention quietly and quickly resumed deliberation and soon nominated a candidate for Vice-President. The effects of this experience were far-reaching, as reports show that large assemblies in other cities, listening in on the radio, stood in silence during the silent prayer, and many participated in the audible repetition. It was an experience never to be forgotten, for it again proved the power of true prayer, fulfilling the promise of Scripture so beautifully set forth in the 15th chapter of John, 7th verse: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you."

The following lines of a hymn in the Christian Science Hymnal express the Christian Science thought of what constitutes true prayer:

"Pray'r is the heart's sincere desire,
Unuttered or unexpressed;
The motion of a hidden fire
That trembles in the breast.

Pray'r is the simplest form of speech,
That infant lips can try;
Pray'r the sublimest strains that reach
The Majesty on high.

Pray'r is the Christian's vital breath,
The Christian's native air;
His watchword overcometh death—
He enters heav'n with pray'r."

THE BIBLE

Christian Scientists accept the teachings of the Holy Bible without reservation as their daily rule and guide. This Bible is not a Bible of their own, as it sometimes ignorantly believed (if by this is meant a specially written volume for them alone); it is what is known as the King James version of the Old and New Testaments, the same Bible that is used in most of the churches to-day, and I am glad to say that every Christian Scientist possesses a copy of this volume which he studies daily, together with the Christian Science textbook. It is recorded that when Jesus appeared to his disciples on the shores of the Galilean Sea after his resurrection, he said to them: "These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me. Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures" (Luke 24:44-45). Mrs. Eddy has writte on page 99 of the Christian Science textbook: "Truth has furnished the key to the kingdom, and with this key Christian Science has opened the door of the human understanding."

THE TEXTBOOK

The Christian Scientist soon finds that the study of the Christian Science textbook, this Key to the Scriptures, increases his interest in the Bible, and, instead of being a book of mystery, it becomes to him an open fount of spiritual enlightenment, revealing spiritual truths that are usable and practical in daily experience. This spiritual enlightenment brings about an improved understanding of man's true relationship to his Master and he is then receptive to the Christ, Truth, that heals and saves and rescues man from the false beliefs of sin and disease.

The teachings of Christian Science are fully set forth in the Christian Science textbook, of which Mrs. Eddy is the author. Describing the basis and method of her discovery, Mrs. Eddy has said: "The Scriptures were illumined; reason and revelation were reconciled, and afterwards the truth of Christian Science was demonstrated" (Science and Health p. 110).

Jesus taught that good cannot produce evil, and he proved by his works that sin and sickness were errors of belief which he could and did destroy. He promised that his followers should do the work that he was able to do (see John 14:12), and thanks to Mrs. Eddy's patient, tireless efforts in giving Christian Science to the world, thousands of her followers all over the world are able to follow the commands of the Master.

The Christian Scientist daily studies the sacred teachings of the Bible and of the textbook (which is a commentary of the entire Scriptures for his inspiration and his spiritual instruction, and there he finds them. He has found that the method revealed by Mrs. Eddy in Christian Science is correct and scientific, for in no least way does she depart from the principle and rule laid down by the Master Christian. He has also found that by emulating the example of the beloved Master in preaching the gospel of good tidings and healing the sick, he shares in the blessings that come to those who look to God in every need. Christian Science and Christianity are one, and the Christian Scientist is taught so to live and act and think that his daily life will attest his sincerity and his Christianity.

THE WAY-SHOWER

Christ Jesus established the standard of Christianity. He was the Way-shower, leaving us only the perfect example that we should follow his steps. Jesus was as meek and humble as he was mighty, as evidenced so clearly in his reply to a certain ruler when addressed as "good Master," "Why callest thou me good? none is good, save one, that is, God" (Luke 18:19). This clear perception of God's goodness, enabled Jesus, when confronted by physical evidence of sin, disease, or death, to heal these discords or errors of belief instantly. Jesus realized that of himself he could do nothing, but that with God all things are possible. He recognized man's unity with God, the true spiritual idea of God and man, for did he not say "I and my Father are one?"

Christian Science teaches that it is this spiritual idea, this understanding of God and his reflection, man, that heals the sick to-day as it did in the time of Jesus. This spiritual idea is the Christ. On page 583 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy defines Christ: "The divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy incarnate error." This divine manifestation of God, or Christ, was reflected so perfectly by Jesus in all that he thought and did that he will always stand as the highest type of spiritual man that ever trod the earth. Therefore in Christian Science we know him as Jesus the Christ, or Christ Jesus.

Can you not see that as we establish on consciousness this Christ, Truth,—this spiritual idea,—that all beliefs of the flesh, that is, the false beliefs of life and sensation in matter, vanish, and "man is found having no righteousness of his own, but in possession of the 'mind of the Lord,' as the Scripture says" (Science and Health p. 291)? Mrs. Eddy admonishes us so beautifully to follow the example of the Master in the following words, which will be found on page 210 of "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany:" "Beloved Christian Scientists, keep your minds so filled with Truth and Love, that sin, disease, and death cannot enter them."

Jesus' perfect understanding and realization of the ever-presence of the Christ enabled him to see man as the image and likeness of God, and thus it was that he healed the sick and reformed the sinner. As Mrs. Eddy so aptly states on page 476 of the Christian Science textbook, "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick."

MARY BAKER EDDY

Having learned something about this Christ, Truth, which Christian Science reveals, it is only fitting and proper that we should know something about the discoverer as well as the discovery.

Born of New England parents, Mary Baker Eddy was an unusual child in that she manifested at an early age a keen desire for learning and study. She was an apt pupil, and made rapid progress under the tutorship of her brother, who was a college student, and when but a child she studied Latin, Greek, and Hebrew. She read the Bible with deep interest, and soon developed an aptitude for composition and writing. Tender and loving in disposition, she made steady progress in her search and study of the Bible, and soon became conscious of the ability of God's word to heal the sick and reform the sinner.

Mrs. Eddy states on page 107 of the Christian Science textbook, "In the year 1866, I discovered the Christ Science or divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love, and named my discovery Christian Science. God had been graciously preparing me during many years for the reception of this final revelation of the absolute divine Principle of scientific mental healing." This relevation came to Mrs. Eddy at a time when all seemed dark and hopeless. Lying upon a couch of pain as the result of an injury, she was placed in the hands of a physician, who despaired of her recovery and promised no hope. Left alone, she opened the Bible and turned to the ninth chapter of Matthew, second verse, and as she read about the man sick of the palsy who was healed by Jesus, the light of spiritual Truth or the Christ-spirit dawned in her consciousness, and she arose from her couch instantly and perfectly healed. Thoroughly convinced that her healing was the direct result of the operation of spiritual law, Mrs. Eddy continued to search the Scriptures until the Science of Christianity was fully revealed to her and she became conscious of the fact that the same law which enabled Jesus to heal the man sick of the palsy had healed her, again fulfilling the promise of the Master, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do, shall he do also" (John 14:12).

Thoroughly satisfied that her discovery was in accordance with God's law, Mrs. Eddy, undismayed, set out to prove her discovery. This pure and spiritually minded woman bore the heat and burden of the day patiently and lovingly, overcame obstacles, and gave to the world the result of her search and discovery, the Christian Science textbok, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

CHURCH

In order that the teachings therein contained might be properly presented to the world, Mrs. Eddy recognized the necessity of establishing or providing a church. Accordingly, in the year 1879, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, was founded. The growth and progress of Christian Science has been steady and phenomenal, there being in existence to-day over 2,000 branch churches and societies throughout the world. The fruits of Christian Science, seen over all the world in all these church organizations, are striking evidences that Christian Scientists are gaining from the Bible the spiritual meaning and understanding which gives them power to perform the same wonderful healing works that Jesus promised his true followers that they should be able to perform, and truly say, as did the Apostle James: "Shew me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works" (James 2:18). Why should it be thought strange that Christian Scientists are grateful and that they publicly express their gratitude at the Wednesday evening meetings held in all Christian Science churches to the one who has shown them the way out of sickness into perfect health and harmony, out of darkness and chaos into light and peace; who has brought to light Immanuel: God with us, a God who is good, ever-present, whose arm is protecting and supporting us? The discovery and the discoverer cannot be separated; therefore do all loyal Christian Scientists express to Mrs. Eddy, the Leader of the Christian Science movement, their heartfelt gratitude for all the benefits they have received and are receiving daily through their study and application of her teachings.

ITS APPEAL

It is generally conceded that the appeal of Christian Science to the world is mostly responded to by those who are suffering from despair, sickness, and sin, without hope or expectation in the world, and the question is sometimes asked, Why is this so? It is because they have searched for and tried every material healing agency known, have embraced different systems of religious beliefs, but without any lasting results or success. Turning to Christian Science, they have found that it is the fulfillment of Bible promises; that the truth preached and practiced by Jesus is as efficacious to-day as it was centuries ago. Christian Science stands to-day a practical demonstrable Science, proved to be so by thousands within its ranks who bear living testimony to what it has done and is doing for all mankind.

You frequently hear this remark: I would like to know about Christian Science, but it seems to be so hard to understand. I just cannot grasp it. Why, it is so simple that the little children in the Sunday School grasp the import of its teachings readily and make rapid strikes in its application with many happy results. The Bible records that when the disciples asked Jesus, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven," that he set a little child in their midst and replied, "Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 18:3). In other words, as we relinquish all beliefs of self, and become humble and meek, do we become receptive (do we open the door of the human understanding) to the light that shineth unto a perfect day.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

I am glad to bear witness to-night to the fulfillment of the promise in the Bible, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you" (Luke 11:9). Christian Science was presented to me while on a week's outing. For many years I accompanied the male members of my family on these annual trips. One member of our party was a Christian Scientist, and it was my good fortune to pair with him one morning while on this trip, which means we were companions for the day. It was a beautiful morning, and as our little fleet of boats launched forth for the fishing ground, we were happy and full of expectation. Upon arrival, we cast off and anchored apart from the others and started our day of sport. The fishing was not very good, and after several hours of patient endeavor my thoughts seemed to turn to the glory of creation. Now I had always felt I could not grasp Christian Science: In fact, I may say I was somewhat antagonistic. But, turning to this loved one with me, I said: "Tell me something about Christian Science." He smiled, and, being about his Father's business, that is, ever ready at the post of duty, he talked to me for more than an hour about God and man. He presented to me in such a simple, yet loving way, the Truth of being, the allness of God, the teachings of the Master, recounting some of his words and works, also some of the results of the consecrated and devoted life-work of Mrs. Eddy. It was a perfect setting for this illumination. Above was the clear blue sky, with the sun shining in all its glory and splendor; beneath, the quiet rippling waters of St. Clair Flats. The reeds, swaying gently in the summer breeze, were chanting their anthems of praise; the sea gulls, flying about, were singing their jubilant song of happiness; and as this new-old story of Jesus and his love awakened me to a new state of consciousness, I became cognizant of a new generation, the scales dropped from my eyes and I saw the light. Like the fisherman of old, it was there that I cast my net on the right side of the boat, and the net has been full to overflowing ever since. Needless to say, I was healed of many false beliefs that a fisherman is heir to, the most stubborn one being the tobacco habit, which had been with me for many years, also the belief of catching fish for pleasure.

CONCLUSION

Friends, Christian Science shows that Scriptural promises were ample and far-reaching, and were not made for a limited time only, as is sometimes believed, but for all time. It also shows that these promises are not a hollow mockery, but are based upon absolute spiritual law and power, available to every phase of daily experience. Christian Science teaches the Science of Christianity or the Christ, Truth, which heals and saves. It breaks the day dream of life and sensation in matter. It declared God aright and furnished a key to the Scriptures which dispels mystery and makes plain the word of God to man. It reveals the only true God who is Love, unchangeable, ever-present, and impartial, whom to know aright brings permanent peace and happiness. Let us ponder the words of Mrs. Eddy on page 13 of the Christian Science textbook: "Love is impartial and universal in its adaptation and bestowals. It is the open fount which cries, 'Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters.'" The assurance of the fulfillment of God's promises is appropriately and expressively set forth in the following verse taken from one of our hymns in the Christian Science Hymnal:

"Our God is Love, unchanging Love,
And can we ask for more?
Our prayer is vain that asks increase:
'Twas infinite before.
Ask not the Lord with breath of praise
For more than we accept;
The open fount is free to all,
God's promises are kept."
(Hymn 191)

GIRL SCOUTS

Five hundred and fifteen scouts attended the Spring Party which was held at Camp Mary Day on Tuesday afternoon of this week. A large group of guests witnessed the exercises which were held on the camp green around the flag pole. At 3.15 the troops were called to attention and the flag was raised. The program included competition for the bugle and drum awards, conferring Merit Badges and awarding the Newton Banner. Members of the Lend A Hand Dramatic Club of Greater Boston presented one scene from "Brer Rabbit," the play given by them in April at Jordan Hall, Boston, ice cream and cakes were served, the Bugle and Drum Corps played and taps was sounded at 4.40.

Elizabeth Plimpton of troop 13, was again awarded the silver cup as being the Champion Girl Scout Bugler of Newton. Doris Benson, troop 15, won the cup for the Newton champion drummer. For the three classes in Bugling, the Advanced ribbon was awarded to Almada Lamont of Newton Centre, troop 13, Alice Jack troop 5, West Newton, Intermediate and Ethel deMille, Newton Centre, troop 13, the Beginner. In the Drumming contest there was only one group, the Beginners, and that was won by Mary Carrick, Newton Highlands, troop 11.

The Newton Banner is given for the best attendance record and for the number of tests passed during the year, Tenderfoot, Second and First Class and Merit Badges. This is worked out on a percentage basis so that both small and large troops have the same chance of winning it. Troop 9, the troop in Thompsonville won this Banner. Troop 9 meets at the Bowen School with Miss Virginia Gray as Captain. Ethel de Mille and Elizabeth Walworth, both members of troop 13, are acting as Lieutenants in this troop, and Miss Remon, principal of the school, has co-operated with the officers and helped in every way possible. The troop of 16 girls attended a Newton Rally for the first time in April and at that time won a first ribbon in one of the competitive events. Since then they have been more enthusiastic than ever in their scout program and Tuesday when they received the Banner from troop 15 (the winning troop of last year) they were almost bursting with joy. Congratulations, troop 9, in awarding you this Banner, we expect great things of you and if you keep on with the splendid spirit you have shown this year, our expectations will be realized.

Through some misunderstanding the name of the Newton Girls Scouts has been put on the program of the Newton Lodge No. 1327 B. P. O. Elks for their Flag Day Exercises. Girl Scouts seeing the program will please realize that it is a mistake and not report to parade.

The Merit Badges which were awarded on Tuesday will be printed in the next issue of this paper.

NEWTON POST NO. 48, A. L.

On Sunday, June 6, 1926, Newton Post sent a large delegation to Woburn to participate in the parade and dedication exercises. The parade was the largest ever held in this city, and Newton Post had one of the largest delegations in line.

Colonel Stopford, Commander of Newton Post, is in charge of the Veterans Division of the parade which is to be held on Flag Day, Sunday, June 13. The Newton Lodge of Elks are conducting the exercises, and Ex-Mayor Curley will be the orator of the day.

The officers of Newton Post are very much pleased with the manner in which the citizens of Newton are assisting in establishing the Legion Flagway throughout the city. The local post is endeavoring to have one of these flags in every home and business house in the City of Newton by 1930.

Colonel Stopford of Newton Post was on the reviewing stand with Governor Fuller at the recent school boy parade which was held in Boston.

Colonel H. D. Cormerais, Past Commander of Newton Post, was elected Adjutant of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company at their annual election on Monday, June 7.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

News from the Biennial

The Biennial is a thing of the past, but—the many problems and national, even world, affairs will continue in memory, in inspiration, and in deeds planned, extending into time that will be indefinite. As this great convention was held where there swept ceaselessly the mighty ocean, so will the train of thought, of aims, of achievements discussed, sweep ceaselessly on, ever flowing, ever increasing in might and power and widening circles, even as the widening circles of those mighty waters, and no hindrance, no opposition can stem the determined tide.

That the work of Women's Clubs is purposeful, is worthwhile, is recognized,—in spite of a few small minds that still refuse to let in the light—has daily evidence, but recognition from the highest source that this democratic country has to offer was given in a surprise announcement by Mrs. Sherman at the opening of this second week, and was received first by a hushed audience, in the first flush of rejoicing, then in tumultuous applause, the outburst of overburdened hearts in joy, in thankfulness, and in consecrated enthusiasm.

"It is with satisfaction I have learned the 'American home' is to be the keynote of the program at the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Atlantic City, May 24-June 5.

"Character developed in the early and formative period of the child in a very great measure determines that child's spiritual, moral and social reactions in after years. The home, then, must be considered as the greatest single influence in our national life.

"Whatever may be done to broaden and to enrich our home life is a vital contribution to the welfare of the country. It will be felt not alone in our private and social relations, but in our public service and our national institutions as well.

"Will you please extend my greetings and best wishes to the members of your organizations in convention assembled, and say to them that I am sure their deliberations will be productive of much good?"

Signed,

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Could any message be more typical of the beliefs and character of our President of these United States? Can we wonder that this work of our Women's Clubs appeals to his heart, his soul, and his mind? Is there any better example in this mighty democratic country of one who from childhood was taught and accepted, and ADHERED TO, without question, dissent, disobedience, or revolt from parental authority, to those sound principles of honor, character, temperance, and respect for law, that he says determine spiritual, moral, and social reactions in after years! If all children in this land were taught by their parents these principles, instead of being indulged, winked at, laughed at, and their pranks excused as mere childhood's exuberance, our country today would need no agents to enforce amendments to the constitution, and no raids to enmesh the lawless element, accounts of whose activities disgrace the news sheets of our land.

Law and order! That has been the basis of Calvin Coolidge's life, from very childhood. Consequently it must be a source of satisfaction to him to read of the uncompromising, fearlessly-worded—and above all, unanimous—support of the prohibition amendment to the Constitution, and demand for its rigid enforcement, made by this mighty delegation of Women's Clubs. Not a voice was raised in protest of this amendment—no mind of faulty reasoning questioned its encroachment upon what some are pleased to call personal liberty—and not one delegate opposed the demand for its enforcement. If any such opinions were among the delegates they dared not speak before this throng of law-abiding citizens. But we do not believe there was such a mind. The records of that vote would not indicate it. Never in the history of a resolution offered for acceptance has such a loyal outburst of enthusiasm greeted one as did in this instance. The women of the United States may be proud of that moment. It must have been a highly dramatic event in the Biennial history! And our good Old Bay State led in that moment as we women within its boundaries hope it may always lead in "law and order," the slogan of Massachusetts' foremost son (Vermont? No, Calvin Coolidge's ancestors hail from Newton's adjoining township—Watertown!)!

The Resolution, the most important one proffered by Mrs. Gilbert F. Davis, of Vermont, (appropriate, as the adopted State of our President's branch of the family, since the Revolution), called for "loyal and uncompromising support of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act", defense against attacks upon it, and opposition to any weakening of its provisions.

Scores of delegates all over the hall jumped to their feet to second the motion for approval of the resolution, made by Mrs. John Sippel of Baltimore, chairman of the resolutions committee.

Massachusetts was the first State to have the honor of seconding the resolution, followed in rapid succession by New York, Maryland, Iowa, and Kentucky.

As the calls of "I second the resolution" arose from all sides Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, president of the Federation, asked, "Do you desire a unanimous second?"

"Yes," came the assent from the floor.

This is the first time that a resolution introduced at a biennial convention has been unanimously seconded by the delegates. The volume of "Ayes," that followed Mrs. Sherman's call for a vote was scarcely less impressive than the absolute silence following her call for, "Those opposed—no."

"Is there a negative vote?" she asked. The silence grew tense as she waited for some delegate to cast the dissenting vote which would have indicated at least a minority opinion on the Federation prohibition stand.

"The resolution is unanimously adopted," Mrs. Sherman announced, and the emotion of that dramatic moment will surely live in the memory of the Federation president, and of every Club woman who heard her announcement.

If politicians, political candidates, or others who secretly do not approve of this endorsement, think that women's endorsements end there, or do not amount to much, let them ponder this determined action of the General Federation.

The Federation is prepared to back up each of its legislative resolutions with action, exercised through its legislative department, acting through Washington headquarters and through a campaign of public education, and, if need be, political pressure in the states. As soon as the resolution affirming support of the Volstead Act and the Eighteenth Amendment was approved by unanimous vote, State groups began laying plans to translate this expressed policy of the Federation into action.

As one legislative chairman said, this means votes against "wet" candidates for office, in state and national elections; it means that Federation women will throw the light of public opinion on all candidates, and will through their legislative representatives at Washington oppose all legislation intended to weaken the Volstead Act.

This growing realization that it is not enough to pass resolutions at a convention and then go home, but that the Federation must make its voice heard in Congress for the things in which it believes, has led to the plan for establishment of a permanent legislative bureau at Federation headquarters in Washington. This project was approved in a resolution, adopted by unanimous vote, which also embodied Mrs. Sherman's recommendation that the Federation shall for one year make the experiment of "indorsing the principle of new measures rather than the bills in entirety."

Other Resolutions adopted by the General Federation that are noteworthy, and that should be studied into by Club women include the following:

Placing public school teachers under State civil service, introducing the study of civil service in schools, and extension of classified service to field officers of the Government, especially collectors of customs and internal revenue, will be urged by the Federation, according to plans for the next two years in the division of civil service reform.

A resolution urging upon the President and Postmaster-General that "appointments to post office positions be made without participation of members of Congress or politicians in the selection" was approved.

The Federation also approved a resolution calling for a program to bring about "greater knowledge and appreciation" of American writers, enjoining national observance of children's book week and drama week, and efforts to secure daily reading of "selected portions of scripture, without comment," in the public schools.

Surely these are proof of the varied interests of our organization, and of our determination to be informed upon all fields, not merely upon those that centre within the four walls of what was once limited as "woman's sphere."

The outlook of our Clubs toward the moving picture question was frankly and helpfully discussed.

Co-operation with the motion picture industry rather than an attitude of hostility and destructive criticism was urged before state chairman of better films committees by Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler of Chicago, to improve motion picture standards, in so far as it can be done without conflicting with the belief of Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, president, that the Federation must go slowly in this line.

The committee decided on a program to carry out her recommendation for a campaign to eliminate objectionable pictures, but emphasized its belief that this program must begin by educating the public to demand good pictures.

This program will aid toward developing the many uses of the motion pictures. A supply and information division will be established to draw up lists of selected films for the use of other departments. Members of this motion picture committee will also furnish classified lists of good pictures for the use of local Club chairmen. Current films will be judged and recommended or condemned on beauty, intelligence of plot and moral value.

The policy of the Federation toward Indian Affairs brought the question as to reorganization of the Federation program, as carried forward by Mrs. H. A. Atwood, of Riverside, California, and the question of needed reform of the Indian Bureau. Shall these demands be abandoned for a more conciliatory attitude toward the Government's Indian Bureau and toward its Commissioner, Charles H. Burke, brought different opinions, some upholding Mrs. Atwood, and some requesting the conciliatory attitude.

Mrs. Atwood, who has consistently and vigorously attacked the Indian Bureau for its attitude on legislation, alleged to be inimical to Indian interests, in her report as sent to the convention, advocated placing Indian guardianship under the Federal courts. She believes that this program, if followed by appropriate legislation, would "entirely eliminate the Indian Bureau by a perfectly logical process, based on the fact that the Indian is a citizen and is entitled to the rights and advantages of other citizens.

Defenders of Mrs. Atwood's policy point to her success in persuading the Senate Indian Affairs Committee to report out a satisfactory substitute for the Bratton-Hayden oil-leasing bills, her victorious contest against the Pueblo land bills, in which she was opposed by officials of the Indian Bureau, and against the Leavitt bill, as a vindication of her conduct of the division.

Officers of the Federation agree that the Indian program must center on efforts guaranteeing full citizenship rights to all Indians, although there is a difference of opinion as to how far additional legislation is necessary to achieve this end. A resolution pledging Federation support to all such legislation was adopted by the convention.

Resolutions advocating uniform marriage and divorce laws, requesting the children's bureau of the Federal Department of Labor to prepare a practical program for dealing with juvenile delinquency were also adopted.

The measure supporting uniform marriage and divorce laws was the only one to encounter opposition.

South Carolina delegates announced they could not vote for it since their State had no divorce laws, enactment of Federal laws of this nature, they said, would result in a lowering of standards of their State.

Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indianapolis, vice-president and legal adviser of the Federation, replied that marriage and divorce are not State questions and no State legislation could control it. The people of South Carolina, she asserted, went to other States to get their divorces.

Mrs. Lee Roy Spring of South Carolina asked how far the Federation could go in binding the several States to a policy directly opposed to that contemplated in the government of those States, but only three votes were recorded against the resolution.

Recommendations of the Revisions Committee were accepted by the delegates, the most important one being the election of department chairmen by the executive committee, a small group of nine officers, acting on the recommendations of State presidents, rather than by the board of directors which has 63 members. Charges of "autocracy," and "centralization of power" by some delegates, were answered by Mrs. Sherman wisely in this wise:

"The Federation problems which we are solving by centering certain of our activities and routine in general headquarters in Washington are those of unwieldiness and of large areas.

"How can 15,000 clubs operate in unity in any other way than through central representation and central conduct of routine affairs?

"General headquarters is the spot at which Federation life will center. There woman will come to stand and watch the rest of their club life go by—it will be the clearing house, not the throne room, of the Federation."

The resolution calling on each Club to include in its program of the current year a know-your-courts survey, means that all Federation members must actively co-operate in this important work for reform of court methods, warned Mrs. Edward Franklin White.

At its closing sessions, the Federation approved three "emergency" resolutions, calling for amendment of the present postal law to "admit books to the same privileges that are granted to periodicals and magazines in the mails," extension of the Sheppard-Towner Act for two years, and congressional action on pending legislation for retirement of disabled emergency army officers who served in the World War.

Monday, May 31st, was Department of International Relations Day, with Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, former national president, its chairman.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker of Texas, past president of the Federation, in an address on her visit to the League of Nations in Geneva in 1925, made a plea for the delegates to study its achievements.

"The only propaganda which I bring you in the cause of the League is the request that you go and see for yourselves what it is doing for world peace," she said. "The League has met difficulties and disappointments; it may have made mistakes, but don't forget that it is moving forward. The League may now be operating on only two cylinders, but if the United States becomes a member, it might be speeded up to 'four or even six cylinders,'" she declared.

In their efforts to bring world peace, Mrs. Pennypacker urged club women to keep three things in mind:

First, a firm conviction that war is unnecessary, and is as out of date as dueling.

Second, the realization that international affairs are above all partisan politics, and that "international peace is of more importance than the Democratic and Republican parties rolled into one."

Third, the recognition that "lack of understanding is at the root of conflict between nations."

"If we really understand each other, it is impossible for us to hate each other," she concluded.

now on this locus which will be torn down if the petition is granted. According to Mr. Gallagher, no serious objection can be raised against the granting of the permit. Some owners of nearby residences don't want to see any business started adjacent to their homes, but as this locality is in a business zone, such objections are not reasonable. Mr. Gallagher remarked that persons living in business zones must expect such districts to experience "growing pains" through the period of transition.

Thomas Coleman of 1229 Washington street objected to the station because it will be too close to dwellings. His wife protested because she alleged it would depreciate the value of their property. R. B. Fishel, whose brother owned the Fuller Realty Garage and Joseph McSweeney, a Boston real estate dealer, who lately purchased this property from Fishel, objected because of business reasons. Fishel made the unusual request that the hearing be postponed until a later date as his brother is on a vacation trip. President Pratt informed him that his request could not be complied with but that he would have an opportunity to air his objections before the License Committee. The next person to take the floor in opposition was perhaps the youngest remonstrant yet to appear at a hearing in City Hall. Vita Scandale, 13, told the Board he represented his father, Thomas Scandale of Davis Court. Vito read from a paper in regular school boy style and offered as arguments the claims that the station would be a menace to the children of the neighborhood and would keep them awake nights.

The fourth filling station petition of the evening to be heard was that of the Newton Development Trust for a station at the northeast corner of Lowell avenue and Washington street Newtonville. This organization, a newcomer in the ranks of Newton's real estate and filling station developers, was represented by William V. Hayden as trustee. He stated that the locus is in the busines zone, that the old house now on it will be removed if a permit is granted and that his clients will donate to the city enough land to change the present dangerous corner into a radius curve unobstructed by buildings, thus making the location much safer for traffic. He stated that there is a distance of 9/10ths of a mile at present between the nearest drive-in filling stations on this side of Washington street and that public necessity demands the proposed station. Mr. Hayden told the aldermen that the building which would be erected on the locus will be of semi-colonial type of architecture. This does not necessarily imply that it will be a Colonial station. He said "All the abuttors to whom notices were required to be sent, favor the station." The only objection received was in the form of a letter from John Gahan of 114 Lowell avenue.

Alderman Hodgdon asked how much taxable property will be destroyed by the removal of the house to make room for the new station. Mr. Hayden replied that he thought the taxable property on the site will be increased because the assessors tax old houses low and the station will be regarded as of more value than either the house or stores.

Harry Hanson, Vice-President of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway, asked that his company be permitted to convert the present carbarn at Auburndale between Commonwealth avenue and Auburn street, into a 16-car garage. Alderman Heathcote asked Mr. Hanson when busses will be started on the Watertown-Needham line. Mr. Hanson answered that the company is endeavoring to obtain franchises from the towns of Needham and Watertown and as soon as these are obtained the busses, which have already been ordered, will be put into operation.

No opposition developed to the petition of F. W. Yelland for a 3-car garage at 309 Waltham street. A letter was read from Eleanor Burgess, objecting to the waiver of the setback line at 51 Thaxter road, asked for by Maggie Martin. No persons appeared to favor or oppose the taking of land for sewers on Wauwinet road, Burr road, Risley road, Ellison road and Sharon avenue; nor on the hearing announced regarding the laying out of Ellison, Burr and Halcyon roads. Thomas W. Proctor appeared for the residents of North street, Newton Centre. He said, "This street was settled many years ago and public convenience demands that it be laid out as a public highway." He related how prior to the construction of Commonwealth avenue some thirty years past, North street ran across Homer street into Murray street at an easy grade. When the avenue was built, North street was left cocked-up in the air at the Commonwealth avenue end, and its use by vehicles at that point practically ended. Since then residents on this street, to get to or from the avenue when traveling in vehicles, have been forced to make a long detour around Cummings road. When the avenue was built they were assessed betterments amounting to $1900 and subjected to less desirable conditions. Mr. Proctor intimated that the only auto which can make the rocky 16 per cent grade from the avenue up onto North street, is the "mountain climbing Ford." He did not state whether or not any residents of North street who drive the popular Detroit made cars have practiced Appalachian motor climbing. Alderman Norman Pratt asked for a showing of hands of those present who favored the improving of North street. Twenty-two hands were raised. John M. Fitzgerald, who for many years has led the fight for justice for North street residents, told the aldermen that the people on that street are 100 per cent for the improvement.

Edward Healey asked that Hibbard road be laid out and improved. Mary Young protested against the improving of Daniel street because of the expense she would be put to.

A communication was received from Mayor Childs asking that the aldermen approve the appointment of Chief of Police Burke for another year. The chief will soon reach the age of 65. Through a special act of the Legislature, the head of the police department of Newton, upon reaching this age, may be retired on a pension, or may at the discretion of the Mayor be continued in office from year to year subject to the approval of the aldermen. Alderman Heathcote asked that the rules be suspended to permit this matter to be acted on. Alderman Favinger inquired if the aldermen approved of the continuance in office of Chief Burke, would his term be extended indefinitely or just from year to year? City Solicitor Bartlett answered that the re-appointment would be made for yearly periods. On a yea and nay vote, Chief Burke's appointment for another year was unanimously confirmed.

The License Committee, with the exception of Alderman Noone, again reported favorably on the petition of John McDonald for a gasoline filling station at 2016 Commonwealth avenue. Mr. Noone stated that since the hearing held on this matter at the preceding meeting, a letter of protest had been received from the Auburndale Improvement Association. He asked that it be read and his request was seconded by Alderman Gordon.

The arguments against the station, set forth in the letter, called attention to the fact that five gas stations already are located on the avenue in Auburndale, and that the location sought is dangerous. Petitions favoring the granting of the permit were presented. These papers were signed by persons living in all parts of Ward 4, including the Lower Falls end of Grove street and Cornell street. Someone asked that these signatures be counted and City Messenger Davis assigned the task. He reported a total of 82.

Alderman Fitts inquired of Alderman Noone how many members of the Auburndale Improvement Association had been present and voted when action was taken against the granting of the permit? He was referred to Alderman Gordon, a member of the Association. That gentleman admitted the Improvement Society had held no meeting but that its executive committee had taken action after receiving a great many protests.

Chairman Bliss of the License Committee favored the granting of the permit, arguing that the location is unfitted for residences or stores, is not dangerous, that it would cause unsightly billboards to be removed and to refuse it would be working an injustice on the owner of the property.

Alderman Gordon said he is no opponent of Rockefeller but there are enough filling stations in Auburndale and that the aldermen should not yield to the importunities of their friends who seek permits for filling stations, which when received, are turned over to the big oil companies at large prices. Alderman Favinger told of having belonged to the Waban Improvement Society for several years and of the small attendance at the meetings of that and other improvement associations. The business of such bodies is conducted by a few persons, who do not necessarily represent the opinion of the whole community. He lauded the president of the Auburndale Improvement Association, but commented that from his knowledge of this gentleman, he would be apt to oppose the starting of any business enterprise in that village. The Waban alderman reminded his colleagues that this is an automobile era, gasoline is as necessary as food; persons don't object to grocery stores, but the traffic congestion is much worse in front of stores than in front of filling stations. He favors filling stations in any part of the city where business zones exist. Alderman Noone replied that after listening to Mr Favinger he thought the petition might have come from Beacon street, Waban, rather than from Auburndale. Mr. Favinger answered that he would not want a filling station next to his own residence or in some locations in Waban; he cited the granting of the permit recently at the corner of Beacon and Walnut streets as tending to improve that spot. He contended that a few persons in Waban or Auburndale do not represent the entire communities and referred to the little interest displayed by Auburndale residents regarding the location of the new City Hall. Alderman Hodgdon asserted that there is no danger created by establishing a station at 2016 Commonwealth avenue, as little foot traffic passes by this place. Alderman Gordon contradicted him and said a child had been killed directly opposite. A yea and nay vote was then taken and the permit was granted by a large majority.

Chairman O'Connell of the Traffic Committee was questioned regarding making of Lyman street and part of Centre street nearby, one-way streets. He replied that this plan is favored by the School Committee to protect the pupils of the Rice School and that he had heard of no objections to it. Alderman Gordon stated that there are some who object to this change and asked for a public hearing on this matter on June 21st. Before adjourning at 10 o'clock, the aldermen received an invitation from Chairman Baker of the special committee on City Hall, to attend a meeting to be held by that committee on Tuesday evening.

THE POLITICAL PARTIES

Notes of an address to the Newton League of Women Voters by Dr. M. A. Willcox.

Historically Republicans believe in a strong central government and a high tariff: Democrats, in strong state governments and a low tariff. Modern issues cut squarely across party lines so that platforms are now merely a series of straddling statements intended to attract as many voters as possible.

The numerous elections, Federal, State, and local, are run by a group of managers who give to the matter of success at the polls their undivided attention. They constitute the "machine."

The "spoils system" introduced by Jackson in 1829, debauched the public service by filling offices often with incompetent, even corrupt officials. Reform began in '83 with a law which placed 14000 Federal employees under civil service regulations. Now some 95 percent are under these rules.

Civil service has not progressed so far in the States; Massachusetts is one of the eleven which have such laws and even here they are sometimes tampered with by the Legislature as in the case of Veterans' Preference.

Civil Service deals with appointive offices. For improving the grade of elective officials several plans have been tried.

The Direct Primary takes the power of nomination from the convention, where it formerly lay, and places it—theoretically—in the hands of the people.

The Short Ballot limits the offices to be voted for to a few important ones and makes the minor ones appointive. In theory the appointing official is responsible for the efficiency of his appointees.

The Recall provides machinery by which the office of an unsatisfactory incumbent may be vacated. Not often used, it has served as a "big stick," even the threat, as in a recent case in Toledo, serving to bring to terms a recalcitrant official.

Change in the form of government has been tried in some 300 small cities. Mayor and council have been replaced by a City Manager who like any other business manager has entire responsibility for conduct of the various municipal departments and for the city officials whom he appoints. Better administration and reduced taxes have resulted.

Plans for improving not the officials but the laws are two—the initiative and the referendum. The initiative provides that a proposal may be submitted to the voters and if approved by a majority must be enacted by the legislature. The referendum is a means of giving the voters a veto upon a measure which has been passed by the legislature.

Every one of these plans has advantages and defects. The League of Women Voters asks its members to study each one, remembering that "the realization of efficient government depends upon the acceptance by citizens of participtipn in government as a public trust."

DEATH OF MRS. BELL

Susan Laura (Stoughton) Bell, who died Tuesday was born in Chester, Vermont, July 16, 1844, the great granddaughter of Thomas Stoughton, brother of Lieut. Gov. William Stoughton, the first Chief Justice of Massachusetts, and married the late Albert D. S. Bell, of Boston, on March 17, 1869.

Her father, Henry E. Stoughton, of Bellows Falls, Vt., learned his law while cobbling shoes, and became State Senator, States Attorney and Vice-President of the National Democratic Convention which nominated Breckinbridge for President. His brother, Edwin Wallace Stoughton, a member of the firm of Evarts, Choate and Beaman of New York, was Minister to Russia under President Hayes.

Her mother, Laura Clark, was a direct descendant of Hugh Clark, who emigrated to this country and settled in Watertown in 1638.

At the outbreak of the Civil War her brothers, Edwin H. Stoughton and Charles B. Stoughton, organized, one as Colonel the other as Adjutant, the 4th Vermont Volunteers. Edwin, then Brigadier General, was captured by Mosby at Fairfax Court House, Va., and was taken to Libby Prison where he remained for three months until exchanged. Charles lost his right eye in the battle of the Wilderness, and was brevetted Brigadier General for gallantry on the field.

For twenty years Mrs. Bell resided on Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, and was a communicant of Grace Church until the organization of the Church of the Redeemer at Chestnut Hill. In 1892 she moved to Cambridge where she became actively connected with Christ Church. She was deeply interested in the Avon Home for Cambridge Children, of which she was for many years a trustee.

Surviving Mrs. Bell are six children and ten grandchildren. Her children are Mrs. Louis Stoughton Drake, of Newton; Stoughton, of Cambridge, Senior member of the law firm of Putnam, Bell, Dutch & Santry; Gertrude, who resided with her mother; Dr. Conrad, a physician in Waltham; Rev. Gibson, headmaster of Montgomery School, Wynnewood, Pa; and Stuart, Headmaster of Hun Junior School, Princeton, N. J.

The services at Christ Church, Cambridge, Thursday afternoon, were conducted by her son, Rev. Gibson Bell.

There will be an entertainment and refreshments—all free.

There will be an entertainment at three o'clock, a baby show at four, followed by games and races for boys and girls. The Knights of the Holy Cross will play and drill from seven until eight o'clock. In the evening Mr. James Priest and Mr. James Connolly will furnish music for old fashioned dancing, with Mr. T. J. Lyons calling off the dances.

The party is being held to raise funds to carry on the work of the Society. The President, Mrs. Frank Conley, is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Miss Winifred Price, Vice-President, and the following: Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. C. E. Ryan, Miss B. T. Manning, Miss Mary Daley, Mrs. T. J. Powers, Miss Anna Burke, Miss Margaret Connolly, Miss Margaret Cunningham, Miss Anna Mullen, Miss Alice Costello, Miss Mary Harney, Miss Margaret O'Brien, Miss Mary M. TO RUN AGAIN

To the Citizens of Newton:

By the redistricting act of 1926, the towns of Natick, Ashland, Holliston, Hopkinton and Sherborn were taken out of the First Middlesex Senatorial District and the city of Marlboro and the town of Wayland substituted, so that the First Middlesex District now consists of Newton, Framingham, Weston, Marlboro, and Wayland.

Prominent Republicans from the First Middlesex as now constituted have urged me to be a candidate for renomination at the State Primaries, September 14th.

After due consideration I have decided to announce my candidacy. In seeking another term I have no better reasons to offer than my record for the past eight years in the Legislature. I have been in active business for thirty-five years but am in a position now to give practically all my time to public service.

ABBOTT B. RICE.

WOODLAND PARK SCHOOL

In connection with closing exercises held at the Woodland Park School, Auburndale, the preparatary institution for Lasell, it was announced that when the school opens again in the fall a change will have been made in its organization.

Heretofore it has provided eight grades of grammar school work. Under the new order the first three grammar grades will be dropped, the work beginning with the fourth grade and continuing through the first two years of high school. Lasell will retain four years of junior college work or, in other words, the last two years of high school and the first two years of college work.

LODGES

The Masonic Lodges of the Fifth District will hold a field day and picnic at Norumbega Park on the afternoon of June 26th. There will be a program of field sports for men, boys and girls. Mr. George Owen, Jr., of Norumbega Lodge is chairman of the committee in charge.

Your Washday Problem?

If you have a washday problem we believe we can be of service to you. Do you prefer to have everything washed and ironed? Do you desire to have only the washing "done out" and to do ironing of the lighter pieces yourself? Are curtains or washable rugs difficult to handle? Have you pillows, blankets, or comforts that need laundering? We can meet your every washday need. Here are some of the services we offer:

Finished Family Service—Everything washed and everything ironed.

Family Laundry Service—Everything washed. The flat pieces, like tablecloths, bed linen, napkins, ironed. Other things starched, ready for you to iron.

Curtains—Washed by our special method, and so dried as to bring back all the original design, size, and shape.

Washable Rugs—Laundered by a process that restores their freshness and brightness and natural color

Blankets and Comforts—Washed and dried out doors.

Pillows—Cleansed and sterilized, so that the feathers again become downy and billowy.

Any or all these services are at your disposal. Call us up by telephone, give us your address, and our man will call.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Those who read of the incidents following the disastrous fire in Lowell must have caught the force of State Fire Marshal George C. Neal's public statements. Mr. Neal told how he had tried six years ago to have the owner equip the ancient buildings with sprinklers; how he had appealed in vain to the Mayor, the Fire Commissioner and the Chamber of Commerce of Lowell; how he had reported to the Legislature and that honorable body had noted "no legislation necessary." There are at least two lessons to be learned from this occurrence. The first is the pernicious effect of political influence—the "pull" possessed by a leading citizen through his wealth and standing as a business man. Here we find, if Mr. Neal's charges are true, a group of representative citizens—the "big men of the town"—evading the law and refusing to cooperate with the State Fire Marshal. In this case the Legislature is not so much to blame as it no doubt reasoned (Legislatures do sometimes reason) that Lowell as a city should take care of its own problems. But Lowell is much like many other cities and Lowell citizens much like other people. The city doesn't want to enforce regulations that may hurt the feelings and tap the pocketbook of a leading citizen. Officials everywhere "get from under" rather than have a rumpus with a man of power who may oust them from office. No doubt all concerned would applaud patriotic orations on ideals of citizenship and resent with high indignation any suggestion that they lacked civic pride. And yet the State Fire Marshal had exhausted every means known to him in an effort to save the city of Lowell from just such a conflagration as occurred.

Now the other lesson is this: Massachusetts has a State Fire Marshal with the courage of his convictions and the nerve to take a stand against political influence, etc. In other words, "Mr. Neal "can't be called off." What a blessing for Massachusetts and what a pity all State and city officials are not men of the same type. Mr. Neal has the name of being self-opinionated. Well what if he is? They say of him that he is unreasonable. That is a matter of individual view. The fact is, however, that Mr. Neal does his duty as he sees it regardless of whose toes may be stepped upon. Witness the attempt by a large number of wealthy and influential people to prevent his reappointment. Happily they were not successful and the Governor, only a couple of months ago, reappointed him. The enemies of Mr. Neal argued he was "too old" and ought to be retired. As a veteran of the Civil War he cannot be compelled to quit because of his age—83 years. Few men are as active as Mr. Neal. There isn't a man, young or old, who makes the ascent of Beacon Hill from Park street with greater agility. He is a physical wonder. Furthermore, he has a remarkable Civil War record. Bravery in peace is no less to be applauded than bravery in war and therefore we hope most sincerely that Massachusetts fully appreciates what a faithful, conscientious and daring public servant it has in State Fire Marshal George C. Neal.

We were amazed the other evening while passing through Charlesbank road to find automobiles parked on both sides of this narrow thoroughfare. And this was in the section between St. James street and the river boulevard where automobiles may be driven both ways. Clearly there is something wrong somewhere when two lines of cars are allowed to remain on so narrow a roadway as Charlesbank road. Just who is responsible? Is it that the traffic regulations fail to include that end of the street? Or is it that there are rules or city ordinances which are not enforced? Long ago we said that Newton should possess a traffic squad to look after situations of this character. Instead of confining their efforts to village squares a traffic squad could cover the entire city and straighten-out just such mix-ups as arise on the smaller streets. The number of automobiles has grown and will continue to grow, but the city fathers do not seem to understand that the Police Department must expand in proportion. There seems to be an idea in one or more minds at City Hall that sign posts can do the work of policemen. How much more practical to have policemen keeping things straight and how much neater the appearance of the city streets when free from a superabundance of sign posts. How long is Newton going to avoid coming to the scratch and meeting its traffic problems in a bigger and broader way? How soon will it abandon its dreams of mammoth municipal buildings and take up the really vital matters of its existence?

We have often wondered how it happened that Bunker Hill Day was never made a legal holiday. Its annual observance was begun years ago and at a time when it could not be argued that there were "too many holidays." Most of the legal holidays were decided upon long after the first celebration of the anniversary of the battle. Perhaps there was a notion that to make any day a holiday was almost a crime. Everybody knows that people of all classes avoided holidays as they would the tempter's snare. It isn't so far back in the years that Christmas was observed largely as a religious festival in Massachusetts and many people worked at their trades on that day.

Somehow we have an idea that Bunker Hill Day comes so close to Fourth of July to make it impossible to convince the General Court there should be two legal holidays in the early part of the summer. But the interesting feature of it is that Charlestown, and with it the entire city of Boston, has declared a holiday on June 17 and allows the rest of the State to go hang. The Bunker Hill Day spirit has spread itself over the Metropolitan district but that's about all. If you get in any other section of the State you will find business going on as usual and nobody loafing.

Before the advent of prohibition Bunker Hill Day was the only "holiday" in Boston on which it was lawful to open saloons. That made it one of the most popular days of the year. Charlestown usually was extremely wet for as Bunker Hill Day was not a legal holiday there was nothing to prevent drinking places from doing business from 6 A. M. to 11 P. M.—and they did.

We have an idea that the most ardent "wet" will approve of closing saloons on a holiday or near holiday. We remember how Gov. McCall, the World War Governor of Massachusetts, exercised his prerogative and bade the saloons to close on the first Armistice Day. All of this may appear as an argument for prohibition. Well, we can't help it if it does.

We hope that Newton will, through its municipal officers and leading citizens, make every provision for a fitting recognition of the visit here Sunday, June 20, of the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden. As we are informed that Prince Gustavus Adolphus is to attend the festival at the Swedish Old People's Home in West Newton. Such an occasion would seem to us of far greater interest to the Prince and Princess than a society event on the North Shore. The institution in West Newton means much to people of Swedish blood in Massachusetts. They retain a loyalty and affection for their native land, hence they will be eager to see this Prince and Princess.

As far as the royal visitors are concerned they will probably find this home in West Newton especially attractive in view of the fact that it shelters people of their own blood. Unless we are very much mistaken the Prince and Princess will find in this little side trip to West Newton something of far greater appeal than a gigantic demonstration staged merely for the sake of doing something big.

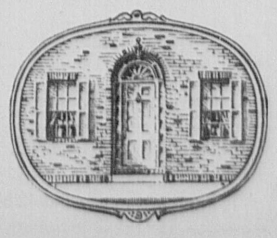
Newton will not be expected to stand itself on its head when the royal pair visit our beloved town. The fact that it is Sunday precludes a lot of "extras," even if Newton were given to that sort of thing which it is not. But Newton can do this. It can hang out United States and Swedish flags in great profusion and it can keep the streets through which the visitors ride free from traffic jams. Newton can make something of the occasion that will be dignified and fitting and this will probably find greater favor with the visitors than a lot of spectacular "apple sauce."

Until Newton becomes the scene of a "take the rap" case it cannot truthfully be called a thriving metropolis. Incidentally "taking the rap" probably results from the unfortunate habit of "knocking about." We must say that we are a trifle surprised at the calm view the public holds of violations of the law whereby one man seeks to palm himself off as another before a justice. There was a time when prompt punishment would have been administered, but prison reformers and others have succeeded in proving that a man is seldom intentionally criminal and that an ingrowing hair on his chin or a splinter in his right foot may have created an unbalanced condition. Of course when you come to look at it that way a man who seeks to "take the rap" by declaring himself to be somebody else may have a perverted sense of humor. In that case the joke is on the court and the police.

WANT PLAYGROUND AT AUBURNDALE

At the last meeting of the School Committee a communication was received from a number of mothers whose children attend the Williams School in Auburndale, asking that a playground be provided at the school. The little ones who go to this school now have to play on Lasell street, which though an unaccepted street, does not make a safe or satisfactory playground. The School Committee approves of the request and the matter has been referred to the Mayor by the parents. The interest in this project has been rapidly increasing and on Wednesday night a largely attended meeting was held at the home of Frank V. Burton, 62 Vista avenue, at which the Auburndale aldermen, John Gordon and William Noone were present. Mr. William A. Leighton, Master of the Burr School and a number of teachers from the Williams School had been invited to attend and spoke on the need of a playground at the latter school.

The need of a Parents' Association in Auburndale was discussed and it was agreed to form such an organization. Mrs. Frank V. Burton was chosen as Chairman of the temporary organization which will arrange the details for the formation of the permanent association. It was voted to have Alderman Gordon present to the aldermen at their next meeting a petition containing over 300 signatures of Auburndale residents for a playground. The petition asks that the city take the land between the school and Grove street for a community playground which will be used not only as a school playground, but as a recreation centre for the girls of the Auburndale district and for the smaller boys.



NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

There was a good attendance at the usual weekly luncheon on Monday of the Newton Rotary Club at the Woodland Golf Club.

The speaker was Mr. Leroy D. Peavey of the Babson Statistical Organizations who talked on "The Business and Financial Outlook." Mr. Peavey's talk was illustrated with charts showing the fluctuations of commodities, bonds and stocks. Mr. Peavey called attention to the law of action and reaction especially as illustrated by his charts, nearly every period of expansion being followed with a period of "rest." Mr. Peavey said he could not predict how long the present period of expansion would last but he was certain that a reaction would come and his charts showed a tendency on the part of stocks to drop. He called attention to the unsettled world wide conditions, which should prohibit further extension of expansion and predicted a rest period probably in about a year.

He believed that there had been excessive speculation in real estate (as in Florida) in stock market and in the growth of the installment plan. The farmer he believed was doing rather well, except there was an unequal balance due to the decline in prices. On the favorable side he said that money was not high and tax reduction has been a great help. He rather thought general business might decline during the summer and work up again in the fall and stocks he believed could decline somewhat before going up again and he advised the club members not to load up on stocks and wait for a more favorable opportunity.

Mr. Peavey answered a number of questions whish were asked by the members.

A feature of the meeting was the report of the Boys' Work Committee stating that the scholarship for 1926 had been divided between Harold Carver of Lake avenue, Newton Highlands and Herbert Holmstrand of Cypress stret, Newton Centre, and Maynard Moody of Park street, Newton.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor:

As a citizen and taxpayer of this city I desire to make a few remarks upon the subject of city hall. It is a subject of long standing and much discussed with little or no apparent results. We have now reached the age of a city of over half a century and a population of over fifty thousand. Since the charter was granted the municipal business has made its headquarters in the old town house. The population has increased many fold and yet our splendid city government is forced to transact our business still in the same old cramped quarters, which are unsafe for the valuable records it contains. I have no doubt but ninety per cent of the taxpayers would say, if they were asked, that the time has come for this, our beautiful city of Newton, to put off its swaddling clothes and build a city hall that our children, fifty years hence, will be proud of and a city hall that will be a monument to this generation.

If the city hall is built on the old site where will the different departments of the city function? The present building cannot be moved to get in a foundation for the new for which the ground must be cleared. Every nook and corner, every vault, every drawer, safe and shelf is full to overflowing. The books and papers are valuable and could not be replaced if lost. It means not only a move but extensive preparations of new quarters so that each department can function properly for a year or two.

The writer has had fifty years experience in municipal government and I would call good business and an young, besides doing his little bit to save the Union from 1862 to 1865. Many years ago Newton decided to build, from east to west, a splendid avenue. A good thing. That is what I would call good bnsiness and an honor to those who put it through. It cost the city well towards a half a million dollars. It is paid for. Now my advice is let the city help to improve that property that has cost so much by building a city hall on the diamond on the corner of Walnut street, and this splendid new avenue, the Commonwealth. The advertisement will be worth one hundred thousand dollars per year.

A FLOWER DRIVE

The Editor:—

Newton has been much interested in itself lately, driving on toward a new hospital and such local buildings as the Newton Centre Library. These are splendid objects and we rejoice in their prosperity. But there is another drive that we should all be interested in. And it will cost us nothing but a mite of care and forethought. It is a Flower Drive, flowers for the summer for those to whom a flower means a visitation of peace and delight, and for those who cannot have them unless we take them. Has not Newton been called the Flower City; and may we not live up to that name in the way here outlined?

From June 1 to October 1 flowers may be left in small or large quantities every day from 9 to 12 noon at Horticultural Hall, and this will be the best way for those who go by auto to Boston. For those who go by train the flowers may be left at the baggage window, in South Station not later than 9 A. M. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays; and at the North Station at Tracks 1, 2 and 3. Mark them for "The Fruit and Flower Mission." They will be distributed by willing and kindly hands to the sick, the shut-ins, and to hospitals. Each summer in recent years the value of this work has increased and we little realize all that it means. There are Newton people on this Committee and we should help them to the last degree. Flowers in the hands of our business men these summer mornings will make a splendid message from Newton to many a sick child or grown person. It is so little to ask that I make bold to suggest the fulles: cooperation.

NEWTON CHILD PLAYERS

The Review and Recital of 1926, presented by the Newton Child Players, was given in the Newton Opera House on Friday evening, May 28th, under the personal direction of Ralph W. Crossen. This is the first time in the history of New England that a dancing school has ever attempted to put on a real Revue, all of the children of the class having had less than a half season of instruction.

The big feature attraction of the evening was the offering "The Personality Kids," in their act entitled "Variety Tidbits" given by Muriel Sulliva nof Somerville and Laisy Bernier of Newton. The two little girls make a decided hit wherever they perform. They are both extremely clever in their dancing and singing and their numbers were done to perfection. The first number was "Let's Talk About My Sweetie," the two young stars participating in this sketch together. Next, Miss Sullivan sang "Sitting on Top of the World," ending her number with some clever bit sof acrobatic dancing.

Miss Bernier then entertained with "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," the words of which were well brought out by her clever interpretation of the piece.

Turning away from the rather humorous side, the two children gave a fine exhibition of the waltz song, "The Midnight Waltz," which showed off how graceful the young stars are. Then came "Georgia Brown" with the two singing together and concluding with all the steps of the popular Charleston done to perfection. The little girls have the distinction of being the only children of their age to have been on Keith's Circuit, where they played all during last summer.

All numbers of the Revue were extremely well done. One number which deserves great praise was the song and dance number to "Doodle-De-Doo," given by six-year-old Mildred King. Little Kathryn Morrison certainly sang and danced well to "Give Us A Little Kiss, Will Yuh, Huh."

A comic number given by Bud Bernier, Daisy Bernier and Muriel Sullivan entitled "Horses" was enjoyed by all.

POLICE NEWS

Friday morning at 7.30, a squad of police under Sergeant Meehan raided the store at 71 Union street, Newton Centre, and seized 11 bottles of whiskey. Harold Meleney of 42 Wessex road and Euripedes Stames of 103 Glen avenue, who conduct the store, were arrested; Meleny charged with making an illegal sale of intoxicating liquor and Stames with keeping and exposing intoxicating liquor for sale. In court that morning, Judge Allen fined Meleney $50 and gave him a two month's suspended sentence in the House of Correction. Stames received a similar fine and sentence.

Fines of $10 each were imposed Friday by Judge Allen on Raymond Hall, 78 Beacon street, Boston; Abram Becker, 1422 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury; Norwell Hornbeck, 30 Ash street, Waltham, and James Andrews, 108 Grant avenue, Medford. These autoists were found guilty of speeding. Solter Gika of 136 Chambers street, Boston, paid $5 for violating a traffic rule; Armando Biagnini of Quincy was assessed $5 for driving without his license in his possession.

Judge Weston on Saturday fined several men $5 each for driving autos on Elm road while the high school was in session. Those who paid for violating this traffic rule were Frank Bagdarsarisn, 18 Rogers street, Newton Highlands; Charles I. Crossman, 10 York street, Dorchester; Edward P. Hendrick, 309 Crafts street; Paul Sherman, Brighton.

LEGION PRESENTS FLAG

Sunday, May 30th, members of Newton Post, American Legion, marched to the grounds of the Newton Catholic Club at West Newton and presented a large silk banner and staff to the boys' drum corps of St. Bernard's Church. As Col. Stopford, commander of the post, was filling an engagement at Beverly, Finance Officer Julius Ramm of the Post made the presentation speech. Rev. William T. O'Brien responded for the boys. The gift was made in appreciation of the services rendered by the drum corps to the Legion.

FIRE RECORD

Friday night at 9.58, Box 115 was for a fire in the house at 62 Elmwood street, owned by John Zinnino of Medford and occupied by Dr. Niles and Herman Gallagher. The cause was a child leaving a lighted lamp too near a window—the curtain catching fire.

Saturday morning at 8.45, Box 177 was for a fire in the house at 34 Emerson street, occupied by Mrs. Gertrude Murphy. This fire was caused by hanging clothes too close to a stove.

CITY HALL

There were 180 building permits issued last month, valued at $937,631, of which 43 were for single dwellings valued at $469,000 and 20 for double dwellings valued at $237,000.

FLAG DAY

The most elaborate observance of Flag Day ever held in Newton, took place Sunday afternoon under the auspices of Newton Lodge of Elks. At 3.15 a parade started from the corner of Church and Centre streets under the lead of Chief Marshal Frank Wilcox, assisted by Thomas Franey as Adjutant General and Captain Thomas Hickey as Chief of Staff. The line of march was headed by a detail of police under Serg. Thomas Leehan. Next in order came the Newton Constabulary Band, Company C, 101st Infantry, Newton Lodge of Elks, Newton Post American Legion, Thomas Burnett Camp, Spanish War Veterans, St. Bernard's Fife and Drum Corps. The line marched over Centre, Washington and Walnut streets to Claflin Field, Newtonville, where the Flag Day ritual of the Elks was conducted by the officers of Newton Lodge. George Brophy read the history of the flag and Miss Sophie Barnett of Dorchester led the singing of patriotic songs.

Ex Mayor James M. Curley delivered an address which was in part as follows,—

Today we meet to honor the American Flag, as the sign and symbol of the American Republic, to tell something of its stainless glory, of its storied history during the crowded years it has floated above this land, to interpret its meaning to us as a nation and its significance to the world outside our frontiers and to restate the message it carries to humanity all round the earth.

It is the American flag, the flag of humanity, our flag, the flag of the Common People, whose sweat and sacrifices have made the world glad, who have made our civilization sweet, secure and permanent, who have carried the world on their backs through all the ages, and who, in this America and under that flag, have come into

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

LED LEAGUE AT BAT

John Proctor, Newton high shortstop, led the Suburban League in batting with a mark of .655. He played in all but one game of Newton's schedule, went to bat 29 times and connected for 19 hits. In spite of this fact the Newton boy could not make an all-scholastic team. Eddie McGrath of Brookline was the main reason. Tom Tines' shortstop was easily the headiest ball player in the league, the most consistent and reliable and a dangerous batter with a season average of .378. Proctor was mentioned by some of the league coaches as an All-scholastic second baseman but here again Cote of Cambridge Latin, who is a "born" baseball player, gets the call. If Proctor's arm was as reliable as his bat he could have made the grade but his tendency to throw wild was against him. Another year of coaching under Dickinson and he should have little difficulty in winning the honor.

Proctor had a big lead over his nearest competitor, Potter of Brookline, whose average was .492. Potter at one time led the league but Proctor's consistent feat of connecting safely three times out of every five trips soon put in the lead never to be headed. Alan Shaw, Newton's centre-fielder, was third with an average of .439. Shaw did not hit them as often as Proctor or Potter but when he did they counted and it is a surprise to many followers of school baseball that he was not selected for an All team. Newton won several games because of Shaw's penchant for connecting safely when hits meant runs. His home run with the game tied in the ninth inning against Somerville will be remembered by everyone that witnessed the contest and his single that scored the last of a three run rally in the closing innings of the Cambridge game putting Newton in the lead after Newton had handed the game to the Cantabs on a silver platter was another case of his ability.

Two other Newton boys are listed among the first dozen in the league batting list. Pickard, the best fielding and hitting pitcher that Newton has had for several years batted for .375 placing him ninth in the list. Tommy Gilligan came through with four hits out of six attempts against Somerville in the final league game for Newton placing him twelfth with a mark of .360. Newton high as a team led the league with an average of .325 while Everett collected enough hits against Brookline Saturday to nose out Cambridge for second with a team mark of .278.

ALL-SCHOLASTIC TEAMS

The school baseball season is ended and All-scholastic teams have been chosen by various sport writers. There were few outstanding stars as there usually is and the task this year has been difficult indeed. The playing ability of the many schoolboys has been so equal that there the writers have contented themselves with Suburban league teams. Boston school teams, and others.

The Boston Transcript publishes a composite Suburban League team selected by the votes of each of the league coaches. This team lines up as follows: pitcher, Pickard of Newton; catcher, Gilligan, of Newton; first baseman, Gibson of Cambridge Latin; second baseman, Cote of Cambridge; third baseman, Aylesbury of Somerville and McGowan of Cambridge Latin; shortstop, McGrath of Brookline; left field, McCullough of Newton; centre field, Rice of Everett; right field, McHale of Somerville and Trodden of Tech. Five of these players, Gilligan, Rice, McCullough, McGrath and Gibson are unanimous choices each receiving five votes. As each coach does not name any of his players for his team, John Proctor was named by Leander MacDonald of Rindge and Dickerman of Somerville for second base, while Tom Hines of Brookline named Proctor at short. McGrath, Hines' shortstop, was easily the classiest infielder in the league and those who saw Brookline defeat Newton at Claflin Field will never forget the play he made when Potter heaved the ball over third base. McGrath was twenty feet from the baseline when he grabbed the ball barehanded and backhanded to save a run and possibly two. No other Newton boys were named on any coaches' team.

Tom McCabe of the Traveler did not name a Newton player on his team although he mentioned Pickard, Gilligan, Proctor, and Shaw as among the leading contenders for the team. The Traveler team was picked from teams in Boston and greater Boston.

Doc Mooney of the Post named a Suburban league team and a Boston city school nine. His league team included Medford, which played in the league schedule but had no standing as it withdrew last fall at the close of the gridiron season. Gilligan was the only Newton player to place on the Post team.

TWO-STATE TRACK MEET

Saturday afternoon, the Annual Outdoor Athletic Meet of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Massachusetts and Rhode Island is being held at the Y. M. C. A., Newton, starting at three o'clock. The following events will be contested—100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard run, 880 yard run, one mile run, five mile run, running broad jump, running high jump, shot put (12 lbs.) and Relay Race (1 mile). Last year at Andover, Brockton captured the meet with forty-four points, with Boston second with thirteen points.

Newton has entered the following: Phil Hardy, 100 and 220 yard dashes, running broad jump and shot put, Henry Pierce running broad and high jumps, Lionel Shaw 440 and mile runs; Atherton Lawrence, running high jump, shot put, and five mile run, Paul Serkin, 100 and 220 yard dashes, Clifford Boudrot, one mile run, Norman Bicknell 100 and 220 yard dashes, and Simon Crow, 100 yard dash and running high jump.

BURR TENNIS ASSOCIATION

Tomorrow afternoon at the Burr Playground, the final round matches of the tournaments conducted by the Burr Tennis Association will be played. These will start at 2.00 P. M., and will continue during the afternoon.

In the Girls' Singles, Barbara Goodrich will play Frances Thompson.

Edward Strum will play John Fellows in the finals of the Boys' Singles.

In the Men's Singles, which is for the Challenge Cup presented by the Newton Improvement Association, Francis Broughton will play against Malcolm Clark. Clark is the defending champion, having won the cup last year.

Grace Sutcliffe and Francis Broughton will meet the winner of the match between Lucille Defren and Horace White, vs. Mr. and Mrs. Chute, in th Mixed Doubles.

In the Men's Doubles, the winner of the match between George A. Briggs and George Sampson vs. Hallet Blandy and Clark Hodder, will play against Malcolm Clark and Austin Chute.

SPORT NOTES

Stanley Lyon, former Newton high and Dartmouth star pitcher, has hooked up with the Waltham Baseball Club for the summer. Former college and major league players are in the lineup, among them Frank Smith of Dartmouth, Jack Leary, former St. Louis Brown's first baseman and Gately of New York University, beside the Lyons.

The Earnshaw Mills team lost a 6 to 3 game with the Boston Company of Waltham at Waltham Sunday.

The Newton Pals won from the Independents on Saturday at Cabot Park 8 to 3. Lyman pitched well for the Pals holding the visitors to five scattered hits.

The Newton Y Juniors were shut out Saturday at Victory Field, Watertown by the Watertown Hoboes 8 to 0. Stubbs and Sutcliffe were the battery for Newton.

The West Newton A. C. colored team won from the Newton Y Saturday afternoon 8 to 5. Hitchcock poled a home run into the tennis courts with one in the second inning. The visitors hammered away at Ryan's slants and were leading eight to three in the eighth inning when Joyner weakened and the Y scored two runs with two out. Coet relieved him and stopped further scoring.

Eddie Kevorkian, a freshman at Brown, was awarded his numerals in baseball recently.

Larry Pratt of Harvard was given a minor "H" in tennis at Harvard. The Crimson netmen won all their matches but one, that against Princeton.

Lawrence Rice was the only singles player on the Boston Church Cup tennis team that won his match in the intercity matches with the Philadelphia team last Friday. Malcolm Hill lost to Joseph Oldhausen in singles and in doubles, paired with Henry Guild, lost to Mann and Gilpin.

Newton high tennis team closed its season Monday afternoon with a 6 to 0 victory over Brookline high at the Newton high courts. It was Brookline high's first defeat of the year. All six matches but one were won by Newton in straight sets, Bronstein of the Wealthy Town team forcing Noble of Newton to three sets before accepting defeat. Turner of Newton beat Gutman of Brookline, 6-2, 6-3; Noble of Newton beat Bronstein of Brookline, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5; Parker of Newton beat Pattee of Brookline 6-0, 6-1; Scott of Newton beat Blanchard of Brookline, 7-5, 6-2. In the doubles matches Noble and Turner beat Gutman and Bronstein, 6-0, 9-7 and Parker and Scott defeated Pattee and Blanchard, 6-4, 6-0.

Doc Mooney's Boston Post Boston City team and Greater Boston team will face each other tomorrow afternoon at Tufts Oval in an effort to ascertain which team has the better right to be called an All-scholastic nine. The winner of this game will most likely play a second game against the 1925 All outfit, this game being an annual affair under the Post's auspices. Proceeds from the games are turned over to the Boston Post Santa Claus Fund which was benefited to the extent of $700 from the 1925 classic. Tom Gilligan is slated to be on the receiving end with either Dan Connors of Medford or Keefe of Everett in the box for the Greater Boston nine Saturday.

Dick Vaughan lined out a twobagger for his only hit in the Yale-N. Y. A. C. game at New Haven on Tuesday which Yale won 15 to 7 in seven innings.

Saturday afternoon the Newton Y. M. C. A. will play a second game with the Fleischman Yeast nine at Cabot Park. The local nine emerged victorious two to one in the first game two weeks ago.

Ed Wilson, representing the B. A. A. will compete in the N. E. A. A. U. senior championship mile walk at Franklin Field Sunday afternoon in an effort to win a place on the B. A. A. team which will go to Philadelphia next month where the National events will be held.

The newly organized Newton Moguls baseball team defeated the Morse St. B. B. team 8 to 4 at Boyd Park Wednesday evening. The showing of the Moguls was none too good as it brought out their weakness and they will need all the practice they can get. Collins, pitching for Morse Street, pitched a good brand of ball for five innings, the Moguls getting only five hits, while Collins struck out six. M. Duffy relieved him and finished the game. Ned Barry was on the mount for the Moguls, but was wild at times. F. (Jakey) Hough was sent in to do mound duty in the sixth inning and pitched shutout ball, striking out the first five men to face him. D. Nally also starred at the receiving end for the Moguls. The Moguls are going to have a whist party on the grounds of Dr. Gallagher next Friday night, June 25, at 8 P. M., for the benefit of the team, so that they may buy uniforms and other baseball supplies.

The Moguls' average age is about 16 to 17 years.

Saxony Mills defeated the Boston Tigers, 13 to 2 Wednesday evening at Victory Field. McLaughlin and Hughes, Saxony pitchers allowed but four hits between them while their teammates hammered out 15 off two of the visitors twirlers.

Harvard defeated the Alumni Wednesday afternoon. Several former Newton athletes played for the graduates. Wilmot Whitney twirled for six innings passing one and fanning two. All of the undergraduates' runs came in the first frame after which Whitney settled down and stopped further scoring. Henry Bothfeld played shortstop for the graduates the latter part of the game and started one of the classiest double plays seen on Soldiers Field this season, when he grabbed Zarakov's hot grounder, tossed it to Hammond at second, forcing Burns. Hammond relayed it to Owen at first for the two-ply killing. Frank Fripp played left field for four innings and had but one chance. Bob Puffer twirled the first part of the game for the undergraduates passing none and fanning two. George Owen played the entire game at first for the alumni and in four trips failed to hit safely. It was the first time this year that Owen had faced any pitching. In the field he showed all of his old-time speed and several of his catches were of the hardest kind.

Harry Gray's team of colored ballplayers played two games yesterday. In the morning the West Newton team entertained the Newton Y on the West Newton Common and won a close contest 5 to 4, making the winning run in the last of the ninth. Wellman pitched for the Y and Joyner for the West Newton team while Hitchcock and Wrightington were on the receiving end respectively. In the afternoon West Newton went to Wellesley and tied the Wellesley Town team 4 to 4 in a seven inning affair.

Lawrence Rice and Malcolm Hill are two of the four surviving contenders for the State tennis title at Longwood.

CAMBRIDGE WINS TITLE

Cambridge High and Latin and Everett High met yesterday afternoon at Everett to decide the title of the Suburban League. Newton high which was also involved in a three-cornered tie for the honor, forfeited all claim to the title when the authorities refused to let the team play in a play-off series, the local school having an ironclad rule against post-season contests in any sport. Cambridge defeated Coach Brickley's team 4 to 1 and thereby holds the Suburban league championship.

After the game Coach MacDonald stated that he would like very much to play against Newton either tomorrow or the first of next week but it is doubtful if anything will come of it because the Newton team has turned in their suits and disbanded.

—Marion G. Haff received the degree of Master of Arts from Tufts College this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Coan of Saxon road are leaving this week for Isle Spring, Maine.

—Hazel M. Ruby, A. B., graduated this week from the school of library science at Simmons College.

ICE CREAM?

What do you know about Ice Cream?

The state law says that all Ice Cream sold in Massachusetts shall contain at least 7% butter-fat. This is a lower percentage than required in many states. Much commercial ice cream sold in Greater Boston contains but little more cream than is required by law. Such ice cream is filled with cheap substitutes to give it body. Our Ice Cream is made from heavy, pure cream which on frequent tests averaged 25% butter fat.

Your Washday Problem?

If you have a washday problem we believe we can be of service to you. Do you prefer to have everything washed and ironed? Do you desire to have only the washing "done out" and to do ironing of the lighter pieces yourself? Are curtains or washable rugs difficult to handle? Have you pillows, blankets, or comforts that need laundering? We can meet your every washday need. Here are some of the services we offer:

Finished Family Service—Everything washed, and everything ironed.

Family Laundry Service—Everything washed. The flat pieces, like tablecloths, bed linen, napkins, ironed. Other things starched, ready for you to iron.

Curtains—Washed by our special method, and so dried as to bring back all the original design, size, and shape.

Washable Rugs—Laundered by a process that restores their freshness and brightness and natural color

Blankets and Comforts—Washed and dried out doors.

Pillows—Cleansed and sterilized, so that the feathers again become downy and billowy.

Any or all these services are at your disposal. Call us up by telephone, give us your address, and our man will call.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

These wonderful days of early Summer have their alluring features. They have also another side. We wish that it was all poetry and romance but unfortunately wherever sunlight falls there are obstacles which cast their shadows and these are quite likely to fall across the path of any one of us. With the approach of vacation, the letting-up of school work and the call of outdoor delights the youngsters are "just full of it." We mean by this that they are almost certain to drift into some kind of mischief and therein lies the source of petty troubles and annoyances.

Many of our public speakers in discussing the crime situation stress the value of home-training. Preachers take parents to task for failure to look after the youngsters and prosecutors declare that the reform should take place in the home. All of this seems a bit rough on the father and mother who have their own worries. They are held responsible and that is quite as it should be, but often there are circumstances which make it impossible for parents to keep track of their children at all times of the day.

It seems to us that although it is a problem of the home that any outside assistance that may be given should not be withheld. Just how far we should go in indicting parents is difficult to say. George Ade, the famous humorist, tells us, "Father plays golf on Sundays and has his high-balls at the country club and mother plays bridge for money and smokes cigarettes and yet they think that little Willie should behave himself in the manner of the Baptist minister who lives up the street."

Now Mr. Ade writes for the laughs and yet he squeezes in considerable philosophy. His arraignment of parents in this case is somewhat severe to our way of thinking and yet there may be a lot of truth in what he says. We are thinking of the father and mother who do not go in for the gay and sporty side of life but who are sincere and yet unable to master the conduct of their boys and girls.

We do know that every neighborhood has children, or should have, and that there is a temptation to run across a lawn, to pick flowers from a garden not their own and climb fences where trespassing is forbidden. All of this is a very concrete and definite situation, but with real boys and girls it is difficult of control.

In our experience we have found that the householder who has suffered the destruction of his garden is quite apt to indignantly telephone the police and demand punishment of the culprits. He has a right to do this, but is it the most effective way to put a stop to the pranks of youngsters? Why not preventive measures instead? Why not reasoning and caution instead of threats of dire consequences if the offences are repeated?

We know of a Newton policeman who has done some excellent work along this line and if it were not for the fact that it might prevent his continuing we would print his name. Needless to say he is the father of a family and has a family of children of whom any parent might well be proud. Now this policeman patrols the same route, day after day, and knows about everybody and everybody knows him. He has the respect of young and old and therein is to be found his success as disciplinarian.

Instead of chasing the boys around the block—every boy likes a chase providing he has a good start on his pursuer—this policeman gathers the boys together and tells them of their shortcomings. He manages to convince them that they are making a mistake, that if they are taken into court the whole town will look upon them as criminals and their people will be disgraced forever.

His tact has proved most effective. For instance, the other day a man complained that boys had been shooting from an airgun across his land. The policeman acted promptly. He found out who the boys were and said, "Now it is up to you. The man has a right to prosecute you in court and I don't blame him if he does, but first go to him like little men, tell him you're the boys who did it and ask him if he won't let you off this time. If he doesn't then I shall have to do my duty."

What did these boys do? They hastily formed a group, proceeded to the house of the man against whom they had offended, admitted their guilt and asked him to overlook it this time, promising, of course, to be better boys in the future. It struck home. The man accepted their apology and the youngsters felt that they had been put on their honor and were bound to behave.

This was a far better way, it seems to us, than to threaten and storm and rage and then do nothing. We think the same policeman fitted for the diplomatic service but we doubt if he can be spared from his route. We should hate to see him leave.

Just what it was that struck the 1926 Legislature which was prorougued not long ago, we are unable to say, but for some reason or other it created no special recess committees to sit during the Summer and Fall. It is true that there has long been a serious question as to the value of the achievements of a recess commitee, but not much of that was heard during the recent session. Maybe it wasn't necessary to repeat it for the reason that the hint had been already taken.

Whatever the explanation we do not know but we are well aware that the absence of recess committees has been freely commented upon since final adjournment. It seems as if all observers, including politicians themselves, waked up at about the same moment and said, "What, no recess committees this year?" Then came the answer, "No, nothing doing in this line."

It's really worth while to turn back a bit and see if as a matter of fact this circumstance doesn't represent a real reform in legislative proceedure. For years and years the crowning joy to many legislative hearts on the last day of each annual session was the announcement of the special recess committees. Joy was confined, however, to those who received the appointments. Anger and bitterness reached out to such as had hoped but were compelled to suffer disappointment.

Before going any further we ought to say that a great many members of both branches were not seeking these appointments despite the fact that it meant $1000 extra compensation which was earned with comparatively little exertion. But to some aspiring politicians that sum had an appeal and there was usually a race for the chance to serve. Of course it might have been that those who sought the jobs were inspired by patriotic motives and if they were they were amply rewarded.

Along about 10 years ago it became noticeable that nearly every important question was referred to a recess committee. As many as six were created one year. These with 11 members each, with provision for clerical assistance and so forth, sent the cost way up and the taxpayers had to come to the bat and pay the bills.

In 1917 the Constitutional Convention was convened. There were those who were opposed to its existence and it is still an open question how much good was accomplished. And yet the convention took up the question of recess committees and decided that hereafter the members of the General Court who served on those bodies should not receive any compensation. Before that could be made a provision of the State constitution, however, it had to be voted upon by the people.

It may be that some of our readers, and most of them for all we may know, voted to so amend the constitution. Whether they did or not the fact remains that the voters of the commonwealth saw to it that the amendment was adopted by a large majority. This amendment could not be argued against because there was no argument and hence the taxpayers are indebted to the Constitutional Convention.

We do no wish for a moment to be understood as disparaging the work of legislative recess committees. Many of them had rendered conspicuous service in dealing with State problems. They have been able to give closer and more careful study to numerous matters of vital importance.

Somehow or other there was little tendency on the part of the 1926 General Court to create recess committees and whenever it was shown it met opposition. We haven't a doubt but what the commonwealth will be quite as well off without these committees this year at least.

We shall be interested to note the success, for we hope it will turn out that way, of the new law regarding the retail sale of ice. Hereafter each ice wagon must bear a sign on which is quoted the retail price of ice and instead of getting "25 cents worth" the purchaser will know the exact number of pounds to which he is entitled for his quarter. There has been a lot of talk about ice-dealers but we think that for the most part they are men of integrity and that their business is not an easy one as far as estimating supply and demand. Losses are inevitable.

It appears that the idea as contained in this new law was proposed some years ago and that it was favored by local sealers of weights and measures who thought that in some such way disputes over ice sales between dealer and consumer might be avoided. The ice dealers didn't object but they couldn't quite see how legislation was going to improve conditions. Consequently they balked. But this year they changed their views.

To us it seems that the slow and gradual method dealing with problems of household necessities, their production, market price and distribution is far better than hasty, radical legislation. During the World War there was clamoring for all kinds of arbitrary laws to compel dealers in this and that to sell their products for a set price. Happily the Massachusetts Legislature resisted the clamour. Now it has taken steps to correct abuses, but with a sense of fairness and justices to both sides. We trust sincerely that it proves all that its sponsors hope for it.

They tell us of the glad faces of pupils these last remaining days of school. What about the teachers? Are they expected to conceal their feelings?

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kimball Hall, 240 South Mountain avenue, Montclair, New Jersey, formerly of Newtonville, and Mr. Lawrence Gillelan Leavitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Leavitt of Hampton, New Hampshire, took place at St. Luke's Church, Montclair, New Jersey, on Saturday evening, June 12th, at 8.30 P. M.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Luke M. White. The bride was given in marriage by her father. A full vested choir sang the wedding hymns.

The bride was attended by Miss Julie Smith of Montclair, maid of honor; and Mrs. Frederick I. Carpenter of Chicago, as matron of honor; and the following bridesmaids: Misses Ruth Broughton of Bloomfield, Emilie Kent of Newtonville, Mass., Katherine Wing of Concord, Mass., Louise Kellogg of Winnetka, Ill., Barbara Rogers of Dorchester, Mass., Hildegard Kunhardt of North Andover, Mass., Kathryn Austin of New York City and Peg Sheets of Yonkers, N. Y.

All of Miss Hall's attendants were her classmates at Vassar, having graduated in the class of 1925.

The best man was Mr. Ernest B. Neal, Jr., of Wollaston, Mass., and the ushers were Mr. Edward K. Hall, Jr., brother of the bride, and Messrs. Richard G. Heydt of Montclair, Dartmouth '25; W. Halstead Taft, Montclair, Dartmouth '25; Charles W. Graydon, Summit, Dartmouth '25; John R. Meehan, Poughkeepsie, Dartmouth '23; Robert Marshall, Oneonta, N. Y., Cornell '26; Frederick W. The bride's gown was of ivory satin trimmed with rose point and duchess lace and a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley and sweet peas, around which was a frill of real lace.

The gowns of the maid of honor and matron of honor were robe de style of lavendar taffeta with cream lace. The bridesmaid's gowns were the same period, two of corn, two of green, two of rose and two of blue taffeta. They carried old fashioned nosegays combining the colors of their gowns.

The church was decorated with greens and Easter lilies, and the main aisle of the church had tall candles on either side at intervals forming an aisle of candle light.

A reception was held at the bride's home immediately following the ceremony at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt will be at home after September 1st at Marion, Mass., where Mr. Leavitt is an instructor in Tabor Academy.

Mr. Leavitt is a graduate of Dartmouth College, class of 1925.

UPPER FALLS BOY DROWNED

Arthur L. Langdale, 4, son of Arthur C. Langdale of 993 Chestnut street, Upper Falls, was drowned Monday morning in the Charles river near Echo Bridge. The child, with a playmate, Dorothy Copeland of 996 Chestnut street, was playing around the dam by the silk mill. He started to walk across the dam accompanied by a young dog. The dog became frightened and jumped up on the child knocking the little fellow into seven feet of water above the dam.

The screams of the Copeland child attracted Ernest Eyles of Fitchburg, who was visiting in the Upper Falls. Mr. Eyles grabbed a pole from the life saving apparatus near the bridge and brought the body of the Langdale child to the surface as soon as he could locate it. In the meantime the police had been notified. From the Metropolitan station at Riverside Sergeant Dan McLeod and Patrolman Smith responded and from headquarters at West Newton Sergeant Joe Seaver and Bart Cullen sped to the scene with a lungmotor. The emergency crew of the Gas Company also hastened to the place from Watertown. Dr. McOwen was summoned and assisted in the efforts at resuscitation. For two hours every effort was made to revive the boy, but heart action could not be started. He had been in the water about seven minutes before his body was recovered.

The recent disclosures of the enormous expenditures in the Pennsylvania primary ought to make every good citizen, "Stop, Look and Listen." As a device for nominating and electing the most mediocre class of officials at the greatest possible cost, the present primary methods are without a peer. Having been a former ardent advocate of the direct primary, we can speak with some knowledge of political conditions before and after its adoption. We commend the lessons of the Pennsylvania primary to the particular attention of the women voters, who seem to be obsessed at the present time with the virtues of that method.

We understand that the city has at last abandoned a policy which has proved successful for over fifty years and has placed fire insurance on a number of its public buildings. Far be it from us to criticize the present administration at City Hall in matters of this sort, but we rather wonder just what influences were brought to bear to achieve this result. Incidentally, it should be remembered that in its policy of over fifty years, Newton is merely following the precedent set by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

We note with sincere regret the resignation of Rev. Dr. J. Edgar Park as minister of the Second Church in West Newton. During his ministry here, Dr. Park has won the hearts, not only of his own congregation, but of a wide circle of friends in other denominations for his broad outlook on life and religion, his eloquence in and out of the pulpit and his rare personal charm. We feel certain that in his new field Dr. Park will make a new and high record of accomplishment. We wish him God's speed.

The fine record made by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading should commend his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of attorney general. Mr. Reading would carry into that office the same standards of efficiency and ability which he has shown in Middlesex county.

—o—

A former resident of Newton and a visitor here on Flag Day commented on the general display of the flag in the business sections and asked why only two of the five churches in that section of the city displayed the national colors.

—o—

The aldermen of 1926 evidently take little stock in the conclusions reached by their predecessors, to the effect that gas filling stations should not be located on Commonwealth avenue, and should not be granted within a half mile of existing stations.

—o—

We are glad to note the stand taken by the Boston school committee on the matter of military training. Newton made a grave mistake when it abolished that item in its curriculum.

NEWTON'S HEAT FOLKS

Have you ever noticed the imprint of a leaf on a piece of coal?

You'll find one sometimes,—a silent reminder of the pre-historic forests from which coal came.

Think of the centuries of sunshine and fresh air that must have been absorbed by these forests before they were finally buried!

That is the coal we offer you: wood mixed with concentrated sunshine and oxygen, and pressed for thousands of years!

No wonder it burns so well.

WELFARE CONFERENCE

The Welfare Problems Conference, under the auspices of the Newton Central Council, held the last meeting of the season at the "Rest" of the Mothers' Rest Association of the City of Newton, near the corner of Brookline and Oak Hill streets, in Newton Centre, on Wednesday, June 16.

Cars collected a little after noon under the trees which shade the driveway to the Rest, which is nestled in a clearing of the wooded land of which the Rest owns 16 acres. Children and mothers were both using the big swing which stood a little way from the house, and on the porch and in the broad hallway were other mothers and children, looking happy, and for the most part healthy and red-cheeked. Sand piles were scattered here and there, and the shrill calls of children made a significant chorus to the more formal proceedings within the house.

A most delicious luncheon was served on the enclosed porch to over forty guests, by the Board members of the Mother's Rest Association. Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, Chairman of the Welfare Division, introduced Mrs. Henry J. Ide, President of the Association, who told how the work had grown through the efforts and prayers of a small church group to its present proportions. Women of greater Boston who need a vacation and have children under five years of age, are welcomed as guests of the Association. Two places in each vacation party are always reserved for Newton women. The Rest houses twenty mothers and an indefinite number of children for successive periods of two weeks each.

Mrs. Palmer, President of the Council, made some announcements and then Miss Elizabeth Ross, who was in charge of the program introduced the speaker of the day, Mr. Frank Kiernan, the new Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League. Mr. Kiernan has recently become a resident of Newton, but is obliged to spend a great part of his time in Boston or travelling over the State. He gave a graphic account of the progress of tuberculosis preventive work, illustrated by a chart which showed that the enemy, though subdued, is not conquered.

To initiate reforms and then lose interest in them is a weakness of the American mind, Mr. Kiernan said, in making an appeal for continued efforts toward prevention of tuberculosis, especially through methods of education.

Mr. J. D. Stone of the Junior staff of the National League, spoke a few words about the research work being done by that organization.

The formal meeting was then adjourned and the company broke up to wander over the grounds or to talk with the mothers and children who were guests at the Rest.

I., and Miss Marion Gordon of Newtonville, Mass.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Edwin Parkin, son of Dr. Edwin H. Parkin of Newton Centre, is in a serious condition at the Morton Hospital at Taunton, as a result of injuries sustained Wednesday night when he was struck by an automobile truck owned by the P. Coyle bakery and operated by Augustus J. Kondas of 1 Knight street, Taunton.

The accident occurred on Broadway in North Raynham. According to a report which the operator made to the Taunton police, the Parkin boy ran from in front of his father's car, which was parked on the right-hand side of the highway, directly into the path of the truck. He was taken to the hospital by Edward F. Whitmarsh and Isaac Lincoln.

KIWANIS CLUB

The regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday was largely attended. President Frank Wilcox told of his trip to the International Convention of Kiwanians at Montreal. The attendance prize was won by Vincent Squiers. Among the guests present was L. H. Brown of Philadelphia.

A motion was made by Kiwanian Rev. Earl Harper and carried—that a committee be appointed from the Kiwanis Club, to confer with committees from the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce (assuming that these two other organizations see fit to cooperate) to consider the awarding of contracts for city buildings nad the purchase of city supplies. At a preceding meeting of the Kiwanis Club, an open Forum was held at which the question of the awarding of contracts contracts for city buildings and the purchase of supplies by various departments of the city were discussed. It was claimed that such conditions were imposed, that much of the work on public buildings in this city could be done by local business men as well and as economically as by outside firms, but that such conditions were imposed in the requirements imposed in connection with the submitting of bids, that Newton business men are discouraged from participating in the bidding. It was also asserted that supplies for various departments of the city are purchased outside the city, when such supplies can be purchased in Newton.

As a result of listening to this discussion, Mr. Harper suggested that an impartial and careful study should be made of the conditions alleged to prevail, to consider the facts and principles involved, to the end that Newton business men will receive proper recognition. He made it clear that no political significance shall be attached to this action.

VAUGHAN-WHITTINGHILL

The wedding of Miss Eleanor Whittinghill, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coleman Whittinghill of Newton Centre and Mr. Leonce Vaughan, Jr., of Hartsville, S. C., took place last Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Institution avenue, Newton Centre, where the ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Dr. Charles N. Arbuckle, pastor of the Baptist Church of Newton Centre.

The house was attractively decorated for the occasion in yellow and white with garden flowers, deutzia, iris and daisies.

The bride, who wore a traveling dress of sand flat crepe with trimmings of delphinium blue, was accompanied by Miss Helen Mumford of Newton Centre, as maid of honor, gowned in bois de rose.

Mr. Robert Whittinghill, brother of the bride, was the best man.

The wedding march was played by Miss Stella Adams.

After a wedding trip by motor in the mountains of North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan will reside in Hartsville, South Carolina, where they will be at home after October 1st.

The bride is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and the groom of Wake Forest College, North Carolina.

HUTCHINS—DENNIE

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Dennie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Dennie of Hyde street, Newton Highlands, and Mr. Leslie W. Hutchins of York, Me., took place last Saturday evening at the Brae Burn Country Club, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. George Lawrence Parker, minister of the Newton Centre Unitarian Church.

The bride was gowned in bride's taffeta trimmed with French tulle held by a crown of Duchesse lace and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The veil was the one worn by her mother at her wedding.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, had Miss Ruth Hills of Newton Highlands as her only attendant. Miss Hills wore a gown of turquoise blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of roses.

Russell C. Chapman of Braintree, University of Maine, '18, was Mr. Hutchins's best man and Carl A. Sargent of Brookline and Henry C. Fenderson of Boston were the ushers.

The bridal couple will reside in Portland, Me., and will be 'at home' after July 1.

Miss Dennie is a former Lasell girl and Mr. Hutchins was graduated from Maine University with the class of 1922.

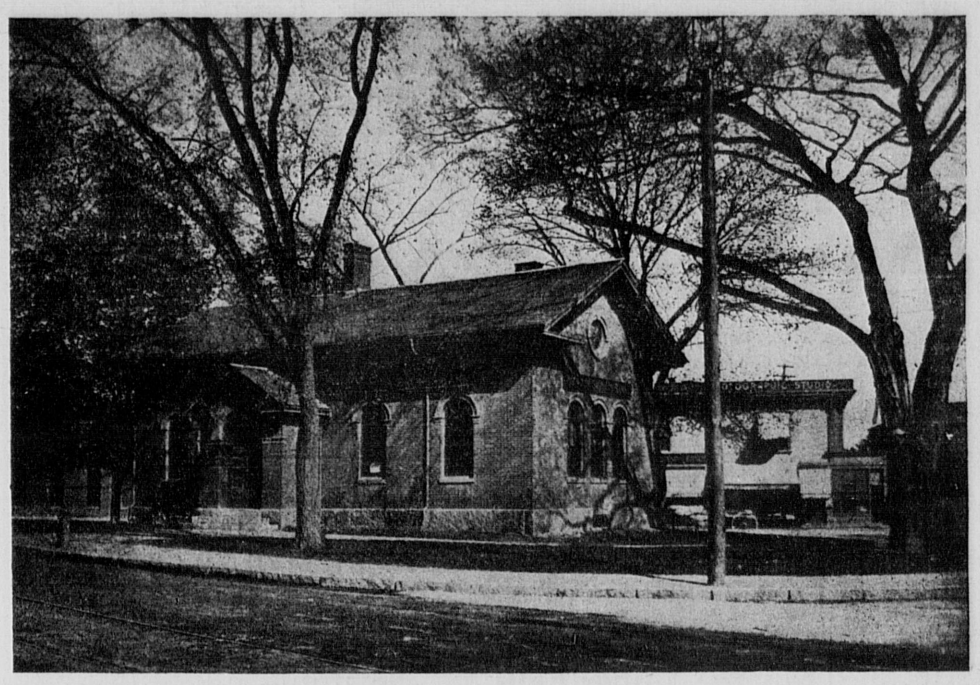
The Oldest Bank in Newton



This picture shows the Savings Bank as it looked in 1863. It was located in the center of Richardson Park, Newton Corner. The present building is in exactly the same location, but covers the entire area of what was then the Park.

Founded by the Newton Temperance Society and Lyceum in 1829 when Newton was a village of about 2,000 inhabitants, the Newton Savings Bank has always been an important factor in the growth of our city. Carefully managed by well-known Newton business men, the Bank has made a consistent and healthy growth through the nearly 100 years of its existence. Never in better condition than today, with deposits of $10,601,000 and a surplus for the protection of depositors of nearly $1,000,000, it amply justifies the use of its well-known slogan

NEWTON HOSPITAL FUND GROWING

Clean Up Campaign Inaugurated With Prominent Citizens on the Follow Up Committees. Subscribers to Fund to Date.

Evidence that the balance of the funds for the new buildings at Newton Hospital will be assured by the end of June was given at a dinner-meeting of the hospital campaign committee at Brae Burn Country Club on Monday night when plans for a thorough clean-up campaign of the city were announced, and it was disclosed that the people of Wellesley had decided to join the fund-raising movement.

At Monday night's dinner detailed plans for a follow-up solicitation program in every ward of the city were outlined, and it was announced that before the campaign was ended everyone in Newton would have been given an opportunity to subscribe, or if one has already subscribed, a chance to increase that subscription. A clean-up campaign committee for each ward was announced, comprised of the leaders of the recent intensive campaign.

Furthermore, it was announced that the subscriptions to date total $1,046,431.

The follow-up canvass will be conducted by the ward committees acting independently, it was announced. No additional quotas have been set, and no general report meetings will be held. Each ward leader will meet with his workers at least twice a week during the next two weeks, and a final rally-dinner will be held at the Brae Burn club on Monday night, June 28, when it is expected that the million and a half dollar mark, if not actually reached, will at least be in sight.

While Monday night's dinner was not slated as a report meeting $17,022 was turned in by team workers and the special gifts committee, which reported an additional $11,325, making the grand total of the special gifts workers $666,325. The goal of that committee is one million dollars, and E. J. Frost, the chairman, announced this goal is to be sighted before the first of July, although there has been no time limit placed on its activities.

To date there have been 6,175 subscriptions or contributions made to the hospital building fund, Leon B. Rogers, general campaign chairman, announced. Stearns School

The routine of school work at the Stearns School has lately been enlivened by interesting and profitable events. Cinderella, the child's favorite story was given in pantomime by girls from the sixth grades of the school. The children of the lower grades were delighted to see acted the story they knew so well. The girls gave modern touches to the story which greatly pleased the little folks.

Many children in the sixth grade in Miss Eden's room have had the privilege of visiting with their teacher the Agassiz Museum at Harvard. The two chief objectives of the trip were the glass flowers and the specimens of animals from Asia, Africa and Australia

A group of children from Miss Walker's room visited the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain. Such trips help to form most friendly relations between teachers and pupils, aside from their decided educational value.

Flag Day was celebrated at the Stearns School by a special assembly. Flag drills and patriotic dialogues helped to mark the day and to convey to the children what the American flag symbolizes and how we should respect it.

As closing time draws near there is the usual mingling of joy with a touch of sadness; joy for the coming freedom from school cares and the sadness which always hovers around the milestones of life. The wonderland of the out-of-doors calls loudly to all now. We feel sure that the relaxation of summer will give both teachers and pupils a new zest for their work next school year.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The following pupils have made a perfect record in attendance for the year, having been neither late, dismissed, nor absent: Grade 2—Ruth Wildman, George Adcock, Ernest Savignano, and John Shklarevich. Grade 3—Dorothy Curtis, Samuel Wilson, Charles Adcock, and Mary Shklarevich. Grade 4—Francis Meehan, Mary Collins, anad Brownslow Jacob. Grade 5—Paul Wassack, Ashla Boghosian, John Savignano, and Monika Skaparas. Grade 6—Joseph Gustowski. Grade 7—Lillian Frost, Margaret Burns, Ada Pault, Josephine Simoni, and Harold Strombom. Grade 8—Mary Simoni, John Shaughnessy, Ulderico Schiavoni, and Joseph Picariello.

The Kindergarten held its annual Parents' Day on Friday, June 11th. There were present 58 kindergarten children and 77 guests, ranging in age from our beloved Mrs. Fanning to the latest arrival in our pre-school group aged 12 days. The children's choir sang two songs, and a simple Spring Pageant was given followed by some games and dances. All the children enjoyed some animal crackers brought by one of the mothers. The books containing some of the work done during the year were given out and Miss Bassett gave a short talk to the mothers, urging them to use their influence toward improving the physical condition of the pre-school child.

The picnic for the kindergarten was held on Tuesday at the home and on the grounds of Mrs. Frank Fanning.

The Emerson school baseball team finished second in the south-side league, losing only two games.

The farewell party to the graduating class was given on Wednesday evening in the hall, by Miss Katherine C. Sullivan.

Mason

A surprise luncheon, given by Mrs. J. A. Cole and Miss Jessie West, was tendered Miss Lucy Morgan of the Rice School, who is retiring this June after 22 years of service in Newton Centre.

Miss Morgan, having received an informal invitation to lunch with Mrs. Cole, was surprised to find her fellow teachers already assembled in the dining room. The table, most tastefully arranged, had for a centerpiece a beautiful bouquet of long-stemmed pink and white peonies, the flower that so links the present with the past.

During the luncheon, a jingle composed by one of the guests and bringing out the various characteristics of Miss Morgan, was read, each guest finding one stanza at her place. The jingle was most clever and made a great hit.

Then came the shower, with packages bearing Miss Morgan's name scattered all over the room. These contained delightful remembrances and keepsakes.

Then around a cheery fire, with Miss Morgan in the most comfortable chair, the following farewell was sung:

"The Lord bless thee and keep thee.
"The Lord make His face to shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee.
The Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

The graduates' party was held on Thursday, June 17, and was under the charge of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Dancing and refreshments followed a program of music by various students. It was a happy occasion and one long to be remembered by the graduates.

The eighth grade went on their regular class outing June 11, to Nantasket. Mrs. Durbin, Mrs. Argersinger, mothers; Mrs. Hastings, teacher, and Mr. Penny, principal, went in charge of the group.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Newton Rotary Club, held at the Woodland Golf Club Monday noon was addressed by one of its own members, H. Wilson Ross, superintendent of the Newton Cemetery. Mr. Ross gave some interesting facts regarding the growth of cemeteries towards what is now called the "Lawn" plan and which was first started at Mt. Auburn nearly a hundred years ago as the "Garden" plan.

Mr. Ross explained the perpetual care plan in vogue in the Newton Cemetery, no lots having been sold since 1872 without perpetual care. This fund now amounts to $375,000. It costs $18 for interment in the Newton Cemetery in lots ranging from $110 to $17,000. $10 is charged for the use of the Chapel.

The club held its summer outing on Tuesday at the Vesper Club, Lowell, and over thirty members and their ladies were present notwithstanding the inclement weather.

Golf in the rain, with bridge in the club house furnished the entertainment preceding an elaborate lobster dinner.

The bridge winners were Mrs. Fred D. Bond, Mrs. C. D. Ansley, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. T. L. Goodwin. The golf winners were Mrs. Duncan Wright and Mrs. I. C. Paul for the ladies and I. C. Paul and C. J. Martin for the men.

FLAG DAY EXERCISES

their inheritance on this continent and have passed it along to the Race everywhere.

It is fitting that on this day in doing honor to the glorious banner above us that we remember the forces that have made our flag a possibility, our democracy a reality, our Republic a vital actuality—the Common People of America,—the man with the hoe, the man that guides the ploughshare, the man who fells the forest and delves in the mine, the shepherd on a thousand hills, the man behind the lathe and loom, the man who faces the furnace and beats the anvil—the worker and the woman who keeps the home and rocks the cradle. These are the Common People, the rock and foundation upon which this Republic and its civilization stand; the Common People who eat their bread in the sweat of their face, and whose labor and productiveness make the home and its happiness possible and human life and intercourse palatable and purposeful.

In the final reckoning all others are merely leather and prunella, the elders, the drones, the parasites upon the body politic who pass and are forgotten when the workers—the Common People—cease to function. Art, music, sculpture, the glory of letters, the beauty of architecture, the expression of genius, the triumph of talent and training, the esthetic things that adorn life and spiritualize living, are made possible by the Common People, since they are the bloom and blossom of our civilization, whose roots are fertilized and fed by the toil and thrift of the workers; and when the Common People cease to labor and produce, the tree of civilization will dry up at its roots and wither at its tops.

This is the great principle, the profound philosophy, that is at the base of our democracy, that constitutes the reason of our Republic and the Flag that floats above it.

The principles of the Revolution are still worth fighting for; the Constitution is still worth guarding and preserving; the Flag is still worth defending and dying for; and the Greeks bearing gifts will still bear watching.

Yonder flies the flag of our country, the symbol of our faith and fatherland, made sacred by the sweat, the suffering and the sacrifice of the Fathers. Guard it and serve it and reverence it, for all it is significant of. Keep it sweet and clean and free from dishonor and stain; and shake from its silken folds the vermin hiding there, who have made it a refuge from which they may plot treachery and plan treason.

Let us watch and wait in wakefulness, remembering that "Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom."

The century of peace enjoyed by Switzerland is no accident. It has been due to a system of military training through which each citizen understoid his duty and performed it for the good of country.

Citizens Military Training Camps and military training in public high schools creates an enduring foundation for respect for lawfully constituted authority.

The same forces that advocated treason during the war and birth control after the war are now leading the forces of pacifism in an endeavor to end military instruction either in public schools or government instruction camps.

Our heritage "American Liberty" is too sacred to trifle with or leave unguarded or undefended and preparedness is vital. Abandon preparedness an we risk the loss of Liberty and America.

COLLEGE STUDENTS CONDUCTING CAMPAIGN IN NEWTON

No sooner have the final examinations been passed than the average American college student begins the summer job on which his next year's tuition largely depends. Today, more than ever before, the college man is self-supporting and regards his vacation period, not as a means of acquiring a coat of tan or perfecting his golf game, but as a necessary course in his college curriculum—a course in self-independence.

A group of such students arrived in Newton Sunday night to begin their campaign through a well-known publication. This is one of the most difficult and trying of college men's summer jobs, but the incentive is great—because if he makes good his next year's tuition in the form of a check is made payable to the bursar of the college. This unusual feature of the contract is splendid because it makes it impossible for them to spend their summer earnings for anything other than tuition and college expenses.

The students taking part in the campaign are Melvin Chevalier, Ray Hackett, Richard Farrell, Kenneth Salley, Allan Eldredge, Marvin Brown and Leon Morisette.

The supervisor of the Metropolitan Boston district, Mr. M. N. Coen of Belmont street, Newton and the New England manager, Mr. H. F. Delaney of Washington street, Newton are in charge of the campaign, which has received the approval of the city authorities.

There will also be a series of races open to any boys in the city of Newton under 16 years of age who have built their own boats. The regatta will commence at 10.30 a. m.

WEEDEN-FESSENDEN

The wedding of Miss Louise Hart Fessenden, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Fessenden of Albemarle road, West Newton, and Mr. Charles Foster Weeden, Jr., of Newton Centre took place last Wednesday afternoon in the Second Church, where the ceremony was performed at 4.30 by Rev. Dr. Charles F. Weeden, father of the groom, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. Edgar Park, minister of the church.

The bride's gown of white satin, richly trimmed with old lace, was the bridal costume of her aunt and sister. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and her bouquet was lily of the valley and white orchids. The bride also wore pearl earrings and pin, heirlooms of the third generation of the groom's family.

The bride had Mrs. George Pope Buell of West Newton as her matron of honor and the bridesmaids included Mrs. Kimberly Stuart of Neenah, Wis., Miss Mary B. Weeden of Newton Centre, Miss Louise Van Loon of Albany, N. Y., and Mrs. James S. Baker of New Brighton, N. Y.

Mr. Weeden's best man was Mr. J. Seeleye Bixler of Northampton, Mass., and the ushers were Messrs. Charles B. Peck of Rochester, N. Y., Lucius E. Thayer of Newton Centre, William G. Avirett of Chicago, George P. Buell of West Newton, and E. K. Hart Fessenden and Frederick J. Fessenden, Jr., of West Newton, the two last being brothers of the bride.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon in Nantucket.

Mr. and Mrs. Weeden will make their home at Englebrook Lodge, Deerfield, Mass.

The bride is a graduate of Vassar college and the groom of Amherst.

As a war veteran Lieutenant Weeden was decorated by the French government with the Legion of Honor and has been also named by Major Barrows, now in service in India, for notable service in co-operation with the English government in Asia Minor while serving under the Near East commission.

This marriage is the union of two families of Mayflower ancestry.

LANE-CUDHEA

The marriage of Mr. Francis S. Lane of Crosby road, Chestnut Hill, and Miss Ruth Margaret Cudhea, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Avery Cudhea of Pratt street, Allston, took place at St. Anthony's Church last Saturday morning, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Nicholas J. Murphy. The musical features of the ceremony were in charge of Mr. John Hession, organist and Mme. Alice Baschi, soloist.

The bridal gown was in basque style of satin and princess lace artistically caught with orange blossoms, long lace sleeves, train of satin and veil of princess lace. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bridal roses. Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Edith A. Cudhea, in basque of honeydew taffeta with cream lace, picture hat of cream straw and honeydew crepe de chine, slippers and stockings of honeydew shade and she carried yellow tea roses.

The bridesmaids, the Mises Kathryn G. and Mary A. Cudhea, sisters of the bride, Miss Mildred D. Lane, sister of the groom and Miss Christine M. Gorman of Jamaica Plain were in pink, orchid and silver Nile bouffant style with picture hats of same shades trimmed with silver and silver slippers and stockings. Their bouquets were of pink roses.

Mr. Thomas J. Lane, Jr., of Hingham, was best man and the ushers were Messrs. James M. Lane of West Somerville and Edmund V. Lane of Allston, brothers of the groom; George G. Cudhea of Allston, brother of the bride; Theodore Kelley of Dorchester, Mathew J. McDonald of Brookline, Henry I. Fitzgerald of Brighton, Cornelius Cotter, Jr., of Jamaica Plain, Edward McGreenery of Cambridge, James Linnehan of Jamaica Plain, and Harry Bruen of Dorchester.

Estelle M. Costello of Brighton, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

A reception followed at the Commonwealth Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. Lane being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Lane and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cudhea, the receiving party standing in a bower of palms and peonies.

After a wedding trip to Europe Mr. and Mrs. Lane will make their home in Newton.

PUPILS GIVE RECITAL

On Tuesday evening, June 15, the Annual Recital given by the piano pupils of the Misses Cotton took place at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. Although the night was cold and rainy a good audience gathered to show their interest in the excellent work the classes are doing.

Both pupils and friends look forward to these recitals, appreciating that the careful, thoughtful training given by these young teachers awakens a responsive interest in their pupils which ensures an enjoyable program and creates an atmosphere of ease and confidence which adds much to the pleasure of the audience.

From the very little children, who come to the piano eagerly and happily, to the older ones, whose musical grasp and expression impress the hearers as rather remarkable—all alike show how good a foundation has been laid towards musical understanding and expression.

It is interesting to follow, step by step, the progress to more and more finished work—the deeper grasp of theme and ryhthm and phrasing, the more assured strength and precision, together with delicacy of touch—these give a charm to these recitals in seeing how from the very beginning, the pupils are learning to work towards definite expression of musical thought; are realizing that notes do not make music unless there be understanding behind them.

Teachers and pupils alike are to be congratulated on a successful and enjoyable recital.

DOW—MERRILL

One of the outstanding society events of the week was the wedding of Miss Ann Merrill, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Merrill of Lake Terrace, Newton Centre, and Mr. Winthrop Griffin Dow of Exeter, N. H. The wedding took place last Saturday afternoon at Trinity Church, Newton Centre, where the ceremony was performed at four o'clock by the rector, Rev. Dr. Edward T. Sullivan.

The bride, who wore white satin with rose point lace, had her sister, Mrs. J. E. Fowler of Cambridge as her matron of honor, wearing green chiffon.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Barbara Prasser of Englewood, N. J., Emily Dow, sister of the groom, of Exeter, N. H., Carolyn Gedney of Orange, N. J., Dorothy Richards of Cleveland, O., Virginia Burrage of Pinehurst, N. C., Mrs. C. F. Eaton, Jr., of Wellesley, Elizabeth Bartlett and Augusta Bradford of Newton Centre, were in pale green chiffon with ecru lace and ecru hats.

Mr. Dow had Mr. Charles F. Eaton of Wellesley as his best man, and the guests were ushered by Messrs. John E. Fowler of Cambridge, Leslie B. Sanders Jr., of Newton Centre, Nathaniel O. Robinson, of New York, A. Craig Lipincott Jr., of Plainfield, N. J., Sherburn W. Merrill, brother of the bride, of Newton Centre, Ralph John of Boston, Harold M. Doherty of Newtonville, Thomas W. Bacchus of Elkton, Raymond L. Bowles of Lancaster, Pa., and J. Henry Leon of Hadonfield, N. J.

A largely attended reception followed at the Country Club, Brookline.

Mr. and Mrs. Dow will reside at 15 Appleby road, Wellesley. The groom is a graduate of Harvard Technology, and the bride of the Bennett School, Milbrook, N. Y.

McMANUS-MacDONALD

The wedding of Miss Lillian F. Macdonald, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Macdonaid of Tremont street, Newton, and Mr. John A. McManus of Lynn took place last Saturday evening at the Church of Our Lady.

The bridal gown was of white satin with train and her coronation veil of tulle was wreathed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Joseph Maloney of Stoneham was matron of honor and wore blue georgette with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinians.

Judge P. J. Kiely of Lynn was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. John L. Macdonald of Newton and Francis F. McManus of Lynn.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McManus being assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. D. Macdonald, mother of the bride and Mrs. C. McManus, aunt of the groom. The house was attractively decorated with sweet peas, carnations, cut flowers and palms.

After a wedding trip to Europe Mr. and Mrs. McManus will reside in Clifton, Mass., where they will be at home after August 1st.

GEORGE S. SMITH

The following editorial was written by Mr. Chas. J. MacPhee of the Framingham News.:

It is with genuine sorrow that we refer to the death, this week, of George S. Smith, of Newton and Boston and Massachusetts. In fact there was so little of the provincial in his great soul that he was a national figure, although focusing his efforts chiefly in and about his beloved Boston. Strange, it seemed, that he should be stricken down while at play, for he dropped dead upon the Woodland golf links at Newton, of heart failure. For George Smith was one of the notable captains of industry of New England. A former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and one of the Boston City club, he was also a leading figure in a number of large banks and business corporations yet he always found time to be the philanthropist whenever the opportunity presente itself. If death loves a shining mark surely it found it in George S. Smith, and his taking leaves a void which it will be hard to fill. His Framingham friends will mourn with those nearer his immediate home.

SHOWER FOR MISS TAAFE

A surprise shower was tendered Miss Alice Taffe, 8 Raymond place, West Newton, at the home of her brother, Raymond W. Taffe, 480 Albemarle road, West Newton, Friday night, June 11th, in honor of her coming marriage. The shower was given by her co-workers of Simmons, Hatch and Whitten Company of Boston, where Miss Taffe is employed. About 40 friends from all parts of Greater Boston gathered at the house, which was gaily decorated in pink. A mock marriage was one of the features of the evening. Miss Taffe, who is to become the bride of Arthur Crouse of Waltham, was the recipient of many gifts. At the close of the shower a delightful collation was served by Mrs. Ray Taffe.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

News from the Biennial

Tuesday was Play Day, which meant trips, hospitality of the local Clubs in teas, entertainments, and delightful parties, and in the evening a musicale at the Pier. It is a pity that columns can not be given to recounting the many wonderful outings and pleasures indulged in by delegates on that day.

Wednesday held discussion of Latin American contacts, with an address by Senator James E. Watson of Indiana. He made an eloquent plea for greater co-operation with South American countries, and a closer relationship developed by interchange of students and increase of tourist travel between the United States and Latin-American countries.

Mr. Watson was introduced by Mrs. E. O. Leatherwood or Utah, chairman of the Latin-American scholarship committee, at the conclusion of her report, in which she said that a scholarship from each State Federation to send American students to Latin-American countries is the aim of the new scholarship plan. She also announced the inauguration of a new system of Pan-American essay contests in high schools, to stimulate interest in South America.

"There are 61,000,000 people in South America, and we know scarcely anything about them," Sentor Watson declared. "We need close and intimate relationship with the people we are protecting, through the Monroe Doctrine, from territorial and political encroachment of other nations, if we are to have closer relationships. It is essential that we have closer contact with them.

"Back of material prosperity and intellectual growth are spiritual ideals. In the face of a deep desire by nations to work together age-old rivalries, commercial hatreds, and religious bigotries persisting from the past will disappear.

"Not by armies or navies but by methods of peace and fellowship can we maintain friendly relations with South America."

Another to speak before the delegates in a telling speech that should awaken women to a new task and to a practical application of the fundamentals of humanity and progress upon which the Federation program rests was Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske. She called upon Women's Clubs to enlist in the campaign to abolish the steel trap method of catching fur-bearing animals. The continuation of organized cruelty to fur-bearing animals and to cattle destined for the slaughter house is a challenge to Club women who declare that their purpose is to "promote movements looking toward the betterment of life." Mrs. Fiske asserted.

"If our platform is honest, sooner or later we must face the facts of dumb animal exploitation in the United States," urged Mrs. Fiske. "And when our women do face the facts there is reason to believe that certain age-long, utterly inexcusable atrocities will disappear."

In the afternoon, the Department of Applied Education brought a host of arresting subjects for consideration, including education of the adult citizen, the library and the home, community service, recreation and conservation. Practical accomplishments in civic betterment by Women's Clubs all over the Nation were reported by Mrs. George W. Plummer, of Chicago, chairman of this department, which comprises 21 divisions of work.

Tennessee clubs spent over $10,000 last year on education, and secured appointment of a State illiteracy commission by the Governor.

Forty States have adopted systems of tree planting, under the leadership of the Committee on Highways and Memorial Tree Planting.

State laws have been enacted for compulsory teaching of bird protection, and wild-life conservation in the public schools of a number of States. Plans have been adopted in several states for establishment of mothers' camps, to furnish needed recreation for rural women.

Establishment of scholarship loans by 11 State Federation to aid needy students.

A survey of illiteracy in the states undertaken at the request of the United States Bureau of Education.

Trees planted by Women's Clubs line highways and cast their grateful roadside shadows in every state, from Maine to California, according to the report of Miss Vida Newsom of Columbus, Ind., chairman of the Federation's committee on highways and memorial tree planting. The committee program emphasizes the planting of "home and community Christmas trees" and roadside planting for beautification of highways.

The aim of the committee work, Miss Newsom said, is 3,000,000 trees planted by 3,000,000 Clubwomen, and every club in the Federation registered 100 per cent in the American Tree Association. Clubs in 32 states have reported definite achievements in highway and memorial tree planting.

She mentioned the following accomplishments in her report:

New York has purchased 100 acres of land upon which 100,000 trees were planted, and named it the "New York State Federation of Women's Clubs Forest."

Mississippi launched a State "plant a tree week," with the indorsement of the Governor who issued a proclamation in the interests of the movement.

Two Federation districts in Georgia reported the planting of 1200 trees.

California has enlisted in a save-the-redwoods campaign and has purchased a memorial grove of redwoods in Humboldt County.

Connecticut is urging legislation to control objectionable outdoor advertising, and the placing of local town tree wardens under the supervision of the State Park and Forest Commission.

Further achievements in fostering legislation for the conservation of mineral resources and forests, opposing commercial exploitation of scenic assets and awakening public interest in wild life, were outlined in the report of Mrs. Wilbur W. Milar of Akron, O., chairman of the division of conservation of natural resources.

Members of the division have appeared before congressional committees and sent out thousands of letters supporting the Clark-McNary bill, the Woodruff-McNary bill, the game refuge bill, and protesting the injury to Superior National Forest by lumber and power interests. They have been active in state legislation to acquire park lands.

The committee has promoted the Shenandoah National Park and the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, has given personal aid to the bill enlarging the Roosevelt-Sequoia National Park, and to establishment of the Indiana dunes as a state park.

Humor was infused in one address when George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey in an address on "Our Reserve Resources," said:

"Sweeping, washing, ironing, those domestic tyrants which like the Norse gods, once gave their names to the days of the week, have been conquered or at least tamed by electricity."

Thursday was Department of Public Welfare Day, and Friday was Department of the American Home.

Describing the League of Nations as "the greatest international machine ever created by human beings to meet human needs," Dame Rachel Crowdy of England, member of the League's Secretariat, outlined the achievements of the League in securing international agreements for the abolition of slavery in the 16 countries where this institution still exists, for control of the opium traffic, and for correction of social evils. Child welfare is no longer merely a national problem, she asserted and some of the most valuable work of the League is along this line.

"There is an extraordinary continuity of subject in the work which is carried on by the secretariat, working throughout the year at Geneva, and it is this continuity which promises well for permanent results in human betterment from the League of Nations," she concluded.

Intimations that Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States Attorney-General was trying to use the General Federation of Women's Clubs to further plans of the Department of Justice, led Mrs. Willebrandt to cancel her engagement to speak to the federation convention on the subject of "Federal Industrial Prisons for Women." Miss Julia K. Jaffrey of New York city, chairman of problems of delinquency and member of the Board of Advises of the projected federal prison at Alderson, Va., thus explained Mrs. Willebrandt's absence.

She stated that the enlarged plans for accommodating over 500 Federal women prisoners necessitated additional appropriations of $1,700,000. These have been held up by the appropriations committees, and during the hearings it was intimated that Mrs. Willebrandt was unfairly using the General Federation of Women's Clubs to influence Congress.

The charges were vigorously denied by Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, president of the Federation, and by Miss Jeffrey, and if the Senate committee holds a hearing on the appropriation for the institution, the Federation will send a representative to urge favorable action.

In discussion of problems affecting home welfare large charts were shown giving returns from the home equipment survey. Displayed on the platform, they bore out the assertion that nothing approaching this survey in completeness has ever been attempted before. Reports have been received from over 6,500,000 homes, and the continuing survey of the farm homes will bring the number much higher before the survey closes next fall.

Recognition of the woman homemaker as having a vocation and an occupation with a money equivalent, and of the home as a place of work as worthy as any other industry of research and study, were outlined as "Our Chief Objectives" in an address by Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, chairman of the department of the American home.

"Economic troubles are at the root of a large majority of broken and disrupted homes," Mrs. Barry said. "Since many of these problems are interwoven with our whole industrial and political life and organization, we are asking that colleges give training to women in the subjects of production, manufacture and distribution, especially concerning those things relating to home consumption."

Stressing the interrelation of home management with all other phases of the Federation's work, Mrs. Barry said:

"The home is no longer an isolated social unit. The home maker can no longer be trained merely to activities within the walls of a specific dwelling place and to the sheltered needs of a family group, I care not how expert that training may be.

"The woman who may do work outside the home with every modern mechanical help and carefully worked out efficiency, standing side by side with men in equality of business and professional fellowship, is not apt to find satisfaction and happiness in the home working with antiquated machinery that entails drudgery and inefficiency and probably a subordinate relationship."

Home budgeting, insurance, nutrition, textiles and mothercraft were discussed by Dr. Louis Stanley, chief of the United States Bureau of Economics, and by other experts.

"Woman needs industry, and industry needs woman," declared Dr. H. E. Barnard of Chicago, in an address on the common interests of the home and modern industry.

"Women are a part of industry," he said. "Almost without exception the commodities which make up the commerce of the world bear the imprint of women's labor. Every product of farm and mine and forest at some time and in some way passes under woman's hand in its transformation into a finished product.

Abolition of the prison contract system and indorsement of the plan to subject prison-made goods to the laws of the states into which they are sent was approved in a resolution submitted by Miss Jeffrey of New York. The resolution was amended to conform to the Federation's new policy of indorsing principals rather than specific bills, but in effect was a declaration of support for the Cooper Bill, now before Congress.

The convention elected to office those names submitted by the Nominating Committee: Mrs. John D. Sherman of Estes Park, Colo., for reelection as president; Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indianapolis and Miss Florence Dibert of Johnstown, Penn., for second terms as first and second vice-presidents, respectively; Mrs. H. E. Reynold of Kentucky for treasurer and Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole of Brockton, Mass., for recording secretary.

Events that reflect to the glory of our own City are, after all, of more satisfaction, since we are human, than many of the big issues that we have heard about, so let us bask in the pride of some of Newton's, Boston's, and Massachusetts', spotlights.

First, as to the State songs that were sung at the various sessions. It was announced that Massachusetts and Pennsylvania held second place among the ten contestants, and we are glad of this, although we do regret that the beautiful silk flag—the first prize—was captured by the Maryland group.

The climax for our delegate was on Friday evening when our own Grace Morrison Poole came forward on the platform as the elected recording secretary of the General Federation. It was a thrilling moment, but the pleasing surprise came when the 200 delegates simultaneously opened gay-hued beach parasols, some fantastic, all bright, as a garden springing into unexpected bloom, a secret admirably kept from Mrs. Poole that such a demonstration was to come, and the pretty spectacle of waving parasols must have been a somewhat overwhelming emotional experience for her.

Our beloved Mrs. Potter had her triumph last week, in her few moment's talk, but she, and Mrs. Poole, and Mrs. Smith, now taking Mrs. Poole's place as General Federation Director—have had daily triumphs of the cheers of our delegates, who sprang to their feet whenever one of them stepped forward on the platform, and cheering like so many schoolgirls: "Poole, Smith, Potter! Rah, rah, rah!", with an enthusiasm that always aroused the merry laughter of delegates from other States.

We are proud of our Boston Mothercraft Chairman, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, who sent special personal invitations to each of the 48 state presidents for the showing of the "Mothercraft" film Friday afternoon in the Little Theatre, adjoining the convention hall on the steel pier. Many of the Clubwomen from all over the country were present to see the picture, which was filmed at Hollywood, under Mrs. Kimball's direction, and which followed her report on the growth of the Mothercraft movement.

Then there was Miss Margaret Slattery of Boston who delivered an address, praising "the younger generation to whom no achievement is impossible and whose future depends upon the American home."

We are proud, too, of the Arlington girls and boy who as winners of the Music Memory Contest, went to Atlantic City to compete for the national

ABOUT TOWN

The other day, as we drove easterly along Washington street in our chugging chariot, we espied on the sidewalk alongside the little park off Washington street, just north of the Centre Place bridge, a large, ornate post surmounted by a sign. The sign is of the type which is illuminated at night and it bore the name of a well-known gasoline. We were amazed! For, at the distance from which we first observed this sign, the natural inference one would draw, would be, that a filling station was about to be established at this locus. It, perhaps, is proper at this time, for us to acknowledge that we learned to say "locus," rather than "site," when referring to the location of a gasoline station, by listening one night, at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen, to an illuminating dissertation on gasoline filling (or selling) stations by Hon. Herbert Parker of Lancaster. Mr. Parker was pleading for a corporation which a few may have heard of, the Standard Oil Company. This concern desired to erect a gasoline selling station on the now well known triangle which is advocated by so many as the ideal site (or locus) for the new City Hall, which Newton may build sometime in the future. "Sometime in the future" is a conservative estimate as to the date when this much discussed building may become a reality. Also present on the evening when the Hon. Herbert Parker diffused legal knowlege and excellent English in the Newton aldermanic chamber, were several Newton lawyers. They have, on occasions, since that memorable night, formed the habit of designating the proposed site of a gasoline selling station as the "locus."

We were amazed when this sign loomed into our view, because we knew that no petition had been presented or permit granted for a gasoline selling station at this locus. Also, we wondered if the city officials had surreptitiously sold the parcel of land on which the little park is located. This land was formerly the site of the old armory and for many years it has been held by the city for the purpose of eventually being used as the location of new quarters for Engine 1 of the Fire Department. It would be a super-locus for a gasoline selling station. Some of the rival companies which are competing for advantageous locations at which to retail their product, would readily give the city $35,000 or $40,000 for this land.

But, as we drew nearer to the sign, in addition to the name of the gasoline, we saw upon it, an arrow. The arrow pointed across the bridge to a station operated on Centre place by the company, the name of whose product is on this sign. "Here," thought we, "is not only an innovation, but a solution to one phase of the problem concerning gasoline selling stations which is taking so much of the time of our aldermen, and perturbing so many of our citizens." Some of the aldermen contend and have contended, that gasoline selling stations should not be permitted on our main streets. These gentlemen argue that the proper place for such a station is on a side street. When the hearing was held on the petition for the granting of the permit for the station on Centre Place, the aldermen were told that one reason why the permit should be given, was, "because the locus was on a side street, and thus conformed to the contention that such by-ways are where such stations should be."

Since, it appears, the city is willing to assist business enterprises occupying more or less obscure locations off the main highways, by allowing guiding signs to be erected on said main highways to direct customers to such locations, future aspirants and applicants for gasoline selling stations could establish these adjuncts of the automobile era on inexpensive sites on side streets, rather than on high-priced loci on principal thoroughfares. And, by so doing they would not alone save considerable money, but also much opposition. Similar signs would be of great assistance to persons engaged in other lines of business situated off the principal traffic arteries.

"Bill" Hunnefield, who for several years played with the Saxony Worsted baseball team of Nonantum, is making a hit with the Chicago White Sox. Hunnefield has been playing a snappy infield game for the Chicago team, hitting out many extra base clouts, and is developing into one of the best base stealers in the big leagues.

Advocates of the Homer-Walnut St. triangular site for the new City Hall give as one reason for favoring that location the fact that it contains 8 acres of land. They contend that an area of this size is needed around a real city hall. Some folks are wondering why such a sizeable lot should surround such a municipal building. Perhaps a quarter mile running track can be constructed around the hall where candidates running for office can train.

RIVER POLICE AFTER "PETTERS"

In the old days, before the Metropolitan District Police Department was established the Charles River between Lower Falls and Waltham was a lover's paradise. That is, according to the lovers it was paradise. According to more mature persons interested in conserving the morals of the young, it was h——. The Metrtpolitan Police took immediate and determined measures to reform conditions, and succeeded in making this popular water resort respectable. It has been necessary, however, to practice vigilance every season to prevent recrudescence of objectionable spooning by some of those who go canoeing on the river.

The police have this season displayed much activity in patrolling the Charles every evening, both in their motor launches, and along the paths by the shores. Those who would indulge in "petting parties," will do well to stay clear of the Charles at Auburndale.

honor of winner of this distincion. And we are delighted to announce that Sylvia Hortter—she who stood first in Massachusetts—has won the national title!

Sylvia Hortter who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hortter of Newman Way, Arlington, is described by her teachers at the Centre Junior High School as a typical American girl. In her home she has been surrounded with cultural influences and carefully directed to the better things of life. As a family they are very fond of music and attend many of the finest concerts that are given in Boston.

Sylvia is a leader in both academic work and sports.

Sylvia is in the ninth grade, graduating from junior high school this month. She will go on to the senior high in September. She is taking the academic course and has as yet made no plans for specializing in any subject. And we Club women of Massachusetts are so glad that Sylvia is today the Champion Music Memorizer of America, winning over a large field of contestants! The children each wrote an essay in addition to the memory test, and six had perfect scores in this. Among these, too, was another Arlington girl, Mabel Tashjian, 14 years old, and we are proud of her, too!

Coming to the glories of Newton, Mrs. Harry A. Burnham made a place for herself in the annals of the convention. As chairman of the divisions of home making, she is known as an authority on home economics. In her report she stressed the importance of business efficiency in home management, and of spiritual values in family life. Her "Three R's" are worth repeating—although they have been printed before in this column:

1. Religion, which she characterized as "a definite understanding on the part of home makers that the unit of civilization is not the individual but the family, and that we shall never have a God-fearing, law-abiding Nation until we have God-fearing and law-abiding homes.

2. Rhythm, or a sense of values, "An understanding that routine and repetition are the law of the universe."

3. Risibility, or a sense of humor, to give "a keen sense of what is of passing importance and what of lasting value."

Mrs. Frank H. Stwart, Art Chairman of the State Federation is arranging to give radio programs on "The Romance of Art," with eight talks on as many subjects by authorities. Royal B. Farnum is to speak next Friday, June 11th, and Mrs. Ward I. Cornell of Newton Highlands, a member of the department, is to talk on features of especial artistic interest about Boston. "The Golden Dome," first gilded by Paul Revere, is one of her topics. Next February it is expected that an exhibition will be staged in Horticultural hall for two weeks, featuring sculpture in relation to its setting. Individual clubs are working up original exhibits, or planning photographs of what they have in their own communities which is most worth while.

Mrs. Stewart preaches—and we should show our appreciation of the sermon by practicing—that art is a vital part of our everyday life, and is ambitious to have every clubwoman interested in beautifying her own home and surroundings through a study of what is finest in painting, sculpture and architecture.

We told you—nay boasted—in this column a litle while ago that our Auburndale Juniors were to dress a doll for the State Federation to exhibit at the Sesqui-centennial at Philadelphia, and now here is the sequel to the story—a most fascinating sequel, since it involves many Auburndale Club women we all know.

Mrs. Herbert Longfellow, a past president of the Auburndale Woman's Club, acted as page to Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole during the biennial, assisting in the multitude of details connected with staging a two weeks' program, and also in other pleasant tasks created by Mrs. Poole's election as national recording secretary. But, even more interesting about Mrs. Longfellow is the fact that it was from part of a gray gown formerly belonging to her Quaker grandmother that the dress was made for the doll which the Auburndale juniors contributed toward the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs' exhibit in the sesquicentennial in Philadelphia. The doll was dressed by the juniors under the direction of Mrs. George Nudd, vice-president of the Auburndale Club, and was presented by Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, president of the Club, at the tea in honor of Mrs. Poole.

And now for a most exciting bit of news—the ideal Club Husband has been found—in fact, two of him—and he, or they, are of Boston! Mrs. Walter B. Leach, president of the Brookline Women's Club declares that one of them is hers, and Dr. Anna Palmer of Boston boasts that the other is hers! Both agree that no ideal husband is henpecked. The men will be glad to hear this! Dr. Palmer says that her husband is the ideal one because he lets her do as she pleases. (All husbands please note what constitutes the ideal husband!) Mrs. Leach says that the ideal Club husband must have the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the skill of David's body-servant, and the iron will of Jonah, who would not give in to the whale. He must (of course) be interested in women's public activities, must encourage her in them, must never get jealous of the time she gives to them, must go to conventions with her, and help her and the other women in all the ways a man can, "as my husband does," she ends, "this is the third big convention my husband has attended with me." Reporters, hearing this big item of news, interviewed the two said husbands in their Boston offices, and found them "two highly embarrassed, but highly delighted husbands."

Exciting and humorous invitations for the next Biennial—1928—were delivered by Federation delegates from San Antonio, Texas; Memphis, Tenn.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; and New Orleans, La.

San Antonio offered to give each delegate "a little oil well." Memphis held out the inducement of "a bale of cotton for each delegate to the biennial." Grand Rapids offered "samples of its best furniture" from the famous Grand Rapids factories, and New Orleans offered "orange blossoms, and an open door to all our homes."

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Summer brings its pleasures to Club women as the members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club discovered in the jolly time they had on Thursday last, June 10th, at the picnic of the Home Economics Class held with Mrs. Ethel Leach, at her summer home, Crow Point, Hingham. Twenty members motored down to participate in the affair. Luncheon was served on the rear lawn, which overlooks the bay. Box lunches, fresh boiled lobsters, together with fruit salad and ginger ale furnished by the hostess, was much enjoyed by all. Two members, unable to resist the call of the tide satisfied the longing and just "paddled in the water." Mrs. Percival Waters gave a résume of the convention held at Atlantic City. Then, after an exchange of ideas economic concerning the home, the guests bade the hostess farewell and turned homeward.

The Travel Class is continuing its study, and finds the histories of the lives of Buddha and Confucius so fascinating that they can't stop meeting to read and talk about them. Next Monday, the 21st the members of this Class will meet with Mrs. F. E. Nowers, 919 Watertown street, West Newton, to read from a book on Buddha.

Far be it from us to be tactless in our pleasure over our triumphs, and of course there is danger in comparisons, but it was generally conceded that quite the nicest social affair by way of a tea was the one given on Friday afternoon, May 28th, in honor of Grace Morrison Poole. The Rose room of the Hotel Traymore was hung with many large American flags. A trio furnished music, and to its accompaniment the guests were received by Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Packard—all of Federation prominence, and Mrs. Harry Burnham, chairman of the New England Conference. As the guests arrived they were presented with a long-stemmed American beauty rosebud, at least 450 guests being so favored. There is a secret connected with these rosebuds that once more redounds to the quick wit and efficiency of Massachusetts Club women. These flowers were ordered by the Rhode Island contingent for their banquet of the previous evening, but owing to a misunderstanding they were not delivered by the florist until the next day, to the disappointment of the Rhode Island delegates. But, however unpleasant was this accident, Massachusetts came to the rescue and purchased from these dismayed Club women the flowers and used them for the tea. They added much to the festivity. It was a truly social time that afternoon, for all "ice was broken, in unusual ease and jollity. One of our Newton women was chairman of refreshments, Mrs. H. E. Child, and she with another Newton delegate, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, helped the friendly spirit by their own famed cordiality. Assisting in serving the 16 gallons of punch indulged in that day were Mrs. A. H. Crossman of Milton, Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. William H. Emerson of Brockton, Mrs. William Binley of Wollaston, Mrs. F. E. Wild of Quincy, Mrs. J. H. Mead of Arlington, Mrs. A. J. Crockett of Roxbury, and Mrs. Francis Brown.

Your editor closes her column for this season with best wishes for happy, restful vacation days for all Newton Club women, and she finds no better words to give as inspiration for them—and for the coming busy year of work—than to quote from the first message of our new State president, Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, whose rare wisdom, and high vision prove her the ideal leader of our organization.

"Every woman should raise her eyes frequently from her immediate tasks to get a realization of what lies about and beyond her. There is something inspiring in a distant view. Looking out into the world to see what others are doing keeps us from magnifying too much our own task and enables us to view it in relation to the work of others.

"By co-ordination of work and the grasping of opportunities as they present themselves, there must come about, from year to year, a remolding of our organization so as to promote the greatest development of membership. The fundamental strength of the Federation, in all its acts of service, lies in its membership of clubs. The harmony and solidarity of the Federation enables it to march forward, changing like other organizations from one administration to another to meet the needs of the hour.

"Knowing the power which the Federation represents, many who have causes to promote are looking to the Federations as a means to promotion. It is important that these various causes should be received with much deliberation, in order that the good name of our Federation shall not suffer by injudicious action. We should try to avoid mistakes, but not be too much afraid of them. The greatest mistake is not to attempt.

"In vacation time let us remember that the things which we do, not because we must, but because we may, speak a significant language. May a measure of recreation come to every Club woman in these summer months, insuring a greater zeal for the taking up of her work in the fall."

NEWTON HOSPITAL HEADQUARTERS

The Benefit Shop of the Hospital Aid Association, which has been doing business at 10 Bailey Place, Newtonville, will move on Friday, June 18, to new and larger quarters at 895 Washington street, Newtonville. The change is necessitated because of the need for larger quarters. The shop, which is being operated by the ladies from the different villages of Newton for the benefit of the Newton Hospital, will be open daily from 1 to 5 o'clock, except on Thursday, during the summer.

The committee in charge, which is headed by Mrs. C. Peter Clark of Newton Centre, is desirous of obtaining more articles of clothing for sale. The demand for men, women and children's clothing exceeds the supply, and virtually any cast-off garment that is wearable has a sale. As the shop is to be a permanent feature of the charitable work of the association the committee desires that all interested continue to save articles for sale. These will be called for on notification.

Factories are being urged to give any seconds to the shop, and merchants, who have any shop-worn articles, for which there is no current demand, are asked to contribute these to the shop by the committee in charge.

YOUNG-AMES

The wedding of Miss Alice Louise Ames, the daughter of Mrs. Etta Ames and the late Fred Fisher Ames and Mr. Milton Perham Young of West Newton, took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride, 999 Washington street, West Newton, where the ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Dr. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church.

The house was attractively decorated with palms, the stairway being banded with asparagus ferns and interwoven with white carnations.

The bride was in white satin with satin train and tulle veil, the veil being a family heirloom. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Dorothy Young, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and was in flesh colored taffeta and carried Columbia roses. The bridesmaids, the Misses Ethel Waterhouse of West Newton and Mrs. Forde Hasting of Hartford, Conn., wore honeydew and orchid taffeta and carried bouquets of butterfly roses and lavender sweet peas.

Mr. Walter Knudson of Newton Highlands was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Leslie Felton of Somerville and Howard Young of Boston, the latter being a brother of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Young being assisted by Mrs. Etta Ames and Mrs. L. F. Young.

Following a wedding trip to Atlantic City and Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Young will reside at 999 Washington street, where they will be at home after July 5.

MADAM LEGINSKA TALKS ON BOSTON PHILHARMONIC

A gathering of some twenty musicians and music lovers took place at the home of Mr. E. Beaufort of 18 Oakland street, Newton, to listen to Ethel Leginska, famous pianist and conductor, who talked to them about her plans for the new Boston Philharmonic Orchestra, which she is to conduct next winter. The orchestra will consist of 100 musicians and the series of 20 concerts will be held in Mechanics Hall which is being remodelled. The pieces will be popular. Amongst those present were: Mrs. Bertram Currier, Miss Elsa Currier, Mrs. George Owen, Miss Marion Chapin, Miss Pucciarelli, Miss Caruso, Mrs. Nolte, and the Misses Nolte, Mrs. Orr and others.

POLICE NEWS

Friday morning Judge Bacon imposed fines on several autoists for speeding. Pasquale Sirlanni, Brigham street, East Boston, paid $15; Dr. William Clark, 57 Brighton avenue, Allston, $10; Harold Van Heuren, 12 Copeland street, Watertown, $10. The last two were arrested by Officer Doherty, who testified they were racing along together.

Newton is not a healthy place for automobile operators who like to drive their cars at express train speed. Several more "demon drivers" were assessed in court Monday. Richard Emerson, 16 Corey road, Brookline, paid $10; Robert Ferreira, 1337 River street, Hyde Park, $10; Michael Troy, 47 Smith avenue, West Newton, $10; James McDonagh, 47 Clinton street, Newton, $20. Robert Finnin of Jamaica Plain insisted on Monday that Officer Goddard had erred when he stopped him for speeding. Finnin had an attorney who tried to argue that Goddard should not have passed Finnin to apprehend another speeder before holding up his client, who had slowed down when hailed by the policeman. But Judge Bacon could not see it that way and fined Finnen ten bucks. Finnen appealed, but later decided to pay the fine.

Charles L. Sowle of 260 Brookline avenue, Cambridge, was fined $25 by Judge Bacon on Monday for refusing to stop when ordered to do so by an officer. The same morning Russell Pratt of Northwood Ridge, New Hampshire, was given a six months' suspended sentence for toting a revolver. Pratt is a marine fireman and was picked up at 2.45 Sunday morning by Officer Eliot. H. Nelson Slater of Webster, paid $10 Monday for speeding. This will not bankrupt H. Nelson.

Two Waban youths, Emery Tobin and Edwin Jones were given $20 suspended fines for trespassing in the building formerly occupied by the Castle Club on Islington road.

Lawrence Shedd of 219 Audubon road, Boston, paid several visits to police headquarters on Thursday. Shedd, who is employed by an insurance company, called the first couple of times to obtain information regarding the fatal auto accident near the Woodland Golf Club. The next appearance he made was in company with Officer Ray Taffe who had arrested him at Newton Corner for driving without a license. He was fined $10; also $5 for violating a traffic ordinance.

MIDNIGHT SESSION

Aldermen Transact Routine Business. Start Discussion of Two-Platoon System for Firemen at Midnight

There was plenty of variety at the meeting of the aldermen Monday night. While gasoline was much in evidence, as has been usual at most meetings held during the past two years, a subject that occupied much of the time of Newton' solons in days of yore, cropped out, when an additional junk license was recommended by the Franchise Committee. Other topics debated were—the insurance of buildings owned by the city, and the two-platoon system for the fire department. As an added attraction, residents of White avenue, Newton Centre, enlightened the aldermen concerning the sanitary conditions prevaliing on and near that thoroughfare.

The first three hearings listed on the docket concerned gasoline filling stations. No person appeared in favor or against the petition of Marshall B. Hall for a permit to start a station at the corner of Washington and Court streets. Within three years, four petitions have been presented to the aldermen for a filling station permit at this locus, and all have been refused. Mr. Hall was formerly one of the owners of the Metropolitan Filling Stations, which were sold some months ago to the corporation which now runs them as the Mayflower Gasoline Stations.

Ex-Alderman Harry Ross of Auburndale appeared as attorney for Daniel Barnicle who asks for a station at 446 Lexington street. Mr. Ross

WELLESLEY TO AID

The task of raising the balance of the million and a half dollars for the Newton Hospital building fund will be carried on during the summer months and renewed vigorously in the fall, when an intensixe campaign will be conducted in Wellesley, the campaign executive committee has announced following a meeting at the campaign headquarters at Newtonville on Monday.

The grand total of funds subscribed to date it $1,052,2 9.66. This represents the subscriptions or cash contributions of 6,310 persons or organizations.

The follow-up campaign by wards is now being conducted with favorable results, it is reported at campaign headquarters, but no detailed reports on this activity will be made until the final meeting of the spring campaign, which is scheduled for Mon-

NEWTON CENTRAL COUNCIL

Because of the Newton Hospital drive, in which so many of the members of the Newton Central Council were actively engaged, it was deemed wise by the Executive Committee to omit the May meeting of the Council. In its place, the following statement concerning the activities of the Council during the spring months is being sent to every member organization.

It will be recalled that the Council has been operating upon a new half-time basis this year and for the first time has been supported entirely through the generosity of its constituent members.

Although without a trained Executive Secretary, the Council has been exceptionally fortunate in its Office Secretary, Miss Louise Peloubet, who had two years of previous experience in the work of the Council with Mr. Dunham and whose services have

ROYALTY AT WEST NEWTON

Huge Crowd Greets Crown Prince Gustav Adolf and Princess Louise of Sweden at Swedish Home Last Sunday

Centuries before Columbus discovered America, intrepid Norsemen, under the lead of Lief Ericson, journeyed up the Charles River through what is now Newton. So contended Prof. Horsford and other historians.

Sunday, another leader of the Scandinavian race visited this city to be acclaimed by 10,000 or more persons of Swedish birth or ancestry. Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, and his consort, Princess Louise, motored from the fashionable North Shore colony, where they had been entertained, to visit the aged Swedish people who are spending their last days in the attractive home at the corner of Waltham and Crafts streets, West Newton. Nature seemed to approve of this gracious act on the part of the royal couple, for she provided a beautiful June day to make the occasion most enjoyable.

Not alone from Greater Boston, but from all parts of New England, came persons of Swedish descent to greet the future king of the north country. The first comers arrived several hours before noon, although the prince was not scheduled to arrive until 3.55 P. M. By 3.30 the spacious grounds surrounding the home were filled by thousands of persons and all nearby streets were lined by hundreds of autos. A large squad of Newton police, under command of Sergeant Joseph Seaver, were early on the scene, and during the afternoon Chief

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

REGAINS TITLE

Lawrence B. Rice of Newton Centre who first annexed the Massachusetts singles championship in 1924 regained his title last Saturday afternoon by defeating Josiah Wheelwright in three straight sets in the final match. Rice gained the final round by eliminating B. S. Niles, Karl Pfaffman, George Abbott and Malcolm Hill without the loss of a single set. The most games that any of these players could get from the Newton Centre man in a single set was four which was accomplished by Abbott.

Saturday afternoon Rice played better than ever before in regaining his title, which he relinquished last year when he spent the summer months FIVE—GRAPHIC .... abroad. He had trouble getting his first service in but when he did so it usually forced his opponent to err. In the entire match Rice scored four service aces to his companion's one. Another feature of the champion's play was his loss of but one service game throughout the match.

The match in which Rice won the championship was the last in which he will play this season as he left this week for Maine where he will spend the next two months as a councillor in a boys' camp on the coast.

WINS CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

The Mason School baseball squad finished its season with the same remarkable success promised earlier in the season. So often grammar school teams are erratic and do well sometimes, and slump at others. The Mason team played the game fine brand of ball throughout its entire schedule, winning every game. Mason took the city championship in two straight games from the Burr School of Auburndale, 7-6 and 17-11. Burr had a fine little team, but lacked the hitting ability of the South side boys.

BURR TENNIS FINALS

Tournament Notes

Malcolm Clark gained a second leg on the Challenge Cup presented by the Newton Improvement Association. One more win and it becomes his permanent possession.

One of the largest gallerys ever at the final matches was on hand last Saturday afternoon at the Burr Playground. The tournaments are becoming more of an attraction each year.

In the Spring tournament of the Burr Tennis Association, there were 98 matches scheduled and of these only eight went by default.

Grace Garcelon won the challenge cup presented by the Newton Community Club. This is the second time she has won this cup.

Grace Garcelon and Malcolm Clark were the only winners last year who were able to repeat and win this year.

PENN STATE STAR

Gordon M. (Heinie) Harris of Newton Centre has made quite a name for himself at Penn State College in the past three years. When he entered that institution he took with him a reputation as a cross-country runner but has devoted his athletic time more to baseball than to the hill and dale sport.

As a freshman in 1924 Harris broke in at first base on the freshman nine. His fielding was of a high order but his stickwork was rather weak. In his second year "Heinie" clinched the varsity berth at the initial sack and played in every game that season, his fielding again being the outstanding part of his play.

When this season rolled around and Harris reported to Coach Hugo Bezdek the Nittany mentor devoted considerable time and effort in improving the Newton Centre youth's hitting. His efforts clearly brought fruit as Harris was one of the most timely batters of the Nittany outfit. The team record for this season is nine won and seven lost, four of the seven defeats being by narrow margins.

Harris fields and bats right handed. His arm is good and he is exceptionally good on ground hit balls. Nearly all of his errors this season came as the result of going after poor throws which he dropped. Next year he will be a member of the senior class, is expected to be one of the outstanding stars of the 1927 nine, and is a leading contender for the captaincy.

"Heinie" does not confine his activities to the diamond, however, and is active in student affairs. He belongs to the Lion's Paw Senior Society, a high campus honor, to Skull and Bones, and Sphinx campus societies in addition to being a member of Chi Phi fraternity.

PROCTOR ELECTED CAPTAIN

John Proctor, Newton high shortstop, was recently unanimously elected to the captaincy of the Newton high nine for 1927. Proctor played at short stop, at second and in the outfield at different times during the past season.

At a batter the Newton boy led the Suburban league at bat with an average of .655 and would have easily clinched an All-interscholastic berth but for a poor arm. Although the new captain-elect would make a try for anything that came his way he might at any time throw wild to first. Another year and he should acquire sufficient control of the ball to make him a dependable infield.

Proctor will spend his summer vacation in a Pennsylvania camp with several Harvard, Princeton and Yale athletes.

SPORT NOTES

Al Woodlock of the Boston Globe names three Newton high boys on his All-Interscholastic nine. Tom Gilligan wins the catching berth while Bob Pickard is one of three pitchers named. Carleton McCullough is picked for left field. On the Globe second team, Alan Shaw is named as the utility man as his play at second and in the field for Newton and his timely bat won more than one game for the orange and black.

Tom Gilligan caught Dan Connors of Medford and Gregory Keefe of Everett in the All-Suburban—All-Boston game at Tufts Oval Saturday afternoon which was won by the latter nine 5 to 4. The teams were those picked by Doc Mooney of the Boston Post and the proceeds were given to the Post Santa Claus fund. The All-Suburban nine went into the seventh inning with the score 3 to 1 in its favor, all of the runs being scored in the first frame. Keefe relieved Connors and the All-Boston nine tied the count. The Suburban team took the lead in the eighth scoring one tally. In the ninth a two base hit and a Texas leaguer put men on second and third. On a squeeze play Gilligan interfered with the batter in his eagerness to get the man coming home and the umpire allowed the run to count and the batter to take first. The next batter singled scoring the winning run. Gilligan connected safely twice in his four trips to the plate.

The Newton Pals won their seventeenth game of the season Sunday afternoon at West Roxbury by pinning a 10 to 3 defeat on the Gardner A. C. The Pals collected fifteen hits off of Hunt while Murphy allowed the home nine but eight.

Saxony Mills dropped another game last Saturday afternoon at Victory Field when the Saxonville Town Team pinned a 9 to 5 defeat on them. Dick Harrell, Holy Cross second baseman, starred both in the field and at the bat for the winners.

Harvard defeated Dartmouth on the diamond last Saturday for the first time since 1916, and it was in that year that Wilmot Whitney, a senior at Harvard, twirled the Crimson to victory over the Green.

Gorham M. Harris has been awarded his letter in baseball at Penn State College. This is the third award in baseball the Newton Centre youth has won at the college.

Ed. Wilson of the B. A. A. track team placed second in the three-mile walk at the New England A. A. U. games Sunday afternoon at Franklin Field.

Tom Gilligan and Carleton McCullough will enter Exeter Academy next fall. Phil Perry and Harold Carver will go to Boston. Alan Shaw will enrol at Bowdoin and Warren Adams is heading for Princeton. Guy Holbrook will probably enter Harvard with Holmes Whitmore.

Last Friday night in a twi-league game the Pals defeated the West Newton A. C. nine 3 to 1 on Victory Field. Chet Aucoin twirled for the Pals and although touched for ten hits kept the colored boys away from the plate. The West Newton outfit apparently thought they could score at any time as they had defeated the Pals 12 to 2 in the opening league game last month.

The class of '16 and '11 of Harvard staged a seven-inning ball game Wednesday afternoon on Soldiers' Field. The '16 lineup had a Newton high aspect as three former Newton stars were on the field. Wilmot Whitney relieved Eddie Mahan in the box midway of the game. Frank Fripp covered third base and Henry Nash was at the initial sack. '16 won 8 to 3.

Frank Fripp also served as starter of the crew race between the two classes which was also won by the ten-year graduates.

West Newton A. C. defeated the Cardinals in a twi-league game at West Newton common on Monday night, 5 to 1. Wright kept the Newton Centre nine from scoring until the closing inning when they collected their only tally. Wright allowed but four hits while his teammates garnered ten off the deliverers of Bright.

Dick Vaughan was officially credited with four times at bat in the Harvard-Yale game on Tuesday which the former won 8 to 7 at New Haven. The Yale shortstop collected one single in his four attempts. He got as far as second by stealing. He had a very easy day in the field, having but one putout and one assist in two chances.

The Newton Pals hammered Bob Pickard, Newton High pitcher, for fifteen hits at the West Newton Common last night and beat the Auburndale Town Team 7 to 5 in a Twi-League game. Pass held the Auburndale players to six hits. Lyman, McArdle and McLean led the Pals' attack with a total of five singles, four doubles and a triple between them.

Harvard's victory over Yale on Tuesday was the first diamond battle the Crimson has won over the Blue since George Owen broke up the second game of the 1923 series with a two-base hit.

Bill Ellison returned to the Harvard lineup in Wednesday's matinee with Yale as Burns' leg, which he hurt in Tuesday's game was pretty sore and he had to retire. Jones moved over to centrefield and the Newton boy went into right. In his four trips to the plate Ellison failed to connect. He made two putouts in the field, one of which was a dandy catch of a fly from Noble. Dick Vaughan, the Yale shortstop, collected two singles in four trips but was left on the bases each time.

Miss Harriet Ellison, entered from the Brae-Burn Country Club in the sixth annual women's international invitation golf tournament of the Buffalo Country Club qualified Monday for the championship flight with a score of 93. She tied with four others for the eleventh to fourteenth places and her round was three strokes below the competitive record of the new course of the club. Tuesday Miss Ellison scored a victory over Mrs. Lloyd Bissell of the Buffalo Club in a battle that went 21 holes. Wednesday Miss Ellison played Miss Loise Fordyce, the North and South champion, and was defeated 6 and 4.

Saxony Mills and the Philadelphia Giants played a five inning 3 to 3 tie Wednesday night at Victory Field. McLaughlin held the visitors to two hits while his teammates collected five off Crudup and White.

"Sport accidents said to be most frequent in golf," reads a headline in a Boston paper. Members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World were so told at their convention in Philadelphia this week. Returns on sports policies issued by insurance companies show that the greatest number of accidents occur to those who are playing golf or present on the courses.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

If our readers will permit us a brief personal reference we should like to wish them a happy summer. Our own vacation begins next week and during our absence from Newton this column will be suspended. Those who have shared with us "One Thing and Another" may be assured that wherever we may journey we shall always be grateful to them for their interest.

Scarcely a week has passed since we heard a farmer in Harvard, Massachusetts, lamenting the disastrous results of a frost. Prior to that time we had listened to many home-gardeners complaining at the lateness of the season, but we never expected to see a destructive frost in June. Then we read that the weather experts found nothing amazing in the situation and that although there might be a frost any month of the year except July no records would be broken.

It has always seemed one of the strangest things that the men who are supposed to know most about the weather never express surprise at conditions. We can speak from personal experience and offer our testimony for what it is worth. Not so many years ago, part of our duties as a staff reporter was the preparation of the weather story. We can distinctly recall climbing several flights of the stairs in the Boston Postoffice building to reach the office of the U. S. weather forecaster. The elevator ran only to the last floor in the main structure and to get to the rooms in the tower (if that's what they call it) one had to climb a spiral staircase.

Extreme weather makes good 'copy." People everywhere are interested in the highest or the lowest point reached by the mercury. Still, as we started out to say, we never saw the weatherman excited in the smallest degree. Take it on a terrifically hot night, when clad in the very lightest we could manage, we would struggle through the heat and drop panting at the side of the weather's man's desk. Upon recovering our power of speech we would say, "Bet you this is the hottest day on record." The weather man would invariably shake his head and reply, "No, indeed." Then he would produce a book of figures and show us that the corresponding date in the year 1888 or 1909 or some other year showed a much higher temperature.

Now the best line we have heard regarding the tardiness of Summer (there's a dainty poetical phrase by the way) was that of a prominent Newton woman. A friend was calling upon her and naturally the conversation drifted to domestic matters. Said the caller, "Have you ordered all your coal?" To this the other replied, "The bins are full and we think we have enough to last through the Summer." Not so bad!

We met a man who said, "I thought I'd be awful smart this year and plant corn for early July. If I have corn for October I shan't have any complaint."

Another man said, "You know I have a budget because I believe in system. The mistake I've made this year as far as I can see is that I put money into seeds, tomato plants and garden tools that I should have invested in fuel oil for my new heater."

We haven't a doubt but many of our readers have heard similar comments; that they themselves may have made them. It has been one of the gravest Summers we have known thus far, for everywhere where there is talk about gardens people begin to look very grave and solemn and shake their heads.

All of this calls vividly to our mind a visit we once made to Apple Valley, Ashfield, Massachusetts. We were one of a party who took the trip to view the display of apple blossoms. But there was no "show" that year—the season was backward, decidedly so.

At the general store the farmers and city boarders were holding an informal investigation of the reasons for the protracted spell of cold weather.

"Well," spoke up an old-timer from Bear Hill, "You can find fault with Nature if you're a mind to, but remember there'll always be a planting time and a harvesting time." The discussion ceased at that point for the venerable sage had clinched it.

Begnning next Fall a new organization is to strive to contribute its share to the general welfare of that part of the city that is still best described as Newton Corner. We refer to the Newton Churchmen's Union which is composed of the men's clubs of the Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, Unitarian and Episcopal churches and the Y. M. C. A.

The idea is not a new one, although the form of this organization is somewhat different from that which exists in other villages. Each church has two representatives on the board of directors while the Y. M. C. A. is represented by its general secretary. Last Winter when a dinner was held at Eliot Church of the men's clubs of these five churches the idea was advanced of a union of the clubs. That was the beginning of the Newton Churchmen's Union.

It should be understood that no one club is to cease its activities nor lose its identity. There will still be the clubs which at present are doing a good work. Their regular programs of the year will be in no way interrupted. The Churchmen's Union, will, however, arrange for at least two annual gatherings which will bring together all these clubs. Furthermore, there will be at least one meeting at which both men and women will attend and that will probably be the first one held. One of the ablest clergymen in the country will be the principal speaker and will discuss church problems.

If, as is expected, the Newton Churchman's Union accomplishes at least in part what it has planned to do, it will come to be one of the strongest forces of its kind in the entire city. Public interest will help immeasurably and the officers of the new organization will value all the support that may be extended them.

We shall be forced to miss some of the gatherings of political aspirants this Summer but we have no doubt the events will be quite as successful as if we were numbered among the participants. We have often wondered just how far their affairs "registered" in favor of the candidate and whether they "made votes" to the extent hoped for by the managers. To us it has always seemed a costly way of creating enthusiasm, but that is only one voter's view.

There doesn't seem to be any wide variety of the programs. The affair is usually conducted by a "club," which really is a group of the candidate's friends masquerading as a committee or social organization. (Perhaps that is a bit rough, so we will withdraw the assertion in part.) Sometimes the "eats" come first and sometimes the "speeches" and sometimes they are mixed.

Of all these "outings" that we have attended those nearer the seashore have been more pleasing to our fancy and our palate. To tell the truth we have been impressed more by the food than by the oratory. Take an "outing" near the coast where they are likely to set-up a clambake. Now an ideal clambake is an institution as worthy of vernation as the rocky shore on which it is built. It takes a master "clambaker," if that is what he is called, to arranged the details. He must know how to choose the site, to place in position the lower tier of rocks, to put first seaweed, then corn, then seawed again, then lobster, then more seaweed, then mackerel, then still more seaweed, then the clams and then a top layer of seaweed. He watches it until it is baked to his satisfaction. The guests do the rest. Well, that's all there is to it and yet it will prove quite enough if one has only a normal appetite.

If every "outing" conducted by political candidates was a clambake the candidate in whose behalf the meeting was planned might do well to claim that he had cooked the meal himself. In that case, it seems to us, he might be sure of getting all the votes present. Again, some candidates might do better if instead of talking they did only cooking. The results would probably, at least in some instances, be more desirable from their point of view. A third suggestion is that the primaries be held immediately after the meal is served and digested. Larger majorities would undoubtedly result.

If you are spending this Summer or part of it in some one of the many delightful villages of Massachusetts and you find there a most attractive and well conducted town library, just remember that the State Board of Free Library Commissioners is entitled to part of the credit.

This splendid organization is part of the State Department of Education, which is under the supervision of Dr. Payson Smith. What it has done can only be thoroughly appreciated by a study of its report and a reading of its "Notes on Massachusetts Libraries." The board declares that its problem is not to create new libraries but to increase the efficiency of those already in existence. It holds that, "If the public library is to take its rightful place among the educational factors of the community, it must convince the tax-payer that it is not a luxury; that it is as indispensable and worthy of support as the public schools." How well we in Newton know this to be true.

The State Board of Free Library Commissioners devotes much of its energies to field work and it is from the achievements thus attained that we as "Summer visitors" get so many advantages when spending our vacation "down on the Cape," or "way up in the hills."

The field workers give their assistance to all places and what they do is of immense value in such communities as are able only to employ untrained librarians. Here the State, without interference, suggests how best the library may be conducted, what is wisest in the choice of books and periodicals, how the cataloging should be done, and so forth.

We hear complaint now and then about the tendency to centralize power, "to run things from the State House." We are not going to argue for either side but are going to maintain that in this matter it is well for the smaller communities to have the State help out with the valuable assistance it is prepared to provide.

Well, we're off now for a few weeks. So long, friends.

NEWTON POST NO. 48, A. L.

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, has voted to arrange for and to present a scroll and placque to Mrs. George H. Smith in commemoration of the diversified civic service her late husband has performed for the city of Newton, both before and since the war. This is practically the first time any Legion Post in Massachusetts has conferred any such honor on anybody outside its own immediate ranks. The matter was memorialized by a resolution adopted at the regular meeting of the Post which was held Wednesday, June 16 1926, at Dennison Hall, Newtonville.

The committee to have charge of the details of the memorial consists of Henry J. ("Sailor") Ryan, A. Leo Taffe, and R. John Henderson.

The regular monthly meeting of the Post was held Wednesday, June 16, at Dennison Hall, Newtonville. A very large number of members and invited guests listened to a spirited debate on the question, "Veterans Preference should be reduced in the Civil Service Examination in Massachusetts." The affirmative side was represented by Miss Florence Luscomb, of the Massachusetts Civic League, and the negative was taken by Miss Eugenie Foss of Concord, Mass. City Solicitor Joseph Bartlett, a member of Newton Post, acted as chairman.

On the meeting night, Wednesday, June 16, Manager Will White of Norumbega Park was presented with a silk umbrella by Newton Post No. 48, in recognition of the services which Mr. White rendered to the Post in staging the Welfare Concert at Norumbega Park on May 16. Commander Stopford made the presentation, and Manager White thanked the members of Newton Post for the gift.

Newton Post had several members in the parade and initiation exercises which were held in Lynn, on the night of June 10, 1926. Lynn Post No. 6, American Legion, staged an outdoor initiation on the General Electric Plant, one thousand men and women were welcomed into the Legion. The Newton delegation was headed by the Adjutant, F. J. Barry.

CELEBRATES NINETIETH BIRTHDAY

The ninetieth birthday of Mr. Edmund E. Stiles, for many years a citizen of Newtonville, was pleasantly observed Saturday afternoon, June 12, by the members of Charles Ward Post No. 62, and the Daughters of Union Veterans, at the Post headquarters, Walnut street, Newtonville.

After the usual business meeting of the Post, Mr. Stiles and his Grand Army comrades were escorted by the ladies to the flower-decorated table in the centre of which was a large, handsome birthday cake surrounded by candles, provided by Mrs. Jost of Needham, step-daughter of Mr. Stiles, with whom he resides at present. Ice cream and cake were served. Commander William M. Mick presided. Mr. Stiles, called upon for remarks, gave an account of his experiences in the South in the months preceding the outbreak of the Civil War when he had an inside view of events and rising sentiment in the South that finally culminated in war. Urged to enlist in the Southern Army, he refused to lift his hand against the flag of his country, returned to the North and joined the Union Army in which he did service in the 46th Massachusets Regiment of Infantry.

As a member of Charles Ward Post, Mr. Stiles was long active in its affairs, being quartermaster for over twenty years.

Felicitations were extended to Mr. Stiles by Commander Mick, Messrs. Weatherbee and Boyd and by several of the ladies. Many interesting and amusing incidents were related of early days in Charles Ward Post history.

Among the guests present were Mr. Stiles' son, Dr. Percy Stiles of Harvard Medical School, and Mr. Wentworth, a long-time neighbor and friend, who celebrated his own ninetieth birthday a few weeks earlier.

Mr. Stiles, in his long residence in Newtonville, has been interested in its civic affairs. He was for many years a deacon in Central Church, and was a member of the building committee of the present church edifice.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Mayer of Nonantum street, Newton, celebrated the centennial of America's independence by attending the celebration and World's Fair at Philadelphia and by being married in the Quaker City just 50 years ago Saturday.

In celebration of their golden anniversary, a reception was tendered the couple by their son and many friends. Mark Mayer, who was born in New York City, admits passing his 71st milestone. He will be 72 in July, but Mrs. Mayer assumed woman's inalienable prerogative when asked her age and said she was past 21. She was born in Ohio.

Mark Mayer and Miss Bessa Hanauer were married by Dr. Hirsh of Temple Kenesth Israel in Philadelphia on June 19, 1876. They lived the greater part of their married life in New York city, where Mr. Mayer was engaged in the plumbing supplies business. Twelve years ago they came to Newton, where they have made their home since with their son. They have three children and one grandchild, Malvin J. Mayer of Newton.

Among those present at the reception to Mr. and Mrs. Mayer were two who attended their wedding 50 years ago, although one of them remembered but very little of the ceremony. Mrs. Emma Harris of New York city, sister of Mr. Mayer, was one guest, and Miss Ida Meyerson, niece of Mrs. Mayer, who was only 2 years of age when she attended her aunt's wedding, was the other.

DEATH OF MR. CRAM

Following an illness of several months, Benjamin C. Cram died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eugene W. Leighton, 12 Proctor street, Newtonville. Mr. Cram had been for 23 years in the employ of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, but had been retired for several years. He was a native of Salem, the son of Benjamin H. Cram and Elizabeth Leighton Cram, and had lived in Newtonville for twenty-five years. He was seventy-four years of age, and besides his daughter is survived by a son Benjamin H. Cram of Detroit, Mich., and two brothers, both living in Newtonville, Edwin H. Cram and John W. L. Cram.

LEAVES LARGE ESTATE

Mrs. Mary Lesh of Newton leaves an estate of $945,000, according to her will, filed for probate in Middlesex County this week.

There is one public bequest of $15,000, an endowment fund, the income and part of the principal to be used to maintain the Lesh Infirmary of Thornwell Orphanage, at Clinton, S. C. The remainder of the estate is left in trust to a daughter, Mary Olga Lesh.

MORE GASOLINE STATIONS

At the June 7th meeting of the aldermen, during the debate over the granting of a permit for a gasoline selling station at 2016 Commonwealth avenue, to John McDonald, Alderman Favinger argued that such permits should be granted whenever applied for in business districts, unless some good reason was presented against them. The Waban alderman stated that these stations are very necessary in this automotive age, and are far less dangerous to traffic than are stores with numerous automobiles parked in front of them. Mr. Favinger was not present in person at the meeting of the aldermen last Monday evening, but his spirit seemed to prevail. For the first time in three years, since the agitation for and against gasoline stations started to occupy so much of the aldermen's time, permits for three filling stations were granted without any opposition on the part of any alderman. If the aldermen continue to display this attitude, it will mean that permits for gasoline selling stations will rapidly decrease in value. An appreciable increase in the number of stations will cause existing "pumps" to produce smaller profits. While such a policy will enable the aldermen to have more time to consider other things than petitions for "gas" stations, it would not meet with the unqualified approval of those who have been gathering the shekels, because they have been among the fortunate few obtaining permits for such stations.

The permits granted Monday night were to J. Edward Callanan for a station at the corner of Bridge and California streets; J. P. Davis for a station at the corner of River and Lexington streets; Newton Development Trust for a station at the northeast corner of Washington street and Lowell avenue.

Hearings on petitions for these three permits were held before the aldermen on June 7th. A fourth petition was also given a hearing—that of Fried & Litchman for a drive-in filling station at 1233 Washington street, West Newton. As this locus is in a district even more devoted to business than those districts where the permits were granted, and as this station would replace a sidewalk pump, it seemed inconsistent for the aldermen to grant the other three permits and hold up this petition.

At the next meeting of the aldermen, to be held on July 21st, hearings will be held on more petitions for gasoline stations. Newton T. Turner is asking for a permit for a station at 314 Washington street, Newton Corner. Albert T. Stuart applies for a permit for a 75-car garage and service station at 1637 Centre street, Newton Highlands. Mr. Stuart, representing the Highland Oil Company, also petitions for a permit to store 20,000 gallons of gasoline off Needham street, near the Highland Mills.

talked quite briefly in favor of this station, stating that there is no danger occasioned by its establishment. Louis DeRusso whose property adjoins the proposed station site, objected.

Following the Barnicle petition hearing, came the hearing on the petition of David Wolk, a non-resident, who wants to obtain a filling station at the corner of Woodward and Boylston streets. Again Harry Ross took the floor to plead for Mr. Wolk. He stated that to the best of his knowledge there are no drive-in filling stations in Newton Highlands. Mr. Ross, apparently, has not driven along Winchester and Needham streets. He promised the aldermen that if they grant a permit, the corner will be made a beauty sport, will be "wide open," and a benefit to the community. President Pratt asked Mr. Ross, "How the land on this corner is zoned?" Mr. Ross thought the question to be—"How is the land owned?" He explained that Mr. Wolk had really purchased the property from Mr. Cozens, despite rumors to the contrary. Henry Wry of 1006 Boylston street said that within a week a member of Mr. Cozens' family had told him that this land was to be sold for other purposes than a filling station. He asserted that the corner is too dangerous to allow the station and that an existing station just across the street more than cares for any demand for gasoline in that neighborhood.

Margaret Belger stated that she has lived in the neighborhood for 50 years and that the station would not be a benefit to the district. She suggested that the waiting shanty of the Boston and Worcester be removed to improve the appearance of that section. John M. Gallagher of 1002 Boylston spoke at length concerning the slope of the land on the proposed station site, and the dangerous conditions existing around this corner. Others who objected were Frank Morrison of 22 Woodward street, Robert Jennings, 1018 Boylston street, and David Morey, who asked that the safety of his four children be assured from further auto traffic. Mr. Ross announced that he had just received a telegram telling him the deeds of sale of the property from Cozens to Wolk, were in the mail. Mr. Wry retorted that a member of the Cozens family had informed him "that the whole thing is a joke."

More Stores on Avenue

Attorney Thomas Weston identified himself to the Board, because it had been several months since he had appeared before it. He asked that the Vitalait Laboratory Inc., be permitted to take down its laboratory and erect a block of 7 or 8 stores at 549 Commonwealth avenue, near Irving street. He explained that within a half-stone throw of the property are business, general residence, private residence and single residence zones. He asserted his client does not seek a change of zone but a modification of an existing non-conforming use of a building in a residential zone. The product of the Vitalait Company, according to Mr. Weston, is a medicine which is good for you, if you have the trouble which it cures. It seems that not enough persons have ailments relieved by "bacillus Bulgaricus" to necessitate the use of the entire small building owned by the Vitalait Company. "The building," said Mr. Weston, "is too large to be made over for the needs of its owners." So they wish to tear it down and erect on the property a one story block containing 7 or 8 small stores. Mr. Weston admitted of knowledge of opposition to the petition from two persons; one of whom, a Mr. Kaplan of Chelsea, owns a business block across Irving street from the Vitalait property. Mr. Weston remarked that Kaplan is a real estate operator whose objection is based on business reasons, and therefore not sound. The other objector, Mrs. Bagnall, owns property on Irving street, but to compromise with her, Mr. Weston said his clients would use face-brick on the rear wall of the proposed business block, which would afford a superior architectural aspect to the gaze of Mrs. Bagnall.

In answer to a query by President Pratt Mr. Weston read Section 562 of the Zoning Ordinance to show how the Vitalait Building can be torn down and a block of stores erected to conform with the provisions relating to the modifications of a building used for non-conforming purposes. He said the Vitalait Company will occupy one of the stores. A. E. Whittemore, attorney for Mrs. Bagnall, and F. J. Hunt, said that a change from the little stucco building of the Spanish bungalow type to a one story business block containing 7 stores, would greatly depreciate the value of surrounding property. He told the aldermen "It would not require much imagination to visualize the unsightly and unpleasant alley which would be created behind such a block of small stores." He took exception to Mr. Weston's interpretation of Section 562 of the Zoning Ordinances. He read this section to prove that a building can be altered to permit the extension of a non-conforming use, which he said is quite different from tearing down a building because of the need of less room, and the replacing of said building by a much larger structure of an entirely different type, and for quite different use.

White Avenue Soil Soiled

James B. Welch of 21 White avenue, asked that a sewer be built in that street. He stated that the cesspools in that neighborhood overflow and that sanitary conditions are so bad that health is menaced. Fulgenzio Savini of 124 Jackson street, owner of property at 53 White avenue, stated that in this house are nine children and that the sewer installation is necessary to protect their health. Frank Arduino also spoke in favor of the petition. James McInerney representing Mrs. Mary McCarthy, spoke in opposition. He said the petitioners own but five per cent of the frontage on White avenue, which is a narrow way, only 10 feet wide and expect others to pay for nearly all the cost of the improvement. Dennis Flanagan, owner of property on White avenue, asserted that the "avenue" runs for 278 feet through his property, although in 1880 the assessors books showed no such street. He asked who, and by what authority had changed his property into a right of way without his consent? City Engineer Morse stated that the plans of the City Engineer's Department showed a right of way along White avenue in 1876. Garfield Appleyard testified that he owns a frontage of 175 feet along White avenue and objects to being assessed for others' benefit. He suggested that the city construct sewers in accepted streets before it builds them in small private ways such as White avenue.

John J. Sheehan of White avenue refuted the statements of the proponents of the sewer, that surface water is responsible for much of the trouble in and around White avenue. Mr. Sheehan described in detail the topographical and drainage conditions prevailing in his neighborhood and averred that if the persons responsible for the petition co-operated to a reasonable degree, little trouble would have occurred.

Residents of Randlett Park pleaded for the grading and acceptance of that street. One of them was of the opinion that the Albemarle Golf Club is opposed to the improvement because of expense. William V. Hayden, who appeared informally for the club, dispelled this idea when he announced that this organization favored the improvement.

A petition was received from Thomas F. Murray and others, parents of children in the Bigelow School district, asking that the city proceed to convert the Bigelow School into a junior high. Leonard Jackson, acting in behalf of a committee of the City Hall employees, extended an invitation to the aldermen to attend the annual summer frolic of these employees, which will be held next Tuesday at Brant Rock. The hall will close at noon on this day.

Alderman Heathcote asked that the petition of the Middlesex and Boston street railway for permission to alter its carbarn opposite Norumbega Park into a garage, be held up. He thought measures should be taken to compel the company to start busses on the Walnut street lines. He quoted the remark of Manager Hanson of the M. & B. "that his company will start busses on the South Side lines when it receives buss permits from Needham and Watertown." He expressed a desire to treat the company fairly, but thought the time had come to do something to speed up the installation of busses. In his opinion the officials of the city of Waltham had "put something over on Newton" when they forced the M. & B. to give prior recognition to that city in the establishment of buss lines. Alderman Bail said that he realizes Newton people are anxious to have the tracks removed and the old cars replaced by busses, but we must not lose track of the fact that the M. & B. had until December 31st to start the buss lines. Alderman Weeks referred to the statement of Manager Hanson "that the M. & B. had already ordered busses for the Walnut street lines." He felt confident that the company will keep faith with Newton and advocated the granting of the petition so that provision can be made for the housing of the busses when they will arrive. Aldermen Fitts, Noone, Earle, Grebenstein and Hodgdon added their appeals for fair play towards the M. & B. and for confidence in the intent of that company to keep its promise to Newton. A vote was taken and the permit granted.

The License Committee recommended the granting of a junk license to Fred Lackey at 2289 Washington street, Lower Falls. Alderman Heathcote asked if such a license would be detrimental to the neighborhood where it will be granted? Alderman Gordon inquired if any existing junk dealers have their business quarters on main streets. Alderman Noone explained that Mr. Lackey is handicapped physically and that the Chief of Police is strongly in favor of the permit being granted. The license was given. Considerable controversy arose over the report of the License Committee favoring the granting of an express license to David Kligman at 456 Watertown street. Kligman formerly had a junk business, but lost it some years ago as a result of numerous protests because his yard was an eyesore to the neighborhood. Subsequently he made scores of requests to the aldermen for the renewal of this license, garage permits, and other petitions, and was invariably turned down. Aldermen Bliss and Grebenstein favored the granting of the license, the latter explaining that it was for David Kligman, Jr.; these Aldermen thought Kligman should receive some chance. Aldermen Weeks and O'Connell were of the opinion that if the license were granted, it would make the petitioner's property even less inviting than it now is. The license was granted, but not to David Kligman, Jr., at least, according to the docket it was given to plain David Kligman.

School Buildings Insured

At this time, 9.50, a short recess was taken to allow the special committee on the new City Hall and other committees to confer. This short recess ended at 11.18. After passing various motions and orders the aldermen started to debate on the matter of insuring some of the school buildings. The Finance Committee recommended that $17,124 be appropriated to insure for 3 years the Emerson, Hyde, Pierce, Stearns and Mason Schools at 80 per cent of their values, and the Bigelow and Claflin Schools at 100 per cent. After considerable talk as to why some schools are to be insured and others not, as to whether the foundations of the new classical high is combustible or indestructable, and other phases of the question, after Chairman Weeks of the Finance Committee had told of the plans formulated by the special committee on Insurance, calling for an insurance fund of $300,000, which will eventually provide for an emergency and furnish an income to pay premiums, the $17,124 was appropriated.

Alderman Baker, Chairman of the special committee on the new city hall, referred to the hearings held in different parts of the city and to the several meetings held by his committee. He commented that the advisory committee of citizens had taken literally the motion by which the committee had been appointed and accordingly had not been inclined to deal with the larger questions which arose. The committee was appointed to select a site for a new city hall and develop plans. As this did not include the problem of financing, or the determining the time when work shall be started on the proposed new structure, the committee considered that its duties shall be more clearly defined. Accordingly, Mr. Baker introduced this motion:

"The joint committee on City Hall is hereby requested to consider and report:

1. Whether it is expedient to build a new City Hall.
2. Whether the City Government should petition the Legislature for permission to borrow outside the debt limit for the purpose of building a new City Hall.
3. On a site for a new City Hall.
4. Whether, in any event, it is advisable to take the triangle on the corner of Commonwealth avenue, Walnut street and Homer street for some purpose.
5. On any other matters arising out of the foregoing."

This motion was passed and the committee will meet for further deliberations.

Although it had reached the witching hour of midnight, Alderman Heathcote started a speech in favor of action on the petition, presented some months ago by the firemen, for the two platoon system. The Lower Falls alderman asserted that Mayor Childs has intimated that this petition has not been acted on because the aldermen would not accept a favorable suggestion from him. Mr. Heathcote said, "Just what the Mayor's reason for not recommending or refusing to recommend the two platoon system, I do not know. Perhaps he is 'passing the buck.'" The Ward 5 alderman went on to tell that but four cities in this state have declined so far to change to the two-platoon system. He stated that in Newton this change will require 30 more firemen and 7 additional officers. He said it is time for a showdown as to who is holding this matter up—the Mayor or the aldermen. He made a motion that the present Board of Aldermen go on record as deeming it necessary to put the fire department on a two-platoon system, starting December 1st, and that $5000 be appropriated to enable this change to be started.

Alderman Weeks said the firemen are entitld to some answer and should have received it before. He stated that some of the firemen had spoken to him about their petition and he had informed them that he consulted with the Mayor as to what action the latter proposed to take regarding this matter. To date, the Board had received no recommendation from Mayor Childs. Mr. Weeks said that he had conferred with Chief Randlett about the petition, and that he knows what it means to the firemen, and to the city, financially. He believes that the firemen are entitled to have the question settled, but as the aldermen have not considered the matter thoroughly, it would be unwise to pass Alderman Heathcote's motion which would place the Board on record as favoring the two-platoon system. Personally his mind is open on the matter. President Pratt suggested that Alderman Heathcote introduce a similar resolution at the July 21st meeting; such a postponement will allow the aldermen to become acquainted with the different aspects of the situation. Mr. Heathcote accepted Mr. Pratt's suggestion.

Alderman Madden moved that a waiver of the setback line be granted Maggie Martin, to permit the erection of a house on a small corner lot on Thaxter road. His motion was carried. Alderman O'Connell, for the Traffic Committee, moved that Centre street, east of Centre Green and Lyman street be made one-way streets. The motion prevailed. He also moved that on July 21st a public hearing be held on the proposal to make St. James street a one-way street, going north from Washington street, and Charlesbank road one-way going west from St. James street. The meeting adjourned at 12.30 A. M. Tuesday morning.

HOLLIS-BRADFORD

The marriage of Miss Augusta Bradford, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bradford of Lake avenue, Newton Centre and Mr. J. Hern Hollis of Brookline took place last Monday afternoon at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George L. Parker of the Unitarian Church of Newton Centre at 5 o'clock.

Miss Eleanor Bradford, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mr. J. B. Hollis, father of the groom, was the best man.

The bride was attractively gowned in white satin embroidered with pearls, a train of satin and a veil of tulle.

The maid of honor was dressed in a blue panne velvet gown and a leghorn hat trimmed with blue chiffon. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home.

The young couple will reside at Witherbee Court, Pelham Manor, New York.

RAY-URBAN

Among the many June weddings of interest was that on Sunday of Miss Anna Augusta Urban, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Urban of Adams, Mass., to Mr. Carlon Weston Ray of Brockton. The Rev. Charles Oliver Rundell performed the ceremony at four o'clock at the St. Mark's Episcopal Church of Adams.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Nelson L. Browne of Boylston street, Newton Highlands, with whom she has recently made her home, as matron of honor, and by the Misses Margery K. Sands of Adams, Mildred A. Tower of Cheshire, Hazel C. Richmond of Adams and Helen M. Gersch of Hartford, Conn., as bridesmaids.

Mr. Chester T. Ray of Brockton was the best man and the Messrs. Nelson L. Browne, of Newton Highlands; Ellis Thayer of Rockland, Me.; William McConnell of North Adams, and William Watts of Providence, R. I., were the ushers.

Miss Elizabeth Margaret Urban of Pittsfield, Mass., was the flower girl.

The bride's dress was of white satin trimmed with lace. The matron of honor wore a dress of pink satin and a picture hat to match. The bridesmaid's dresses were of orchid taffeta with hats also to match.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church reception parlors at which the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by their parents. The church was tastefully decorated with pine ramblers as was the home.

Mrs. Benjamin K. Knapton played the organ at the church and her orchestra furnished the music at the reception.

After a wedding trip to Maine the young couple will make their home in Dedham, where they will be at home after September 1st.

Both young people were graduated last week from Boston University with the degree of Master of Arts. The bride has been teaching in the English department at the State Normal School in Salem and the groom is the principal of the Oakdale School in Dedham.

—o—

We are sorry to see the camel"s nose of fire insurance for city buildings poked into the tent of municipal expenses. It will certainly be followed by appropriations which will make the present $17,000 premium look like thirty cents. A policy which has stood the test of fifty years in municipal experience and for an even longer period in the administration of state affairs ought to be good enough for a few more years in a city like Newton. Fire insurance premiums for public buildings in Newton is money thrown away.

—o—

We have considerable sympathy for the proposition to establish the two platoon system in the Newton Fire Department. Just why we should run the Police Department on one time schedule and the Fire department on another is merely carrying into the present, a method which was outgrown many years ago. Why not treat the firemen as well as we treat the policemen?

—o—

Now that operations have commenced on the new junior high school building on Washington street, near Greenough street, the folly of such a location is much in evidence. Low land at the foot of a hill is hardly an ideal site for a building to cost well over a half million dollars.

Burke came with more patrolmen to assist in handling the immense number of people and automobiles. Members of the Aleppo Band in their Oriental uniforms provided music during the early part of the afternoon and more color was added to the gatherings by the costumes worn by those who participated in the folk dances and gymnastic exhibitions.

At 3.45 the roar of motorcycles announced the coming of the royal couple and their escort. They were driven onto the home grounds as the assemblage cheered and waved Swedish flags. Gustaf Adolf and Louise were escorted into the home and introduced to the twenty aged persons who reside there. Both the prince and princess shook hands and conversed with each of the old folks, and then partook of a light lunch which had been prepared for them.

The distinguished guests then came out onto the stand which had been erected for the reception and greeted Gov. Fuller, Mayor Childs, Mayor Nichols of Boston, Maj. General Brown and leaders of the Swedish-American element of Massachusetts. The crowd surged forward to obtain a better view of the future king of Sweden and his wife and a number of women fainted in the crush. They were treated in the "first-aid-tent" on the grounds. Prince Gustaf Adolf possesses the physique and intelligence to properly fulfill the requirements desirable for the exalted position to which he will succeed. Tall, dignified, affable, democratic, he immediately won his way into the hearts of the multitude, when, as he took the chair provided for him, he picked up, and held in his lap for a half hour or longer, little, flaxen-haired Evelyn Anderson of Natick who happened near him on the platform. Evelyn will have something to talk about during the remainder of her days. It is not every young lady who is thus honored by royalty. Princess Louise, a rather frail appearing woman, seemed quite fatigued from the trying program of activities she has experienced since her arrival in this country. Her unassuming, friendly manner, caused much favorable comment.

A male chorus sang a Swedish anthem and Gustaf Sundelius of New York was introduced as the first speaker by Carl Johansen, Swedish vice-consul in Boston, who was master of ceremonies. Gov. Fuller paid tribute to the sterling qualities of the Swedish people living in Massachusetts and Mayor Nichols spoke in the same vein. Mayor Childs shared with Prince Gustaf Adolf the honor of making one of the best speeches of the afternoon. He lauded the compatriots of the Prince who live in the United States and asserted that although unyielding in their affection for the old country and its rulers, they are loyal American citizens, unhampered by any hyphen. Mayor Childs commended the Prince and Princess for their kindness in travelling to this city to brighten the declining days of the old folks at the home. He said, "It is not power that makes a man great. Neither is it wealth, education or ancestry. It is the attitude he shows towards little children and aged people."

Edgar Achorn, senior counsellor to the Swedish consulate, also spoke.

Gymnastic exhibitions by members of the Svea and Posse clubs, a baritone solo by Nils Bonde, a violin selection by Miss Roudobond and another chorus by the glee club followed. The prince was then introduced and spoke, first in English and then in Swedish. He proved himself a fluent orator in either language. He congratulated those of the Swedish race in this country for the high reputation they have won as industrious, law-abiding citizens. He praised the Swedish Charitable Society for the beautiful home it provides for the aged. Referring to the friendly relations which have always existed between Sweden and the United States, Gustaf Adolf stated that both countries were akin in their desire to establish lasting peace in the world. He characterized Boston as a great cultural factor in the moulding of this new land and eulogized the custom prevalent in this country—the founding of charitable and benevolent institutions by persons of wealth and by communities. He referred to the increasing commercial relations between Sweden and New England and he assured the assemblage that the visit to Newton will ever remain in the memories of his wife and himself as one of the most enjoyable events of their lives. He concluded by conveying to his auditors greetings from his father, King Gustaf. He then presented Princess Louise to the gathering.

The royal couple then re-entered the home building and remained for about a half hour. They were then conveyed to the Hotel Somerset in Boston for lunch, after which they boarded a train to travel to Niagara Falls.

The officers of the Swedish Charitable Society who arranged the reception are—Henry W. Erickson, President; Dr. Carl Lindquist, Vice-president; Miss Alice T. Rantz, Corresponding Secretary; Carl Stenstrom, Recording Secretary; Henry Paulson, Financial Secretary; Robert Adamson, Treasurer.

The following ladies assisted on the refreshment committee and contributed largely to the success of the event:

Mrs. Ellen E. Johnson, Chairman, assisted by the Mrs. Anna Beckman, Frida Johnsan, Ellna Jepsen, Elisabeth Johnson, Elvira Johnson, Augusta Johnson, Rosa Hanson, Hilda Johnson, S. Frodstrom, Helen Benson, Dagmar Svenson, Mrs. Foberg, Maria Okermark, Clara Kristinson, Ellen Anderson, Ida Thelandes, Anna Stone, Berna Palmquist, Annie Johnson, Hulda Estenberg, A. F. Lawson, Mrs. G. O. Anderson, the Misses Margaret Borgeson, Emma Pearson, Rose Sanders, and the Mrs. Lena Peterson, Anna Sjolund, Anna Hedberg, Selma Hedlud, Hildegard Hanson, and Ida Lindahl.

WILD CHASE AFTER THIEVES

Late Friday night Motorcycle Officer O'Donnell chased John Gill, 16, of Willoughby street, Roxbury and John Flaherty 16, of Grimes street, South Boston, along Commonwealth avenue from Walnut street to Chestnut street. Though the policeman fired two shots to induce the pair to stop the stolen auto they were driving, they merely laughed at him and Flaherty, who was driving, tried to crowd the officer into another car which was passing. O'Donnell avoided the other auto, but Flaherty fell into his own trap and collided with the car, which was driven by John Moran of D street, South Boston. The machine driven by the "hard-boiled" boy caromed off and struck another car driven by Henry Brumell of Marlboro. Moran's car was overturned and Margaret Mulhern of Thetford street, Dorchester, who was riding in it, was slightly injured. Brumell was also injured in the mix-up. Both he and Miss Mulhern were taken to the Newton Hospital. Gill and Flaherty were turned over to the Boston police. The machine in which they were riding was the property of Rose Lear of Dorchester and was stolen from in front of the Grand Opera House, Boston.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Wednesday morning at 7.55 a Ford car driven by Lemuel Wood of Bowdoin avenue, Waltham, and a motorcycle driven by Thomas Harvey of Batavia street, Boston, collided head-on at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and College road, Chestnut Hill. Harvey was hurled through the windshield of the Ford and received a severe gash in the neck. He was hurried to the Newton Hospital and placed on the dangerous list, but is now expected to recover.

Monday evening, Horace Lord, Jr., 7, of 317 Auburn street, Auburndale, was hit, while crossing the Auburn street bridge, by an auto driven by James Belli of 127 Boyd street, Watertown. The police do not hold Belli responsible, as the boy is alleged to have become confused and to have run in front of the car. SIEGEL UND SIEGEL

"Benjamin Siegel," called Clerk Frank Sprague in the Newton Court, Tuesday. Two men arose to face the court and gazed at each other in surprise. Some explaining had to be done to clear the muddle. Siegel has become almost as common a name in this vicinity as Smith, Brown, Murphy and Sullivan. So, it happened that two of the Siegel "clan," or what corresponds to a clan in that part of Russia whence came the Siegels, appeared in court on the same day. Both were also named Benjamin, and both had had auto trouble.

Benjamin Siegel of Chelsea was charged by Officer Turner with speeding. He was fined $10. Benjamin Siegel of Mattapan was accused by Officer O'Donnell of ignoring a traffic signal in Newtonville. He, likewise, was fined $10. The Siegels, who previously had been strangers, left court together and perhaps have since discovered some common ancestor.

POLICE NEWS

Anthony Cosgrove of Boston was fined $25 in court yesterday for operating an auto without a license. He was also fined $5 for driving without his registration. Joseph Dowling of 336 Lexington street, Auburndale, was fined $10 for speeding.

GAMEWELL FACTORY SHUTS DOWN

The Gamewell Fire Alarm Company, one of the city's oldest and largest industrial plants, posted notices Saturday that the shop would be closed until inventory will be taken. As demands had been made on the company by its employees for an increase of 10 cents an hour in wages, the rumor became current about the city that the closing was virtually a lock-out. Walter Proctor, assistant superintendent, denied that such is the case. He stated that the shop is shut down merely to permit the inventory to be taken. The plant is located at Upper Falls, employs over 300, and has a world-wide reputation for manufacturing fire and police signal systems.

been invaluable in making the present plan of organization a practical one.

Through the office the necessary clerical work for the various divisional meetings as well as publicity has been done; and much general information and assistance have been given to member organizations and to the community at large. The office has been conducted upon a minimum basis of expenditure, the work being greatly facilitated by the generous aid of volunteers.

The active, constructive work of the Council has been done largely through its three divisions: Community, Health and Welfare,—this work following, in general, along the line of recommendations contained in the Surveys made two years ago. The Council is most fortunate in its Division Chairmen who are giving generously of their time and ability, and to whom much of the present value of the Council is due.

The Community Division, Mrs. R. C. Henry, Chairman, has carried on an educational campaign for the wider community use of school buildings, especially those soon to be erected in our city. It has worked for a scientific study of our water supply, and for other municipal interests. Under the auspices of this Division the March meeting on "First Things First in Our City's Program" was arranged.

The Chairman of the Health Division, Dr. M. P. Horwood, an expert in Public Health, has given much valuable time and study to the work of this Division. At the beginning of the year, the Chairman formulated an outline of some important health needs in Newton. After this had received the approval of the Executive Committee a conference was held by the Chairman with the Chairman of the Board of Health at which the proposed plan was considered. The Board of Health later sent a reply to the suggestions submitted which in general, was sympathetic and favorable.

Upon the initiative of the Board of Health a meeting of representatives of various health and welfare agencies was called, for the purpose of organizing an "Advisory Committee of the Newton Board of Health." The Central Council sent the Chairman of the Health Division as its representative. This Chairman, together with the Chairman of the Board of Health, served as a Committee for the purpose of outlining a plan of organization and functions for the Advisory Committee.

Recently an important meeting of the Health Division of the Central Council was held, which was attended by representatives from the School Department, the Board of Health, the Newton Hospital, the Newton District Nursing Association, the Newton Welfare Bureau, the Newton Centre Parent-Teachers Association, the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Newton Central Council. A suggested program of health activities for the coming year was presented and discussed, and the interest aroused was so keen, that definite plans have already been made for a series of meetings early in the fall. As a result of these meetings, a definite program will be evolved, which will then be submitted to the Board of Health through its Advisory Committee.

The Welfare Division, Mrs. L. H. Marshall, Chairman, has held monthly luncheon-conferences for the Executive and Board members of 17 welfare and health agencies. These have been held with the various organizations in turn, with an attendance ranging from 30 to 50. These conferences have resulted in reduction of duplication, in greater efficiency in meeting common problems and in better acquaintance and understanding among the members themselves.

The value of the data collected by the Council, the past two years, in the form of Survey reports, Maps of Social Resources, etc., has recently been demonstrated. The Senior girls of the Household Arts Department of the Newton High School have made frequent visits to the office and have made use of this material which has been collected here for the first time.

Illustrative of the assistance which the Council, as a neutral and centralized body can render its constituent members, it is of interest to mention a Fact-finding Study of the Child Placing Problem in Newton which the Council has been carrying on at the request of the Welfare Bureau, the District Nursing Association, the Protection Department and individual social workers. The Council welcomes such opportunity to be of distinct service to any of its individual organizations.

In addition to its former function as a Clearing House for Thanksgiving and Christmas giving, the Council will also act, the coming year, as a Clearing House for Volunteer Service, co-operating with the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. This will make it possible for those organizations in need of volunteer service to be directed through the Council office, to the Committee in their respective localities, providing such service.

The Council also will keep a list of dates of any special activities reported to it as planned by any of its member organizations, and the character of such events. By consulting this list conflicting dates and duplication of events may be avoided.

The greatest step in the progress of the Council since its inception, perhaps, was taken at the annual meeting in March when the Executive Committee was enlarged and strengthened by the addition of several of Newton's foremost citizens, this Committee now containing able representatives from every section of the city.

The Executive Committee has been requested to continue next year, the study of the Community Chest plan which was so well begun a year ago. Whether a Financial Federation is formed in Newton in the near future or not, it has been clearly demonstrated to those actively connected with the Central Council that a Welfare Federation of this nature is absolutely essential for the efficient functioning of the forty agencies of our scattered city.

The Council's greatest need is Publicity. Relatively few in the city yet know what it is, what it is doing, and what it can do for Newton. For this reason, officers or committee members will gladly go in the fall to any organization that wishes to know more of the work of the Council and is willing to give an opportunity for it to be presented.

The Council office closes June 30 and will open about the middle of September.

VAUGHAN-COLTON

A very pretty wedding took place on Thursday evening at eight o'clock at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church when Miss Clara Frances Colton, daughter of Mrs. Edward Swift Colton, Jr., of Newton Highlands and the late Mr. Colton, was married to Mr. Wayland Farries Vaughan of Newton Centre. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, father of the groom, who was assisted by Rev. S. H. Woodrow, pastor of the church. The bride was given away by her brother, James Byers Colton, 2nd.

The bride was attended by Miss Anne Burgess of Holyoke, Mass., as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Doris Hassell, of Houlton, Maine; Katherine Hasson of New Haven, Conn.; Marion Thompson, Marion Barker, Ruth Hills, and Marion Allen, of Newton Highlands. The flower girl was Miss Barbara Morse of Lowell, a niece of the bride.

Richard Vaughan, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and the ushers were George Scott and Allen Davidson, of Auburndale; Bryant Franklin Tolles of Hartford, Conn.; Hudson Hoagland, Cambridge; Robert Fiske, West Newton, and Charles Gale of Medford.

The bride's gown was of crepe-back satin trimmed with rose point lace, with regulation court train. Her veil was of embroidered net. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pastel green silk crepe trimmed with gold lace and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses. Three of the bridesmaids were gowned in pastel blue, with bouquets of pink sweet peas and larkspur, and three in yellow trimmed with cream lace, carrying bouquets of lavender sweet peas and marguerites. The flower girl wore pink crepe de chine trimmed with cream lace and carried a basket of rose petals.

The bride's mother wore a gown of blue beaded crepe de chine with corsage of Purne roses, and the mother of the groom wore black lace over green silk, with corsage of red roses.

The decorations at the church were of greens and cut flowers in blue and yellow. The wedding party was preceded by twenty little girls dressed in white, carrying a daisy chain, members of the Junior department of the Church School of which the bride was superintendent.

A formal reception at the parish house from 8.30 to 9.30 followed the ceremony, at which the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by the mother and brother of the bride and the groom's parents and members of the wedding party. Following this a reception was held at the bride's home for members of the families and the wedding party.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan will reside in Cambridge, Mass., where they will be at home after October 1st.

The bride is a graduate of Smith, 1924 and Harvard Graduate School of Education 1925, and the groom of Yale 1923 and Harvard A. M. '25, Ph. D. '26. Next fall Mr. Vaughan will take a position as instructor in psychology at Boston University, College of Liberal Arts.

day evening, June 28, at 6.30 o'clock at the Brae Burn Country Club. At that time the members of the executive committee, the special gifts committee, and all division leaders and captains will assemble to report on the success of their clean-up activities.

The campaign office at 246 Walnut street, Newtonville will be kept open during the summer to receive subscriptions and to attend to the routine work of the campaign committee. Immediately after Labor Day a campaign committee will be organized at Wellesley under the direction of T. Raymond Pierce, who has accepted the chairmanship for that vicinity. Locally the work of obtaining subscriptions from all who have made only cash contributions will be renewed, and the activities of the special gifts committee, which has as its goal the raising of one million dollars, will be resumed.

The campaign for funds in Wellesley, which two weeks ago decided to join with the people of Newton in the building and upkeep of the Newton Hospital instead of building a local hospital, has been postponed until fall because of the lateness of the season, and the inability of many to serve on the campaign committee at this time.

In announcing this postponement T. Raymond Pierce, the local campaign manager, made the following statement:

"The trustees of the Newton Hospital have offered the citizens of Wellesley the opportunity to share on equal terms with the people of Newton the equipment and facilities of the new Newton Hospital.

"Experience has shown that no community of the size of Wellesley can operate economically a local hospital adequately equipped for the highest service. There is always a deficit to be made up at the year-end. Co-operation with our neighbors through acceptance of their generous offer will at once provide for us what we cannot hope to obtain for ourselves in a generation at least.

"With assurance of united support from the physicians of Wellesley and many of the leading citizens of the town, the undersigned has accepted the leadership of the movement to give tangible expression of Wellesley's appreciation of the opportunity offered by the trustees of the Newton Hospital with the firm belief that the effort is worthy of the support of a united community, so important is it for the future of our town.

"In view of the fact that several campaigns for the raising of funds have just been completed and so many of our fellow citizens have left or are about to leave for their summer outings, the Trustees have approved my suggestion that it is wise to defer our local campaign for this object until the autumn.

"This will afford ample time for effective organization culminating in a brief intensive canvass of the town about October 1. It is the intention shortly after Labor Day to announce the personnel of the executive committee and a financial goal which, in the judgment of its members, should be a creditable response by our citizens to this offer of co-operation, erasing in the cause of humanity a boundary existing solely for the purpose of circumscribing the activities of municipal government."

ONE WAY OUT

Gluyas Williams, artist-humorist, whose "Suburban Heights," "The Minute That Seems a Year," "The World at Its Worst," "Difficult Decisions" and countless other subjects appear daily in the Globe, believes in the old adage about shomaker's sticking to their lasts. He proved the efficacy of the adage to his own satisfaction and the entire satisfaction of his colleagues in the Newton Hospital financial campaign for $1,500,000 last week. As a result, seven of his fellow workers on team 38 in the hospital drive are treasuring original copies of a drawing by Mr. Williams, and the hospital is a few hundred dollars richer.

When Gluyas Williams, who lives on Sylvan avenue, West Newton Hill, was delegated to serve on a solicitor's team, captained by Quincy W. Wales, who lives across the street from the cartoonist, his conscience told him he could not refuse. But as the time of the campaign approached, and he learned that he would be obliged to call on at least 15 of his neighbors for subscriptions, life lost its rosiness. "Difficult Decisions," with Mr. Williams as its hero, was pictured in person by its creator. When he was handed a pack of subscriptions and was told to go forth, the vision of "The Minute That Seems a Year" all but overcame him. It was truly "The World at Its Worst."

But with the cartoonist's mind, Mr. Williams penned a sketch of his feelings, quaking on the door step of a neighbor's home, a subscription blank in hand, a plea for the sick and suffering on his quivering lips. He trembled at the sight of his work, "Snapshot of a Man About to Go Forth and Help Heal the Sick."

A fellow worker was shown the drawing and he thereupon suggested that, in exchange for the drawing, he would take three of the awful prospect subscription cards off the artist's hands. Here was a way out! Perhaps some other good fellow would do likewise. The thought was a happy one. Every man on the team would solicit any number of persons for one of those priceless pictures, he found.

So Mr. Williams' prospect cards were divided up among the members of the team, each worker received a copy of the drawing. The money was raised and the month of May which had been such a forbidding one to Mr. Williams, ended happily and everyone on West Newton Hill was happy, not to mention Gluyas Williams, who successfully raised his quota at his drawing board.

The holders of the prized cartoons are Quincy W. Wales, captain; R. H. Loomis, K. E. Downs, H. B. Cranshaw, S. K. Gibson, J. E. Esson, A. B. Tyler, The team raised $4599 for the hospital building fund.—Boston Globe.

ABOUT TOWN

Newton, following the lead of cities and towns throughout the country, is developing flagways. The streets surrounding Nonantum Square have been liberally flanked by United tates flags. Some enterprising gentleman from New York canvassed the business men at Newton Corner and most of the merchants co-operated in the movement to provide avenues of flags along our streets on patriotic occasions. The project has the support of the American Legion; Newton Post receives $1 on each flag sold by the firm which furnishes them. The flag, together with the staff and the installation of a socket and screw-cap for the sidewalk, costs $9.75. It is expected that other sections of the city will emulate Newton Corner in becoming equipped with these flags and that private residences will join with business establishments in joining this new method to give evidence of patriotism.

Traffic officers at most of the posts in this city have been provided with platforms—through the generosity of private individuals. The traffic post in Newton where a platform is needed more than at any other place, still is without one. With the constant streams of electric cars and autos passing through Nonantum Square, Officer Taffe, though a tall, erect man, is quite inconspicuous as he stands on the ground. If he stood on an elevated platform he would be seen much more readily by out-of-town autoists who are not conversant with the traffic tangles of Newton Corner. A stand with a canopy would also afford him some measure of relief during the hot weather of this summer.

Dr. William T. Hornaday, for 30 years director of the New York zoo, deprecates the enormous killing of birds and animals. He says, "Wild life in this country is rapidly becoming extinct." The other day, driving along the river boulevard near Soldier's Field, we observed a cockpheasant and his mate feeding by the roadside, unafraid of the hundreds of autos passing close by. Yet, next fall, these two birds and the rest of their species in this state will be hunted down by an army of intrepid Nimrods, who derive thrills from killing these almost tame creatures. In some states, where squirrel hunting is a popular pastime, we have seen men who have succeeded in shooting some of these small rodents, drive into town with a couple of dead squirrels attached to the side of an auto. They took such pride in their "kill," that one would almost imagine these sportsmen thought they had "bagged" Bengal tigers.

The Boy Scouts made a good showing in the parade Memorial Day. They brought back memories of those Memorial Days in the past when the boys of the Newton High School Battalion furnished the largest number of marchers in the parades in this city. The high school cadets were under the supervision of Major George Benyon, who passed on a couple of weeks ago.

Military drill was discontinued in the Newton High School many years ago, after a long dispute as to its merits and demerits. Its opponents argued that it was of little or no value to the boys, afforded scant opportunities for physical culture, and as wars were a thing of the past, military training was obsolete. Physical training and athletics were substituted for the primary course in "soldiering." Undoubtedly the high school boys who have been pupils during the years since the abolition of military training in this city, have enjoyed better opportunties for physical training than did "we boys" who shouldered the imitation guns or old Springfields under Major Benyon. But military training served one good purpose. It taught the boys who received it discipline. Possibly some of the youths of the present day might benefit from a little more discipline. We were one of the advocates of the abolition of military training at Newton High. We were included in the list of those who asserted that wars were a thing of the past. We also ridiculed the building of the state armory at Allston for this same "reason." But, after 1914, we did not talk so much about wars being impossible.

Before the present drill shed at the rear of the Classical High School was erected, the high school boys had to perambulate from the old high school at Newtonville down to the armory of Company C at Newton Corner in conjunction with their drilling. This was done after the regular school hours. And there was no cafeteria in the high school in those days. Most of the boys did not "chow" until late afternoon, when they finally reached their homes, many of them in distant parts of the city. There were no electric cars operating to afford quick transportation; automobiles were not even dreamed of. Those were the happy days.

The old high school battalion boasted a fife and drum corps. One of the most proficient members who ever belonged to the high school drum corps was "Joe" Holmes. "Joe" not only tapped a mean drumstick, but he could also twirl a drum major's baton skillfully. He joined the militia after graduating from high school and served during the Spanish War. He was a commissioned officer of Company L of the 6th Massachusetts Infantry at the Mexican border squabble and went overseas with this company during the World War.

The Newton High School cadets wore a distinctive uniform cap. It was modelled after the McLellan type cap used by the Union soldiers during the Civil War. It had a peaked visor. The Newton boys were alone in the use of this old model cap. All the other school cadets in this vicinity wore military caps with straght visors. The Garden City boys felt quite exclusive because their part of their uniform was unusual. Sometimes they were razzed by boys from the other schools when they appeared wearing the McLellan caps. But this joshing did not ruffle the Newton boys. They attributed it to envy.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Kenneth B. Bachman, manager of the Boston Better Business Bureau was the speaker at the weekly luncheon last Monday of the Newton Rotary Club, held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club.

Mr. Bachman gave an interesting and instructive talk on the work being done by his Bureau to eliminate fraudulent advertising and improper business methods in Boston.

The Bureau was the result of a campaign some years ago to correct the evils of fraudulent advertising, and which led gradually into the work of protecting the public from imposition on the part of unscrupulous merchants. Mr. Bachman stated that 95 per cent of business men were honest and it was only the 5 per cent which caused trouble.

Besides preventing fraudulent advertising, the Bureau checks exaggerated statements in advertising, sees that goods sold are as advertised, supervises the auction sale of cheap jewelry, and keeps an eye on stock promoting schemes.

THE CAPE

The summer outing this year of members of the Massachusetts Press Association and their ladies was held on Cape Cod, in order that the newspaper men of the state might see for themselves how much of the real estate movement in that locality was justified by the facts.

Headquarters were made at Terrace Gables, in Falmouth Heights, and every one enjoyed the attractive hostelry, with its good beds, fine table and wonderful view of Vineyard Sound.

The editors were the guests for one day of the Cape Cod Real Estate Board and toured that part of the Cape in three large motor busses of the New Haven railroad, which are destined to supplement the railroad service of the company.

The realtors did the thing up brown, having the Quincy High School band of 40 pieces to lead a parade through the villages of Falmouth and Hyannis.

The beautiful estates at Woods Hole and Falmouth were visited and the numerous developments of different real estate interests were pointed out.

A more extended visit made to the Oyster Shores development near Cotuit and Wianno, where over 400 men were at work building roads, removing underbrush and otherwise improving the country.

A fine clam bake was then served on the grounds of the Seapuit Country Club, and some of the editors tried a round of golf, over one of the hardest courses in the state.

There was some speaking at the clam bake, and later in the afternoon General Clarence R. Edwards, who was visiting in the vicinity, was induced to talk to the boys of the band, which was also enjoyed by the older members of the party.

The busses then took the crowd to Bradford Arms at Sagamore for dinner, followed by a quick trip to the canal to see the New York boat pass by.

Sunday there was a special service for the editors in one of the Falmouth churches, and in the afternoon, Joe Mitchell Chappelle dropped into the hotel, and gave a brief but interesting talk on "Just folks."

That some of the real estate development is on a substantial basis is evidenced by some of the figures compiled by disinterested parties.

Falmouth, which has only had a building permit system for nine months, shows 236 new houses valued at a million and a half, while Barnstable shows 163 new buildings also valued at about a million and a half. The village of Hyannis shows every evidence of prosperity, with a greatly enlarged main business street and several hotels making large additions to present quarters.

Another fact which was quite noticeable was the amount of land planted to strawberries. Hundreds of acres have within the past two years, been reclaimed from the prevalent scrub pine and underbrush and devoted not only to strawberries but to the cultivation of turnips. Agriculture will be by no means the least product of Cape Cod in the near future.

BOY SCOUTS

A Court of Honor will be held at the Headquarters of Troop 9, Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, Tuesday evening, June 29th, at 7.30 P. M. Applications must be in for this not later than Saturday, the 26th. This will probably be the last Court of Honor to be held before September.

Mr. Edbert L. Tenney has been appointed an assistant scoutmaster of troop 9, West Newton. Mr. Tenney has been very helpful to the troop for some little time and now has decided to take on the larger duties and responsibilities of an assistant. He has a son in the troop, who was formerly in troop 4 of Newton Highlands.

Two recent Community Good Turns have been done lately by Norumbega Scouts. On June 12th, Scouts from troop 5 of Newton Centre and troop 14, Newton Upper Falls, reported to and assisted Miss Mayer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children at their Field Day and Circus at Chestnut Hill. Miss Mayer writes the Executive as follows:

"Your boys were simply wonderful last Saturday and slaved all afternoon for us. I am so very grateful as we would literally have been lost without them, particularly the boy in charge.

"With many thanks for your very generous co-operation, I am, sincerely yours,

"FRANCIS B. MAYER, Sec."

On Sunday the 20th, Deputy Commissioner Woodbridge took charge of the Scout First Aid Unit at the Swedish Old People's Home, West Newton, which was required on account of the visit of the Crown Prince of Sweden. Five scouts from troop 11, Newton, and four from troop 7 of West Newton were selected and were busy from noon until evening setting up the tent, taking care of the many cases and then collecting their equipment and getting it home again. There were eighteen cases treated by the nurses, some of them being "Stretcher" cases. Somewhere on the trip Mr. Woodbridge lost his large suitcase containing the First Aid outfit used by him ordinarily but he had in reserve the small Standard Scout First Aid Kits. The Scouts had an excellent opportunity to put in practice what they had learned in their First Aid training for Second or First Class rank.

ST. JOHN'S DAY

By invitation of Rev. Dr. Arthur Ellis, pastor of Central Church, Newtonville and chaplain of Norumbega Lodge of Masons, the Masonic fraternity of the Fifth Masonic district were present at the observance of St. John's Day last Sunday.

Fourteen of the lodges in the district met at the Masonic Temple and about 600 Masons marched to the Church under escort of Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar. The lines were opened at the church and Bethseda Lodge, the oldest lodge in this district, were conducted through the lines and were first to enter the church.

Walter L. McCammon was chief marshal and each lodge had a representative of Norumbega Lodge assigned them as host.

Dr. Ellis preached a splendid sermon and a choir of 40 male voices furnished the music.

RANLETT-MILLER

Among the prettiest of June weddings was that which took place on Tuesday June 15th, when Miss Helen Dexter Miller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Miller of 330 Central street, Auburndale, became the bride of Mr. Louis Felix Ranlett of Fairhaven, the son of Mrs. and the late Frederick J. Ranlett of Auburndale. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home at eight o'clock by the Rev. Edward Payson Drew, D. D.

The Misses Elizabeth and Mary Miller, sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids, and Mr. Frederick Ranlett, Jr., brother of the groom, was his best man.

The bride was gowned in white satin with a veil of tulle. The bridesmaids' dresses were of orchid georgette and pale green georgette.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the bride's home. The house was beautifully decorated with iris, rhododendron, and azalea. Mrs. Nelson Freeman at the piano played the Wedding March from Lohengrin.

After a wedding trip to Glacier Park the young couple will reside in Fairhaven, where they will be at home after September 7th.

The bride was the general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Newburyport and the groom is the librarian of the Fairhaven Public Library.

Stearns School

The last busy days of the year at Stearns School were notable for assemblies at which nearly all of the classes attended. On Thursday a program of songs and plays was presented. As a closing feature the school was fortunate in having a visit from Miss Bragg, who held closest attention while she told the story, "What you seek that will you find."

Friday's program was in the nature of commencement for the 6th grade who are going on to Junior High. After a play presented by Miss Walker's class three of the essays submitted in the annual contest for the best papers on Patriotism were read. Mrs. E. H. Keach, representing the Daughters of the Revolution was present and she graciously presented the prizes in the form of gold and silver pieces to the winners. First prize, Marie Gerrier; second prize, Robert Hilton; third, Julia Boudreau.

Mr. Winslow also announced that the annual award from the funds of the Alistearns Boys' Club for the boy who should be judged by the principal and teachers of the sixth grade to stand highest in character, scholarship, athletics, effort and loyalty was to go to Robert Hilton, this making him a double prize winner.

Last Monday afternoon at Cabot Park the Stearns School Junior team played the Mason School for the championship of the city. Stearns won by the score of 15 to 11, thus completing a season which has been marked

In behalf of the graduating class, she also gave Mr. Miller a picture in commemoration of his twenty-fifth year at the Hyde School. A prize of two and a half dollars was awarded Chester Tudbury by the D. A. R., for the best essay upon a patriotic subject.

An interesting feature of the program was the expression of appreciation in the form of gold by Mrs. Gibbs, president of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club, to Mr. Miller for his twenty-five years of service.

HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

$1,062,038 Reported At Final Meeting. Windup Campaign To Be Held In Fall

A grand total of $1,062,038 for the Newton Hospital building fund was reported at the closing meeting of the campaign workers on Monday evening at the Brae Burn Country Club, when an additional sum of $17,846 was reported as the result of a ten-day clean-up campaign. It was announced at Monday night's dinner that the campaign offices at 246 Walnut street, Newtonville, would be kept open during the summer, and that a wind-up campaign would be carried on in the fall in conjunction with the intensive campaign in Wellesley for the hospital project. Eighty-five workers attended the dinner.

Confidence that the campaign would be crowned with eventual success was expressed by every speaker at the dinner, and it was pointed out that at the beginning of the campaign many were just as confident that the million mark would never be reached. In sounding the key-note of the evening Rev. E. T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity Church, declared that the campaign represented the "possibility of the impossible," and proved to his satisfaction that such campaigns instead of curtailing the amounts given to other causes increased such amounts.

The committee on special gifts, which previously had reported a total of $672,019, turned in an additional $7,755, making their grand total $679,774.

By turning in $9,526 the team organization raised their grand total to $355,304, well above the goal of the team workers of $350,000. The amount reported by wards on Monday night and the number of subscriptions were as follows: Wards 1 and 7, $3,595, 82 subscribers; Ward 2, $2,155, 37 subscribers; Ward 3, $1,497, 56 subscribers; Ward 4, $806, 21 subscribers; Ward 5, $624, 20 subscribers; Ward 6, $849, 28 subscribers. In addition the nurses division reported $380, representing six subscriptions, and the doctors, $185, representing five subscriptions.

Two of the nurses' subscriptions reported last Monday night came from California, it was announced as an evidence of the widespread interest of the alumnae of Newton Hospital Training Schools in the project to provide new buildings.

In an analysis of the contributions from alumnae of the training school, prepared by Miss Margaret Ross, chairman of the nurses' division, it was was shown that 238 nurses donated $16,628 to the building fund. Of this number 76 resided in Newton, 98 in Greater Boston, 29 in Massachusetts (outside of Greater Boston, while six subscriptions came from Maine, five from New York, four each from California and Rhode Island, three from Connecticut, two each from Vermont and Michigan, three from New Brunswick, and one each from the following states or countries: Minnesota, Utah, Ohio, New Jersey, Louisiana, New Mexico and Cuba.

As an indication of the willingness of Wellesley to join in the movement for a greater Newton Hospital, T. Raymond Pierce, who is to be the chairman for Wellesley in the fall campaign,

35th REUNION

The Newton High School, Class of 1891, held its Thirty-Fifth Reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Williams, in Wellesley, on June 26th. After the gathering of the clans during the morning, when the time was spent mostly in attaching the right names to the right faces and talking over old times, lunch was served. Then came a ball game between the fathers and sons and daughters. Needless to say, a few innings sufficed the fathers. Unfortunately rain prevented the carrying out of an attractive out-of-doors program but indoor games and talk fests made the time pass quickly.

At the dinner in the evening at the Old Natick Inn there were present forty, of whom there were twenty-seven of a possible forty-three members and thirteen of those who have married into the class and sons and daughters. Letters of congratulation and good will were read from Mr. E. J. Goodwin, under whom as principal the class spent its four years; Mr. Irving O. Palmer, present principal of the Classical High School, and Miss Owen, the last of the present teachers who were at the school while the class was there. Letters also were read from members in various sections of the country, two of them from California. These messages together with informal speaking, made the occasion one long to be remembered.

A few figures will show the growth of the school during the last thirty-five years. In 1891 there were graduated sixty-three, of whom twenty have died; this year three hundred and ninety-three graduated. In 1891 there was one principal and twenty-nine teachers; now there are one director, two principals and one hundred twenty-five teachers.

Just as the Class of '91 established the precedent of celebrating the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary, so it has done for the Thirty-Fifth. Other classes which have followed '91 as to the Twenty-Fifth will make no mistake in doing likewise for their Thirty-Fifth.

NEW CITY HALL

The aldermen met Monday night to arrive at some concrete decision regarding our new City Hall. But it was not an open meeting to which the citizens of the various parts of Newton were invited. It was a secret meeting —"a committee of the whole meeting." Even the press was excluded. This is nothing strange. It is the custom of the present Board to discuss all big problems concerning the city at private meetings. The "small stuff" is argued in the open meetings. According to rumors, the correctness of which cannot be vouched for, it was proposed at this "star chamber session" to present to the citizens a proposal to have the city purchase the triangle site at Homer street and Commonwealth avenue for a War Memorial, or some other civic purpose. The City Hall will remain at West Newton.

Such is the rumor. If citizens want facts, perhaps their aldermen will inform them. It may be feasible to tell citizens as individuals, what it would be impracticable to acquaint them with collectively.

CENTENARIAN DIES

Mrs. Ellen Manny died June 25, at 367 Central street, Auburndale. She was born in Prospect, Connecticut, 100 years ago, and had lived in Newton for 10 years. She was the widow of John Manny, formerly treasurer of the Winchester Savings Bank. She is survived by one daughter. Her funeral was held Monday and interment was at Winchester.

ROTARY CLUB

A most interesting and entertaining speaker was present at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Woodland Golf Club in the person of the Rev. John N. Mark of the Unitarian Church of Fall River, Mass. The attendance was comparatively small, there being more than twenty members absent.

Those present however enjoyed the wealth of humorous stories which Mr. Mark had at his command, after which he announced that the subject of his address would be "The Measure of a Man." As a prerequisite Mr. Mark said that a man must have good physical health as a foundation. He expressed the opinion that if Presidents Harding and Wilson had enjoyed the strength of body that Abraham Lincoln had when they assumed the presidency that both of them would be alive today. As a necessary adjunct to physical health Mr. Mark urged the development of a strong will and self-control. A man with an unruled temper and an unbounded passion was but half a man at best. He cited as an example of self-control the act of Thomas Carlyle in calmly sitting down and rewriting his manuscript of the French Revolution after the original had been carelessly destroyed by a friend's servant, declining all compensation or remuneration.

The third requisite of a "man" was the ability to overcome obstacles and the best thing for anyone to do is to set themselves a difficult task. The athlete he said does not become strong because he lifts heavy weights but by developing his power of resistance to the strain put on the muscles. "Milton," he quoted, "must have been blinded by God in order to write the poems that He intended him to write." Stevenson overcame a handicap of poor health and achieved success. Mr. Mark urged his audience not to shirk any hard task ahead of them as it might be the very element which would bring them success.

"Pluck" rather than "luck" should be the motto of today. We blame heredity and environment too easily. The making of excuses is the oldest business in the world and it is the instinct of the weak to take the easiest course. However, we cannot point to one instance where American men have achieved high standing by luck. Too carelessly do we speak of "Coolidge luck" when as a matter of fact we have but to know the man to understand every step in his achievements. Captain Peary had for his ambition the planting of the stars and stripes at

TRAFFIC CHANGES PROPOSED

Chief of Police Burke Proposes Important Changes In Routing Traffic Through Nonantum Square

Since the traffic ordinance was passed in this city a couple of years ago, the chief bone of contention has been the rule compelling autos coming from the direction of Watertown, to circle the building of the Newton Trust Company, if bound in an easterly direction. This rule has naturally caused much confusion to the thousands of autoists coming through Newton, who are not acquainted with this intricacy of our traffic laws. Moreover, it compels autos to pass twice through the busiest spot in the city.

To eliminate this impracticable method of diverting one line of traffic through Nonantum Square, Chief Burke proposes to have the cars of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway, which now make their terminus in the middle of the square, stand about 35 feet south in the wide area between the Newton Trust Company building and the east side of Centre street. This plan will allow the traffic moving from Watertown direction easterly, to make a left turn over that part of the square where the M. & B. cars now wait for passengers. It will eliminate the "see Newton first" tour which so many out-of-town and local autoists now "cuss" at. It will permit the erection of a modern traffic tower about opposite the corner of Centre and Washington streets, where the traffic officer will be much more advantageously located than at present.

This plan meets with the approval of Chief Burke. It meets with the hearty approval of nearly every business man and citizen conversant with conditions at Nonantum Square. It has the "O. K." of the majority of the three aldermen composing the Traffic Committee. It does not meet with the approval of the officials of the M. & B. These gentlemen contend that such a change will necessitate the purchase of new crossovers by the company and this together with the cost of relocating the tracks will cause an expense of several thousands of dollars. They want the cars to use their present terminus until they are replaced by busses.

As this change will not occur for a considerable length of time, it would mean that the present undesirable conditions at Nonantum Square would continue indefinitely. Any person who observes the traffic jam at the square particularly during the late afternoon and early evening hours, will agree that immediate relief is needed, even though it means some expense to the street railway company. The traffic tower will be donated to the city by business men and concerns of Newton Corner.

W. C. T. U.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. will hold a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Hovendon, Austin street, Newtonville, on Thursday, July 8 at 2.30.

the pole, which he did. It was not by luck that he made good but by pluck and ability to overcome hardships. We are not altogether responsible for our heredity and environment but we are responsible for what we make of them. Quoting from Tennyson Mr. Mark well illustrated his point.

Learning to labor and to wait is still another necessary adjunct to being a man. Patience, practice and perseverance will accomplish this part. According to A. D. White, chief statistician of the Swift Company ninety per cent of the boys and girls of today lose their first job for two of five reasons. The first of these is the unwillingness to work exemplified by being late to work, taking a few minutes extra for lunch and continually watching the clock. The second reason is the unwillingness to wait—i. e. by not mastering each step before going forward The boy wants to be a youth and the youth wants to be a man before he has the necessary requirements of each. We are all in a hurry and as a consequence we lack thoroughness. What we need today, Mr. Mark stated, is a Bancroft who will spend 26 years making a history; or a Webster who will spend 38 years on a dictionary; men who will keep silent, with untiring energy and the perseverance of a Morse, who laid the Atlantic cable in spite of the criticisms of many, and the supreme difficulties of his task; and to quote Longfellow, someone who is "up and doing" and who can learn to "labor and to wait"; someone to reach out beyond himself. But of what avail are all these unless we grow great in soul as well? The mind is the standard and the measurement of a man is to be found in his soul. Above all other requirements we must have high ideals. Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt and others were not content with the America of their day—each of them sought higher and better things. We call ourselves Christian and should therefore keep before us Christ, who went all the way to Calvary Hill in the furtherance of His ideals.

Such is the measure of a man.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

SPORT NOTES

Willie Dunn more than met his match at the National marble tourney at Atlantic City this week. The Newton Centre boy was placed in the Northeastern division in the preliminary round, which was won by Dan Gore of Springfield, who will be New England's only hope in the semi-finals Dunn got off to a poor start Monday winning but one game out of eight. Tuesday the little Chinese lad did somewhat better by breaking even in six games. Wednesday he was entirely put out of the running by losing all but one of his six starts.

The Newton Pals scored their nineteenth victory of the season last Sunday defeating the Crescent A. C. of Cambridge at Cambridge, 6 to 2. Scoring three runs in the first and two in the second the Pals went into the lead, never to be headed. A single tally in the seventh broughts the Pals' total to six runs. Schlieparker held the home team to one hit in the nine frames but the Crescents scored two runs in the seventh on two errors by the Pals and the one hit.

Arthur Noble debeated David Scott, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, in the final round of the tournament at the Newton Centre Tennis Club for boys under fifteen. The match was started on Saturday but when the second set had reached the four-all stage the rain and darkness descended and caused a postponement of the match. Scott won the first two games on Sunday, it having been decided to continue the match from where it had been left off the day before tying up the count at one set each. They fought might and main in the third and deciding set, which went to four all before Noble could break through and take two games in a row for the match. The win gave him the Presidents cup which was offered by President Boyden and placed in competition this spring.

Arthur Noble is the son of William M. Noble and a brother of Mark Noble, who was considerable of a tennis player when at high school ten years ago. Both Noble and Scott are members of the high school tennis team and usually pair up together as a doubles team. They are the best of the boy players in the city and recently combined in doubles beat two veteran players, W. E. Pattison and Edward Wales, in the senior class, the veterans having been seeded.

Ed Wilson of the B. A. A. track team won first place in the mile-walk at the C. Y. M. I. of Lowell games on Sunday.

Dick Vaughan of Newton Centre and Yale will spend the summer at Camp Susquehannock, Pennsylvania, where several of the athletes of the big three colleges will also pass the summer months.

Jimmie Barr, Wentworth Institute pitcher, will play the outfield this summer for Chippie Gaw's Falmouth team in the Cape Cod league. The former Newton twirler did some pretty good stickwork for the engineers this spring and is expected to hold up his end of things on the Cape. If necessary Gaw can use Barr in the box where he has done creditable work.

Charlotte Temperly of Upper Falls and Simmons College won second place in the 200-yard swim at the intercollegiate swimming meet at Camp Maqua at Poland, Maine, last Saturday.

Frank B. Hopewell of Newton won several prizes at the Turkey Hill Polo and Riding Club annual horse-show last Saturday at the grounds in Paxton. Fifty horses were entered from eastern Massachusetts stables and Mr. Hopewell's entries won the most blue ribbons. "Sunshine" won first in the saddle pony class (over 13 hands). "Velmo" won a blue ribbon in the saddle pony class (not exceeding 15.2 hands). The same entry also won first in the saddle horse, novice, class. "Velmo" also figured in winning a third blue ribbon when paired with "Irma Denmark". Mr. Hopewell's pair took first in the saddle pair.

The tennis match between Newton Y. M. C. A. and Brockton Y. M. C. A. had to be postponed on account of the rain Saturday. On July 24th a group of "Y" players will go to Brockton.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. Senior Baseball team will play Gulian's Allstars on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. on the "Y" field.

Clark Hodder had the second best gross score at the Winchester Country Club tournament on Tuesday with a card of 74. At the 16th hole the Newton youth got a birdie three when he reached the green in two and sunk a long putt.

Howard Weeks and Tom Clausen will compete for the B. A. A. track team in the week-end meets. Tomorrow they will compete at the West Roxbury American Legion Post games at Billings Field and on the holiday are entered in the Boston City meet on the Charlesbank.

Wednesday evening at Victory Field the Philadelphia Colored Giants piled up a total of 22 hits against the Saxony Mills nine to win 14 to 0. Jefferson led the visitors' attack with five hits, one of them a triple. Saxony could collect but three bingles off Lee, Philadelphia twirler.

Virginia Rice was defeated by Sarah Plafrey of Sharon in the final round of the Girls' State championship tennis tournament at Longwood on Wednesday. The Newton girl was beaten in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

The B. A. A. has entered its full track team in the big athletic meet at Salem Thursday. Howard Weeks will compete in the 100 and possibly in the mile relay while Tom Clausen is entered in the half mile and the mile relay, as well as the 440. Ed Wilson is entered in the mile walk.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE NOTES ON PAGE FOUR

Y. M. C. A.

Once more, for the 11th year, boys from crowded sections of Boston will be entertained at The Newton Y. M. C. A. each week during July and August. The program is arranged by the secretaries and a group of ladies under the direction of Miss Emma Page will serve the luncheon. Interested friends give the money to pay the expenses of entertaining these boys, who come out from Boston in groups of forty under the direction of The Boston City Missionary Society. The first group will come on Wednesday, July 7th.

In spite of the fact that 100 boys who are members of the Newton Y. M. C. A. are at Camp Frank A. Day, the Association is a busy place during the summer months. Special attention is given to the teaching of swimming and life saving. Out of a group of over forty from Needham, 22 have passed their Junior Red Cross Life Saving Tests. There is now a class of 21 boys from Newton taking the Y. M. C. A. Life Saving Test and a class of boys are learning to swim. The Y. M. C. A. with its pool and expert instructors offef ideal conditions for boys and young men to become good swimmers.

BASEBALL PLAYERS BEST DRIVERS

Athletes, particularly baseball players, are the safest automobile drivers and best risks for automobile liability insurance, according to David F. Butler of the Twin Mutuals Insurance Company of Boston. Ball players are used to quick thinking, have good eyesight, make decisions immediately, and are excellent judges of distance and speed, making them the safest of automobile operators.

FLIM-FLAMMER WORKS NEWTON

A young girl clerk in the Newton Bakery at 326 Centre street was the victim of the old envelope flim-flam usual tactics of his kind, the thief enthe first of last week. Pursuing the tered the bakery when the girl was alone, and asked her to give him a $10 and a $5 bill in exchange for 15 one-dollar bills. As small bills are needed in the ordinary store, the girl readily complied. The man placed the two bills in an envelope and started to count out the 15 one-dollar bills. He counted only fourteen, remarked that he would go out to obtain the other dollar and returned an envelope identical with that in which he had placed the five and the ten dollar bills. He departed immediately, and the girl, upon opening the envelope found it to contain two blank pieces of paper. The thief was about 30 years of age, six feet tall, and of dark complexion.

"The builder who is celebrated for his wisdom doesn't make a noisy celebration — he celebrates with profits and satisfied buyers."

RING LARDNER WANTED!

The following letter received this week should surely be called to the attention of the noted humorist.

Newton Graphic:

I was a settin on my front stoop, a week ago next Friday readin the Graphic when I seen that Bentley want a goin to write about one thing and another for a spell and since the drive is over for the Hospital also weddins and schools all over I was a thinkin that you won't have nothin much to put in your paper now.

Now then there is lots of us that be a goin to be here all summer, cause we have been a given so much to the hospital and new Libraries that we wont have none left for vacations unless we go there and have it so I got to thinkin since you had plenty of room why some one of us couldn't take charge and every one could write and ask advise as to what to do when the children was bad, husband broke loose or we needed help with our family budget. Kind of a "Heart Ease," "Sob Sister," "Other People's Business" column. You know we could be very frank with each other but I have noticed that the Graphic speaks right out about "School Insurance", "New City Halls" etc. and it does everybody good.

Now I am unanimously in favor of insurance for school children more than on the buildings for I have spent a good deal of time worring about how awful it would be if I was a old maid and had two sweet little girls who went to school one morning and the school house took fire. I can't go on for it is too awful to think about what might happen.

Last week, "Our Mary"—or I should say "My Mary" for fear you might think it was "Mary Sickford" brought home the jaundice and I was awful afraid that she got it from drinking the dark water in school but the doctor says if I boil all the water next year and let her carry it to school with her it would be safer and help to save the water there in case of a fire.

I had cards from the school saying that eight of our children ought to have their adneoids and tonsils out and as near as I can make out there are about 250 more around here besides cases of bad posture etc. and if we would get them all together and have them all done in a job lot at the hospital this summer it would go a long ways toward getting that half million of dollars they need for if they do it just as well they might as well ask what the Mayo Bros do and make something while they are at it.

So you see the mothers have lots to worry about and a bit of advise from each other won't come amiss if they are all like me. I git scared when I try to study out what is best to do.

When I was a little girl and folks went to Sunday School the year around the superentendent pointed his finger at me one morning and cried out "Who made the earth?" I was scared so I says "Please mister I did but I'll never do it again" which goes to show—

Well lets get started. Don't let Bentley think we can't do anything or keep the paper going when he is gone. Speak right out. Patrick Henry said "Give me liberty or give me death" (and they give him both) So we don't git nothin less we go after it. Mothers—we got just as good a right to a column as the men have.

Now write something—Thats one thing. Get it into print—That's another. See how easy?

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

There will be special services in St. Paul's Cathedral next Sunday, at both the morning and evening services, in recognition of the fact that this Fourth of July is the 150th Anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence; and is the 100th Anniversary of the death of Thomas Jefferson, the author of the Declaration, and of the death of John Adams, one of its editors; and is also the birthday of President Coolidge.

At the Morning Service, the Preamble of the Declaration of Independence, and the concluding Covenant and Pledge, will be read. Patriotic hymns will be sung; and the Flag will be honored in a brief ceremonial.

At the Sunset Service on the Porch, and at the Service which immediately follows inside the Cathedral, the Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps will give a Bugle and Drum Corps Program. They are led by Drum Major Dorothy True of Newton Highlands, and by Sergeant Bugler Elizabeth Plimpton of Newton Centre, who is the Massachusetts Girl Scout Champion Bugler, and Esther Whitehouse, Girl Scout State Champion drummer.

The indoor Service will begin with a procession of the Choir through the aisles, led by the Bugle and Drum Corps; and the Corps will repeat part of the Program given on the Porch. Sergeant Bugler Elizabeth Plimpton will play taps at the end of the memorial part of the service.

Besides the Drum Major and Sergeant Bugler, the following additional members of the Newton Corps will take part in the Service; Bugles—Catherine Carrick, Grace Thompson, Alice Jack and Katherine Allen of West Newton; Mary Miller and Dorothy Nichols of Auburndale. Drums—Sergeant Drummer Doris Benson of West Newton; Mary Carrick of Newton Highlands; Mary Coleman of Newtonville; Base Drummer Lisbeth Leighton of West Newton.

Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, D. D., who begins his term as Summer Preacher at the Cathedral on the Fourth, will preach at the Morning Service, at 11 o'clock, on "Keeping Step with the Fathers." At the Evening Service, at 7.30, he will speak on "A Text From President Coolidge."

Rivers in the Oceans.

The oceans have their rivers just like the land. The best known of these is the Gulf stream, but the greatest is the "Kuro Siwo," or Black stream, which runs from Japan due east toward the American coast, and so wonderfully modifies the climate that in summer humming birds are found in southern Alaska.

The safety campaign being inaugurated in fifteen cities of the state should be called to the attention of every parent. Send your children to the playgrounds of the city, where they will be under the supervision of competent playground supervisors —and where they will be safe from the ever-increasing motor traffic. Above all don't let them play on the streets. Use the playgrounds for the purposes for which they are intended.

Another Fourth of July is here. Let us all see to it that it is a "safe and sane" celebration of the 150th anniversary of the independence of our country.

ABOUT TOWN

The Crown Prince of Sweden impressed those who viewed him at West Newton, as being a "regular fellow." Unlike some other princes, he seems to measure up to his station. He is a worker, not a wastrel. Governor Al Smith of New York was not exaggerating when he said, "If Sweden should become a republic, Gustaf Adolf could be elected President."

As a Royal Princess and probable future Queen, Crown Princess Louise was an agreeable surprise to the thousands who observed her when she visited this city. Genial, without affectation, she was a revelation to those who expected to see a lady with an air of hauteur. Many of the "nouveau riche" in this country, who endeavor to pose as aristocrats, confuse snobbishness with dignity.

Brook street is a one-way street. So are Jefferson, Channing and other highways in this city. But many autoists are disregarding the signs on these streets and are driving the forbidden direction on them. The most dangerous situation on any street in Newton Corner, that we know of, is caused by autos being driven north on Brook street onto Washington street. The closed sides of the railroad bridge at this point, and the angle at which it meets Brook street, makes it impossible for one driving easterly on Washington street, to see a car emerging from Brook street, until directly opposite that narrow way. A sign on a cement base formerly stood at the end of Brook street to warn against that practice.

Residents of Newtonville are suggesting that the stand used by the traffic officer at Newtonville Square be provided with direction signs similar to those on the traffic stands at the Commonwealth avenue posts.

Newton has suffered a distinct loss in the retirement of Miss Frances P. Owen, head of the German Department at Newton High School. For 39 years Miss Owen has been one of the most efficient and most popular teachers at the school. Her record of service there was exceeded to our knowledge by but one teacher—Mr. S. Warren Davis. Miss Owen not only taught German and other studies to thousands of boys and girls who attended Newton High during her long term of service, but by her kindness and unfailing courtesy, assisted to no small degree in making better men and better women of those privileged to associate with her. As a rule, boys prefer men teachers to women teachers. One of the best proofs of Miss Owen's ability as an educator was the fact that she was equally well liked by both boys and girls. She has returned to her native town, Brunswick, Maine, and in conjunction with her legion of former pupils, we wish her many peaceful years of rest after her long and faithful service to Newton and its people.

The proprietors of the Newton Public Market are quite elated over a compliment paid them by a representative of the Armour Company. This man visited the store this week and among the other features of this unusual market, he noticed the large ventilating fan recently installed to keep the market cool and well supplied with fresh air. He remarked that he has visited meat markets in 38 states of this country, but that the Newton market in its appointments, excells any that he has seen.

One of the most dangerous traffic spots in Newton is the Centre Place bridge. Many autos cross it going to and coming from Washington street. Accidents have occurred there. It is a good place over which to travel slowly. Last evening we were proceeding over it in our flivver at a speed of about 12 miles an hour, when a large Packard touring car of ancient "vintage" came along from our rear, crowded us to the side of the bridge and then cutting sharply in, side-swiped the front mud-guard of our vehicle. Although the jolt was severe enough to be heard some distance away, the "gentlemanly" operator of the offending car ignored our signals of distress as evidenced by the tooting of the horn on our car and continued nonchalantly on his way. We took the number of the vehicle he drove and upon tracing it, found that he is a new resident of Auburndale. This person will perhaps shortly learn that in Newton, and perhaps in other parts of Massachusetts he may not drive recklessly on blind bridges, or on other traffic ways.

Engine 1 of Newton responded to the fierce fire on Tuesday night at the Warren Soap factory at Watertown. The pump of this piece of apparatus went out of commission shortly after it commenced to work at the fire, so it was returned to its quarters and Engine 4 of Newtonville was summoned to replace it. Hose 8 of Nonantum rendered valuable assistance in extinguishing roof fires started on the North side of the river by flying embers. It was the hotest blaze we have attended since the rendering plant at the Brighton abbatoir went up in flames about 20 years ago. Had there been any wind, a serious conflagration would surely have resulted.

The dedication of Columbus Hall at Nonantum marks another step in the rapid progress made by the Italian people of Newton. While we are not youthful, we are not very old; yet we can remember when there was but one man of Italian birth in Newton Corner, and not over five or six Italians in the entire city. The pioneer Italian was a little, genial Genoese, Charles Biscotti, better known in those days as "Charlie Peanuts." He was an honest, industrious little man, and after conducting a successful fruit business in the city for some years, he returned to Italy to spend his remaining years. Several years after "Charlie" reached Newton, other Italians from northern and central Italy came to this city and started fruit stores.

In 1891 Newton started to install its sewer system, and the following year hundreds of Italians from southern Italy came here to work for Killion and other contractors engaged in the new project. They received 90 cents for slaving ten hours daily, were quartered in cheaply built shanties, and were charged exorbitant prices by "padrones" for the bread and other articles of food and clothing sold them.

These men were strangers in a strange country, they could not speak English, they were subjected to insults and taunts from the rougher element, but they persevered. Out of their meagre wages they saved amounts that caused the older residents of the city to marvel at their frugality. Soon they brought from Italy their wives and children, and before many years, hundreds of other Italians arrived here to work at various occupations. These men, in scores of instances quickly became skilled in various trades and started in business for themselves. As soon as they were able, they bought homes; humble little structures at first but in recent years, modern, costly houses. No race that ever came to this country has made more rapid economic progress than the Italians. They, and their children are here to stay, and they constitute a force that will have a large influence on the future of this land.

CITY HALL EMPLOYEES' OUTING

The annual outing of the employees of City Hall was held Wednesday at Fieldston, Brant Rock. The start was made from West Newton shortly after noon. A dozen autos were in the line with Street Commissioner George Stuart acting as pilot. He had as one passenger Mayor Childs, and lost little time in making the journey down to the South Shore. Chief of Police Burke's car was the third in line when the start was made, but his was one of the last cars to arrive. He explained that he believes in co-operating with Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin, and the pace set by the peppy street commissioner was too rapid for the chief. That Hammond street, Chestnut Hill is too narrow for safe auto traffic, was proven while the cars were passing through the gorge by the Liggett estate. An auto, driven by the most careful driver in the party, struck one of the silent policemen on this narrow passage, demolishing it. The only other untoward incident of the trip down was when a honey-bee made the fatal mistake of entering the car driven by Alderman "Bill" Noone, causing consternation to some of the young ladies riding in this vehicle. They decided that it was dangerous for the bee to be so close to them and killed it.

Arriving at Fieldston the Newton party was captured by a professional photographer from Boston who consumed 15 minutes or more grouping the party. The picture was finally taken and the crowd repaired to the dining hall, where a chicken dinner was enjoyed. The food having been consumed, Street Commissioner Stuart, as master of ceremonies opened the post prandial session. He lauded the employees in the various offices at City Hall for their ability and courtesy, and expressed the hope that the aldermen will in the future, accord them equal consideration with the other employees of the city. Mayor Childs was introduced as the first speaker and he too highly commended the clerks who labor in the different departments. He expressed the opinion that outings and get-togethers are productive of good results; they serve not only to bring the personnel of the various departments together, but also afford an opportunity for the aldermen to become acquainted with the employees.

Alderman Madden said that he regretted the other members of the Finance Committee of the aldermen were not present to meet the City Hall force. The Ward 1 alderman remarked that had they accepted the invitation to attend, they would realize the calibre of the employees at the Hall, and might be more inclined to give increases in salaries to them. Aldermen Bail, Grebenstein, Noone, Gordon and O'Connell also spoke briefly. Collector Newhall, City Clerk Grant, and Chief of Police Burke responded for their departments.

The party then repaired to the ball field where a game was staged between a nine composed of the employees and a team made up of the aldermen present, with enough "outsiders" to fill the gaps. But three innings were played, and that was enough—both for the players, and the spectators. Leonard Jackson and Poole started as the battery for the employees, and the "aldermen" were quickly retired, no runs being made off Jackson's "slow ball" in the first inning. John Gordon went into the box for the legislators and was hit freely during the first session, seven runs crossing the plate. He received ragged support, Alderman Bail in particular, making two bad errors. The Newton Highlands alderman redeemed himself during the remainder of the game, and together with Alderman Noone, starred in the field for their team.

The aldermen "got to" Jackson in the 2nd. inning and scored twenty runs. They finally became exhausted and could not run to first. The employees were blanked in the second inning and could make but one tally in the third. Poole went on the mound for them in the last half of the third and was hit for seven runs by the aldermen. The final score was 27 to 8. One of the features of the game was the playing of Chief Burke at shortstop for the aldermen. Thirty-five years ago the Chief was one of the fleetest runners in this city, and although now past 65, he proved he can yet move at a faster pace than a walk. Alderman Bail's little boy, who watched the game, was highly amused at the spectacle of his dad sprinting around the bases.

Following the ball game, a game of dodge-ball was enjoyed under the supervision of Miss Lillian Swartz of the Playground Department. The girls showed more skill than their male opponents in this game. This contest was so strenuous that Orren Poole, Jr., of the Building Department, received a bad contusion on the nose. The "outingers" then proceeded to the beach, but the water was so cold that only four of the girls and six of the men had the courage to plunge into the briny. This limited the contestants in the "bathing beauty" contest which was won by Alderman George Grebenstein, with City Clerk Frank Grant a close second. In the evening some of the outing participants returned to Newton, while others went to Nantasket to partake of the thrills offered by the many amusements at that resort.

The committee in charge of the outing consisted of Leonard Jackson, Ebba Carlson and Theresa Goddard. John Feeney was in command of the transportation.

James H. Vahey, Jr., of Russell avenue, Watertown, arrested on June 7th, by Officer Jenkins, for driving while under the influence of liquor, had his case continued for a third time on Wednesday. Vahey did not appear in court June 8th, when his name was called and a continuance was allowed until June 16th. On that date he appeared and asked for another continuance until his counsel, John P. Feeney, was able to be present. A second continuance was given until June 30th. When the case was called Wednesday, another continuance was asked for this same reason. It was granted with the proviso that the case must be tried July 14th.

FRANKLIN ESTABROOK

Franklin Estabrook of 277 Central street, Auburndale, died suddenly June 29, of heart trouble. He was born in Newton 68 years ago, the son of Rufus and Eliza Estabrook. He had been engaged since a young man in the plumbing supply business, having a plant at South Boston. He is survived by his widow, his brother—Edward L. Estabrook of West Newton, a sister, Miss Sarah Estabrook of Auburndale, and two grandchildren. His funeral services were held on Thursday and burial was in Newton cemetery.

WEST NEWTON MAN

Joseph Castaldi, aged 23, claiming a residence in West Newton, was bound over in $1000 to the next sitting of the Grand Jury of Middlesex County, at the session of the Framingham Court on Tuesday morning.

Probable cause was found in a charge of abuse of a female child in Sherborn Monday. He was committed to jail in default of sureties.

It is alleged that Castaldi and two other young men invited three girls from Waltham to accompany them in his automobile for a ride Sunday.

A complaint was made to patrolman John Jackson of Sherborn, who took charge of Castaldi and brought him before the court Tuesday morning.

TWI-LEAGUE NOTES

The first half of the Newton Twilight League will be concluded next week after the play-off of the tie games of the earlier part of the season. The Earnshaw Mills nine is out in front at present. However with three games to play, one each against the Pals, Highlands and the Catholic Club, a sudden slump might easily cause an upset in the standing. The Pals and the Upper Falls teams are but one full game behind the league leaders and as each team has two games to play next week it looks like most anyone of the three leading nines may win the first half.

Upper Falls upset the Pals last night at Victory Field, 3 to 2. At Newton Centre the Cardinals nosed out the Auburndale team 8 to 7.

The feature of the first half of the twilight league is the playing of the Cardinals. Off to a poor start the Newton Centre team fought its way through the leading teams of the League and now leads the second division. The Pals also got off to a poor start but recovered themselves in the first month of play and kept in the fight so that they have as good a chance as any team to win out.

Harry Gray's West Newton team started out in fine shape but the cold weather in May upset their play. With hot weather at hand the colored boys will cause plenty of trouble in the second round.

ELKS CELEBRATE FOURTH

Newton Lodge of Elks will have a gala celebration on Saturday night, July 3rd, to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the founding of this republic. It will be one of the best displays of "indoor fireworks" ever set off in this city. A talented group of Ethiopian musicians will play and sing, while some Senegambian syncopators will shuffle. The Nordic-Celtic Quartet will dispense songs and smiles. This team includes Olesen, Yonsen, Svenson and O'Brien. According to the entertainment committee of the lodge, headed by a recent deserter from the ranks of the bachelors, Wilfred Chagnon, the show will be a "big bang."

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

James Bracken of Appian Way, Allston, whose automobile ran down Thomas Determino of Boston, instantly killing the latter on June 7 in front of the Woodland Golf Club, was held for the Grand Jury by Judge Bacon on Wednesday in $1000 bonds on the charge of manslaughter. According to witnesses, although Bracken had unobstructed vision on the road, his machine hit a plank carried by Determino, causing the latter's neck to be broken.

SPECTACULAR FIRE

The Watertown Elks gave an exhibition of fireworks Tuesday night, but it paled into insignificance because of another fiery display caused by the burning of the soap factory of Warren Bros. located on Water street, behind the Watertown car barns and next to the gas works. It is an extremely dangerous fire hazard and had a wind been blowing, so fiercely did the building and its contents burn, that a conflagration would surely have resulted. For over an hour the car barns and surrounding houses were menaced.

The plant was a total loss and probably will not be rebuilt. It had been in existence for well over a half century. The Newton department rendered valuable aid—Engines 1 and 4 and Hose 8 responding. While making a mad rush to the fire, the truck from East Watertown struck a Ford sedan and caused critical injuries to Mr. and Mrs. James Vahey and Miss Anna Meagher of Watertown.

Mosquito Story Told by Truthful Kansan

A contributor from Kansas writes gratefully to thank us for the story on our miscellany page that described the kidnaping of one of our contributors in a steam boiler by mosquitoes. It explains something, he writes, that has always been a mystery to me. Some time ago I had occasion to purchase a boiler of a certain type. Attracted by the advertisement of an eastern firm, I ordered one from them. When it arrived I found attached to it by the bill, which was thrust through a hole in the boiler and clinched, a large mosquito, apparently dead. When I released it, however, I found that it was not dead but only weak and exhausted from hunger. In fact, the poor thing was nothing but skin and bones. I ministered to its needs and turned it into my pigeon fly, intending to keep it for a curiosity—here in Kansas we seldom see mosquitoes larger than a crow. The mosquito had a number of severe bruises, acquired in shipping, on its body. On these I poured soothing liniment. The next morning, being too busy to attend to it myself, I sent my little boy out to put more liniment on the mosquito. He made a mistake and used Doctor Soakum's hair restorer instead of liniment. In the course of a few days the mosquito was covered with fine, soft, curly hair. Last week I sheared thirty pounds of high-grade wool from it. You may not believe this. I wouldn't believe it myself if anyone else was telling it. And I can't prove it because the mosquito is dead. It got loose yesterday and swallowed a Missouri mule that had strayed across the state line. The mule kicked as he went down its throat, and broke its neck.—Youth's Companion.

Diplomatic Term May Be Traced to Greece

The noun, protocol, comes to the English from the French "protocole," derived from late Latin "protocolium," which in turn was derived from the Greek (written in Latin letters), "protokollon," and its original meaning was a leaf glued on the front of a manuscript. Our word protocol has various meanings. (1) The preliminary sketch or draft of a treaty, or other official document; (2) A diplomatic document, minute or agreement, containing the official record or embodying the result of a negotiation, a memorandum of agreement less formal and solemn than a treaty, also a supplementary clause or a declaration explaining a treaty, or extending its scope or duration; (3) A record or registry, and in law based on the Roman system, a record made and kept by a notary public. The word used as a verb means to make a protocol.

Condition of Fur

Fur is in prime condition for harvesting at one brief season only, according to the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. Ill-advised open seasons are a natural result of the lack of sufficient information regarding the life habits of fur animals, says the department. A defect frequently noted in present fur laws is that the open season provided is so long that it permits trapping before pelts are prime in fall and after breeding has begun in spring. An open season of more than three month's duration, it would seem, is not justifiable anywhere in the United States. Far too many unprofitable pelts are coming to the raw-fur markets every year. Pelts of superior quality would reach the markets if these facts were appreciated and laws framed accordingly.

Original Gold Pens

Gold was first used in the making of pen points in the United States in 1835. Soon it was found necessary to harden the points of these pens, and this was done by protecting them with diamonds or rubies, which made the pens very costly and consequently very rare. John Hawkins, to whom is due the discovery that an alloy of iridium and osmium soldered on to the gold would serve the purpose just as well as the gem stones and at much less cost, was the first to use iridium. In 1850 his method was superseded and for the first time iridium was fused with the gold and a much stronger and a more durable penpoint was produced. Over 100,000 pens are manufactured every year by one firm alone.

Birds Great Travelers

The journeys undertaken by some birds are really marvelous. The tiny goldcrest—the smallest European bird—weighing but a dram, and some other avian Liliputians cross the waters of the North sea on dark November nights, while some species of sandpipers migrate from islands well within the Arctic circle to New Zealand and Cape Horn. These wonderful aerial feats are undertaken by birds barely three months old. The Arctic tern, a common sea swallow, flies almost from pole to pole twice a year. —London Discovery.

African Bearers Easily Pleased

Explorers through the wilds of Africa are not embarrassed by undue labor costs, as the bushmen there are the burden bearers for visitors. A man carries 60 pounds on his head, is able to travel 15 miles a day with ease, and will bear his burden 250 miles for $2.50 and then walk back home filled with joy because he has had a real journey and plenty of fun. The carriers are particularly well fed and they like that.

PECK—MACKINNON

Among the late June weddings was that on Wednesday of Miss Elizabeth Mackinnon of Topsham, Maine, and Charles Baldwin Peck, Jr., of Newton Centre. A single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Alfred V. Bliss of Portland, Maine, at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Mary E. Mackinnon, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor while another sister, Miss Normena Mackinnon and Miss Florence Lapointe were the bridesmaids. Charles Foster Weeden, Jr., of Newton Centre was the best man. The bride was given in marriage by her elder brother, Mr. Francis W. Mackinnon.

After a honeymoon trip to Bermuda the young couple will reside at 120 Oxford road, Newton Centre.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Norman Mackinnon and a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College with the class of 1924. Since that time she has been employed in Boston.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Peck of Rochester, New York. He is a graduate of Exeter, class of 1912 and of Amherst college, class of 1916, being a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity. He is at present the manager of the Boston office of Todd Company.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending June 26:—Patients in hospital 110; patients paying as much as cost of care or more 52; patients paying less than cost of care 29; free patients, including babies, 29; babies born 7; patients treated by out patient department 109; patients treated at eye clinic 6; accident cases 15; social service calls at hospital 6, at homes 12; patients transferred by social service car 3.

With July 1 Dr. David L. Lionberger and Dr. Edmund B. Burke completed their terms as interns at the hospital, and Dr. William A. Sheehan and Dr. Abbott M. Dean began their terms.

If a suggestion which the trustees at their quarterly meeting last Monday voted to make to the corporation is adopted the hospital year, after the recommendation is put into effect, will be the same as the calendar year instead of as now beginning with the first of September and ending with the last day of August.

The Know More Kokki held its semi-monthly meeting at the hospital this week.

Miss Helen C. Curley, a graduate of the Massachusetts General Hospital, who has been night supervisor at the Newton Hospital, is now attending the summer school at Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York. Miss Alberta Tweeddale, a Newton Hospital graduate, is now in charge at night.

On Monday the hospital was visited by the representatives of the American College of Surgeons, which is the organization that decides on the ratings of American hospitals. Newton expects to remain as now in Class A.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN

A safety campaign is being organized in 15 cities, Newton among them, to carry out one of the six recommendations adopted at the recent state conference on street and highway safety, called by Governor Alvan T. Fuller in Boston.

This resolution urged parents throughout the state "to cooperate in the movement to keep all children from using the public streets for their games," and asked that police officers in the course of their duty be instructed to give warnings not only to children found in the street, but to their parents whenever practicable. The conference also urged the maximum use of all playgrounds during the summer.

The first step in the campaign will therefore be to double the attendance at playgrounds if possible. Posters are to be used for this purpose, and the newspaper and the police have promised their co-operation.

On the playground itself there will be instruction during the summer in the form of safety talks, songs and plays. A committee of the Massachusetts Safety Council has prepared for this purpose a booklet under the title of "Highway Safety Talks," which is to be placed in the hands of 2000 mothers in this city.

Reports from 95 cities in the country, compiled by the National Safety Council, shows that 72 per cent. of the victims of motor vehicle accidents last month were pedestrians, and that 54 per cent. of these were under 15 years of age. Those facts should warn motorists of the trend of accidents during the coming weeks.

K. J. Ferguson, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers National Bank, Boston, just returned from Florida, where he attended an important meeting of the executives of the Brotherhood's interests.

Mr. Ferguson was deeply impressed by the great success of the banks organized by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. This great industrial organization has founded 14 successful banks and 6 investment companies in different parts of the country.

The Engineers National Bank of 60 Devonshire street, Boston, founded by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is one of the most successful institutions of its kind. In two years its deposits have increased from $386,854.81 to almost ten times that amount in May, 1926, when the deposits reached $3,503,279.05. This success has been achieved by safe, sound and careful banking.

In order to show the esteem in which the Government holds this institution the United States Bureau of Efficiency has lent the bank a very choice collection of models used in the early stages of banking in the United States. These models include articles which had been patented, many of them back in the last century, such as checking devices, cash registers, interest calculators, cancelling stamps, safe deposit boxes, toy savings banks, and numerous other contrivances which are both ingenious and serviceable.

This exhibit can be seen in the windows of the bank and also in a special department of the bank at 60 Devonshire street, Boston, when visitors are cordially invited to examine them.

TWO WOMEN ON THE BEACH

Two women were lolling upon the warm sand of a Cape beach one afternoon last summer.

"Such a vacation day as this has been," said one of them. "We come down here for rest and comfort. Yet I've spent all morning washing and ironing, something that I never have to do at home. Here, though, it is impossible to beg, borrow, or steal a laundress, and I just don't dare send fine summer things to strangers."

"I understand that feeling," replied the other woman. "What I don't understand, however, is why you don't provide yourself with laundry service at home that will follow you on your vacation. All of our laundry was sent off by parcel post this Monday morning. The postage charge was practically nothing. Then on Friday or Saturday we'll have the freshly-laundered things delivered to us just as if we were at home. There'll be no postage to pay either, for the laundry takes care of that charge one way."

Of course, you have guessed already that the second woman has been a regular customer of ours for years.

THE SPIRIT OF '76

The 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence brings to every good American a renewed interest in the history of the times that produced this document, so profoundly important in the history of a nation, and in fact of the world. The following titles, chosen from some of the very old and some of the quite new books relating to the American Revolution, suggest much interesting material for the investigation of this critical period of our country's history:

FS32.B24 The British in Boston, being the diary of Lieut. John Barker of the King's Own Regiment from Nov. 15, 1774 to May 31, 1776; with notes by Elizabeth Ellery Dana (1924)

FS32.F58 The Spirit of the Revolution; new light from some of the original sources of American history, by John C. Fitzpatrick (1924)

FS32.F91 The Declaration of Independence, by Herbert Friedenwald; an interpretation and an analysis (1904)

FS3971.01 A Hidden Phase of American History; Ireland's part in America's struggle for liberty, by Michael J. O'Brien (1919)

YP.R21 b Ballads and other poems (containing ballads of the Revolution), by Geo. Lansing Raymond (originally printed 1886)

EB193.B The Revolutionary Journal of Col. Jeduthan Baldwin 1775-78: ed. with a memoir and notes, by Thos. Wm. Baldwin (1906)

Panama City Has Much to Interest Tourists

Although Panama is one of the most ancient cities in the New world, it is to the United States that it owes much of its present prestige and wealth. After the fall of the Inca kingdoms and the draining of their great stores of gold and other wealth, the sacking of the old city by pirates, and the decline of Spanish sea power, Panama went into a partial eclipse.

Panama perpetrates one of the greatest of geographic jokes on those who visit it. From the sea wall promenade one can see the sun rise majestically from the broad blue bosom of the Pacific, which to most Americans is the proper place only for a setting sun. And when one sails from Panama city to Colon, the Atlantic terminal of the canal, the direction is from southeast to northwest, instead of from west to east, as might reasonably be expected.

Although the present city of Panama dates from the Seventeenth century, it is considered historically the new city to distinguish it from old Panama, now in ruins, a few miles to the east. Old Panama was entirely destroyed by the notorious pirate, Henry Morgan.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Ocean's Waters Teem With Dangerous Fish

A fish that has a very bad name in West Indian waters is the barracouta. It is shaped like a torpedo and is blue-black above and gray below. It is feared by negroes more than the shark. A girl swimmer not long ago was killed by one of these creatures.

What is probably the most dangerous of all fish is, however, the pirai, common in South American rivers, especially in tributaries of the Orinoco. It is not large, but it travels in shoals and has fearful teeth and a passion for blood.

A fish called the long-guard and found in the seas off Central America, has the queer habit of leaping from water and skimming like a flying fish at great speed. It has a long, sharp snout. There are several cases of these fish having pierced the sails of fishing boats exactly as if pierced by a large arrow. Their long snouts are very firm and sharp. Some years ago a boy, while fishing off Cross Caye, was killed by a long-guard which struck him in the chest.

Communists and Cake

Communist newspapers comment humorously on the predicament of an enthusiastic member of the party. This Communist's wife started to bake the usual cake for a church holiday. He explained that as he did not observe such days a cake was unnecessary. The wife insisted, and he finally agreed that the cake be baked, but specified that it be different in shape from the ordinary. The wife replied that a cake of any other shape would be foolish and began to cry. The Communist became angry, declared that he was the head of the family and forbade his wife to bake the cake. Then he recalled that in a Communist family husband and wife are equal, and that he could not give orders. So, ask some Communist writers, what can a loyal Communist do if he wants peace at home, especially if he likes cake?

Hold-Up and a Runaway

"It was before the time of automobiles," writes C. C. S., relating a reminiscence in Capper's Weekly. "I was driving a span of mustangs that had been trained to start at the lifting of a hand instead of the usual 'giddap!' I was returning from a neighboring town through a stretch of woods when two men appeared on each side of the road and ordered me to 'stick 'em up.' I responded instantly, so did the ponies. As my hands shot up, the team sprang forward and before the robbers could get into action we were going lickety-split over the corduroy road. The ponies ran nearly a mile before I could get hold of the lines and get them under control. . . . Banditry was not so uncommon even in the old days."

Loons Not Lunatics

To most of us the expression "crazy as a loon" is quite familiar, but loons are not lunatics and so far as we know they never become insane.

There are three species of loons in northeastern North America; the black-throated, the red-throated and the great northern diver which is called plain loon.

Their call is of loud, clear, quavering tones sliding through a number of notes—"a sort of weird laughter." It may be expressed as "wah-hoo-o-o." Heard on a dark night in the stillness of the North woods it not only startles but alarms. The expression "crazy as a loon" undoubtedly has its origin in the maniacal laugh of this bird.

American Boundary Lines

The boundary line between North and Central America is a very irregular one, separating Mexico from Guatemala and British Honduras. It follows the Hondo river from the Caribbean sea, then west near the 18 degree north line of latitude, then south to the sixteenth line of latitude, then southwest to the Pacific. The boundary line between Central and South America is much simpler and shorter, dividing the republic of Panama from the republic of Colombia. It runs irregularly from the northeast at Cape Tiburon to the southwest at Cocalita point.

NEW EDISON RATE

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston has established a new rate effective July 1 for residence and apartment users of electric refrigeration, in connection with all other household uses of electric service.

The rate is known as the "Domestic Refrigeration and Cooking Rate B", and is available for lighting and all other domestic uses in private dwellings or apartments where all the electric service is taken under this rate, and where the connected load includes either an electric range or an electric refrigerator.

It differs from the present rate in that all of the residence use may be measured by one meter, and after a certain use at 8½c per kilowatt hour, lower rates become effective, the size of the blocks charged for at the several rates being determined by the floor area.

It has been found that many users of Boston Edison service living in apartments, duplex, and other forms of private residences, would install electric refrigerators if they could have the advantage of the company's rate for this service, but the expense of running an additional service cable to a separate motor for refrigeration has been prohibitive in many cases. The average house or apartment, has however, ample wiring for lighting and refrigeration on a single meter. This new rate avoids the necessity of installing such separate metering and wiring to obtain the lower rates, and makes the cost for refrigeration and other domestic uses comparable with the company's rates which require separate meters and circuits.

KIWANIS CLUB

The Kiwanis Club of Newton held their weekly meeting as usual at Auburndale Club on Tuesday, June 29th, at 12:15 P. M. and 48 members attended including three guests.

After lunch and several musical numbers, the following members gave two minute talks. Hughie Fogwill, Larry Frederick, Tom Lyons, Bob Vachon, Tom Hickey, Al Steffens, Les Woodman and President Frank Wilcox. From the frequent clanging of the bell, the well prepared speeches were cut short as two minutes was the limit—much amusement and laughter ADD KIWANIS irrlM ywve laI-Pg .. was enjoyed by all. "U'ie" Fogwill did not say a thing in the two minutes he spoke. It took him all that time to begin his introduction. Larry Fredericks read a piece written by a sailor from Sailor's Haven. Tom Lyons in the two minutes allotted to him told of all the troubles endured by undertakers. Joe Coppinger praised Needham Post, American Legion, for securing gas for that town. It is fuel gas, not mustard. Bob Vachon told of his plans to build the new city hall on the triangle site. Tom Hickey and Frank Wilcox told of funny situations the other fellow had been in while with the A. E. F. in France. A. J. Steffens said he skidded on speech, but he managed to tell much about the Malden Kiwanis Club. Leslie Woodman spoke on the trials encountered in delivering newspapers. Frank Pope distributed tickets for the Kiwanis Outing of Division 5 Clubs to be held at Suntaug Inn, Lynnfield, Mass., on Wednesday, July 14, 1926, to which members, ladies and friends are invited.

Joe Coppinger won the attendance prize which was presented by Bill Skelton.

THREE-DAY CARNIVAL

The Three-Day Carnival of the Odd Fellows Building Association was brought to a successful conclusion at Midnight, June 26th. Thousands of people attended during the three days drawn by the McAndrews Side Show and the Waterless Dive of Jack Hoyt. The many booths and attractions were very generously patronized and the expressions of pleasure and enjoyment were universal. The inclement weather of Saturday afternoon was the only unpleasant feature of the entire three days and it will be a long time before the pleasant memories of the three days are erased from the minds of the people who attended. As a fitting close to the three days that brought back memories of the old time single tent circus to the older folks the following prizes were awarded.

A Hope Chest filled with all those things dear to a woman's heart was given to Mrs. Robert Patterson of 42 Ripley street, Newton Centre.

A Murdock Multi-tube complete to Mr. D. Cavanaugh of 31 Middle street, Newton.

An Electric Floor Lamp to Mr. Otto Raymond of 856 Oxford avenue, Cambridge.

A Barrel of Flour to Mr. C. I. Bucknam of West Newton.

100 lbs of Sugar to Mrs. Emma Westover of 50 Jefferson street, Newton.

THE TIE THAT BINDS

O, some may long for the soothing touch
Of lavender, cream or mauve,
But the ties I wear must possess the glare
Of a red-hot kitchen stove.
The books I read and the life I lead
Are sensible, sane and mild.
I like calm hats and I don't wear spats,
But I want my neckties wild!

Give me a wild tie, brother,
One with a cosmic urge!
A tie that will swear
And rip and tear
When it sees my old blue serge.

O, some will say that a gent's cravat
Should only be seen, not heard,
But I want a tie that will make men cry
And render their vision blurred.
I yearn, I long, for a tie so strong
It will take two men to tie it.
If such there be, just show it to me—
Whatever the price, I'll buy it!

Give me a wild tie, brother,
One with a lot of sins,
A tie that will blaze
In a hectic haze
Down where the vest begins.

ITALIAN RESIDENTS DEDICATE BUILDING

Sunday afternoon, Columbus Building, at the corner of Adams and Watertown streets, Nonantum, was dedicated by the Columbus Realty Corporation, owners of the new structure. The members of this organization include a number of well known Italian residents of Nonantum who organized to provide for that district a hall that would provide suitable accomodations for the social and fraternal needs of Nonantum. Several hundreds of persons were present when Dr. Alfred Amendola, in opening the exercises, as Chairman, outlined the purposes for which the building was erected. Amato Pescosolido was then introduced as the man who had borne the brunt of the work. He spoke in a laudatory manner of the co-operation manifested by the people of Nonantum in making the project a success.

Mayor Childs was then presented to the assemblage and received a rousing reception. Mr. Childs compared the construction of the building to the upbuilding of this country. He urged his auditors to be faithful in their obligations to the country and to the city and to obey our laws. He advised them to attend school and church, and to realize that no matter how humble may be one's position in life, that each and all fit into the economic and social fabric of this country, and though inconspicuous, are nevertheless of import. Others who spoke were Street Commissioner Stuart, Chief of Police Burke, Aldermen Earle, Madden and O'Connell, John Finelli and Mr. E. Pescosolido of Providence.

Vocal selections were given by Miss Cacciatora of Waltham, Miss O'Riordan, Joseph Antonelli, Mr. Profito and the Garden City Trio. Rev. Raimondo Bellatora, and Miss McLaughlin served as accompanists. Violin selections were played by Master Bronosky.

CHAGNON—REYNOLDS

Announcement was made this week of the marriage on June 1st of Miss Edna Reynolds, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Reynolds of Auburndale to Mr. Wilfred Chagnon, manager of the Hubbard Drug Company on Centre street, Newton. The young couple went to New York City and were married at the Little Church Around the Corner quietly and it was several weeks before the marriage became known to their many Newton friends.

Mr. Chagnon is a member of Newton Lodge of Elks and of the Kiwanis Club of Newton. He is a graduate of a New ork dental school, and of the Columbia College of Pharmacy of New York City. Prior to coming to Newton several years ago Mr. Chagnon was, for three and a half years, manger of the world's busiest drugstore, the Times Square Drug Company, at the corner of Broadway and 42nd St.

Mr. and Mrs. Chagnon will reside at 21 Hibbard road, Newton, where they will be at home after Sept. 1st.

VOL. LIV.—NO. 44 NEWTON, MASS., FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1926. TERMS, $3.00 A YEAR

LEAVES ON TOUR

Rev. Earl Enyeart Harper, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, Auburndale, leaves Monday, July 12, for an extended western tour as a lecturer and conductor of worship at several conferences. He will spend one week at the Des Plaines, Ill., Camp Meeting, incidentally conducting there a special concert by an ensemble of the Methodist Choirs of Chicago, three days at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., lecturing to the National Church Music Convention there, and ten days at the Epworth Assembly, Lincoln, Neb., where, with the assistance of Mrs. (Clara Lieber) Harper he will institute an entire new department of Church Music and Worship. In addition to these engagements Mr. Harper will preach or lecture at Oak Park, Ill., in his father's church at Hopkins, Mo., and at Trinity M. E. Church in Lincoln, Nebraska. Mrs. Harper and the children, Hugh Philip and Shirley Ann will go direct to Mrs. Harper's home near Omaha, Neb., there to await the engagement at Epworth Assembly while visiting. As a result of Dr. J. Edgar Parks' resignation as professor of the Theory of Worship at Boston University School of Theology, pursuant to his election as president of Wheaton College, Mr. Harper has been made instructor in a general course in Church Music and Worship at the Boston school. In many respects this will be a unique and original course in theological instruction of young ministers.

KIWANIS CLUB

Thirty-five members attended the weekly meeting on Tuesday at the Auburndale Club. Kiwanian Frank Harrell entertained the members by making some "rag pictures." Walter Moore talked for 10 minutes and succeeded in not saying anything. "Tom" Burns, just returned from his honeymoon, told of Bermuda; "Tom" explained that while tourists furnish Bermuda with most of its income, onions and lilies are prolific sources of revenue. This newlywed was presented by the club with a large mirror. William Uriah Fogwill made a fervent plea "to trade in Newton." President Frank Wilcox spoke on the outting which will be held next Wednesday at Suntaug by the Kiwanis Clubs of this district. The Newton Kiwanians are also to travel to Camp Devens on "Governor's Day," as the guests of Captain Tom Hickey of Company C. The attendance prize, presented by Joe Coppinger, was awarded to J. Edward Callanan.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

George Lambie of Gordon terrace, Newton, one of the best-known soccer referees in this country, has severed his connection with refereeing in order to become president of the Scottish Clan League. Mr. Lambie has just finished a year as president of the United States Soccer Referees' Association and this permitted him to be a candidate for the position to which he was chosen at a meeting on Wednesday night when the league decided on the officers for the coming season. His election has awakened wide enthusiasm among soccer players and fans and his career as a legislator will be watched with interest.

Prospects for the league are better than ever and it should have a successful season under the leadership of Mr. Lambie. He and his associates are going to make a canvass of all the Clans in this part of the state with the aim of interesting them in soccer.

Y. M. C. A.

Over 100 boys are now enjoying themselves at Camp Frank A. Day. A very glorious time was celebrated over the 4th of July. A certain time was set apart on Monday when the boys were allowed to fire off their supply of fire-crackers, caps, and so forth. In the evening a display of fireworks from the raft was very effective.

The boys who leave today for the camp are: Jesse Heath of Natick, Jefferson Farmer of Watertown, and Allan Mitchell of Newton Highlands. These boys will spend the remainder of the summer at the camp.

A Summer Club has been formed at the Y. M. C. A. for the junior members. This Club is for boys who plan to spend the most of their summer vacation at home. Three days each week class work is held in reed work, nature study, and the making of toys from tin cans. Other activities enjoyed by the boys are educational trips, foot hikes, bicycle hikes, trips to Braves Field games, trips to the beaches, and social get-togethers and entertainments.

On Wednesday, July 7th, the boys enjoyed a social. An extra swim was enjoyed at seven o'clock, after which "movies" were shown. Ice cream was served.

Every afternoon during the summer the members of the junior department go in for a plunge in the pool at three o'clock. Members are allowed to bring their friends upon the payment of a small fee.

ABOUT TOWN

A "good thing" can be abused. It is a "good thing" that respect is shown to the flag of our country. But, the present fad of using a cluster of small flags to decorate hoods of automobiles is far from honoring the nation emblem. The little flags soon become tattered and dirty. This new custom is lowering the dignity of the flag and should be speedily discontinued. One woman writing to the Boston Herald aptly said, "Our flag is an emblem, not an ornament."

It is also a "good thing" for business houses and residences to display United States flags on holidays. Incidentally, the enterprising young men who recently sold a large number of flag outfits in this city at $9.75 each, made a "good thing." Perhaps they gave their customers instructions regarding the rules governing the use of the flag. If so, many of those who bought these flags are not conforming to these rules. Since the "flagways," so called, have been established in Newton, it has been a common sight to see many of the flags allowed to remain on the sidewalks over night, instead of being taken in at sundown.

The French are going so far in their efforts to make the United States cancel the war debts, that they are holding a parade and demonstration in Paris to show contempt and scorn for this country. According to the press, a few alleged Americans are to participate in this insulting manifestation against their country.

When Viviani and Joffre journeyed to Washington to persuade President Wilson and his colleagues to abandon our policy of neutrality and to render immediate aid both in money and men to save France from Germany, our erstwhile allies indulged in supplication, not imprecation. The United States and its citizens received unstinted praise from the people of the French Republic from the time we went to their assistance until the close of the war. But, hardly had the armistice been signed, before the French, both officially and as individuals, began to argue that their debts to us should be cancelled. England, though sorely pressed for finances, showed an inclination to honorably liquidate its obligations to this country. France, while pleading poverty, could loan millions to Poland, Turkey and other nations for military purposes. She could spend other millions in attempted conquests of Africa and Syria. But she can't pay this country. Americans are not Shylocks, as asserted by the French. If France would have but shown some disposition to pay her debts to us, had she made evident the same spirit manifested by England, she would find this country more than willing to meet her at least half-way.

NEWTON WOMEN ELECTED

At the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the General Society of the Daughters of the Revolution at Philadelphia the first of this week, Mrs. Adelbert Fernald of Elmhurst road, and Mrs. Edson J. Gould of Washington street, Newton, members of Sarah Hull Chapter, polled the largest vote cast in the election of officers, each receiving 198 votes.

Mrs. Fernald was elected second vice-president general, and Mrs. Gould was elected to the board of managers. Mrs. Fernald, Mrs. Gould and two other Massachusetts delegates from Newton, Mrs. Walter C. Whitney and Miss A. Gertrude Ensign attended the convention held at the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford. Most of the Massachusetts delegates were cast as Revolutionary heroines in an historical pageant Saturday evening at a reception tendered by the Pennsylvania State Society. On Sunday they attended the dedication of the peace chimes at Valley Forge. Mrs. Fernald and Mrs. Fitz heading a procession which presented bells for dedication. Following the presentation of the Massachusetts bell they placed a wreath given by the state society on a monument erected twenty-one years ago by the general society to the heroic dead at Valley Forge.

LEAVES LARGE ESTATE

Under the will of the late Franklin Estabrook of Auburndale, public institutions and his employes are generously remembered. Mr. Estabrook, who was a member of the firm of R. Estabrook's Sons, Boston Iron Founders, died June 29th, and left an estate estimated at $185,000.

Public bequests in the will which was filed for probate this week in Middlesex Court include $500 each to the Florence Crittenden League of Compassion, Boston; Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People; First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, and the M. S. P. C. C.; $300 each to the Boston New England Mission, John Howard Industrial Home, Boston, and New England Kurn Hattin Homes, Bellows Falls, Vt., and $200 to the City Missionary Society, Boston.

A number of the employees of the firm were left $1000 each, others $250 and $200 each.

CLOSE RACE

The first half of the Newton Twilight League Baseball League comes to an end with tonight's games unless a playoff of a tie becomes necessary. The Earnshaw Mills team and The Newton Pals are tied each with nine games won and four lost. Tonight the Earnshaw plays the Newton Catholic Club at Victory Field, and the Pals go over to the Highlands Playground to meet the Highland A. A. Should both the Pals and Earnshaw win, or should both lose, the tie will still be unbroken, but if one loses and the other team wins, that team will win the first half.

The second half of the season will be started Monday evening when the Earnshaw plays the W. N. A. C. on the West Newton Common. At the end of the second half the winners of each will meet in a city series for the city championship. The victor in this series will also win a leg on the Graphic Cup, which will become the property of the first three-time winner of the city championship.

The first half of the season has been a decided success, and there are several other teams asking admission into the league for the second division. It is doubtful whether it will be possible to enlarge the League this summer but another year it will most likely be extended to twelve teams with two six team divisions.

The attendance at the games has been very gratifying, and if this continues it will not only help to make the league a success but it will tend to provide the spectators with an even better brand of ball than is now being played. Any of the League teams at present are capable of putting up a good game with any amateur organizations in the state.

One feature of the race in the first half is the fact that not a single game was cancelled for lack of having a team on the field. Every team was ready when the game was called.

POLICE NEWS

Harold H. Barry of 95 Gainsboro street, Boston, was in court Thursday charged with speeding and driving without the registry of the car in his possession. Both charges were placed on file.

Several autoists were in court Wednesday charged with violations of automobile laws. Frank Leach of Winthrop, accused of speeding, had his case continued to July 14. Clifford Boudrot of Taffe avenue, West Newton, and Khorain Kolligan of Somerville were fined $10 each for being in too much of a hurry. Arthur Bramen of Brookline was in a bigger hurry. He was assessed $20. William Bianchi of Quirk Court, Newton, was fined $25 for refusing to stop when ordered to do so by an officer. John Gilmartin of Medford, for parking at night without lights, paid $5.

Wednesday morning at 2.10, Patrolman Gaquin took into custody at Newton Arthur Whitney, 15, of Somerville, as a runaway. It was later learned that the boy was wanted by the Somerville police for the larceny of $500.

MRS. AMY E. TOBEY

Mrs. Amy Estelle Tobey, widow of Gustavus B. Tobey, died on Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Giberson, 48 Oxford road, Newton Centre. She was born in Cambridge 92 years ago, the daughter of the late Henry V. and Louise Chapouil Spurr. She is survived by her daughter, two grandchildren, Robert T. and Howard S. Giberson, a brother and two sisters. Mrs. Tobey spent much of her life in Brooklyn, New York, moving to Newton three years ago. Her funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4.30 at her late residence, and will be conducted by Rev. E. M. Noyes. Burial will be at Sandwich, Massachusetts, the girlhood home of the deceased.

CHARLES W. SWEETLAND

Charles W. Sweetland, a resident of Newton for 61 years, died July 1st at his late residence, 92 Webster Park, West Newton. He was born 87 years ago at Rochester, New York, and during the Civil War served with the Engineering Corps. He had been prominently identified with the G. A. R. He had been engaged for many years in the silverware business at Boston. His funeral services were held Sunday, Rev. J. E. Park officiating. Burial was in Newton Cemetery. Mr. Sweetland is survived by one son, August Sweetland of West Newton.

ASSOCIATION FORMED

The Auburndale Parents Association was organized at a largely attended meeting of parents held last week at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Burton on Vista avenue. The Association is governed by an Executive Committee consisting of Mrs. Frank V. Burton, chairman; Mrs. Alfred D. Becker, secretary; Mr. Ernest Braithwaite, treasurer, Mr. Charles B. Floyd and Mr. G. H. Roehrig.

This Association is the outgrowth of a movement on the part of the parents of Auburndale to secure a playground in connection with Williams School on Hancock street, which is the only Newton public school now without one. A petition signed by about three hundred parents was forwarded to the Common Council setting forth the urgent need for playground facilities in this rapidly growing section of the city. At the present time, the only playground in Auburndale is Forest Grove on the Charles river about half a mile north of Commonwealth avenue, whereas Williams School is a considerable distance to the south of that thoroughfare. Furthermore, Forest Grove is not suitable for small children and Williams School has only first to sixth grade classes.

Director Hermann has prepared a plan in conformity with the standards of the Newton Playground Commission whereby, out of school hours, there will be supervised play for girls up to thirteen years of age and boys up to eight. Games are limited to such as are beneficial to children of these ages. For instance, no hard ball such as a baseball is permitted. Experience has shown that an unsupervised playground is frequently a nuisance in a community, whereas a supervised playground is a real estate asset. Families seek residence near one in order that their children may have the advantages and benefits of supervised recreation. It is the policy of the Newton Playground Commission to have only supervised playgrounds.

The Auburndale Parents Association will interest itself in all matters affecting the welfare of the children of the village and will also co-operate with the Educational Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club in such matters as they undertake pertaining to children of school age.

PLANNING OUTING

The Newton Corner business men are planning to hold their annual summer outing this year on Wednesday, July 21st, at the Pine Grove Inn, Marlboro, Mass., which formerly was known as the Black and White Club.

A meeting of the Newton Corner business men was held last week in the directors' room of the Newton Trust Company with Harold Moore, chairman, George Campbell, treasurer, and Raymond E. Williams, secretary. A general committee was elected as follows: John T. Burns, of John T. Burns & Sons., Inc., Charles Johnston of the Suburban Motor Car Co., Richard Dwyer of the Garden City Garage, Henry Rollins of the Rollins Candy Shop, Stanley Sumner of the Community Theatre, Frank Wilcox of the Basley Lumber Co., Bernard Burke of Hudson's Drug Store, Frank Fell, of Fell Bros., Walter Moore of Moore and Moore, Edgar Burkhardt of Edmands and Byfield, Lawrence Fredericks of the Newton Glass Co., Frank Perry, Hugh Boyd, Wilfred Chagnon of Hubbard Drug, Inc., William Cahill of the Newton Trust Co., and Warren K. Brimblecom of the Newton Graphic.

The business men will assemble at some point near Nonantum Square to be announced later at one o'clock on the 21st. Arriving at the Pine Grove Inn they will be introduced to a chicken and lobster dinner of magnificent proportions. After the dinner there will be a ball game, golf for those who prefer, athletic events of various kinds and swimming.

Monday evening, July 12th, a meeting will be held in the director's room of the Trust Company at 8 o'clock when final arrangements will be completed. Further details of the outing will be announced next week.

ABOUT TOWN

Fourth of July is not what it used to be. Fortunately so. In the "good old days" there were no "boy bandits" travelling about robbing and killing. But the boys of that time were not all angels. Some of them had a desire to act "real devilish" on occasions, and the night before the Fourth of July was the particular occasion when the "hard boiled" youths tried to be real mischievous Street signs would be pulled up and transferred, fence gates would be removed and thrown into some adjoining yard, old unused sheds and barns burned. The climax came when several cows had their tails bobbed. When it seemed that vandalism was becoming confused with patriotism, former Mayor Henry E. Bothfeld issued orders to the police to put the lid on any celebrating during the "night before the 4th." Mayor Bothfeld was severely criticized by the boys of the city, but his action met with the approval of the older folks, and time has proven that he was right. Other cities and towns adopted the "safe and sane Fourth" idea, restrictions were placed on the manufacture and sale of dangerous explosives, formerly used on this holiday, and the list of deaths and injuries caused by the observance of July 4th, rapidly dwindled.

City officials should be more strict in the granting of permits to sell fireworks. In different parts of the city a number of small shacks are erected each year for the sale of fireworks and small explosives. Some of these places are presided over by young boys. These are not fit persons to be entrusted with the sale of fireworks. There are enough merchants in the city, willing to sell fireworks, without granting permits to amateur, immature retailers.

Friday evening as we drove along River street, West Newton, we observed on either corner of River street and Magne avenue (the avenue being about 15 feet wide) a shack where fireworks were being sold. The party in charge of one shack was a boy. The sales person at the other shack at that moment was not visible. Outside one shack was a young boy engaged in the playful, if somewhat dangerous, pastime of hurling lighted firecrackers at another juvenile on the opposite side of River street.

The preceding paragraphs anent fireworks were written Friday last. The next evening, Saturday, July 3rd, we met a well-known resident of River street, who started to complain about the shacks erected near his home for the sale of fireworks. He objected to the presence of these shacks for two reasons:—they were conducive to much extra noise in his neighborhood, and as this district is a general residence zone, he could not see why permits should have been granted for the erection of buildings for business purposes there. He had telephoned the Chief of the Fire Department and the Building Commissioner to protest against the erection of the shacks and the sale of the fireworks. Permits must be granted by these two officials before such structures can be erected for the conduct of such a business. The Chief expressed his regret that the granting of the permits had caused annoyance to any of the neighbors. Then the protestant held converse over the wires with the Building Commissioner and a difference of opinions ensued. The objecting citizen contended that the permits had been granted in violation of the Zoning Law; the Commissioner asserted he had acted within his rights.

We agreed with the River street resident that it appeared irregular to allow any strucutre to be erected in a residential zone for the conduct of a business, and to obtain further information on this matter, we journeyed to the office of the Building Department. The Commissioner was out, so we examined a copy of the Zoning Laws, and this is what we found, on page 229, Section 563:—

"The public buildings commissioner, with the written approval of the Mayor, may grant conditional permits, for a period of not more than one year and subject to a single renewal, for temporary buildings and uses which do not conform to the regulations of the district. Such permits shall be made subject to such conditions as will safeguard the character of the neighborhood."

It would seem that the above section provides the Building Commissioner with the necessary authority to grant permits for such shacks as were built on River street. It must also be assumed that when such permits are granted that the Commissioner decides that the character of the neighborhood wherein they are granted is such, that the peace of mind of nearby residents will not be disturbed. We infer, therefore, that before a permit is granted to erect, in any residential zone, a shack in which to sell fireworks, the Commissioner and the Mayor conclude—that the district is noisy, or the residents thereof are so patriotic, that listening to the incessant explosions of firecrackers, torpedoes and other similar devices, for several days prior to July 4th, will produce cumulative pleasure.

We have sufficient confidence in our present Mayor and Building Commissioner to believe that if they realize such permits cause annoyance to a neighborhood, they will not be renewed. But we also believe Section 563 should undergo a radical change. In its present form it allows altogether too great an opening through the protective walls of our Zoning Ordinance. While it may be improbable, it is quite possible that at some future time this city might have a Mayor and Building Commissioner whose esthetic taste might be so inferior, that they could see no harm in granting permits for a year or more for the erection in some attractive residential zone, of a building and the use thereof, which would not safeguard the character of the neighborhood.

Since the electric car lines were established in this city, Newton letter carriers have had the privilege of riding free while in uniform. The street railway company received a certain amount from the Postoffice Department which compensated in part for the use of its cars by the postmen while they were on duty. Recently this payment was stopped and the postal officials now provide tickets to certain carriers whose routes start or finish a considerable distance from postoffices. The privilege of riding free has been withdrawn from the letter carriers. It seems incongruous that of the three classes of public employees heretofore allowed to ride free on the cars of the M. & B., the privilege should be lost by the men who do by far the most walking while engaged in their occupation, and who, when not in uniform, always paid their fares.

Leon Lamb, literary linotyper of the Graphic Press, accused us of being a "road mope" after he read our statement that we had been driving an auto over the Centre Place bridge at a speed of 12 miles an hour. "Don't you know," said Leon in that controversial tone of his, "that a road mope is as dangerous on the highways as a speeder?" "Leon!" we replied, "A road mope is worse than a speeder. Don't accuse us of being a road mope. When we drive our vibrating vehicle along the open roads, we open up the throttle until the wobbling wheels of our 'universal car' rotate as fast as the law allows; provided that at that moment the engine of the car is working properly. But, when we drive across one of the bridges over the B. & A., with its high, closed sides, we proceed cautiously."

Speeders are a menace on the highways. They are frequently brought into the courts, and fined. This is as it should be. But, if anything is exasperating, it is to drive along some main highway on a Saturday or Sunday, or on any day, and be one of a long line held up by some supercautious autoist whose car is creeping. Such over-careful drivers cause impatient autoists to attempt to pass the line; and accidents result. The road mope should stay off state roads on days when the traffic is particularly heavy.

"Bill" Mahoney, who plays the piano every morning at WEAF, when thousands of persons take their "daily dozen," was in town over the holidays, visiting relatives. Bill was accompanied by his mother, a former resident of this city. Arising early every morning to start playing a piano at 6.45, should help to keep one fit. "Bill" is in fine condition, even though he weighs considerably over 200.

Letters of a Self-Made Diplomat to His President

A Collection of the Intimate Papers and Letters That is Changing Hands During These Perilous Times of Peace Between Our President and His Ambassador—Without Portfolio—Will Rogers.

AUTHOR'S NOTE—The author has allowed the President to receive all the glory and has kept himself and his achievements in the background.

This is unique in Memoirs or Autobiographies. I am publishing what was done and said while all the Parties concerned in these narratives are alive. I could have waited a few years till some of the actors who stalked across the stage in this great drama of human events were dead. But I said No. These are facts, and if there is a man who dares to dispute them, let him rare up on his hind legs and proclaim it himself.

Thus starts the first of a series of articles in which Col. William Rogers—as he calls himself—reports confidentially to the President, via the pages of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST, on Europe, its problems, its people, its personages, and its peace-pains. Two laughs to each line—and more good common sense in each paragraph than in many statesmen's entire speeches. Begin it today in THE SATURDAY EVENING POST—now on sale—Five Cents.

IT PROBABLY NEVER HAPPENED

By Nunnally Johnson

Dr. Melrose may have thought that little Miss Joyce was a trifle hazy as to the exact symptoms of thyroid inefficiency—but give her a bit of moonlight, and a chance to use her big blue eyes, and the Doctor was fated to find himself as helpless as a babe, and as happy as a king.

THE ROLL OF HONOR

By Arthur Train

Some of Mr. Tutt's clients have drifted to him from strange back-waters of life—but never before did he catch a client in a mountain trout stream. And never before did he plead so splendidly as in that night-long vigil when he taught two young hearts that the right to happiness lay solely in the role of honor.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

SPORT NOTES

The Newton All-Stars were defeated Monday afternoon by the Manchester Town Team at Manchester, Mass., 14 to 8. The home team batters found the Newton pitchers, Dennigan and Cook, for thirteen hits, scoring ten runs in the first three frames.

Phil Perry, swimming from scratch, captured third place in the 100-yard backstroke handicap swim at the swimming meet held Monday in the Boylston street reservoir under the auspices of the Town of Brookline. At Portsmouth, N. H., last Saturday, the former captain of the Newton High School mermen took second place in the second heat of the N. E. A. A. U. championship 220-yard backstroke swim, but failed to place in the finals.

Ed. Wilson of the B. A. A. placed second in the mile walk at the City of Boston games on the Charlesbank Monday.

Bill Seeley won the six-mile road race at Waltham Monday evening. The start of the race was delayed until nearly eight o'clock because Frank McGrath, official handicapper of the N. E. A. A. U. and one of the men in charge of the race, objected to the handicaps given by the local officials. Seeley, running from scratch, won the race which started at the Waltham Common to Watertown, Newton and back to the starting point, in 40 minutes and 45 seconds.

Miss Harriet Ellison's "Ace" placed third in the race for 15-foot knockabouts at the second regular races at the Duxbury Yacht Club on Saturday. The "Harriet," sailed by William Ellison, placed sixth.

John G. Anderson, formerly of West Newton, won the French Amateur golf championship Tuesday afternoon at Paris, France. In repeating his feat of 1924 he defeated another American, W. L. Richard, 10 up and 9 to play. His opponent's game went completely to pieces under his steady playing. By the end of the forenoon round Anderson was eleven up and only dropped one hole in the afternoon round.

The Newton Pals went down to an 8 to 3 defeat at the hands of the Mattapan Town Team Monday afternoon at Franklin Field. Barrish, pitching for the home nine, twirled steady ball and cut short a ninth-inning rally with an unassisted double play. The Pals only made seven hits, of which Bennie Lyman gathered three in four times at bat.

Jakey Pass let the Earnshaw Mills down with but one hit in an eight inning Twi-league game at Victory Field Tuesday night and the Pals obtained a 2 to 0 verdict. As a result of the win the Pals went into a first place tie in the league standing for a short time.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

The Newton Archers who went to the Eastern Archery Association tournament at Deerfield last week, brought home many honors. Dr. Paul W. Crouch of Newton Centre won the men's York Round Championship, breaking the York Round Record. He was closely contested by W. A. Palmer, Jr., of Wayne, Pa. Miss Dorothy D. Smith of Newton Centre won the National Round Championship and the Columbia Round Championship. Miss Ives of Roslindale came next to her. Range medals were won by Miss Eleanor True of Waban (40-yard Range medal), and Mrs. Burton Payne Gray of Newton Centre (30-yard Range medal). Mrs. Gray also won a book on Archery in a special shoot of 18 arrows, trying to hit only the white on the target. This prize was given by the ladies of the Newton Archers. Miss Dorothy Smith won the clout and novelty shoots and Dr. Crouch won the novelty shoot for the men.

At the banquet and business meeting on Saturday evening Miss Ruth Brewer of Newton Centre, the secretary treasurer for five years, was presented with a beautiful gold mesh bag. In it was $15 in gold and a handkerchief. This was presented for loving service and "hours of sacrifice." Miss Brewer is re-elected secretary-treasurer for another year.

CARD

Daniel Leonie of 160 Chapel street was arrested Sunday evening by Patrolmen McDonough and Loughlin, charged with accosting a person of the opposite sex. He was fined $25 in court on Tuesday.

A rather boisterous party motored from Cambridge to West Newton in the wee hours of Monday. One of them, Patsy Micheli, was arrested by Officer Green for profanity. He was fined $10 Tuesday.

Three boys from Roxbury were arrested by Officer Doherty on Monday night for the attempted larceny of an auto. They will be in court Friday.

John Fanning of Curve street was arrested just after midnight July 4 by Officer Green, charged with driving "wutiol." Fanning's auto collided with a M. & B. electric car at the corner of River and Elm streets, and was badly damaged. Four Natick men who were riding with Fanning were slightly injured and were taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment. Fanning will be tried July 16.

John Manning of 283 Walnut street, Wellesley, was arrested early Monday morning by Officer Michael Mooney for ringing a false alarm. Mooney was standing on the Newton side of the bridge when he heard the sound of the glass being broken on the alarm box on the Wellesley side. He rushed over and caught Manning, who was turned over to the Wellesley police.

Chief John Milmore of the Watertown police has sent a letter of thanks to Chief Burke for the assistance rendered by members of the Newton police at the fire which destroyed the soap factory of Warren Bros.

Escaped Being a Freak.

From a story: "Her f. e was long, with a square chin at the bottom." One is appalled to think what she would have been like if her square chin happened to be in the middle of her face.—Boston Evening Transcript.

HIKING HINDUS HALTED

Sunday aftrnoon the Newton police received a telephone message from the Newton railroad station that four rough appearing characters had been observed walking west along the railroad tracks. The police auto was sent out, the quartet intercepted near the Harvard street bridge, and brought to police headquarters. They were strange, both as to features and attire and apparently not one of them could speak or understand a word of English. They had the police at headquarters flabbergasted until they were escorted into Captain Mullen's office. The captain at once recognized the group as Lascar sailors and he started communications with the Boston Harbor Police to ascertain if any boat from India was in Boston harbor.

Meanwhile, the four "dangerous characters" made themselves comfortable in the office. They weighed about 110 pounds each, two squeezed into one chair, a third had plenty of room by himself in the other spare chair, the fourth squatted Hindu fashion on the floor. One of the Lascars displayed a slight knowledge of English. He cutely tried to give the impression he and his companions had been travelling towards, rather than away from Boston. He mentioned Newark, New Jersey as their destination. Although the four professed to not understand a word when asked regarding the ship they belonged to, they perked up when grub was mentioned and made it apparent they were very hungry and fatigued. After much telephoning, it was learned that they had taken French leave from the steamship Halizones, from India, docked at East Boston. It is supposed they rode on a freight train from the East Boston yards to Allston, and from that place started to meander towards the West. They were natives of Bombay and as near as the Newton police could make out, their names are Fruzatti Pierogadi, Wadid Pierogadi, Herma Ula and Gabin Ula. A master at arms came from the Halizones to take the A. W. O. L. Lascars back to that boat.

DUDGEON-HILLER

Miss Alice Crosby Hiller of Sagamore, Mass., and Mr. Stuart Redmond Dudgeon of Fairhaven were married at noon on Tuesday, July 6th, at the St. John's Church, Newtonville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Raymond Lang, who was a fraternity brother of the groom at Bowdoin College.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Dudgeon, and the best man Mr. Harold Dudgeon, brother of the groom.

The bride wore a gown of beige georgette and carried a boquet of sweet peas.

A reception was held at Fairhaven, Mass., after the ceremony.

TWO WOMEN ON THE BEACH

Two women were lolling upon the warm sand of a Cape beach one afternoon last summer.

"Such a vacation day as this has been," said one of them. "We come down here for rest and comfort. Yet I've spent all morning washing and ironing, something that I never have to do at home. Here, though, it is impossible to beg, borrow, or steal a laundress, and I just don't dare send fine summer things to strangers."

"I understand that feeling," replied the other woman. "What I don't understand, however, is why you don't provide yourself with laundry service at home that will follow you on your vacation. All of our laundry was sent off by parcel post this Monday morning. The postage charge was practically nothing. Then on Friday or Saturday we'll have the freshly-laundered things delivered to us just as if we were at home. There'll be no postage to pay either, for the laundry takes care of that charge one way."

Of course, you have guessed already that the second woman has been a regular customer of ours for years.

—o—

It is to be hoped that the Traffic Committee of the aldermen will take action at the next aldermanic meeting on the proposal of Chief Burke to change the terminus of the electric cars of the M. & B. at Nonantum square. Such a change will end the ridiculous rule now in force compelling autos to circle around the bank building and return again to Nonantum square before they can proceed east. It will also permit the long delayed erection of a suitable traffic tower at Newton Corner. This tower is badly needed at this place, not alone to safeguard the public, but to give some relief to Officer Taffe, who for several summers has been standing under the burning sun on hot tar. This traffic tower will be presented to the city by business men of Newton Corner.

—o—

The Boston police are asking that they be permitted to wear lighter weight uniforms during the summer months. This is a reasonable request. The Newton police would also welcome relief from the heavy uniform coats in which they are sweltering these hot days. Why not allow them to discard the coats until autumn, whenever weather conditions would make such a change desirable. Many cities have for some years permitted the police to go on duty garbed neatly in soft shirts of uniform color. Belts, or invisible suspenders are, of course, worn when the coats are discarded.

—o—

Drivers of small autos, medium size autos, and autos not equipped with balloon tires or snubbers, would greatly appreciate an improvement in the condition at Newtonville Square where the tracks of the M. & B. on Walnut street cross Washington street. Even a coating of tarvia over the uneven cobble stones would afford much relief from the rough passage over this spot.

BENLEY-COOPER

At a very pretty home wedding which took place on Saturday evening, July 3rd, at 8 o'clock at the home of her parents, Miss Dorothy Ruth Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cooper of Grove street, Newton Lower Falls, became the bride of Mr. Russell Wright Benley, son of Mrs. Charles Benley of Frederickton, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Archiver J. Strait of Medford, Mass., who has officiated at the weddings of four other daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper.

The maid of honor was Miss Eleanor Cooper, sister of the bride, and the best man was Mr. Harold Johnson of Somerville.

The bride's gown was of white crepe back satin and lace, and she wore a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor's dress was of robin's egg blue georgette and ecru lace over pink. She carried pink rosebuds.

The ceremony was performed under an arch of ferns and daisies.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and was employed at Wellesley College. The groom is affiliated with the Beacon Trust Co.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The executive committee of the society met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Fred C. Alexander on Fair Oaks Avenue. The newly elected president, Mr. Fred L. Smith, presided over the meeting. Word has been received that the school committee have voted to allow the society the use of the auditorium in the technical high school building, and the rehearsals for the coming season will be held in that room on Monday evening. It is considered that this is a very favorable place for the use of the society, and that many new members should be attracted under these conditions, also that Monday evening would be a more covenient night for many of the singers.

The first rehearsal will be Monday evening, October 4. The usual concerts in December and April will be held, the dates for which will be announced later. The evening was spent in discussing the plans for the season, and appointments to the various committees. The committee voted to send a letter of appreciation to the school board for their action in regard to the use of the school hall.

UNIQUE MARRIAGE CEREMONY

Donald B. Snyder of Wabash, Indiana, who will teach at Newton High this Fall, was married last Friday at Wareham to Miss Esther Mostrom at the home of the bride's parents. The Friends' wedding ceremony, self performed by the bride and bridegroom, was used. The couple stood face to face and promised love and fidelity "as long as we both shall live." There were no attendants. The bride wore a gown of white satin, without bridal veil or hat. She carried a bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley. Witnesses signed the marriage certificate.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending July 3:—Patients in hospital 124; patients paying as much as cost of care or more 56; patients paying less than cost of care 38; free patients, including babies 38; babies born 11; patients treated by out patient department 93; accident cases 17; social service calls at hospital 6, at homes 13; patients transferred by social service car 3.

During the month of June there were 306 operating room cases, or an average of more than ten a day. This large number was due in part to the number of tonsil and adenoid removals but the June record serves to illustrate the growing use of the operating rooms and the immediate need for the larger quarters which the new hospital buildings will provide. For the month the daily average number of patients was 123.13, the largest number in the hospital during any twenty-four hours having been 137, and the smallest number 107. In all 386 patients were admitted to the hospital and 389 were discharged. The number of babies born was 41. The out patient department treated 502 patients, the eye clinic 31, the x-ray department 169, and there were 59 accident cases. The social service department made 32 calls at the hospital, 38 at homes and transferred 11 patients in its car.

There was one baby born at the Hospital on Independence Day, a boy born early on Sunday morning. Of the babies born last week two were twins.

Monday was a quiet day at the hospital. Early in the evening a boy came in to have dressed a hand lacerated by an exploding cracker, but no bad accidents were treated.

Miss Ruth Humphreys and Miss Grace Russell spent the holiday week end at Marblehead.

The wards, offices and rooms of the hospital were made fragrant during last week by many beautiful roses given by Mrs. Burr, Mrs. Lovell and Mrs. Saltonstall.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY
Children's Room Exhibit

"Summer Insects" or "Who's Who Among the Six-Legs" is the title of an exhibit just installed at the Newton Free Library by the Cambridge Museum for Children. Here are shown examples of some of the commoner insects with which any child may become acquainted during the summer, whether he remains at home or goes to country or shore. With the insect specimens are pictures and labels to tell something of the haunts and habits of each and its manner of making a living.

The exhibit is designed to stimulate the natural curiosity of children regarding the ways of the smaller denizens of earth, air and water. It is intended to answer some questions, and also to suggest many more which a wide-awake child can answer by quiet watching and simple but patient experimenting.

Another section of the exhibit is devoted to materials which children will need for collecting insects—whether for spreading and preservation or for keeping alive to observe. Directions are given for safe and simple insect killing bottles and inxpensive nets for catching butterflies and water insects.

In the children's Room there will be a shelf devoted to books which children and their parents will find helpful in the study and raising of insects.

Children and parents are especially invited to visit the Library and see this exhibit.

FAY—WOODWARD

Of interest to many Newton friends was the wedding that took place on Monday afternoon, July 5th, at The Church of the Presentation, Oak Square, when Miss Dora L. Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woodward, of 7 Champney Street, Brighton, became the bride of Mr. James J. Fay, of 16 Nonantum Street, Brighton. Rev. James J. Murphy performed the ceremony. Miss Ella Woodward was the maid of honor, and Mr. Thomas Fay, acted as best man. The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a dress of pink chiffon and carried a bouquet of pink roses. A reception followed immediately after the ceremony at the bride's home, for the immediate family.

Before her marriage, Miss Woodward was employed for several years in the office of the Gamewell Company, Newton Upper Falls. After an extended wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Fay will reside in Allston.

AUTOMATIC CONTROL ON B. & A.

The Boston & Albany Railroad is equipping all its trains on the lines between Boston and Albany with automatic train control devices. All the express passenger engines and most of the freight engines have already been equipped and all of the locomotives are expected to have the control by September 1st.

The control works as follows: About 75 feet away from each automatic signal, a device known as a track inductor is placed on a tie. Should an engineer disregard an automatic signal, this device will impart an electrical impulse which causes the airbrakes on the engine to be applied to the train. This brings the train to a stop and the brakes cannot be released until the engineer alights from his cab, proceeds to the rear of the tender and presses a release button.

GILSON—PEARSON

Miss Lena Henington Pearson of 160 Charlesbank road, Newton, was married on Saturday, July 3rd, to Mr. Arthur Herbert Gilson of Weston. The ceremony was performed at Wayland, Mass., by Rev. Raymond Lang of Grace Church, Newton, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, in the garden of the bride's sister.

The matron of honor was Mrs. E. P. Rankin of Newton.

The bride wore a gown of beige georgette over pink silk.

SUMMER'S TWILIGHT

The birdlings chirp in the gloaming
As in the trees they are roaming
To nests on high.

The daisies nod to the grasses,
The clouds lay low in gray masses
In twilight's sky.

The roses send forth a sweetness
As clothed in their robes of meekness
Them, we descry.

The mother-bird nestles lower,
The shadows deepen yet more,
Zephyrs pass by.

The child is hushed now in slumbers,
The stars appear in great numbers,
Angels are nigh.

All Nature seems as if nesting,
Be still, and hear, while it's resting,
God's lullaby!

QUIET FOURTH IN NEWTON

In happy contrast with other places, Newton enjoyed a "Fourth" free from disorders and rodyism. No accidents were reported to the police, and had it not been for a few false alarms sounded by, it is hoped, non-residents, this city would have had a perfect record for the holiday. The Woodland and Brae-Burn Golf Clubs had fireworks displays for their members and friends, and the Italian Foresters provided an exhibition of pyrotechnics at the Hawthorn street playground that attracted thousands.

CHURCH SCHOOL OPENS

The community vacation church school of the Newtonville Council of Religious Education has opened for this season. It will be in session every forenoon except Saturdays and Sundays. The school is free to children of the community between the ages of 6 and 13, and the program includes games, stories, music and hand work. The teaching staff consists of H. L. Stright, principal; Dorothy Bellamy, Ruth Brown, Caroline McLellan, Eleanor Martin, Agnes Paul and Mildred Beatty.

SEEKS $10,000 DAMAGES

Frederick D. Rankin of Newton has brought suit for $10,000 damages against Martin and Stephen Lynch, owners of a dance hall at Alton Bay, New Hampshire, and Ernest Royce, a special policeman at that place. The case was entered in the District Court at Concord on July 2nd. Rankin claims that when he closed a window in the dance hall to shield his wife from a draft, Royce assaulted him.

BAND CONCERT AT RIVERSIDE

The 241st Coast Artillery Band under the leadership of Richard Kurth, gave a band concert at Riverside Recreation Grounds on Sunday under the auspices of the Metropolitan District Commission. A large crowd on the river and on the grounds enjoyed the music.

ARTICLE No. 29

In every evening's play one or more hands are always bound to come up that bring out interesting principles of play or bidding. The writer noted two such hands the other evening.

Hand No. 1

Hearts — A, 7, 2
Clubs — Q, 10, 8
Diamonds — 7, 6, 4, 2
Spades — Q, 8, 3

Hearts — K, Q, 10, 6, 4	Y	Hearts — 9, 8, 5, 3
Clubs — 7, 5, 4		Clubs — A, K, 2
Diamonds — 8	A	B — Diamonds — A, Q, 10, 9, 3
Spades — J, 10, 9, 4	Z	Spades — 6

Hearts — J
Clubs — J, 9, 6, 3
Diamonds — K, J, 5
Spades — A, K, 7, 5, 2

No score, first game. B dealt and bid one diamond, Z one spade, A two hearts and Y two spades. B bid three hearts, Z three spades, A doubled and all passed. A opened the king of hearts and Y won the trick with the ace. How should Z play the hand? Z must lead the deuce of diamonds from Y's hand. In order to be sure of two diamond tricks, the suit must be led twice from Y's hand. The only other sure reentry is the queen of spades so that if diamonds are to be led twice from Y's hand, they must be led at trick two and when the queen of spades is played; otherwise Z would be compelled to lead diamonds from his own hand for the sure loss of a trick. Note this play for it is one that comes up every day. Be sure which hand you want in the lead and why. When a hand is in the lead think to yourself: "Can I lead a suit from this hand to more advantage than I can from the other? If so, must I do it now or can I get the hand in later?" If you will ask yourself these questions and answer them correctly before you plan the play of the hand, you will save many a trick. There is another point worthy of considering in the play of this hand. At trick two Z should play the deuce of diamonds. B should win the trick with the ace and lead a low heart. Z should trump this trick and then lead three rounds of trumps winning the third trick in Y's hand with the queen. He should then lead the four of diamonds and finesse the jack. A should trump this trick with his last spade and lead another heart. Here is the other point of play for if Z trumps this trick with his last trump, he will never get another trick for B still has another heart. Z should discard the trey of clubs. On the next lead of hearts, Z should trump and lead the clubs. As B has the ace king of clubs and no more hearts, Z must make a club trick provided B has discarded two diamonds, his best discard before he finds out A's cards. It is an interesting hand and well worthy of careful study.

Hand No. 2

Hearts — K
Clubs — K, Q, 9
Diamonds — J, 8, 5
Spades — K, 5

Hearts — none	Y	Hearts — A, J, 6, 4
Clubs — J, 8, 7, 6, 5, 3		Clubs — none
Diamonds — 7, 3	A	B — Diamonds — K, Q
Spades — J	Z	Spades — Q, 4, 3

Hearts — 8, 7, 5, 3, 2
Clubs — none
Diamonds — 10, 6
Spades — 9, 7

In this hand spades were trumps and Z was in the lead. How can he play the hand so that he and his partner can win four of the nine tricks against any defense? An analysis of this hand will be given in the next article.

Answer to Problem No. 14

Hearts — A, 7, 6
Clubs — 9, 4
Diamonds — none
Spades — Q, 2

Hearts — K, 10, 8, 5	Y	Hearts — J, 3
Clubs — J, 10		Clubs — A, 7, 5
Diamonds — none	A	B — Diamonds — none
Spades — J	Z	Spades — K, 3

Hearts — Q, 9
Clubs — K, Q, 6
Diamonds — none
Spades — 7, 5

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can YZ win four of the seven tricks against any defense? Z should lead the king of clubs and Y should play the nine of clubs. B can either (1) win this trick with the ace of clubs or (2) allow Z to hold the trick. Suppose B wins the trick with the ace of clubs. If he now leads a heart or club, Z will be able to trump the third round of clubs in Y's hand and therefore make four tricks. B is forced at trick two to play the king and follow with the trey of spades. Y should play the queen of spades on B's lead of the king and thus allow Z to win the third trick with the seven of spades. A is forced to discard on the second round of spades. If he discards the jack of clubs, Z will put Y in the lead with the ace of hearts and lead the four of clubs through B's hand, thus enabling Z to win two club tricks. At trick three therefore A must discard the five of hearts. Z should then lead the six of clubs and force A in the lead. A must now lead hearts up to Z's hand and YZ must win the balance of the tricks. (2) Suppose B allows Z to hold the first trick with the king of clubs. Z should then lead the queen of hearts and if A covers, play a low heart from Y's hand. A can now lead (a) a spade or (b) a club or (c) a heart. If A leads the jack of spades, Y covers and B is forced to win the trick. No matter what he now plays, YZ must win three more tricks. If A (c) leads the five of hearts, Y should win the trick with the ace and lead the four of clubs. No matter what B does, YZ must now win a spade and a club trick.

The foregoing is a very tricky problem and its variations very interesting and puzzling. Work them all out for practice.

VOL. LIV.—NO. 45 NEWTON, MASS., FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1926. TERMS, $3.00 A YEAR

JOHN W. WEEKS

John W. Weeks died early Monday morning at his summer home in Lancaster, New Hampshire. He had been in a critical condition for many weeks and the members of his family had been with him for several days prior to his death.

John W. Weeks was born 66 years ago in the town where he died, the son of William D. and Mary Fowler Weeks. He was educated in the public schools of the town and at the age of 17 received an appointment to the naval academy at Annapolis. About the time of his graduation from the academy, Congress so cut the naval appropriations that appointments as officers were not available for over half of Mr. Weeks' class, so after two years sea service, he severed his connection with the navy. He went to Florida as a surveyor for the Florida Southern Railway. While in Florida he became acquainted with a prominent New Hampshire business man, who owned property in Orlando, and surveyed some land for him. This gentleman's daughter, Martha A. Sinclair, later became Mr. Weeks' wife.

After five years' stay in Florida, Mr. Weeks returned to Massachusetts, and in 1888, with Henry D. Hornblower, started the banking firm of Hornblower & Weeks. This firm achieved rapid success and soon became a big factor in the financial life of Boston. In 1894 he became a resident of Newton. In 1899, at the request of his neighbors on West Newton hill, he consented to serve as alderman from Ward 3. He continued as alderman in 1900 and 1901. In 1902 he was elected as the 14th Mayor of this city. In 1903 he went to Congress as representative from this district. His ability was soon recognized at Washington and he was made chairman of the Committee on Postoffices. After eight years in the lower branch of Congress, he was elected in 1912 to succeed Murray Crane as Senator from Massachusetts. Mr. Weeks' opponent for this position was ex Governor Samuel McCall. Pessimistic View of Life Not Warranted

"Not to be born is best, and next to die as soon as possible." This was the pessimistic view of life expressed by Sophocles. Most philosophers and intellectuals of ancient times agreed with him. Life was looked upon as an enigmatic affliction rather than a divine dispensation.

"These diagnoses were based upon a mere consideration of symptoms. They were made in almost complete ignorance of the underlying physical causes of human misery," is the assertion made by Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk in Forbes Magazine.

"Many years of experience in sifting and sorting human types, in searching for the causes of physical failure, have convinced me of the falsity of this pessimistic philosophy. No one would wish to live in a world absolutely devoid of struggle, pain, grief or suffering.

"The world is as we view it. If we view it through bilious colored spectacles it is a bilious world. I have seen a man with big brain and dominant personality, fundamentally capable of a joyous, self-confident existence, wholly transformed into a pessimistic and wailing misanthrope by so crude a thing as flat foot. Others have been similarly affected by poisoned or infected physical states, while sometimes the reverse is true and the body suffers because they are unhappy; others are unhappy because they slump."

Mr. Pooh Waited Long, but Opportunity Came

Mr. Waldemar X. Pooh, inventor and manufacturer of the Double-Cross bucket for catching lambs, writes as follows: "I was just a clerk when my opportunity came. I had brought some papers to the president of the company—he was in conference, as usual—when the third vice president, the best-dressed man I ever saw before he took to stripes, said: 'Let us ask Pooh.' The directors took one look at me and laughed; but the third vice president hushed their mirth.

"'We are in desperate straits,' he said gravely. 'Everything else has failed. What have we to lose?'

"Then he turned to me and in the tone of one who is almost beaten, inquired: 'Pooh, what word of five letters means a cold dwelling-place? We can only think of a New York apartment.'

"For a moment the circle of worn, tense faces upset me, but I pulled myself together, 'Igloo,' I cried, and as the room rocked I knew that my chance had come."—Kansas City Star.

Beloved Old Gossip

For 100 years the world has enjoyed the indiscreet and delightful confidences of Samuel Pepys, a writer in the Mentor remarks. There is a marvelous array of women in the diary; women of station and artisans' wives and serving maids and titles and actresses, and the wife who was only fifteen when she married him. He loved them all, including his wife, of whose beauty he was proud—and jealous, too. He was stingy with her till shortly before she died, along toward the end of the diary; but Pepys shows his pride in such an entry as this: "My wife extraordinarily fine today in her flower tabby suit . . . everybody in love with it, and indeed she is very fine and handsome in it."

Beautiful Redbird

Another name for the redbird is the cardinal grosbeak. They are a prideful lot, these grosbeaks, and with reason. The cardinal grosbeak is first cousin to the blue grosbeak, the scarlet pine grosbeak, the orange, white and black evening grosbeaks and to others of the lordly tribe. In all the graces of bird life they stand separated from the common flock. Nature lavished its colors upon them, and the gift of music was not forgotten. James Lane Allen gave a tribute of praise to the beauty of the cardinal beside which all other tributes are and must be futile.

"Old" and "Young" Nick

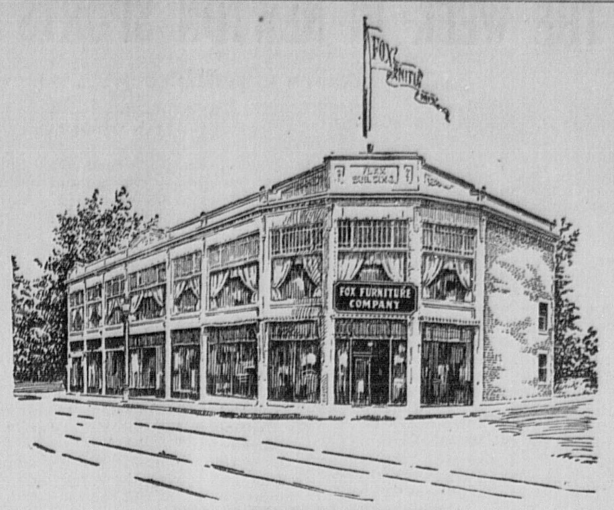
The use of the name "Old Nick" applied to Satan originated in the comparison drawn between the machinations of his satanic majesty and those of Niccolo Machiavelli, one of the greatest Florentine statesmen, born 1469. He was crafty and dissembling, a firm believer in "the end justifies the means." Samuel Butler in his "Hudibras" in writing of Machiavelli, says "Nick Machiavelli had ne'er a trick though he gave his name to our old Nick."

Old Christmas "Dance"

One beautiful feature of the "Mesa de Gallo" in the great cathedral of Seville is a strange mystical dance on "Interweaving the steps" by the choir boys, who thus dance before the high altar. This reverent dance, which is given but twice a year, is marked by the chanting of the choir boys, who carry tall lighted candles as they cross and recross up and down the wide choir steps. One of the occasions is the celebration of midnight mass on Christmas eve.

Put Life Work First

The hours will come, and come to every man, when task work quivers and palpitates with life; but perhaps they only come because we have been faithful, with a certain grimness, through the days of gloom. Let a man hold to his life work through mood and melancholy. Let him hold to it through headache and through heartache. For he that observeth the wind will never sow; and he that regardeth the clouds will never reap.—G. H. Morrison.



FOX FURNITURE COMPANY

FOX FURNITURE EXPANDS

This week the Fox Furniture Company will occupy the increased room it has obtained by taking over the space formerly occupied by the two stores at 286 and 288 Centre street. This addition will afford 25 more feet frontage for display purposes on Centre street, and will bring the total floor area occupied by the Fox Company to 15,000 square feet. Few furniture stores in New England have had a more rapid, or consistent growth than the Fox Furniture Company since its establishment in this city slightly over a quarter century ago. It is with one exception, the largest furniture store in Greater Boston, and one of the largest in the state. The success enjoyed by this concern seems to indicate that it is gaining consistently in patronage by residents of Newton and vicinity.

A STARTLING STORY

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:

It seems incredible that so little attention has been called to one of the most terrible tragedies that has ever been enacted in this country, viz., the slaughter of men, women and children upon our roads by drunken drivers. Figures obtained from the office of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles for this state for the year 1925 show a total of 4654 convictions for drunken driving, 61 adults and 3 children killed, and over 1000 persons injured, and this only for those who were caught, and convicted by our courts. One year's work of drunken drivers! And what for the country? The population of the United States is twenty-seven times that of Massachusetts, but multiply by twenty only and we have a safe estimate of 1220 adults and 60 children killed, and 20,000 persons injured, most of them probably for life. The mind can hardly grasp the quantum of this tragedy. Husbands and fathers, wives and mothers, beautiful children crushed to death amid the screams of the onlookers; or, more horrible if anything can be, crippled for life, destined to suffer tortures for weeks or months and then a lingering death; or condemned to a long life of helplessness and dependence—more than 20,000 of them!

Also, give a few thoughts to the suffering of the relatives and friends of these victims of drunken drivers, not to mention the financial cost of these disasters. 21,280 in number in one year! What and who is responsible for this gruesome record? Intoxicating drink! And, measurably every one who uses it! The influence and example of any one partaker of intoxicants may eventually produce a drunken driver. Every drinker is giving support to the bootlegger! The drinkers as a class unquestionably are responsible for the whole liquor abomination that curses this country today. To belong to that class is to be measurably responsible for its work. Surely this matter calls for deep and serious thought. Surely anyone would be willing to make some personal sacrifice if, by doing so even one of these beautiful children could be restored to its broken-hearted mother. But alas that cannot be, for

"Whatever has been written must remain,
Nor be erased nor written o'er again.
The unwritten only still belongs to thee.
Take heed and ponder well what that shall be."

Are these terrible sacrifices to the "Molock" of strong drink to go on, and on, and on? In five years more the record would be at least 6,000 adults and 300 children brutally killed, and 100,000 persons injured, many of them for life. There is today a definite and emphatic call to every patriot, every right-minded person, every Christian; it is to you, temperate drinkers especially, to abandon "the cup" as a personal contribution to the conscientious and humane efforts that are being made to stop, or to reduce to a minimum, this horrible thing. It will, indeed, involve a personal sacrifice, for pleasurable social amenities of long standing are not easily abandoned, but oh, how infinitesimal is the sacrifice as compared with the beneficence of the purpose. And this call comes from many newly made graves of little children; from the graves of fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers and friends; from thousands of broken hearts, and from tens of thousands of sufferers of life-long misery.

The users of intoxicants are divided into two classes, the temperate and the intemperate. The temperate look upon the intemperate with great disapproval, even with contempt; but under a certain law of moral gravitation there is a steady flow from the temperate down into the intemperate class. In fact, the temperate class is the only source of supply for the intemperate. If there was no temperate, there would be no intemperate class, no problem of the liquor traffic, and no Prohibitory Law. The whole putrid stream would vanish. The entire responsibility, then, rests within the temperate class. The drunken drivers mentioned above were doubtless of the temperate class, they did not intend to slaughter their fellow men; unconsciously they slipped into the rapids of that fatal downward stream; do not blame them over much—blame alcoholic drink.

Upon the liquor question the people of the United States are divided into two classes, severally called "the wets" and "the drys."

The temperate class form a large part of "the wets." This class is excited to indignation at the restrictions of the Prohibitory Law, claiming it an invasion of their personal liberty and rights. They drink in sheer defiance of, and to spite the law. There is proof abundant that there is no such thing as liberty or a right the exercise of which, directly or indirectly, brings disaster to our fellow men. But there are personal rights involved in this question. It is undeniable that the liquor traffic is the direct and indirect cause of an annual economic loss running into billions of dollars. This loss is absorbed into the cost of living of all the people. Under license a part of this loss comes back, but only a small part. Thus the drys are obliged to pay part of the cost of the drinking habits of the wets and have an undeniable right to be relieved from this injustice.

And again have not the people who are obliged to use our roads a "right" to be protected from the peril of drunken drivers. The claims of "the drys" are those of equity. The claims of "the wets" have no basis in equity. Thus the vociferous claims of "rights" and "liberty" to drink vanish in "thin air." Suppose we analyze the contentions of these two classes, "the wets" and "the drys." The wets' claim is simply that of the right to drink intoxicants. Interpreted roughly, it is, "Give us our liquor, that is all we want," and upon that platform they take their stand. "Oh liberty! how many crimes have been committed in thy name."

What is the platform of "the drys"? To save this fair land, so far as possible, from "the curse of alcoholic drink" that is the promoter of the very worst crimes of which men are guilty; that destroys with ruthless hand immense values of the material resources of the country; breeds poverty and misery untold. It is to banish that unspeakable Frankenstein that is "running amuck" upon our roads today. To this most beneficent purpose men and women with entirely unselfish motives are giving of their effort, their money, their prayers. This benign and entirely unselfish purpose is being blocked by those whose only desire appears to be to partake of intoxicating drink. "The wets" know full well all the terrible evils produced by intoxicating drink, and still the amazing fact remains that they are insisting that these evils shall continue. To all who are interested in this most vital matter I would recommend the pamphlet written by Mr. Horace D. Taft, brother of the chief justice, entitled "Our Duty in regard to the Liquor Laws." Mr. Taft was not a prohibitionist, but handles the subject in a philosophical and reasonable spirit. His summing up is, "There are two clear logical answers to the question that comes to every citizen. One is, I will obey the law and help enforce it. The other is, let the country go to the dogs, I am going to have my liquor."

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

DECIDING GAME TONIGHT

The Earnshaw Mills and the Newton Pals are still deadlocked for first place in the first half of the Newton Twilight League baseball race. Two games have been played of the three-game deciding series. Monday night Jakey Pass had an off night and the Earnshaw Mills shut out the Pals 10 to 0, scoring five runs in the opening frame before Pass was relieved to save him for Tuesday night. Pass came back Tuesday night and held the Earnshaw nine to four hits and one run, while his team-mates collected ten hits and seven runs off Bill Hawks. Both games were played at Victory Field.

Tonight at the West Newton Common the two teams will play the deciding game of the series and the winner will play the winner of the second half of the league schedule which got under way this week at the end of the season. The game will be called at 6.15 sharp in order to allow a full nine-inning contest.

The Earnshaw Mills will have their strongest line-up on the field: E. Lyman, cf; Murphy, lf; J. Lyman, ss; Holland, 1b; Howley, c; Casey, 3b; Gildea, 2b; McSorley, rf; and either Hawks, Switzer or Hough in the box.

The Pals will not relinquish their hold upon the title and will line up as follows: B. Lyman, ss; Aucoin, 2b; O'Keefe, 3b; McArdle, 1b; J. Lyman, lf; Murphy, cf; Finn, rf; McLean, c; and Pass on the rubber with Mahoney in reserve.

SPORT NOTES

The Newton Pals were defeated 5 to 4 Sunday afternoon at Quincy by the Granite City Town Team. The feature of the game was a home run by Lyman of the Pals.

The Ellison family placed one, two in the races at Duxbury last Saturday. Harriet Ellison in the Ace won the race for 15-foot knockabouts while William Ellison in the Harriet came in second about a minute later.

The Postal Telegraph A. A. defeated the Newton Cubs Sunday afternoon on the Boston Common, 6 to 2. The Newton team made but six hits, three coming in the first inning when the Cubs scored their only runs of the game.

The Earnshaw Mills and the Pals each won their last game of the first half of the Newton Twi-league schedule last Friday night and failed to dissolve the tie in which they were last week. The series this week decided the winner of the first half while the other league teams were going ahead on the second half of the season.

The West Newton A. C. and the Cardinals opened the second half schedule Monday night on the West Newton Common with the colored team coming out on top in an 11 to 9 seven inning game. The West Newton boys went right into the lead with a four run rally but the Cards came back with five runs to take the lead. From then on it was a bitter fight but the home team collected the most counters.

The Newton Catholic Club has strengthened its lineup for the second half race. Bill Reilly has been added to the pitching staff and Tom Gilligan, Newton high school catching star will again don his mitt and mask and go behind the bat.

Gulian's All-stars were defeated Wednesday night at Malden by the Stearns A. C. in a close eight-inning game, 4 to 3. Peg Wood went the entire game in the box for the All-stars and was touched for nine hits. Going into the last of the eighth the home team was behind, 2 to 3, but a two-run rally gave them the victory.

KIWANIS OUTING

The Newton Kiwanis Club, in conjunction with the other Kiwanis Clubs of this district, enjoyed an outing Wednesday afternoon and evening at Suntaug Inn, Lynnfield. The members left Newton in autos shortly after noon and proceeded to Somerville where they were joined by members of the Cambridge, Somerville and Arlington clubs. Upon arrival at the Inn a baseball contest was started among nines representing the various clubs. The first game was between Newton and Somerville; Newton winning 3 to 1 in the three innings allotted for the play. The battery for Newton was Hugh Boyd and Albert Walker. Boyd surprised the gathering by his speed, making most of the put-outs by fanning his opponents. The second contest was against Cambridge. Boyd pitched well in this contest also, but poor support caused him to lose the game, Cambridge winning 4 to 3 in four innings. Newton's infield was composed of Hodgdon, McNeil, Hollis and Grant. Doc Paul, Barrows and Gibson chased the long hits into the tall grass.

A program of sports for the ladies included a 50-yard dash, spoon and egg race, hoop rolling contest, nail driving contest and tonic drinking contest. At six a dinner was served in the Suntaug Inn attended by 300. Among those who spoke was Mayor Quinn of Cambridge. The Newton delegation was headed by President Frank Wilcox, with Frank Pope acting as representative on the general committee.

REAL ESTATE

Henry W. Savage, Inc., reports the sale of 23 Otis place, Newtonville, for Harry L. Nelson to Zadah H. Moulton of frame house, garage, and 8000 sq. ft. of land; total assessment is $9300, of which $2300 is on the land. The new owner will occupy.

The same concern also sold for Barnett Wolck to Etta Kaufman 5243 sq. ft. of land corner Capitol and Watertown streets, Newton. It is assessed for $1100.

TAKE MOVIES OF OUTING

A new feature has been added to the usual program of the annual outings of the Newton business men. At the outing next Wednesday at the Pine Grove Inn, Marlboro, motion pictures of the various attractions will be taken and shown on the screen of the Community Theatre shortly afterwards. Mr. Stanley Sumner, manager of the local picture house, is arranging to have a camera-man of the Pathe Motion Picture company present to take several hundred feet of the celluloid film. This attraction has awakened considerable interest in the outing and the tickets are fast disappearing.

Everything is ready for the annual outing and if you are going, and you should be, be at the corner of Hall and Centre streets at one o'clock sharp. If you haven't transportation of your own there will be someone there who can provide it. The auto parade, headed by a motorcycle officer, will leave promptly at one o'clock.

After the Inn is reached a ball game between Newton Corner and a team picked from the remainder of the city will be staged. The Newton Corner boys are all set to defeat the All-team again this year.

Prizes have been donated by local business men for the various sporting events which will follow the ball game. These events include the usual dashes, novelty races, tug-of-war, and nail driving contest and in addition there is to be a golf contest to furnish enjoyment for the chasers of the little round pill. A chance for a swim, to cool off after the races, will also be provided for those that are so inclined.

At six o'clock the dinner call will be sounded and the management of the Inn has arranged to provide an excellent dinner including lobster, chicken, ice cream and all that goes with it.

Following the dinner the entertainment committee has provided a program which will furnish more than one surprise for those present.

A final meeting of the committee in charge of the outing will be held next Monday night in the directors' room of the Newton Trust Company at eight o'clock to make final plans for a successful outing.

SUMMER MUSIC FESTIVAL

A festival program in the closing exercises of the thirty-sixth annual session of The American Institute of Normal Methods, now in progress at Lasell Seminary is to honor the memory of Dr. Horatio Parker, who was a native of Auburndale. A chorus of 200 voices is to sing his "Hora Novissima" at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, July 26. The public is invited to attend this performance.

The chorus is being trained by Mr. Emil Mollenhauer, director of the Handel and Haydn Society and of the Apollo Club, of Boston, and the soloists include Miss Grace G. Pierce, soprano, of Arlington; Mrs. N. N. Shaw, contralto, of Plymouth; Mr. Frank Jetter, tenor, and Mr. H. D. Newcombe, both of Boston.

The public recognition of Dr. Parker's outstanding place in American music includes the placing of a bronze tablet on his birthplace, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lane, of Williston road, Auburndale. The ceremony will consist of a brief address by Mr. C. E. Griffith, Jr., director of the Summer School, the singing of Dr. Parker's chorus, "I Remember," and the unveiling of the tablet by Mrs. Horatio Parker.

At the graduation of 41 teachers equipped to teach public school music, Tuesday evening at 8, Bragdon Hall, Lasell Seminary, Mr. Frank Findlay, head of the Public School Music Department of the New England Conservatory of Music, will conduct the chorus and orchestra. The diplomas will be presented by Mr. Edward Bailey Birge, a former pupil and later associate editor with Dr. Parker, and now head of the Public School Music Department of Indiana University.

Rite of Fire Walking Still Deep Mystery

Despite investigations of competent observers, the famous Tahiti fire-walking ceremony still remains a secret of a small company of natives in the island of Raiatea, Tahiti.

The ceremony was given on this island recently for the first time in many years and outsiders were not excluded from witnessing any stage of the preparation of the fire pit.

When the proper time comes and the celebrants pass through the fire, any bystander asking permission may go through beside them without discomfort.

Outsiders who have passed through the fire say they felt no sensation of heat except on the face, although, when standing outside, the radiation made the pit difficult to approach.

Those trying to solve the mystery have pulled out a large stone from the pit while the ceremony was in progress and thrown it into a pail of water. The water would go up in steam. Some also have tried crawling to the edge of the pit and touching one of the white stones with the finger. They were rewarded with ugly burns.

Scientists who have seen the fire-walking have propounded a number of theories, but practical tests always failed to establish such explanations.

The ceremony, harking back to heathen times and the worship of old gods, is frowned on by the missionaries and the Christians among the natives. Hence it is seldom performed, even in Raiatea, the place of its origin.

Unable to Duplicate Paper Made Long Ago

Who ever thought when some of the bulky old volumes were published that in time the few blank pages in front and in back would be the most valuable part of the whole book?

That time seems to have arrived, for it is told that a distinguished British etcher spends many of his spare hours searching through old book stores and waste paper depositories for the massive and wholly unread volume of other days. For years he has been tearing out the clean leaves to get paper that is paper, and is not an assembly of all sorts of modern makeshifts, which will disintegrate after a few years.

The books, many of which are so dry and ponderous that some of the leaves remain uncut, can be bought for a few cents. The paper, it is said, is not duplicated today, and, if it were, the price would be prohibitive.

Animals Get Good Food

Old and wornout horses in London are bought by the managers of the zoo, made fat and sleek, then slaughtered and fed to the animals, the number of horses thus disposed of last year being 440. And the walrus colony must have codfish, so nearly five tons were fed to them, besides 40 tons of herring, while other articles of food for the animals included 14,000 tins of milk, 128 pounds of honey, 258 pounds of ants' eggs, 77 pounds of meal worms, 150 bunches of onions, 213,000 bananas, 343 gallons of fresh milk, the food bill for the year reaching $50,000. —Adventure Magazine.

Sediment Carried to Sea

It is generally believed that the amount of sediment carried down by the Mississippi river is greater than that of any other river in the United States. A vast amount of this sediment is brought into the Mississippi by the Missouri. It is estimated that a flood of 500,000 cubic feet per second carries into the Mississippi about 120 cubic yards of sediment per second, or more than 10,000,000 cubic yards per day. It is estimated that 400,000,000 cubic yards per annum are carried into the Mississippi from the Missouri and that approximately the same amount passes out into the gulf.

Rainfall in Palestine

Palestine is essentially an agricultural country. Its rainfall averages 21 inches a year, which is about as much as California receives. Palestine has really only two seasons in its year—a dry one, in the summer, and the rainy or winter season. The latter begins in October or November with the "early rain," and thereafter rain is frequent, with occasional snow in the mountains, until February. In that month the planting takes place. Then, in March and April, the "later rains" occur and start the crops along.

Making It Worse

A ladies' ready-to-wear shop in which I was working was having its spring opening. There were many wax models dressed up and standing around. Crowds had been coming all afternoon. I was standing in back of a woman and all of a sudden saw her bend forward.

I thought it was one of the wax models falling, so made a sudden grab at her. My action was so abrupt, and I was so embarrassed, that I made it worse by saying, "Oh, excuse me, I thought you were a dummy."—M. L. W. in Chicago Tribune.

Bismarck's Interview

You recall that Bismarck lost his job as chancellor because he called Wilhelm down for talking too much. I was in a beer garden in Berlin. Saw Bismarck seated in solitary grandeur at another table, sipping a glass of beer. With Yankee temerity, I walked over and asked him for an interview. The old man looked at me angrily, rose in majestic wrath, drew his military cloak around him and hissed as he stalked out: "I do not give interviews. Ask the kaiser; he talks."—William H. Crawford.

TWO WOMEN ON THE BEACH

Two women were lolling upon the warm sand of a Cape beach one afternoon last summer.

"Such a vacation day as this has been," said one of them. "We come down here for rest and comfort. Yet I've spent all morning washing and ironing, something that I never have to do at home. Here, though, it is impossible to beg, borrow, or steal a laundress, and I just don't dare send fine summer things to strangers."

"I understand that feeling," replied the other woman. "What I don't understand, however, is why you don't provide yourself with laundry service at home that will follow you on your vacation. All of our laundry was sent off by parcel post this Monday morning. The postage charge was practically nothing. Then on Friday or Saturday we'll have the freshly-laundered things delivered to us just as if we were at home. There'll be no postage to pay either, for the laundry takes care of that charge one way."

Of course, you have guessed already that the second woman has been a regular customer of ours for years.

John W. Weeks was a big man. Big physically, big mentally, his ability and aggressiveness made him a leader in business, in political life. Success never turned his head. Unassuming, democratic, he accorded courtesy to every man. The humble worker could approach him with assurance of obtaining fair treatment. He scorned narrowness and bigotry. Achieving rapid success in his chosen business, acquiring a considerable fortune early in life, he might have enjoyed the luxuries of this world, which his wealth would have permitted.

But John W. Weeks was not an idler. He was a doer of things. Patriotic to an unusual degree, he not only was willing to serve his country in time of war, but he was anxious to sacrifice his time, money and health for his country in times of peace. His devotion to duty, his readiness to place his country above self, should serve as an inspiration for others to emulate his career. Our cities, our states, our country have all too many little men engaged in politics for gain. More big men are needed in politics to give unselfish assistance to the cause of good government. The desire of John Weeks to be buried in Arlington, is added proof of his intense patriotism. It is fitting that his ashes should repose in the beautiful National Cemetery on the slopes above the Potomac. He gave his life for his country.

DR. THOMAS M. CARROLL

Dr. Thomas Carroll, formerly a well-known physician of this city, died suddenly Saturday morning at Lowell, his native city, where he has been engaged in practice for over 25 years. Dr. Carroll started to practice in Newton about 40 years ago. In 1898 he gave up his practice in this city and went to Germany to study. Upon his return to this country he specialized in the treatment of skin diseases. He was an accomplished pianist and was a member of the choir of the Church of Our Lady, while in Newton. Among those from this city who attended his funeral services on Tuesday were Rev. Lawrence Slattery and Rev. Conrad Quirbach of the Church of Our Lady, Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher and Daniel Warren.

POLICE NEWS

James H. Vahey, Jr., of Russell avenue, was tried before Judge Bacon this morning for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Vahey was arrested last month by Officer Jenkins. His case was continued four times, most of the postponements being made because of the inability of his counsel, John P. Feeney, to appear at the Newton Court. Judge Bacon fined Vahey $100. An appeal was taken.

Martin Boyek of 204 Concord street, Lower Falls, was fined $10 in court on Saturday for keeping fowl without a license.

RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN ON THE DEATH OF JOHN W. WEEKS

John W. Weeks has been one of Newton's best known and most respected citizens for many years. He had rare ability, courage and integrity. His life was one of usefulness and friendliness. He gave much of it to his City, State and Nation. His death brings genuine sorrow.

His public service began in this Board of Aldermen and it ended in the Cabinet of the President of the United States. In whatever councils he served men learned to look to him for leadership. He never failed to respond and his leadership was always of the highest type. Henceforth there will be greater satisfaction in trying to serve here where his public service began and the example of his high accomplishment will be an inspiration to high endeavor.

As a token of our respect and love for John W. Weeks, useful citizen and kindly neighbor, this resolution is entered on the records of this Board and a copy is sent to his family.

Unanimously adopted by rising vote of the Board of Aldermen.

FRANK M. GRANT, City Clerk.
July 13, 1926.

Senatorship, bolted the Massachusetts delegation at the Chicago convention, and voted for Charles F. Hughes. This deflection was perhaps responsible for the loss of the nomination to Mr. Weeks, and the selection of Mr. Hughes as the Republican nominee. In 1919 Senator Weeks was defeated for re-election by David I. Walsh in a very close contest; Mr. Walsh winning by about 18,000 votes. Thomas W. Lawson, who ran as an independent, polled 20,000 votes. In the National election of 1920, Mr. Weeks was a potent factor in the victory of Warren G. Harding and was made Secretary of War by the latter.

In this office, Mr. Weeks was faced by one of the most difficult assignments ever alloted to any Cabinet member. The re-establishing of the army on a peace basis, the disposal of enormous surplus stores of war materials, the settling of thousands of contractors' claims, all called for his attention and study. He engaged in this work with an intensity that caused his physique to become undermined. He deprived himself of practically all periods of recreation in his efforts to straighten out the tangles caused by the war. He achieved great success in solving the problems with which he was confronted, but he paid for it with his health.

Upon President Harding's death, Mr. Weeks was asked by President Coolidge to continue in the Cabinet. During the National political campaign of 1924, he took an active part and was one of those in charge of the Republican headquarters at New York. Following an official tour of army posts in the South, Mr. Weeks, on April 1, 1925, had an attack of thrombosis, which resulted in the loss of the use of his left arm. He recovered from this affliction, but on May 28 of that year he had to undergo an operation at the Phillips House for gall stones. Improving after this operation, he spent the summer of 1925 at West Gloucester and the following October returned to Washington, where on October 13th, he tendered his resignation to President Coolidge. He then went on a trip to South America with his wife. While returning from this trip, Mr. and Mrs. Weeks were in a train wreck in South Carolina on December 24th last and both were slightly injured. Early this year Mr. and Mrs. Weeks with friends took a trip to Hawaii. Upon his return to California, he again became severely ill, his heart having become affected. When his condition permitted he was brought East to Washington and subsequently he returned to Boston. A few weeks ago, at his request, he was taken to his native town, where his last days were spent at his beautiful estate on Mount Prospect.

In 1890, when the Massachusetts Naval Brigade was organized, he was elected commander of the 4th Division and subsequently commanded the brigade for six years. When the Spanish War started in 1898, Captain Weeks was the third volunteer officer to be commissioned in the navy and was appointed to command the second division of the auxiliary navy. In 1894 he was made a member of the military board of examiners of this state and in 1896 President Cleveland selected him as a member of the board of visitors to the United States Naval Academy. He was prominent in the social life of this city and of the state. Among the clubs to which he belonged were th Newton, Brae Burn, Boston Art, University, Chevy Chase of Maryland, Metropolitan of Washington, D. C. He had also held membership in the Military Order of Foreign Wars, Sons of the Revolution, Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War, the Army and Navy Club, and the Society of Cincinnati.

During his career in Congress he was largely instrumental in the enactment of the progressive legislation effecting the monetary and financial laws of the country, serving as a member of the National Monetary Commission. He more than any other man, is responsible for the creation of the forest reserves in the White Mountains. He worked unremittingly for the conservation of our forest lands.

In addition to his membership in the firm of Hornblower & Weeks, the deceased had been president of the Newtonville Trust Company, president of the Massachusetts National Bank of Boston, Vice President of the First National Bank of Boston, and a director in many commercial and manufacturing enterprises. Upon his election to the United States Senate, he withdrew from the banking firm he had helped organize and severed all business connections that would have enabled him in any way to profit by any legislative action.

When the news of Mr. Weeks' death reached Newton on Monday morning, Mayor Childs ordered all flags on municipal buildings and public flagstaffs to be placed at half mast. Secretary of War Dwight Davis, who succeeded Mr. Weeks, issued orders that flags at all army posts be lowered to half mast on the day of the funeral. The remains were brought from Lancaster to West Newton Tuesday, and yesterday morning laid in state at the First Unitarian Church from 10 to 12.30. A detachment of soldiers from the 5th and 13th United States Infantry regiments, stationed at Camp Devens, stood guard. Despite the fact that the family had requested that no floral tributes be sent, the chancel of the church was filled with flowers from organizations and friends of the deceased.

The funeral services were held at 2 yesterday afternoon in the First Church which was much too small to hold all who wished to attend; hundreds standing outside along Washington street. For a half hour preceding the services, these selections were played by Rupert Sircom, organist of the church— "Meditation" by Harvey Grace; air from the Suite in D by Bach; Guilmant's "Lamentation"; two chorales, "Commit Thy Ways, O Pilgrims" and "A Mighty Fortress is our God," and Handel's "Largo." Shortly before the service started the vested choir of the church entered the chancel.

At 2 o'clock the funeral procession, entered, headed by Rev. Paul Phalen and Rev. George A. Gordon, D. D., of the New Old South Church of Boston. They were followed by the honorary pall bearers, Secretary of War Dwight Davis, Attorney General John C. Sargent, Postmaster General Harry New, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Senator William M. Butler, Senator Frederick Gillett, Senator George M. Moses of New Hampshire, Senator Ovington Weller of Maryland, Major Generals John G. Harbord and John G. Hines, General George Barnet, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Ex-Senator Joseph Freylinghuysen of New Jersey, ex-Congressmen Samuel Winslow and Charles G. Washburn of Worcester, General Edgar R. Champlin, Hon. Charles D. Hilles, Hon. J. M. Wainwright, Henry Hornblower, James J. Phelan, John W. Prentiss and Henry N. Sweet of the firm of Hornblower & Weeks; Daniel G. Wing, Seward W. Jones, W. B. H. Dowse, Henry B. Day, William H. Coolidge, R. P. Hains, James H. Wainwright, Fred H. Williams, James P. Graves, Walter A. Holman, Charles C. Pierce, Judge Charles T. Davis.

The body bearers were eight sergeants from the regular army.

The ushers at the church were Hon. Charles E. Hatfield, William F. Garcelon, Edward W. Baker, Ralph Hornblower, Edward L. Geary, George P. Bullard, Jesse S. Wiley, Frank W. Remick, Carl E. Pickhardt, Captain James Parker, Captain T. C. Frothingham, Dr. Robert Moffatt, William L. McWarner, John W. Martin and Howard A. Crossman.

As the procession entered the church, Rev. Mr. Phalen began the reading of the Scriptural arrangement for the service. After a brief prayer he announced that the hymns which would be sung by the congregation were those that were Mr. Weeks' favorites. The first of these hymns, "Abide With Me," was then sung. After the hymn, Rev. Mr. Phalen read "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." The congregation then sang "Lead Kindly Light," following which the eulogy was delivered by Dr. Gordon. This eulogy is printed in full on page 7. Prayer by Mr. Phalen, the singing of "Nearer by God to Thee"—and the service was over. As the casket was carried from the church by the regular army sergeants, the "Dead March from Saul" was played.

In the gathering which filled the church were men of prominence in the political, military and business life of the state and nation. Army officers of high rank were present in numbers, headed by Major General Preston Brown. Governor Fuller, Lieutenant Governor Allen, Mayor Quinn of Cambridge, Mayor Nichols of Boston, former Governor Channing Cox, Congresswoman Edith N. Rogers, Attorney General Benton, President Wells of the State Senate, General Logan—were among those who came. Delegations were present from many organizations.

Included in the scores of floral tributes were pieces from President and Mrs. Coolidge, Secretary of War Davis, Major General Preston Brown, General Charlton, the British military attache, Governor Fuller, the Massachusetts Legislature, the class of 1881 Annapolis, Senator Ovington Weller, William B. H. Dowse, the First National Bank of Boston, Henry Hornblower, the Neighborhood Club of West Newton, the officers of the Washington Barracks, American War Veterans Club of Washington, Republican Club of Massachusetts, Wardroom Club, Major General Barnett and "The Faithful Ten." Among the telegrams of condolence received by the family of Mr. Weeks were those from the Japanese mbassy, Hungarian Embassy, Theodore Roosevelt and Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers.

Headed by Newton motorcycle police the cortege proceeded through Newtonville, Newton and Watertown to Mount Auburn Cemtery. There, in the chapel, Dr. Brown pronounced the words of committal, and as he concluded, a detachment of soldiers, under Captain Brickley, stationed on the lawn outside the chapel, fired three volleys in accordance with military custom. As the echoes of the salute died away, "Taps" were sounded by Corp. Hall and Private Teague. The remains were cremated, and later the ashes will be interred in a lot at Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac from Washington.

Mr. Weeks is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha A. Weeks, one son, Sinclair Weeks of West Newton, a daughter, Mrs. John W. Davidge of Washington, D. C., and seven grandchildren, Frances L., John W., Martha S., William D., and Sinclair Weeks, Jr.; Martha S. and John W. Davidge.

City Hall at West Newton was closed at noon and the stores at West Newton, Newtonville and Newton were closed during the funeral services and while the funeral procession proceeded to Mount Auburn Cemetery. Along the flagways in these villages, the flags hung at half mast yesterday.

BULLOUGHS POND IMPROVEMENTS

Mud Will Be Removed, Gravel Fills Made, Weirs Built

The much needed improvement of Bulloughs Pond will soon be under way. Bids were opened Wednesday morning for removing 6600 cubic yards of mud, hauling and placing about 5000 cubic yards of gravel filling, building a reinforced catch basin and weirs, and building about 430 feet of 15 inch pipe drains. The bidders and figures submitted were:

C. & R. Construction Company, Boston, $20,361; Vincenzo Barletta, West Roxbury, $21,069; A. Barrufaldi, Somerville, $26,188; James Chesarone, Wellesley, $27,909; Atillio Dadario, Mattapan, $28,500; John W. Duff, Boston, $31,776; John McDonald Construction Co., $34,074; DeChristofaro Bros., Roslindale, $34,552; Antonio Daddario, Hyde Park, $42,892.

In his last inaugural address, Mayor Childs recommended that the pond be dredged and that steps be taken to prevent the refilling of the pond by the silt brought into it from Hammond and Cold Spring brooks. The Engineering department of this city after taking soundings at Bulloughs, estimated that in the past 26 years, 13,000 cubic yards of mud has been carried into this body of water by the brook feeding it. As one result, the south end of the pond, where the brook enters, has become so filled, that the mud arose above the ordinary level of the water and much of the surrounding water became so shallow as to become covered with vegetable growth. The current at this end of the pond was such, that except in extremely cold weather, no ice could form, and a considerable area was lost for skating purposes.

According to the plans devised by the Engineering Department, 6600 cubic yards of mud will be removed from the south end of the pond and along the channel of the brook which flows through it. Gravel fills will be made at those parts of the pond where sharp corners now exist. These fills will serve two purposes. They will eliminate a couple of small coves which have been unsightly because they formed gathering places for leaves and debris, and they will provide places where the Playground employees can dump the snow which is cleared off the ice every winter. Heretofore this snow has had to be dumped along the sides of the ice surface, materially reducing the skating area.

To prevent more mud from being deposited in the pond in the future, a catch basin will be constructed 35 feet long and 15 feet wide. At the pond end of this basin a weir will be built which will confine the silt in the basin and will restrain the current. Under the outside wall of this weir an underflow will carry the water from the brook in a gentle stream into the pond. This method will allow ice to form at this end of the pond and will add largely to the area available for skating. It will also prevent a recurrence of the unsightly mud banks now existing near the Commonwealth avenue corner of this attractive body of water. A second weir will be built at the outlet of the pond near Dexter road. This weir will assist in preventing any appreciable surface currents on the pond and will aid in causing more rapid and more extensive forming of ice each winter. Near the north-east corner of the pond a gravel fill will be made to shallow the water. Over this fill the hockey rink will be erected winters. This will safeguard the hockey players, who sometimes may break through thin ice when they are playing some scheduled game after a warm spell of weather. It will also serve to remove the hockey rink to one end of the pond, thus allowing much more space for general skating.

EULOGY OF THE LATE JOHN W. WEEKS DELIVERED BY DR. GEORGE A. GORDON

The following eulogy of the late John W. Weeks was delivered by the Rev. Dr. George A. Gordon at the services yesterday:

Some one put the question to Frederic Denison Maurice, the great prophet of English faith in the 19th century, "Shall we know our friends in the other world?" The reply was another question, "Are we sure that we know them here?" We who are his friends and fellow citizens thought we knew John W. Weeks; we thought so while he lived, since he passed away from us we have discovered that we did not know him. The image of him reflected in the national prints of the country give him back to us in a magnitude and a worth and an impressive power that we did not appreciate.

Now that he has been taken from us, we see through eyes purified by grief. Men of his calibre are like great forest trees; we do not know their size until they are down. Today, therefore, we stand in the awe of a great surprise, and our first word is a confession of thankfulness for the vision that is now given us into the greatness and worth of the friend whom we thought we had known so long.

In his time, Plato found it difficult to get the best men to take office, and his way of meeting the difficulty was to propose a fine, to be imposed upon the best men who refused to make the great sacrifice, and the fine was for the best men to be ruled by unfit men. There is the great political fine; when the best men refuse to make this great sacrifice, the fit men are ruled by the unfit. Here is the sacred pathway to the motive that lifted Mr. Weeks from the cheerful ways of his business associates, from the easy mastery of the life to which he had been bred for many years, the motive that lifted him into the service of his country.

He desired to help fit men to govern this great country, by his labor, his courage, his faith and his devotion, with others who helped to make this republic mightier, more prosperous, happier and charged, as it fronted the future, with a great and reasonable hope.

Like all men who perform the highest kind of service, the ultimate source of his power, was his character. What should we think of any appreciation of Washington that should leave out of account of the great fountain of his power, his monumental character? What should we think of any homage given to Abraham Lincoln that should fail to recognize the character which made possible his great career?

When Mr. Gladstone died, distinguished men all over the United Kingdom vied with one another in the eulogy of his gifts, his power, and his influence; but when John Morley came to write the life of Gladstone, he selected the words of his great political antagonist, Lord Salisbury, as coming nearest as he said, to the heart of the great solemnity. Lord Salisbury said: "Mr. Gladstone was the most brilliant intellect in the parliamentary history of his country, but his power lay deeper, it lay in the fact that he was a great Christian statesman." Those words came from an able and unrelenting political foe. The ultimate source of Mr. Weeks' power was his character. He had an extraordinary physical endowment, he had an intellect versatile, massive, and masterly, but his character was the great foundation of his power—high purpose, high feelings, courage, the capacity to consider himself last, his country first, devotion magnificent, to the welfare of the republic.

We have been saying to ourselves during the last few days that he died too early; 66 years for such a man seems altogether too brief. But the great question about a time-piece is not how long it takes to run down; the great question is its fidelity to the sun and its trustworthy report of the progress of all shining hours of the day. The great question about a human being is not how long he lives; it is, for what has he lived? Great ideals, great causes, the public good, the honor, the dignity, the might, of the American republic and its instrumentality in the hand of God for the liberation and service of mankind.

As I think of the life of our friend, the poet's words come to me, of one:

Whose life in low estate began
And in a simple village green;
Who breaks his birth's invidious bar,
And grasps the skirts of happy chance,
And breasts the blows of circumstance
And grapples with his evil star;
Who makes by force his merit known
And lives to clutch the golden keys,
To mould a mighty state's decrees,
And shape the whisper of the throne.

There is our friend's life. Conquest at every step, ascension to political power by the way of his character, the force of his purpose of spirit; and his life in all its energy and worth has been received into the heart of the nation, there to abide, part of the saving grace of the nation, part of its redemptive power, part of the great assurance through all time to come, of its integrity and glory. Is this all? Are you satisfied with this and no more? I am not. There must be something for the servant who gave all that he had and who has been dismissed from life in this world. What has become of him? What are his wages? The poet will tell us:

Glory of warrior, glory of orator, glory of song,
Paid with a voice flying by to be lost on an endless sea;
Glory of Virtue, to fight, to struggle, to right the wrong,
Nay, but she aimed not at glory, no lover of glory she;
Give her the glory of going on, and still to be.
The wages of sin is death, if the wages of Virtue be dust,
Would she have heart to endure for the life of the work and the fly?
She desires no isles of the blest, no quiet seats of the just,
To rest in a golden grove, or to bask in a summer sky.
Give her the wages of going on, and not to die.

In this faith we lay to rest this great friend of the American Republic.

THE PRICE OF A WORTH WHILE NEWSPAPER

Ordinarily it is considered rather poor taste for a man to talk about himself. Yet there are times when it is due him and his neighbors that he should make his purposes and ideals clear to those about him in order that he may have a proper understanding and co-operation in any worth while work in which he may be engaged. We believe that the same is true of a newspaper, and that is due our readers and the public generally that it should make clear its own idea of its function in the community and plainly indicate the sort of support it thinks it should have in performing its work.

Now there are those who regard a newspaper merely as a business—in the case of a small-town newspaper as a rather small and precarious business like, let us say, that of the boot-black stand or the fruit store or the bakeshop—and think of the editor as a business man who like any other should take his chances, sink or swim, survive or perish, on his ability to market his wares.

One can see what this conception of a newspaper leads to. It means that the editor, if he wishes his paper to succeed, should look first to feathering his own nest and regard the welfare of the community only insofar as his regard, or seeming regard, will lead to financial success. The prevalence of this idea of the newspaper is one reason why there are to be found so many newspapers in our small towns which have no merit which any intelligent and public-spirited person can discern.

But there is another conception of the newspaper which we hold to be the right one. This is that it is a public service whose primary aim should be, not merely to make money, but like the schools and the churches to contribute to the enlightenment and welfare of the community.

The worth while newspaper can do a great deal besides purvey village gossip and relate the social happenings of the week. It should, in the first place, be a medium of expressing the community to itself and to the world outside the town limits. It should have some definite notion of the possibilities, business, material and spiritual, of the community, and endeavor to hold these possibilities clearly before its readers, just as it should try to keep before them the fine local traditions which tend to inspire sincere effort. It should, and it frequently does, co-operate with all those who are working for the public welfare and support any good cause with ample publicity. It should be a mirror in which the citizen may see the working of his town government, always ready to praise loyal and efficient public service and not fearing to expose a lack of it. It should be one of the strongest forces for the development of an intelligent public opinion and it can be an influence for the maintaining of public morals far more powerful than the police department.

Almost anyone will agree that the newspaper which does all these things is performing an invaluable public service. Yet you nowhere find the local editor on the public payroll, drawing a salary for these undeniably useful public services.

Those then who realize what an intelligent, sincere and energetic newspaper can do for a community should be ready and quick to lend their support in any way they can. The public at large should be loyal subscribers and readers. The business men should be as generous in their advertiging as their means and business permit. The town government, in praticular, should see to it that the local newspaper receives what advertising and printing it has to give.

It seems to us that in Lexington such support should be readily forthcoming. As we pointed out last week among the greatest charms and assets of the town are its traditions and individuality. And as we also pointed out the growth that is already beginning to sweep over us is going to prove a menace to these most valuable possessions.

If Lexington is going to continue to be Lexington—a larger and more progressive Lexington, but still Lexington, instead of a back door to Boston as other suburbs have become—we must have two things: a strong local support of local institutions and local business, and a newspaper that can keep town traditions, town loyalty and worth while town ideals before its readers, old residents, and newcomers, alike. These will bring their fruits in increased material prosperity and growth of property values as well as in the less tangible but no less real psychological effect. Of course this attitude should not be an excuse for either the local merchants or the local newspaper to overcharge. But both should be allowed a reasonable chance to exist.

And the town government, itself, should be first to set the proper in town loyalty. As long as local charges are not absurdly high local business men should be patronized by it first. And when standard prices are offered by the local business men or newspapers we do not hesitate to say that it is an act of public disloyalty for town officials to spend the people's money out of town simply because some outside concern offers a ridiculously low price. Such a course is not only disloyal but plainly "a penny wise and a pound foolish."

As far as The Times is concerned, under present conditions, it can go on year in and year out publishing a paper as good as—probably superior to—the ordinary small town newspaper. But it wants to do something better because it feels that the community is worth it. It wants to publish a paper which shall fittingly express the best there is in Lexington to come somewhere near fulfilling its possibilities for public service.

To that end it wants the co-operation of the most intelligent and public-spirited element of the town, the support of a large majority of the public as readers, the advertising support of the merchants and the support of the town government in the matter of public advertising and printing where i is possible and reasonable.

In that way Lexington may have the sort of newspaper which it deserves, of which it may be proud and which everyone says he wants.

—Lexington Times.

THREE MONTHS IN INDIA

Dr. Harold G. Noyes of Newton Centre, Mass., formerly of Boston City Hospital, and now medical missionary at the Crawford Memorial Hospital of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Vikarabad, India, reports to the Board of Foreign Missions that his activities during the first three months of 1926 could be summed up in the words "bubonic plague."

"At times we had six to eight patients in the hospital at one time, all needing great care. Even now we have two, one extremely serious, with fever of 105.4 degrees F. It will take our utmost efforts to save him, for he is an old man, somewhat feeble. So far our record has been very good, seventeen saved out of twenty-five; usually twenty-one out of twenty-five die. Two of these were the pneumonic type with shouting delirium declared hopeless by native doctors.

"Nobody who has not seen this disease can have any idea how terrible it is. The influenza bad as it was, very seldom struck down its victim so quickly. There was not the extremely severe pain, alarming high fever, nor fearful loss of mind in so short a time. Only cholera can compare in fearsomeness with bubonic plague, and even for that there is more hope in treatment. Right on our own compound we have had two cases, one of our waterwomen and our cook's boy. But they had the preventive inoculation and came through safely.

"Day after day we have gone out to the villages, from five to fifty miles away, giving the serum to keep off the epidemic. It seems that about ninety per cent of those taken with plague die; but that of the inoculated less than half die, and of those who recover fewer have complications. Thus we feel certain that we have rescued many from this peril.

"Our old Tin Liz has done nobly, going over roads that one would think passable only to bullock-carts. In many places we had to use crowbar and pick-axe freely. Just last week we were called to a distant town, more specially to do vaccination against small-pox because at this season this dreadful contagion begins to spread among the people. You who are so well protected by careful boards of health have no idea how bad this can be. The number of those who have been blinded is simply appalling. The one-eyed are everywhere, and frightful scarring of the face is so common as to pass almost unnoticed. We were glad to be able to protect some two hundred and fifty, mostly small children, from these troubles.

"After a sixty mile drive over good roads, we came to Mahaboonager, where I stopped over night with some Baptist missionary friends, while the Indian medical student and the compounder put up with the brother of the latter. Next day, after struggling through deep sands, where in some places it took eight men to push, and after getting stuck for a while in a waterhole with water over the hubs, we arrived in time for bazaar. As there is no doctor in that town of 2500 (and none nearer than half a day's journey by cart, and he is already overworked) the people simply crowded around. The rst patient was one of the headmen, who needed a long-troublesome tooth pulled. Then came the blind, the lame, the leprous, and other sufferers. We passed out medicine right and left until dark, and were interrupted at evening prayers, led by the preacher of that town at whose house we stopped, by a child crying out from scorpion-sting. Even after we had retired to our cot, another child was brought, screaming with pain, having been stung by one of those creatures."

LAWN PARTY

Members and friends of St. John's Church, Newton Lower Falls, are making elaborate plans for a lawn party and field day to be held on the church grounds, Washington street, Saturday, July 24, from 2 P. M. until 11 P. M. A continuous program of fun and entertainment for young and old will be provided. This will include sports, games and a "kiddies" parade for the children in the afternoon and dancing of both modern and old-time numbers and other attractions in the evening for the older folks. A midway of amusements will be a feature.

The chief guest of the occasion will be former United States Senator David I. Walsh who will deliver an address at nine o'clock that night. He has assured the committee he positively will be present and as the party is not to be confined to a strictly parish affair and no admission is to be charged a large gathering of Newton and Wellesley residents is expected to accord him a big reception.

It will be the first big event held under the auspices of the parish since Rev. John J. Flood assumed the pastorate and parishioners and other friends have extended him assurances of co-operation. His assistant, Rev. James H. O'Connell, will be in charge of the program for the children in the afternoon. The general committee in charge of the party is headed by Mr. P. J. Gleason, chairman, and Mr. John H. McGrath as secretary.

CONSERVE WATER SUPPLY

Water Commissioner J. Clifton Whitney has requested householders throughout the city to refrain from watering their gardens and lawns until sufficient rain has fallen to increase the water supply in the Waban Hill reservoir. The supply is somewhat less than usual and because of the threatening weather on several occasions the water department withheld issuance of the order.

Every summer the city is compelled to buy water from the Metropolitan system during the hot weather months and with the supply in the reservoir low the city will probably cut into the Metropolitan supply within a short while.

DOG GOES MAD

A Samoyede dog, the property of Mrs. Michael McDonald of 34 Channing street, Newton, went suddenly mad Monday morning. Mrs. McDonald was bitten on the hand by the animal, which then jumped from a third story piazza to the yard. Matty Daley of Richardson street, who happened to be in a nearby store, grabbed a box, rushed out, and placed it over the dog. Daley then sat on the box until the arrival of Patrolmen Keating and Taffe. A corner of the box was torn off, and one shot from Keating's pistol ended the struggles of the Samoyede. Its head was sent to the Harvard Medical School for examination.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending July 10—Patients in hospital 114; patients paying as much as cost of care or more 50; patients paying less than cost of care 31; free patients, including babies, 33; babies born, boys 5, girls 5; patients treated by out patient department 89; patients treated at eye clinic 3; accident cases 13; social service calls at hospital 15; at homes 10; patients transferred by social service car 5.

On Wednesday Miss Allen, the superintendent, left for her month's vacation in Maine. During her absence Miss Humphreys, the assistant superintendent, will be in charge.

There are two lost articles at the hospital for which owners are desired. One is a coat left about ten days ago in the front hall and the other is a large black pocket book left in the waiting room. The pocket book contained no money but a number of cards but none of the names on the cards appear to be that of the owner.

Miss Gray, who has for several years served on the telephone board, is now on vacation in Swampscott and Lynn.

Little Elizabeth Coyne, who was brought to the hospital on the 19th of last December suffering from bad burns, went home this week. In her last three weeks at the hospital she had been busy trying to make herself a dress and she did a great deal of sewing upon it but friends on the staff helped her out and not only finished the dress but also provided a slip to go with it. Elizabeth to show her appreciation of the hospital and what has been done for her there, insisted on giving a $5 gold piece, which was a present to her, towards a fund to buy a piano for the new nurses home.

POND-SHIPP

Miss Mabel E. Shipp, daughter of Mrs. and the late Charles W. Shipp of Newton, was married at noon last Saturday at the Pilgrim Church, Dorchester, to Mr. Harold W. Pond of Brighton, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Manley F. Allbright.

The decorations at the church were wild flowers and the music was furnished by Mrs. Katherine McMichael.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains Mr. and Mrs. Pond will reside at Eliot Heights where they will be at home after October 1st.

The bride was formerly a resident of Dorchester.

MRS. FANNIE M. CHIPMAN

Mrs. Fannie M. Chipman, wife of Curtis Chipman of 62 Chester street, Newton Highlands, died Friday at the Parkway Hospital, Brookline. She was born in Vermont 47 years ago and has resided in this city for 15 years. She was a member of St. Paul's Church and a director of the Newton Highlands Women's Club. She is survived by her husband, one son and a daughter. Her funeral services were held Monday afternoon at St. Paul's Church, Rev. Charles Farrar officiating. Cremation was at Mount Auburn.

Always Something

City people sometimes think they will move out to the country temporarily "to see the spring come in," but before they get started the weather is too hot.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

A joint meeting of the Newton and Waltham Rotary Clubs was held Monday noon at the Woodland Golf Club with a large representation of the Watch City club members being present. William Alexander led the singing. The speaker was Mr. Paul O. Sampson of the National Health League who spoke on "The Joy of Eats." He proved to be a very entertaining speaker and his ideas on food were put in such a clear, reasonable and common sense manner that he awakened considerable thought among his hearers.

Indigestion and stomach trouble is not caused by the individual foods that we eat but by the combinations which we put into our stomachs. He likened a stomach ache to an explosion caused by such combinations. One of the worst things that we can do, and one of the most common things done, is to eat fruit the first thing in the morning. This causes an accumulation of acid in the stomach and prevents the proper digestion of the other foods that we eat for breakfast.

Mr. Sampson has probably made more addresses and spoken before more organizations in the country than any other one speaker in the last ten years. In this period he has given over two thousand lectures before all kinds of clubs, organizations, and schools throughout the country.

ARTICLE No. 30

One of the charms of auction is the peculiar fact that interesting hands have a habit of coming up at the most unexpected moments. You will be playing along for hours and only normal hands will be dealt and then a puzzling hand will come up, one that invites discussion and a more or less wide difference of opinion. Auction players everywhere love to talk over hands and the so-called "post-mortem" is as much a part of the game as the play and bidding itself. The "unexpected" is really auction's greatest charm and because of the infinite number of hands possible, this unexpected element always will be present.

It really is remarkable that good players, even in the same group or club, differ so radically in their theory of bidding. Such is the case, however, and it is really a tribute to the greatness of auction as a game. The individual element has so far prevailed and as long as it does auction will retain its popularity. To really enjoy a game or competition of any kind the player likes to feel that he is as good as the next one, that he has an even chance, and auction certainly offers that attraction.

Diamonds — K, Q, 7, 6
Spades — A

If it were the rubber game and no score, what would you bid with the foregoing hand? The proper bid is one club. It is too unbalanced a hand to justify a no-trump bid, and yet it is too strong to pass. The only other alternative is a bid of one club.

Hand No. 2

Hearts — K, J, 9, 7
Clubs — Q, 10, 9, 6
Diamonds — A, 7, 5
Spades — A, 6

Y / A B / Z

Score, YZ 20, AB 0, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump, A doubled, Y passed and B bid two hearts. Z bid three diamonds, A three hearts, Y four diamonds and all passed. What should A open? This hand is a perfect example of a trump opening. A's proper opening is the ace of diamonds, followed by the seven. He has the other three suits well protected and in each of them he would prefer to have the suit led to him. The high bidding of his opponents indicate that A's partner cannot have a trick in trumps so the trump lead cannot lose and the other element of a proper trump opening is also present.

Hand No. 3

Hearts — Q, J, 8, 7, 4
Clubs — 8, 6
Diamonds — K, 10, 8, 4, 2
Spades — K

Y / A B / Z

Hearts — A, K
Clubs — K, 7, 4
Diamonds — J
Spades — A, J, 9, 8, 6, 4, 2

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade, A passed, Y bid two hearts and B passed. Z bid two spades, A passed, Y bid three diamonds and B passed. What should Z now bid? Y's bid of three diamonds is questionable. After Z's rebid of spades, Y should figure that his singleton king is a valuable asset and that there is a better chance for game in spades than in diamonds. After his bid of three diamonds, however, Z should not hesitate to bid three spades. There is a much better chance for game in spades than in hearts. He is almost certain to get a club opening, just the one he wants, for it is the only suit that hasn't been bid. All in all, the three spade bid seems preferable to three hearts, the only other alternative.

Problem No. 15

Hearts — K
Clubs — K, Q, 9
Diamonds — J, 8, 5
Spades — K, 5

Hearts — none		Hearts — A, J, 6, 4
Clubs — J, 8, 7, 6, 5, 3	Y	Clubs — none
Diamonds — 7, 3	A B	Diamonds — K, Q
Spades — J	Z	Spades — Q, 4, 3

Hearts — 8, 7, 5, 3, 2
Clubs — none
Diamonds — 10, 6
Spades — 9, 7

In this hand spades were trumps and Z was in the lead. How can he play the hand so that he and his partner can win four of the nine tricks against any defense?

Answer to Problem No. 15

Z should lead the seven of spades, Y winning the trick with the king. Y should now lead the king of clubs. If B trumps with a low spade, Z will overtrump with the nine of spades and lead the deuce of hearts. B must now lose two heart tricks. B's best play at trick two is to trump with the queen of spades Z must then discard the nine of spades so that B cannot force him in the lead. No matter how B now plays, YZ are bound to win three more tricks. Note that if Z doesn't discard the nine of spades when B plays the queen, YZ will only win three tricks. Suppose Z discards a heart. B should now lead the king and queen of diamonds, the ace of hearts and then his last spade. Z is forced to win this trick with the nine and must now lead the eight of hearts. B should allow him to win this trick. B must now win the next two heart tricks. Played in this way YZ can only win three tricks. The problem is thus noteworthy in that Z must discard a trump in order to avoid the lead and thus gain a trick.

ANNUAL OUTING

The annual outing of the Newton Corner business men was held Wednesday afternoon at the Pine Grove Inn, Marlboro, Mass., with nearly eighty in attendance. Leaving Newton Corner shortly after one the business men arrived at the Inn where Red Chapman, world's champion fighter, is working out for his title fight with Kid Moore in New York next Wednesday night. Chapman came into the ring and after shadow boxing for several minutes went three rounds with his sparring partner.

The sporting events and races were held after which dinner was served. Mayor Childs was present and made a brief speech. Raymond Williams, former manager of the Woolworth 5 and 10 store, who has recently taken up a similar position in the Waltham store was given a leather card case and a key container with the Elks emblem embossed on them. John T. Burns, one of the oldest business men of the section, made the presentation. Eddie King's orchestra made a big hit with the diners who joined enthusiastically in the singing of popular songs which was led by Bert Clark of Waltham who later put on a one-man entertainment.

Clark entertained the gathering for more than an hour with his character songs and quick changes of make-up. While he was singing and telling jokes on the various business men he transformed himself in to a Harry Lauder, thence into a son of old Erin, and then into a dusky negro from the sunny southland.

The various events and prize winners were as follows:

$2500 FOR SURVEY

Chairman Baker of the Special Committee on the New City Hall made what he termed a partial report to the aldermen on Wednesday. He referred to the hearings held throughout the city and expressed disappointment at the small attendance, but about 1 per cent of the people attending. Those who did come showed genuine interest and offered some good suggestions. The committee held four meetings subsequent to the public hearings, and reached the decision that it is expedient that work on a new city hall be started within three years; that the land at the corner of Washington and Waltham streets be taken now for municipal purposes; that the so called "triangle site" be taken for memorial purposes.

On June 28, the aldermen on the special committee, conferred with such of their colleagues on the Board as attended a meeting called as a Committee of the Whole. All those present decided that at this time no land should be purchased until a survey of both sites, at West Newton and the triangle will have been made. The Mayor has been consulted and agrees that architectural experts be hired to make the survey. One firm of architects had been asked as to the probable cost of such a survey and had estimated that $2500 would be an approximate estimate. This firm would be willing to make the survey for this sum, and would agree to refund this amount, should they obtain the contract to draw plans for the hall when it will be erected.

Mr. Baker then read the scope of the preliminary study of the new city hall and other municipal buildings which will be included in the survey. It follows:—

1. Making survey of present accommodations at City Hall, Court

ALDERMEN HOLD LENGHTY SESSION WEDNESDAY NIGHT

ARGUE OVER NEWTON CENTRE ZONING

A score of residents from Parker and Paul streets, Athelstane, Halcyon and Oxford road, and Glenwood avenue, appeared at City Hall Wednesday night under the lead of John V. Spalding, to favor those streets being changed from the general and private residence zones to the single residence zone.

Mr. Spalding, who was the first speaker for the petitioners, quoted Shakespeare and said "Brevity is the soul of wit." He said he would be brief, but from the length of time he spoke, he must have forgotten the Bard of Avon. He referred to a previous petition entered last year by Dr. Richard Norton, which at first met with the approval of the aldermanic committee, but which later was rejected because it did not include enough territory. The present petition was drawn to comply with this requirement. He said 48 property owners of that section favor the change and the only opposition comes from real estate dealers and promoters. The district, according to Mr. Spalding, is essentially single family, there being eight houses of this type for every one of the two family type. He asked that all in the hall who favored the change stand; 19 persons rose.

George W. Burrage was the opening speaker for the remonstrants. He disagreed with Mr. Spalding that the district is single family. He claimed it is almost entirely surrounded by general residence zones, already ten two-family houses have been built within the district and 36 lots have been sold to persons intending to erect this type of house. It would be a hardship on these persons to deprive them of the right to develop their lots as they intended.

Ralph Alvord said it is hard to understand why rezoning is asked for at this time, after houses of the two-family type have been in process of construction for a year. He knows of no place in the city better adapted for superior type two family houses,

GASOLINE STATIONS

As the use of automobiles increases, the demand for gasoline increases. It is but natural therefore that more gasoline filling station permits be sought. Wednesday night the usual grist of hearings on gas stations came before the Board of Aldermen. The first hearing was on the petition of the Highland Oil Company for a gasoline storage station on the Highland Mill property at the rear of Needham street, Newton Highlands. Two overhead tanks are desired, in which will be stored 20,000 gallons of motor fuel.

James P. Gallagher appeared as attorney for the petitions. He explained that these tanks will be 300 feet from the street, 285 feet from the nearest residence, in a manufacturing zone, and that every safeguard will be used to comply with the laws regarding such structures. Mr. Gallagher remarked that Newton has perhaps more autos in proportion to its population than any city in the state, and that such a storage station, permitting gasoline to be bought in carload lots, will tend to bring about a reduction in the cost of this very necessary commodity, which will be to the advantage of the thousands of auto owners in Newton.

Charles E. Beane of 1627 Centre street arose to protest against this permit being granted. From Mr. Beane's opening remarks, Alderman Bail sensed that he was confusing the petition under discussion with another petition entered by Albert T. Stuart for a gasoline station at 1637 Centre street. There was no opposition to the petition.

The second hearing on the docket was on the petition of Albert T. Stuart for a permit to erect a 75 car public garage at 1645 Centre street, Newton Highlands, the building to be one story high, 77 by 160 feet, with a gasoline tank of 1000 gallons to be inside the structure.

In conjunction with this petition, Mr. Stuart presented another petition for a gasoline station at 1637 Centre street, where 2000 gallons of gas will be kept. James P. Gallagher again acted as attorney for Mr. Stuart. He told the aldermen that the two petitions represent a comprehensive de-

PEPPY HEARING ON CHARLESBANK ROAD

Children on St. James street are as much entitled to protection from automobile hazards as children on Charlesbank road. So asserted F. A. Ober of 15 St. James street at the aldermanic meeting Wednesday night. Prior to the construction of the boulevard along the Charles river, little traffic was seen on St. James street, which is a narrow way 16 feet wide leading from Washington street to Charlesbank road, a distnace of a few hundred yards. Most of the traffic from Newton to the boulevard went over Charlesbank road, which is also a very narrow street, and one which has two bad curves.

When the traffic ordinance was passed a couple of years past, Charlesbank road was made a one-way street, going east from Washington street at Newton Corner, to St. James street. The latter street remained a two-way street. Residents on it have been urging the aldermen to either improve it or restrict traffic upon it. An order was introduced at a recent aldermanic meeting to make St. James street a one-way street for vehicles going in a northerly direction, and Charlesbank road from St. James street to Washington street, a one-way street for vehicles going in a westerly direction. The hearing on this matter was held Wednesday evening.

Frank H. Burt of Charlesbank road told of the hazards of that thoroughfare and opposed the change from existing conditions. James M. Cannon of 119 Charlesbank road asserted that the change would bring onto Charlesbank road much of the traffic now using Maple street, Watertown, to the great danger of the children who live on his street. He described the bad hazard at the corner of the road where he lives, and told of autos running over the sidewalks at his lot to avoid collisions.

F. A Ober stated that as many as 400 autos an hour pass through narrow St. James street, which has but one sidewalk. Persons residing on the street are frequently compelled to run up the bank on the sidewalkless side of the street to avoid being hit by autos. He asserted that the folks on Charlesbank road should not have it all their own way.

Henry Kinchla of 68 Charlesbank road thought that much of the danger at the corner of Charlesbank road and St. James street can be avoided if a danger signal is placed there, and if the police do their duty and stop auto owners parking their cars on that side of Charlesbank road where parking is forbidden. The question will probably be decided by the aldermen before their next meeting.

FIELD MEET

The Vacation Church Schools of Waltham, Watertown and Newtonville will meet Wednesday afternoon, July 28 at Cabot Park for a Field Meet. Children in the Junior Departments of the schools will participate. Events have been planned for all boys and girls. Relay races, obstacle races, bean hunts and other games are on the program. The program will close with the salutes to the Christian and United States flags which is a part of the regular programs of the three Vacation Schools.

This meet marks the beginning of the cooperative efforts in the Community Vacation Church Schools of Newton and vicinity. The meet was planned at a joint meeting of the workers of the three schools held last Friday. More than 100 children are expected to participate in the games.

MORE WATER

Another important step in the improvement of Newton's water supply was taken Monday night by the aldermen when they appropriated $15,000 to defray the cost of a new concrete supply well at the Newton water reservation at Needham. The rapid growth of this city has caused the present supply to become inadequate, and for sometime Newton has frequently had to resort to the Metropolitan Water System to meet its needs. The present water supply of Newton was established in 1876, when the large tract of land, on the shores of Charles River, above Kendrick Bridge, was obtained.

On the Needham side of the river a wooden conduit, 4 feet square, was built, which ran underground into a large gallery. Into this conduit seeped the water from the surrounding hills. In 1886 an extension was made to this conduit, bringing its total length to 4000 feet. In 1893, to increase the supply, 3000 feet of vitrified pipe was laid up into the slopes of the reservation land on the Needham side. This pipe was laid with loose joints to allow seepage from the soil. Thirteen years ago a large concrete well, 28 feet in diameter, was constructed to further add to the water supply. With the building of this well the average daily supply amounted to about 4,000,000 gallons. Until the last couple of years the supply has met the demand, except during the summer season, when the consumption so increased that the Metropolitan System was resorted to.

The new well will be 33 feet in inside diameter, and 40 feet deep. The concrete wall of the well will be of reinforced concrete, 16 inches thick; the roof will be of reinforced concrete slabs, 6 inches thick. The bottom of the well will be of gravel. Through the lower 12 feet of the wall of the well will run three rows of 4 inch tile pipe, spaced 5 feet on centres. Through these pipes the water will seep into the well. About 18 feet from the bottom of the well the pump will be located. On the roof of the well a small brick pump-house will be erected. It is calculated that about 2,000,000 gallons of water a day will be provided by this new well.

The bids for building the well were received on Wednesday. Nine contractors submitted figures, and they varied greatly. The bidders and their bids were:—

Christian A. Zappe, Inc., $11,400; John McDonald Construction Co., $17,432; James Cesarone, $22,200; Hill Woodward Construction Co., $22,400; C. & R. Constructio nCo., $29,900; T. Stuart & Sons Co., $32,950; Engineering Service & Construction Co., $35,500; V. Barletta, $37,000; John E. Palmer Co., $41,000; A. Barraffaldi, $47,500.

The work of "blowing off" the large water mains, which is expected to relieve the resident of Newton of the nuisance of muddy colored water, will be started next month.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

For the past three years business men at Newton Corner have observed the need of better facilities for handling the enormous amount of traffic passing through Nonantum Square daily. The irregular arrangement of streets at this locality, projecting corners, and especially the use of the square as a terminus for the cars of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway, cause this place to be one of the worst traffic points in Greater Boston. During the rush hours in late afternoon, three traffic policemen are necessary to guide the steady streams of autos and pedestrians through the maze at Newton Corner.

When the traffic ordinance was put into effect a couple of years ago, one of the rules established to make traffic conditions safer was—that vehicles coming into Nonantum Square from the direction of Watertown, must make a detour around the building of the Newton Trust Company before they can travel East on Washington street. Undoubtedly this rule tends to make traffic conditions safer in some respects, but it has caused constant confusion to autoists from outside Newton. It also requires

SANITARY CREAM

The Somerset Farms, producers of the famous Somerset Farms Cream, prides itself in the fact that its product is of the highest possible quality and that it enjoys the patronage of some of the finest homes in this vicinity. This following is the result of thirty years of endeavor on the part of the company to produce and offer for sale, cream of the very best grade.

In business over twenty-seven years, Frank H. Turgeon, sole owner of the Somerset Farms, began by selling an average of two quarts a day, carrying his product in a basket, until today his company does over one-half million dollars business a year. Mr. Turgeon accredits the remarkable growth to the fact that at no time in the producing of Somerset Farms Cream was the matter of quality and sanitation ever lost sight of.

The plant of the creamery is under the supervision of the national state and local Boards of Health, all of whom have passed favorably on the sanitary conditions. The cream has been entered many times in the annual Maine Dairy Meet sponsered by the state association and has won first prize for quality and food value.

The company has its headquarters at 213 Camden street, Roxbury, from where deliveries are made all over Boston and outskirts. Provision dealers and groceries all over this vast territory carry the cream in glass jars put up by the farm and if you should have any trouble in buying this delicious dairy product call Back Bay 3777 and they will call on your dealer and provide him with this fine quality cream.

SUMMER COOKING AND CANNING

Most housewives find summer cooking a bit more of a burden than the same task at any other season of the year. They especially like something new and different, and not too difficult to prepare. Then too there is the business of canning, while fruits and vegetables are in their prime. Some of the newer books listed below, and a few of the old standards which are devoted especially to canning and preserving problems will help to fill these needs:

Newer books:

A Book of Hors d'Oeuvers, by Allen

A Second Helping; or More Dishes for English Homes, by Boulestin.

Boston Cooking-school Cook Book, by Farmer—revised 1925 edition.

BRINGS ALLEGED CROOK FROM NEW YORK AFTER FOUR YEARS

Residents of Newton are well acquinted with the policemen who patrol their neighborhoods, with the traffic officers whom they pass daily. But they know little or nothing concerning one of the most important branches of our local police department—the detective force. Newton's police force has three detectives, headed by Lieut. Richard Goode. Goode has been a member of the department for over 30 years, and the big city police forces can boast few men his equal.

In his early days on the police force Goode won a repuation as a fearless cop. In those "good old days" when liquor flowed freely, it was a common occurence to have rough and ready fights between policemen and intoxicated individuals looking for trouble. Because of Goode's relentless activity against those who transgressed the law, he was picked out as a victim by many two-fisted battlers whose idea of "a good time" was—to beat up some cop. Invariably these pugnacious ones were sadder, sorer and wiser after their affairs with Goode. He soon was given a wide berth.

Sixteen years ago Lieut. Goode was made a detective and he rapidly became as proficient in tracing criminals as he had been in subduing drunks. Resourceful and perisistant, he has caught after long trailing, scores of crooks in different parts of the country. His latest accomplishment was the capture of Edward Provitere. Provitere, according to the police is a man of many aliases and addresses, a "dip" and "con-man." For the benefit of those not hep to police parlance, a dip is a pickpocket and a con-man is one of those wily schemers who squirms his way into the confidence of trusting dupes, as a great personal favor sells them a gold brick or some equally valuable article.

On August 22, 1922, a well known Nonantum business man reported to the Newton police that four days previous, on August 18, 1922, he had been robbed of $950. This man is far from stupid, and his chagrin was so great when he discovered himself to have been the victim of an ancient, if not honorable trick, that it was little wonder he took four days before he made his mind up to complain to the police. He had been fleeced through the old "shift trick." According to his story he had made the acquaintance sometime before of a suave young person named Charles DeCotis, otherwise known as Sharkey. Sharkey was known to the police as a "steerer." A "steerer" is a person of engaging manners who makes the acquaintance of likely prospects and then steers to them confidence men. A few days prior to August 18, 1922, Sharkey "steered" two individuals into the store of the Nonantum man. One of the twain, a stocky, unctious person, confided to the Nonantum citizen that he had in his possession three valuable diamonds, which he had acquired honestly, and which, because of his immediate need for money, he would sell at a great bargain. He displayed the gems, and they certainly looked all he claimed for them. The victim to be was interested, but cautious. He told his visitor that he had a friend who was a diamond-cutter and that he would arrange to have him examine and appraise the stones. This was readily agreed to, a meeting was arranged, and the diamond cutter told his friend that the three stones were easily worth $1045. Thereupon, the Nonantum man agreed to buy the gems the next day for $950. That night, the party owning, or having, the diamonds came out to his customer and asked for an advance loan of $50; which was refused.

The next day the purchaser drew from two banks $950 of his hard earned savings. That same morning the confidence man and his companion journeyed to Newton with the three diamonds. The stones were wrapped up, as is customary, in white tissue paper. They were duly exhibited to the purchaser and then re-wrapped. The $950 was counted out and paid to the glib con-man and the Nonantum man was handed the tissue paper containing the diamonds. At least, that was what he thought he was handed. Unfortunately for him it was a Saturday morning, he was very busy, he was unaware he was dealing with a sleight-of-hand artist, so instead of opening the paper, he stuck it in his pocket.

All day Saturday, and well into the night the purchaser was busy, so not until the following day, Sunday, did he open the paper containing the "bargains." To his amazement the paper contained not three stones, but nine. Nine stones, other things being equal, would have been more valuable than three; but these stones were not diamonds. They were glass. Three days later, the victim told his tale of woe to Lieut. Goode. A couple of weeks after, on September 8th. Goode picked up Sharkey in Boston on the charge of being an accomplice to the crime. Sharkey pleaded not guilty and asserted he was not in league with the thief who had trimmed the Nonantum man. He gave a clue however, when he told Goode that the party's name who sold the diamonds was Sisco. Word was at once sent to the police of New York and other large cities to hold Sisco for the Newton police. The last of October, 1923, Goode received word from New York, that Sisco had been taken into custody. On November 7, 1923, the Nonantum man who had bought the "diamonds," travelled over to New York to identify Sisco. The man in custody was not the party who had victimized him. But, he was shown hundreds of photographs by the men in charge of the rogues gallery at New York, and finally he looked at a photo which he positively identified as belonging to the con-man who had robbed him of his $950. This man's name was Edward Provitere. He had been convicted of robbing a man in Massachusetts of $1350, through the old handkerchief trick and sentenced to serve from three to five years in the Massachusetts State Prison on January 14, 1918. He was paroled after two and one-half years. He had also served a short sentence in a New York prison for petit larceny. When the Nonantum man returned to Newton and informed Goode of his discovery, the latter procured an indictment against Provitere, and so notified the New York police.

Time passed, and nothing developed in the case, except that on the night of July 3, 1925, Sharkey, or DeCotis, who had acted as steerer for the bunco artist, met his death in the Pickwick Club disaster. On June 7th, of this year, the New York police arrested four men for picking a man's pocket at an Italian club in that city. One of the "mob" was Provitere, who gave his address as 200 Hackensack Plank Walk, Union City, New Jersey. Detective Muzzi of the New York police notified Inspector Goode that the long wanted man was in custody. Then followed a long fight to bring him to Massachusetts. Provitere fought hard against extradition and brought fourteen of his relatives and friends from Union City, which is just above Weehawken, to establish an alibi against the charge made by the Newton police. Goode had to make three trips to New York, taking on two of these journeys the Nonantum man and an employee of his, to indentify Provitere. The Newton detective finally obtained possession of the alleged conman and brought him here last week. He was bound over to the Grand Jury for the September term under $20,000 bonds. This high figure was set at Inspector Goode's request, as on two previous occasions Provitere had jumped bail; once when the bonds were placed at $1000, and the second time when the bonds were $5000. Provitere stoughtly asserts that a mistake has been made and that he is not the man who duped the Nonantum citizen out of $950.

POLICE NEWS

Edmund J. Burke of Parkman St., Brighton, arrested on June 17, by Policeman Frank Feeley and McDonough for driving while under the influence of liquor, was fined $150 in court Saturday. He was also fined $10 for drunkness. He appealed.

Sunday afternoon, Woolaw Makarevich of Chelsea, was arrested by Serg. Veduccio and Patrolman Hannon, charged with driving "wutiol." He will be placed on trial July 26.

John R. Fanning of 46 Curve street, West Newton, was on trial Tuesday morning. He was arrested two weeks ago by Patrolman John Green after the auto he was driving had collided with a M. & B. electric car. Four Natick young men who were riding with Fanning were slightly injured. Fanning claimed the steering knuckle on his auto broke and caused the accident. Mechanician Cullen of the police department testified he had examined Fanning's car and found the steering knuckle not broken. Judge Bacon fined Fanning $10 for drunkness, $25 for operating without a license, and sentenced him to 30 days in jail for driving "wutiol." Fanning appealed and was held in $500 bonds.

FALLS FROM AUTO

Sunday morning, as a truck owned by Paul Considine of 8 Pearl street, and operated by Maurice Bloomberg of 18 Jewett street, was passing thru Nonantum Square, John Considine of Kimball road, Watertown, who was riding on it, lost his balance and was pitched onto the street. He landed on his head and was knocked unconscious. Traffic Officer Taffe called the police ambulance and Considine was removed to the Newton Hospital where it was found he had escaped serious injury.

LAWN PARTY

Committees in charge of the lawn party of St. John's Church, Lower Falls, have completed arrangements for the big lawn party which will be held on the church grounds, Washington street, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

One of the chief events on the day's program will be the reception to former United States Senator David I. Walsh at nine o'clock tomorrow night. He will deliver an address at that hour and parishioners and hundreds of others are expected to extend him a cordial greeting, on this his first public appearance in the district this year.

The afternoon program will be devoted chiefly to the entertainment and amusement of the children. At three o'clock a "kiddies" parade will be held in which children under ten years of age will participate with decorated doll carriages, "scooters" and other mediums of conveyance. Rev. James H. O'Connell will be in charge of the children's program. During the evening there will be general dancing, with both modern and old fashioned numbers, a midway, and other attractions and amusements.

Rev. John J. Flood, pastor, has been assured that the party will be the biggest for years and reports of the committees to Mr. P. J. Gleason, chairman of the general committee, indicate a keen interest not only among parishioners but others throughout this city and Wellesley.

autos which make this detour to pass twice through the most congested spot in Newton.

Recently a committee of Newton business men conferred with Chief of Police Burke regarding the erection of a modern traffic stand at Nonantum Square. Chief Burke, the Mayor, City Engineer, Street Commissioner, Manager Hanson of the M. & B., certain of the aldermen, and a committee of the business men made a survey of conditions at the square. Chief Burke proposed that the M. & B. cars make their terminus about one car length nearer the Trust Company building than they do at present. This plan will permit the erection of the traffic tower near where the cross walk is now located at Centre and Washington streets. It will also allow the traffic coming from the direction of Watertown, to make a left turn to go ast on Washington St. instead of being compelled to make the confusing detour around Hall street and then back again on Centre street.

The only objection to this plan came from Manager Hanson of the M. & B. because of the expense it will cause his company. To make this change the M. & B. will have to put in new crossovers. This work would cost several thousands of dollars.

Wednesday night at the aldermanic meeting, Chairman O'Connell of the Traffic Committee reported that his committee recommends that the Traffic Ordinance be changed to permit the plan suggested by Chief Burke being put into execution. Mr. O'Connell told of the unsatisfactory conditions prevailing at Nonantum Square, deplored the fact that a number of autoists from other places have been brought into the Newton Court and fined, because they unwittingly violated the present complicated traffic laws governing Newton Corner, and told of the great danger existing at the corner of Hall and Centre streets.

Alderman Hodgdon of the Traffic Committee said, "The traffic conditions existing at Newton Corner would not be tolerated in any other city of this size. The only objection to Chief Burke's plan to change the terminus of the cars comes from the M. & B. because it will cost that company about $5000 to move the switches." He then read extracts from circular letters sent out by a Boston banking house. The concern is offering mortgage bonds of the M. & B. It states in the letters that the net income of the M. & B. in 1925 was $290,055, as against $196,862 in 1924, and that the net income for the first quarter of 1926 was $74,725 as against $66,429 in 1925 for the same period. One of the letters reads—"As a resident in the locality served by this company's cars and busses, you have no doubt noticed the increase in their business, mostly through the judicious use of busses. For the first three months of 1926, they carried 100,000 more passengers than in the corresponding period of 1925."

Alderman Hodgdon commented, "I think the Middlesex & Boston, considering the favors the Board of Aldermen persists in granting it, should at least show a disposition to co-operate in removing a serious traffic condition."

Alderman Weeks asked if the officials of the M. & B. have been conferred with. Alderman Earle, who was present the day the conference was held at Newton Corner explained that Manager Hanson had objected because of the cost involved. The recommendation of the Traffic Committee was referred to the Committee on Claims and Rules. It will probably be acted upon at the next aldermanic meeting, August 25th.

NEWTON CENTRE ZONING

which are being purchased by a very desirable class of people. The change if made, he remarked, will not be in accord with the spirit of the zoning ordinance. Lincoln Alvord said there is a need of two family houses in Newton for young married couples and for persons who need the revenue.

Hubert Murphy, attorney for Samuel Hagen said his client has bought 31 lots and is building high grade houses which rent for from $75 to $100 an apartment. He asserted that residents of Halcyon road, who are favoring the change of zone, have moved onto that street since the zoning law was passed and knew that the section was not confined to single family houses. Samuel Hagen testified he has invested $65,000 in the district, is building attractive houses, and there will be no danger of too many children, as feared by the opponents of two-family houses.

George T. Roberts of Oxford road said that when he bought his house a year ago, he did not realize a two-family house district would spring up in that neighborhood. He does not object to children but to speculative building of two-family houses which causes depreciation of nearby property. Mr. Spalding asked at this time how many home owners were included in those opposing the change. Frank T. Eskridge of Paul street, stated that as an architect of 35 years' experience, he had observed that when two-family houses come into a district, depreciation of property always follows. He cited Brookline as an example of a community which has run down because of the erection of apartments and two-family houses.

This hearing occupied much more time than any single matter coming before the meeting Monday night. The proponents of the change were clustered in the right rear corner of the aldermanic chamber, where one of the two small electric fans in the chamber was located. It is a wonder that some of them were not overcome by the terrific heat of the hall, as some person, apparently afraid of a draft, shut off the fan and closed a nearby window.

velopment of the property at the corner of Centre and Walnut street. It is proposed to develop the entire parcel of land there, a garage with sales rooms will be located on the rear of the lot and an attractive filling station at the corner of Centre and Walnut streets. He said "There is much need of such facilities for autoists at Newton Highlands and the developments will bring appreciable increases to the revenue of the city. The land is in a business zone and the garage and filling station will not cause depreciation of surrounding property. "He argued that the previous petitions for a gasoline station on this locus were not made as part of a comprehensive development such as Mr. Stuart intends to make. He alluded to the contention that the corner of Centre and Walnut streets is very dangerous, and said the problem is to make such corners as safe as possible. He contended that gasoline stations are the "best bets" on such corners, as they leave them unobstructed, whereas a block of stores would prevent autoists from having a clear view of the traffic because such a block would be built out to the street line. According to Mr. Gallagher, the filling station to be erected on this lot will be very attractive from an architectural aspect. He commented that while the personality of the petitioner was not a dominant issue, despite the efforts of some to make it appear so, the other similar developments made by Mr. Stuart in Newton, are good examples of the high type of structures he builds.

At the conclusion of Mr. Gallagher's plea, Mr. Beane again took the floor, this time being on the right trail. He said he spoke as a tenant for Mr. Cerlach, the owner of the property at 1627 Centre street. He told the aldermen he had lived at this place for 14 years and had observed the traffic becoming worse daily. To the flat wheels of the M. & B. cars, the poorly jointed rails of that corporation, the honking of autos, has been added the rumbling of heavy sand and gravel trucks "which shake the foundations of houses from cellar to attic." So great is the bedlem, according to Mr. Beane, that telephones cannot be used. He suggested that instead of the "silent cop" located at this corner, and which is being continually knocked down, there should be a live 6 foot cop there. He invited the aldermen to come to his house and he would supply them with cigars while they observe for themselves how dangerous this corner is. He remarked that the property is in the "nuisance zone" rather than the business zone, and that the aldermen owe it to the residents nearby to furnish protection and peace. Mr. Beane was the only objector.

The third hearing of the evening on gas stations was on the petition of Newton Turner for an outside station at 318 Washington street. Hugh Boyd, who represented Mr. Turner argued that this side of Washington street, is a logical place for automobile businesses to develop. There is very little foot traffic along Washington street at this point, retail stores would not survive there. Mr. Boyd said that the filling station will be less dangerous than are autos which now park at this place and protrude out into the street to hazard traffic. Unlike other sites sought for gas stations, this site has no cross street nearby to create a dangerous situation. Protests against the granting of this permit were received from Elmer Parkhurst, Charles and Edward Bacon, owners of property nearby.

Herbert C. Veno asked for a permit to increase the storage of gasoline for his private use at Easy street, Newton Highlands, from 125 to 500 gallons. His request was granted.

Chairman Bliss of the License Committee reported that his committee by a vote of 4-3 had acted adversely on the petition of Fried and Litchman for a drive in gasoline station at 1231 Washington street, West Newton. This permit was sought over a year ago and refused. It was again petitioned for several months ago, and the License Committee deferred reporting on it until Wednesday night. Alderman Grebenstein of the License Committee dissented, stating that he favored the granting of this permit as it will cause the removal of a sidewalk pump. He thought the aldermen should seize all opportunities to abolish the objectionable sidewalk pumps.

Alderman Collins asked for the opinions of the aldermen from Ward 3, on this matter. Alderman Baker responded saying, "I can't understand why the committee refused this petition. The site is in the business zone, there is no element of danger existing, no schools are nearby, it is not our duty to create a monopoly on gasoline stations." Alderman Havinger agreed with Mr. Baker's remarks, and agreed with Mr. Grebenstein that it is a good thing to remove sidewalk pumps. Alderman Weeks said he had not studied the question, nor had he been approached by anyone in favor of or opposed to the station. He had heard no arguments advanced against it by the members of the committee in opposition, and would like to hear what they had to say.

Alderman Earle referred to the former opposition of George Brophy to this permit, and inquired how Brophy's pump could be removed to the new location, when the City Solicitor has ruled that such transfers are not legal. Chairman Bliss passed the buck to Alderman Leahy, the latter stating that he had not much to explain, his adverse vote being governed by the action of the Board when it previously turned down these petitioners. Alderman Weeks said when a man wants to do business in a business district, he should not be prevented, unless there is some good reason. The previous action of the aldermen on this matter had been adverse because of other reasons. He could not see why the petition should not be granted.

Alderman Bail asked concerning the relationship between the Brophy pump, which will be removed, provided the Fried & Litchman petition be granted. Alderman Bliss explained that an agreement has been reached between Mr. Brophy and Fried & Litchman, whereby the former will relinquish his permit, provided the other permit is granted. Alderman Hodgdon said he had heretofore argued that the License Committee should be backed up in its decisions, but that he had come to the parting of the ways and believed the permit should be granted as it would cause the razing of the ramshackle house now on the site. Alderman Hawkins stated he had voted against granting the permit because of the objections of abuttors, whose protests he considered. Alderman Hodgdon replied that these abuttors are residing in a business zone and their protests are not valid.

The vote on the acceptance of the report of the License Committees was then taken, and the committee was not sustained. Those voting "Yes" were —Aldermen Bliss, Gallagher, Hawkins, Heathcote and Leahy. Those voting "No" were Alderman Earle, Madden, Collins, O'Connell, Grebenstein, Weeks, Baker, Noone, Favinger, Bail, Hodgdon, Norman Pratt, Fitts. Alderman Gordon was absent, returning from the Elks Convention at Chicago. Alderman Hinckley is in Hawaii. The aldermen by the same vote, then granted the permit to Fried & Litchman.

BOY SCOUTS

Seventeen members of troop 14 of Newton Upper Falls under the leadership of Scoutmaster Kestle and Assistant Scoutmaster Mordo have completed a week of camping at the scout property in Dover, Mass., known as the Ohio at their own cabin which has recently been erected. Leaving their headquarters at 3.00 P. M. July 10th the trip to Dover was made in record time by seven automobiles. During the first three days at camp the time was spent chiefly in improving the grounds and clearing out the underbrush. For sport there was swimming at lost pond and Hikes while games were played during the evenings.

Tuesday evening the troop hiked to the Needham Theatre where they enjoyed a fine show. The return trip was quite a thrilling experience for the lighting facilities of that part of the town of Dover are limited and several species of "Spooks" were seen by the younger members of the troop. Taps sounded that night, about three hours late, at 12.00 midnight. Thursday evening the parents and friends of the boys paid them a surprise visit and among many good things arrived with them came three gallons of ice cream which for some reason failed to long survive the trip. Friday, although rainy, saw the completion of a twenty-five foot signal tower constructed entirely of fallen timber by the scouts. Being situated on one of the highest spots of the Ohio, a fine view of the camps may be had. Eventually there will be suspended from this tower the aerial of the troop's radio outfit. On their return Saturday the Scouts voted the week a success and pleased their leaders by insisting on a similar trip in the near future. This is the first troop that has had a week's continuous camping in the Ohio under the supervision of the same officers and the Council is extending their congratulations to the Upper Falls local organization for having officers that can and will sacrifice this amount of time.

The cabin of Troop 9 of West Newton is nearly complete and will be ready for their fall camping trips.

Troop 11 of Newton are observing the summer by having special meetings of two patrols each Friday night under the direction of Deputy Commissioner Woodbridge and Mr. Harvey Macuen, ASM. Last week Mr. Woodbridge took one group to the Ohio and Mr. Macuen took another party to Provincetown Sunday to visit their Scoutmaster, Mr. Lewis Davis, who is in charge of a church at that place for the summer.

The work on the new "Lake" at Camp Storrow, south of the Ohio is going on rapidly and both dams are nearly completed. A fine new log cabin has been built just North of the Lake and another camp is being erected on Fisher Hill not far West. The road has been improved from Carly street, Westwood, to a point near the new Lake. Mr. Robert Hale, chairman, of the New England Camping Committee is carrying on the work and has a large force of men busy.

OVERCOME BY HEAT

George Harvey of Underwood Park, Waltham, was overcome by the heat Wednesday at the corner of Adams and Washington streets. He was removed to the Newton Hospital. Mrs. Ruth Leadbetter of Salisbury road was overcome while walking on Lewis terrace. She was also taken to the hospital.

$2500 APPROPRIATED FOR SURVEY ON NEW CITY HALL

House, Police Headquarters and City Hall Garage.

2. Making study of West Newton location and "Triangle" location with reference to adaptability of each as a site for a new City Hall and other municipal buildings.

3. Preparing preliminary plans and models of new City Hall and other municipal buildings for each location.

4. Submitting approximate estimates of cost of proposed buildings and of adapting land.

Alderman Hodgdon took exception to the statement that all the aldermen present at the meeting of June 28 were in accord. He asserted he had not favored the action taken that night, although he does not oppose the survey. He expressed the hope that the aldermen will get away from the habit of holding secret meetings as a committee of the whole. Important matters, such as the new city hall, school buildings and such, should be discussed in open meetings so that the taxpayers will have more knowledge of what transpires.

Alderman Leahy asked how long it will be before the survey will be made. The latter replied that while he does not know, he estimates about three months. Mr. Leahy said, "It is not fair to those owning property to hold up the development of such property while the city dallies regarding the city hall matter." President Pratt of the Board, replied, "The owners of property have been told not to delay erecting buildings pending the reaching of a decision on this matter. Alderman Baker said that the owners of the property at the corner of Washington and Waltham streets have stated they have no desire to embarrass the city, but that if the aldermen took no action at this meeting, they will proceed to erect a new building. He did not know if they will wait until the survey is completed.

The aldermen having appropriated $2500 for the survey, the next step will be the selection by the Mayor of some architectural expert to study the situation and make a report.

KIWANIS CLUB

The Kiwanis Club of Newton held its weekly meeting at 12.15 P. M., Tuesday, July 20th, at Auburndale Club, with 48 members attending. A delightful lunch was served by members of the Newton Women's Club.

Many guests were introduced and several new membership applications were talked over. Hugh Fogwill of West Newton led the singing admirably, and Frank Pope gave an interesting report on the recent outing of Division 5 at Suntaug Inn.

Two weeks from today the Allston-Brighton Club will be entertained at Newton.

MISS WHITMORE ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whitmore of Newton Highlands, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miriam, to Ensign Edward Keith Walker, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Walker, of Portland, Maine.

Miss Whitmore, a graduate of the Newton High School, for the past three years has been doing social work in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Mr. Walker, who was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy with the class of 1925, is now stationed on the U. S. S. Florida at the Charlestown Navy Yard.

LARGE LOCAL ENTRY AT LONGWOOD

Newton was well represented in the tennis tournament at the Longwood Cricket Club this week. Several of the Newton entries won their way into the semi-final and final matches which will be played today and tomorrow.

In the Longwood Bowl singles Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban advanced to the third round before he was eliminated by Edward Chandler the 1926 intercollegiate champion. Larry Pratt of West Newton won his first round match but was put out by Johnson. Don Martin met defeat in the first round at the hands of Sekio Tawara of Japan. Hill and Johnson will play in the semi-finals of the Longwood doubles this morning, the winner will play in the final this afternoon. In the boys' state singles Arthur Noble is playing in the final today with Warren F. Coen, Jr., of Kansas City. The western youth put out David Scott of Newton Centre yesterday in the semifinal round. Scott won but one game from Coen, the first that the Kansas City boy had lost all through the tournament. Other local entries in this tourney were Louis Volpe, Jr., of Newton Centre, and S. D. Baird.

Arthur Noble and David Scott will play Volpe and Nat Niles, Jr., in the finals of the boys' doubles this afternoon.

Newton's largest entry was in the junior tourneys. In the singles Charles Parker of Newton Highlands, Kingsbury Nickerson of Chestnut Hill, Robert Turner of Waban, Henry L. Johnson, Jr., Malcolm Hill, Richard Friedman of Newton Centre, Charles Cutler of Auburndale, Harold Gross and Francis Blake were entered. Johnson and Hill are playing this morning for the right to play John Doeg of California in the semifinal round. In the junior doubles Hill and Johnson are the favorites to win the title which they now hold. The final match will be played this afternoon with the Waban pair taking the court against Bell and Coen.

FILLING STATION ON BOYLSTON STREET

The License Committee of the aldermen reported adversely on the petition of David Wolf for a filling station at the corner of Boylston and Woodward streets. At the request of Alderman Grebenstein, this matter was referred back to the committee for further consideration. Mr. Grebenstein said some of those who opposed this petition have changed their attitude since they heard a block of stores will be erected on this site, if a permit for the filling station is refused.

OBJECT TO SUBWAY

A petition having been received by the aldermen, signed by 100 residents of the Eliot section, a hearing was held Wednesday night on the matter of a public subway under the Albany tracks from Lincoln street to Meredith avenue, near the Eliot station. S. R. Smith of 22 Meredith avenue, objected to the proposed location as it will be too near his house. W. B. Draper of 17 Meredith avenue also objected. He thought it would depreciate the appearance of his property. Alderman Bail assured these gentlemen that efforts would be made to meet their objections.

The Jones, Peterson & Newhall Co. of 49-51 Temple Pl., Boston, are having their summer sale of Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes. Mr. Peterson of this firm is a resident of Newton and will be pleased to see his friends during the sale. Advertisement.

ACTION ON TWO PLATOON FOR FIREMEN POSTPONED

No action was taken on the question of granting the Newton firemen the two-platoon system by the aldermen Wednesday. A letter was read from Mayor Childs in which he stated that personally he favors the two-platoon system as it will benefit the firemen and afford better protection to the city. He explained that the system will require 27 more firemen, 6 more officers and another assistant chief. The Mayor commented that although the citizens of Newton have twice rejected by vote changing to this system, he does not think this should deter the aldermen from voting in favor of it, as conditions have changed. He estimated it will take four months to put the change into effect and recommended that $4000 be appropriated so that the platoon system can be started December 1.

Alderman Heathcote, sponsor of the two-platoons for the firemen stated that some of the members of the Finance Committee desire to investigate the matter more thoroughly. They have listened to a delegation of the firemen, but want to confer with Chief Randlett and get his views. Mr. Heathcote did not object to the matter being postponed with the understanding that it will be acted on either at the August meeing or at the firse meeting in September.

PORTABLE SCHOOL AT MASON

The aldermen Wednesday evening appropriated $6000 for alterations at the Technical High School and $450 to move a portable school building from the rear of the Technical School to the Mason School yard. Alderman Fitts of the Public Buildings Committee gave one of his very detailed explanations as to why these appropriations were required. Because of the huge new cafeteria in the new high school, the big cafeteria in the Technical High will be no longer used. The space it occupies can be converted into four classrooms, which can be well used in that particular location.

These four class rooms will render unnecessary the portable one-room school building now behind the Tech School. It will cost $450 to transfer this portable to the Mason, where more room is badly needed. But, by moving it there, the city will save the cost of a new portable which would have amounted to $4500.

WEARE-MASON

Miss Ruth LaVerne Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weslie Mason of Bellevue street, Newton, was married on Wednesday evening, July 21, to Mr. John Stephen Weare of Newburyport, Mass. The marriage which took place at the home of the bride was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Richard C. Raines.

Mrs. Philip Horne (Virginia Mason) was the matron of honor and Miss Doris Mason, another sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Mr. Shaw Livermore of Boston was the best man. Mr. Philip Horne, brother-in-law of the bride and Mr. Thomas Knowland, brother-in-law of the groom, were the ushers.

The bride wore a gown of ivory crepe satin beaded with pearls with a train of princess lace and satin. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid and matron of honor were gowned in georgette combined with taffeta in green and peach color respectively and carried shower bouquets of butterfly roses, larkspur and yellow daisies.

The bride and groom stood before an improvised altar of cedars, white gladioli and greenery. The remainder of the house was decorated with cut flowers and palms. Music was furnished by Miss Stiles' trio consisting of violin, cello and piano.

A reception was held following the ceremony at which the couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Weare.

After a wedding trip to Maine, Mr. and Mr. Weare will reside in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The groom is a graduate of Dartmouth, 1922 and a member of Alpha Chi Pro Fraternity. The bride was until recently a secretary at the Fessenden School.

SPORT NOTES

The hard fought battle for the championship of the first half of the Newton Twilight league schedule came to an end last Friday night when the Earnshaw nine nosed out the Pals 5 to 4 at the West Newton common before a crowd of several thousand people, the largest that has gathered this season. Murphy of the Pals let a hit from Howley's bat get away from him and it went for three bases scoring two runs for the Earnshaw. Pass pitched well for the Pals while Switzer twirled finely for the Earnshaw.

The West Newton A. C. took the measure of the Somerville Wanderers, 5 to 4, Tuesday night at Lincoln Park, Somerville. Coet pitched a good game for the colored team and allowed but four hits. The West Newton team played errorless ball.

The Saxony Mills defeated the Neponset Town Team Wednesday night at Victory field 7 to 3. Collecting eleven hits off the deliveries of Norton and MacDonald the Saxony nine scored twice in the first, three in the fourth and two in the sixth, while Haney held the visitors to three hits and three runs, one each in the first, fourth and sixth.

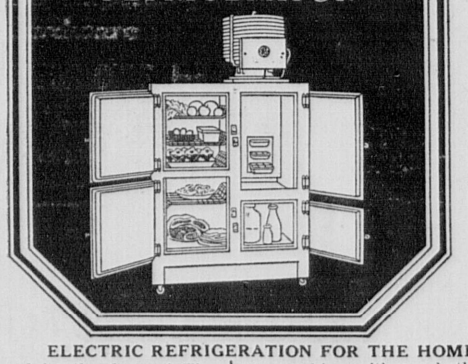
GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR



ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION FOR THE HOME

As developed by the General Electric Company is such a radical departure from all existing forms of mechanical equipment ,that it is quite hard to conceive that the motor, compressor, the lubricant, and the refrigerant can all be sealed up within the "Head" of a machine and that this machine can run automatically and efficiently for a long period of years without any attention whatsoever.

This radical departure in electrical refrigeration is the result of many years of laboratory, as well as practical experience and test.

Moore & Moore, 361 Centre street, Newton, have gone into the merits of this machine with much thought and have been appointed local distributors for General Electric Refrigerators. They will be pleased to answer any inquiries, and pending alteration and renovations in their present shops they would be glad to supply their customers with a list of present users of General Electric Refrigeration in the Newtons, where they may have an opportunity of seeing installations under actual test and use. Mrs. Lundstrom, 569 California street, Newtonville, would be glad to answer any questions or to show the installation by appointment calling Newton North 2538-J. Advertisement.

ABOUT TOWN

John H. O'Neil of Neshobe road, Waban, is being urged by his friends to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative to Congress from this district. Mr. O'Neil was a contestant in the last mayoralty contest and should he run, would inject some fireworks into the campaign.

Leon Lamb, foreman of the linotype department of the Graphic Press, is an enthusiastic Shriner, so it is not surprising that he volunteered his services as an usher at the big show which the Shriners have been running nightly at Braves Field. If you have not heard of this show, you certainly have heard it, if you are not deaf. Each night for the psat two weeks this show has come to a close with an elaborate display of fireworks, which might be more aptly termed noiseworks. The barrage at the start of the Argonne drive could not have made more of a racket at any one point than does the bombardment of aerial bombs at Braves Field. Leon's recital of his experiences as an usher at the Shriner's Show, started his listeners recalling their theatrical careers.

We related how, at the tender age of five, we had been engaged by a person who sold handkerchiefs, jackknives and other articles for one night only under the old elm tree which formerly stood in Nonantum Square, to provide a feature for the performance which he gave in conjunction with his business. He had a magic powder which would burst into flame when spat upon by any person with real red hair. As our locks, at that time, were of a fiery hue, we were engaged at the then princely salary of 25 cents for a single performance.

Tom Kavanaugh, senior member of the Graphic Press, told of supporting a travelling Thespian, who made yearly visits to Chatham. New Brunswick. This dramatic star had an extensive repertory, including Hamlet. But the favorite with the Chatham folks was "Lorna Doone." "Tom" had an important part in this production. The big scene in "Lorna Doone" was on the briny deep.

A large piece of canvas, painted to depict the stormy sea, was spread over the small stage of the Chatham Opera House, and a few of the small boys of the town were given free tickets to the performance in payment for going through some rapidly rehearsed movements under the canvas, which were supposed to give the effects of the waves on the raging ocean. "Tom" was "one of the waves."

"Tom" had nothing on his partner, George Johnson. "Do you remember the time 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was played by a barnstorming troupe in Eliot Hall?" asked George. We admitted that we had a faint recollection of this event. "Well, the big scene in that show," said George, "was where Eliza made her escape across the Ohio river, with the cakes of ice bobbing up and down. I was one of those ice cakes."

Those persons who have been complaining that the present summer has been too cold, ought to be somewhat satisfied after the weather we had Wednesday and Thursday. The thermometer at Hubbard's Drug Store registered 131 at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and for most of the day the temperature in the Graphic office was 104.

A new base, five feet thick at the bottom, and tapering to about four feet at the top, has been placed under the traffic beacon at the corner of Washington and Hall streets. The base formerly there was demolished, as were the bases under the signals on the other two sides of the Trust Company Building, by autos driven by drunken drivers. Needless to say, the signals were also wrecked. Any bleary-eyed autoist hitting the new, bulky concrete base, will know he has struck something—provided he is not knocked unconscious in the smash. It is not amiss at this time to repeat that many reckless autoists are ignoring the warning on these signals to drive slowly, and can be seen daily whizzing through Hall street at 30 miles an hour. The only way to stop these indifferent individuals is to bring them into court.

Persons complaining about the heat the past few days should have thought of the luckless individuals working on ice-wagons, section hands on railroads, roofers, foundry workers, and similar occupations.

It seems strange to see ice companies advertising for sale iceless refrigerators. Perhaps if the ice companies, in the past, and present, could have succeeded in persuading all their employees to give "honest weight" to customers, fewer householders would be buying iceless refrigerators.

TWO WOMEN ON THE BEACH

Two women were lolling upon the warm sand of a Cape beach one afternoon last summer.

"Such a vacation day as this has been," said one of them. "We come down here for rest and comfort. Yet I've spent all morning washing and ironing, something that I never have to do at home. Here, though, it is impossible to beg, borrow, or steal a laundress, and I just don't dare send fine summer things to strangers."

"I understand that feeling," replied the other woman. "What I don't understand, however, is why you don't provide yourself with laundry service at home that will follow you on your vacation. All of our laundry was sent off by parcel post this Monday morning. The postage charge was practically nothing. Then on Friday or Saturday we'll have the freshly-laundered things delivered to us just as if we were at home. There'll be no postage to pay either, for the laundry takes care of that charge one way."

Of course, you have guessed already that the second woman has been a regular customer of ours for years.

ABOUT TOWN

Before the funeral service for John Weeks started yesterday afternoon at the First Unitarian Church, two soldiers stood at attention half way down the main aisle. Suddenly one of them toppled over and fell prone across the aisle. Fortunately he did not fall on the bayonet of his rifle, nor did his face strike the pew opposite. The strain of standing perfectly rigid had been more than he could endure, and he had fainted. His comrade picked up the fallen rifle and resumed his position holding a rifle in either arm. After a couple of minutes, one of the ushers kindly offered to take the extra rifle from the lone guard. The soldier declined to give up the weapon. He was merely obeying an army regulation. He would have been reprimanded had he accepted the well intended assistance of the usher.

William street, West Newton, is a short road running northerly from River street. It has been developed by William H. Mague, who is now building several more houses on this street. There have been six weddings on this little street within 30 months. William street seems to be a favorite haunt of Dan Cupid.

Parking in the business section at Newton Corner is limited to 30 minutes, according to police regulations. This being the case, why should a certain store be permitted to park a couple of push carts all day long at a spot where parking space is badly needed?

George Graves, formerly of Hovey street, was the daddy of them all at the harness races held this week at the Metropolitan race track at Brighton. Though well over three score years in age, Mr. Graves handles the ribbons over fast trotters as skillfully and courageously as the young jockeys.

FRIEND, BUSINESS-MAN, POLITICIAN, STATESMAN

Newton is proud of her adopted son, the late Hon. John W. Weeks, who began his public life as a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen in 1900, 1901, and 1902, and in 1903-4 received the highest local honor the City has to offer, that of the office of Mayor.

From this purely local position, he was in turn, eight years Representative to Congress for the 12th Mass. District (1905-13); U. S. Senator as colleague of Senator Lodge (1913-19); Secretary of War in the Cabinets of President Harding and Coolidge, from which position he resigned on account of ill health about a year ago. Although an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1916, he received a flatteringly large number of votes in the preliminary balloting.

A graduate of Annapolis Naval Academy, owing to reductions in the naval equipment at that time, he received no commission and left the service, to return to it as commander of the Division of Mass. Naval Brigade, with rank of Captain (1890-98) and commander 2d Division Auxiliary U. S. Naval Forces on the Atlantic Coast 1898-99, during the Spanish American War.

His outstanding traits seem to have been an ability to find joy and contentment wherever his business or duty placed him; a genius for friendship with a large circle of personal acquaintances and for friendly relations and cooperation with his business and political associates, even those with whom he did not agree in opinion; a keen, clear, level-headed judgment that kept the main purpose always in mind, with an immense capacity for sustained and persistent hard work.

Born on a farm in Lancaster, N. H., sixty-years ago, in comparative poverty, he attained a considerable material success in the brokerage and banking business as a member of the firm of Hornblower & Weeks, of Boston, 1888-1912. He was a man of generous impulses in both his public capacity and his personal relations. The gift of a memorial library to his native town of Lancaster in memory of his mother is evidence of his interest in whatever tends to the uplift of the community as well as his affection for the place of his birth, which was also his summer home, and the place of his death, which occurred July 12, 1926.

A pleasing and forceful speaker, much of his most effective influence was attained through his speeches, especially those of a political and patriotic character. He also wrote numerous magazine articles on various governmental and business problems. These articles are available to the public through the back files of the magazines in which they appeared. The library will be glad to put its borrowers in touch with them.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

UNSPORTSMANLIKE TRICK

One of the meanest and most unsportsmanlike tricks that ever occurred in Newton was perpetrated last Saturday afternoon. The recently reorganized Saxony All-Stars were scheduled to play the SS. Peter and Paul team of South Boston at Victory Field. The game had been widely advertised and one of the largest crowds of the season was on hand to see the all-star team which manager Jack Fitzgerald had assembled. But the crowd waited and waited for the South Boston team to show up and were finally compelled to go home without seeing the game. Various reasons were advanced as to the reason for the non-appearance of the opponents and it was finally learned that shortly before game time someone, purporting to be the manager of the Saxony All-stars, telephoned the manager of the Saints team and said that the game would have to be called off as no permit for the field could be secured. Manager Fitzgerald did not learn until after the stands were empty the reason that the visiting aggregation did not appear. The game will be played at a later date, however, and manager Fitzgerald guarantees that there will never be a reoccurance of Saturday's affair.

Bill Hunnefield hit safely in sixteen consecutive games for the Chicago White Sox before being halted in Boston the first of the week.

Stan Lyon lost a tough 3-0 game to the South Boston team in the Greater Boston Twilight last Saturday. Lyons is pitching for the Waltham-Salem nine, which recently transferred its franchise from the Witch City to the Watch City. The former Newton high and Dartmouth twirler allowed seven hits, but his teammates could collect but five off of Shea and could not score.

The West Newton A. C. colored base ball team played the Sherborn town team a 4-4 tie game in eight innings on Wednesday evening at the Sherborn town field.

Wright for the colored boys pitched a strong game, holding the heavy hitters of the Sherborn team to eight hits, while the colored boys got the same number off Dunham of the Sherborn team.

This was the third successive game that West Newton had played in as many nights, it would seem better that they reserve themselves for the games in the Newton Twi-light league but the boys like to play ball, and as they are in demand all the time to play games elsewhere, they keep right at it.

Harriet Ellison in the Ace again won the race for 15-foot knockabouts at Duxbury last Saturday. William Ellison in the Harriet placed sixth.

VOL. LIV.—NO. 47 NEWTON, MASS., FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1926. TERMS, $3.00 A YEAR

KIWANIS CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club was held at Auburndale Tuesday noon. President Wilcox presided and 40 members were present. District Deputy "Bob" Greene was a guest and spoke briefly on some aspects of Kiwanis activity. Clem Colburn in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. extended an invitation to the members to visit the "Y" camp at East Brookfield. About 20 members promised to take a trip there on August 9th, together with a delegation from the Newton Rotary Club.

State Detective Ed Sherlock gave a very interesting talk on criminals. Mr. Sherlock for 11 years was with the detective bureau of the Boston police department and for the past 15 years had been one of the star sleuths of the State Police. He told of the old and modern methods of identifying criminals, explaining the Bertillon and finger-print methods. According to him the old time thieves displayed more skill than do the yeggs and stick-up men of today.

Mr. Sherlock asserted that it was unusual 20 years ago for robbers to tote guns, but that today it is the rule. Crimes of violence, bank robberies and pay-roll holdups are much more prevalent than in the past, and most of the crimes are committed by young men. According to him, it is much easier to mold boys into law-abiding citizens, than to reform lawless characters. For this reason, he urged the Kiwanians to assist any movement such as the Y. M. C. A., which strives to make good citizens out of the youth of the country. He commented that boys and young men who indulge in athletics, rarely commit crimes.

NEWTON MAN DIES FROM INJURIES

Patrick Donavan of 37 Williams St., Newton, died early yesterday morning at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Tuesday Donavan was brought to the Cambridge City Hospital by an inspector of the Boston Elevated for injuries received from being struck by a buss. He claimed he was knocked down on Kirkland street near Sumner road. His feet were treated and he was advised to go to the Newton Hospital for examination. Later he took a turn for the worse and went from his home to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. No report had been received at Cambridge by the police of the accident.

ABOUT TOWN

Peace reigns again in Ward 7. To be more exact in that part of Ward 7 bounded by Tremont, Marlboro, Park and Franklin streets. For several months this section was in a turmoil. Floor mops, pails, brooms, were stolen off back porches; silk stockings, dainty "undies" were taken from clothes lines; gardens, in which amateur farmers spent many weary hours of unaccustomed toil, had hoops missing from around the young plants. Anything movable seemed to be in danger of seizure by the kleptomaniac who was preying on the neighborhood.

Not only did the thief steal covertly, but he became so bold that he openly robbed persons. A dignified gentleman walking near his home had a bundle snatched out of his hand. He pursued the thief but the latter was far too fleet for his victim. The newsboy delivering in that district had papers grabbed from him as he walked unsuspectingly along the sidewalk. Finally, so many complaints kept coming into police headquarters that a patrolman was sent to apprehend the criminal. He arrived just too late. A representative of the Animal Rescue League had reached the home of the "neighborhood terror" a half hour earlier and taken the pup to the quarters of the League at Boston. His mistress, bemoaning the loss of her pet, could not account for his thieving propensities, because in the house, he was as well behaved a dog as one could wish for.

It must be admitted that it is annoying to business men to have autos parked continually in front of their stores. In order to eliminate such a nuisance, certain business men in the city obtained authority to have signs placed in front of their locations, forbidding parking. More are adopting this method. One business man has as much right to obtain this privilege as another. If this practice continues to increase, and it is apt to, where will autoists park their cars, even for a few minutes, in the business districts of this city?

The highways are public property. It is doubtful if any person has a right to forbid owners of vehicles from using, to a reasonable degree, our streets. It would be fair to both business men and autoists, to restrict to limited periods parking in front of stores. But, it is impracticable and we believe illegal, to accord to any person, the privilege

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED AT CRYSTAL LAKE

Popularity of South Side Lake as Bathing Resort Grown Greatly in Past Few Years and Facilities Are Now Obsolete

Crystal Lake has grown so in popularity as a bathing place that the city will of necessity be forced to make radical changes in the accommodations there. Formerly this lake was used almost exclusively by residents of Newton Centre and Newton Highlands. With the advent of automobiles persons came from other parts of the city, until the numbers who patronized the lake in hot weather created a demand for life-guards and certain facilities for the bathers.

When parents learned that protection was furnished children by the guards at Crystal, youngsters were allowed to go there who were forbidden to go bathing elsewhere. Whenever any resort reaches a certain degree of popularity, crowds will flock there. This has happened at the swimming place at the South Side. During the past few summers it has changed from being a local bathing resort to one used not alone by residents of all parts of Newton, but by hundreds of persons living outside the city. During the past month 31,000, including children and adults, took a dip in Crystal. On the hot days, over 2500 were counted daily in the lake.

Several years ago the Playground Department took charge of the bathing at the lake and improved the bathing beach. A small shack was erected as a dressing room for men, a corral was built in which the small boys could disrobe, and toilets were provided. No bath house was provided for the girls. Edmond Mullen of Newton Highlands is head life-guard at the lake. He is assisted by Guards Cavanagh, Higgins and Rickard. During the past month these men made 14 rescues of persons in danger of drowning. They also maintain order in the water and on the beach and any boys or youths who do not conduct themselves properly are debarred from the place. As a result, there is much better order at Crystal than at the usual bathing place of this kind. Mrs. Eva McKenzie of Newton Highlands is stationed at the lake, during bathing hours, as matron. One policeman is at the lake during the day to direct automobile traffic on Rogers street, and to assist the life-guards, if needed. On the hot nights the policeman on duty was supplemented by two other patrolmen and a sergeant.

Crystal Lake has become so popular that the present facilities there are woefully obsolete. The small dressing room for men is useless for the crowds who visit the lake. A large locker building should be erected for men and boys, and another for women and girls. A small fee might be charged for the use of lockers, to defray the cost of the buildings and help pay for their maintainance. Modern toilets, connected with the sewer should replace the existing, unsanitary toilets.

Some complaints have been received in the past about bathers coming to and going from Crystal Lake without other attire than their bathing suits. The police have, to a large degree stopped this practice. Persons are not allowed to promenade the streets garbed only in the abbreviated costumes now used for bathing. It must be admitted that some of the maidens who bathe at Crystal, seem inclined to hold the slickers they wear wide open, rather than buttoned, as they travel along the streets, either on foot, or in autos. The police do not allow the use of autos, parked on nearby streets as dressing places. This may have been done occasionally, but not if a policeman was around.

One Newton Highlands man wants the bathing at the lake stopped because he asserts that the attire of the girls is too scanty and subversive to morals. This man is an elderly person and has not become reconciled to the emancipation of the female sex from all-concealing clothing. It is probable that some plan may be devised to restrict the use of this place to legal residents of this city. This would lessen to some degree the overcrowding of the Newton Highlands bathing resort.

DR. HERRICK TO BE PRESIDENT AT THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTION

Rev. Everett C. Herrick, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church at Fall River for 12 years, has accepted the invitation to become president of the Newton Theological Institution, to succeed Rev. George E. Horr. Dr. Herrick was born in Livermore, Me., 50 years ago, graduated from Hebron Academy in 1894, Colby College in 1898, and Newton Theological Institution in 1901.

After his ordination he became pastor of the First Baptist Church at Charlestown, where he remained for 13 years. At Fall River he was responsible for the building of an $85,000 parish house and the formation of the Herrick Class, attended by over 1000 men. The church school there grew until it had an average attendance of 2100. He will come to Newton Centre in the Fall.

THE CHARLESBANK ROAD TRAFFIC QUESTION

To the Editor of the Graphic:

In the report of the hearing on the proposed change of traffic rules on Charlesbank road and St. James street in last week's Graphic, it is stated that I "told of the hazards of that thoroughfare" (Charlesbank road) "and opposed the change from existing conditions." As my position evidently was misunderstood, please permit me to say that I appeared in favor of the proposed change by which Boston-bound cars would go through St. James street from Washington to Charlesbank road and cars coming to Newton would be allowed to come straight through Charlesbank road to Nonantum square. I pointed out the endless confusion and constant succession of hairbreadth escapes at the corner by my house, where the outbound cars on Charlesbank road have to make a left turn and break through the inbound traffic, three or four cars often having to stop at once until a traffic tangle is straightened out, some of them often having to run on the north sidewalk to escape collision. Many strangers now fail to see the one-way sign, it being on the right hand side, and they can hardly be blamed for running by it. If the new rule is adopted I urged that signs be placed at the top of the hill on St. James street to give warning to the sudden turn at the corner below, and a restriction of speed, otherwise strangers will be likely to run through into the recently opened extension of St. James street to the brow of the bluff overlooking the river, where if brakes failed to work there would be grave danger of a car's plunging to the bouleveard below.

A half hour spent in watching the confusion exitsing at the corner of St. James street and Charlesbank road would, it seems to me, convince any one of the urgent need of the proposed change.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Four Newton young men were injured early Wednesday morning in an auto accident near Lake Walden at Concord. The four, Edmund C. McLean, 38 Thornton street, John McLean, 30 Thornton street, James Walsh, 72 Pearl street and Alfred Lawn, 470 Albemarle road, are members of Battery C, 101st Field Artillery, which is in camp at Devens. Tuesday evening with two other privates of the same battery, they obtained leave and went to Boston in an automobile owned by Edmund McLean. Early Wednesday morning as they were returning, Wilfred White of Putnam street, Cambridge, who was driving, lost control of the car and hit a post just beyond the State Police barracks at Walden. The collision threw all six occupants of the car onto the road and John T. Mason of Charlestown was instantly killed. Edmund McLean suffered a sprained ankle and cuts on the head. The others were badly shaken up and shocked All were taken to the Emerson Hospital at Concord.

ROTARY CLUB

At the club meeting Monday visitors were present from Quincy, Watertown and other places. President Duncan Wright presided and the inspirational music was under the direction of Dr. Cecil Clark with William Alexander as accompanist. The speaker for the meeting was Stanley Sumner, manager of the Community Theatre, who gave the members the "low down" on the "movies." He traced the development of the moving picture industry and explained both the mechanical and business sides of this popular form of amusement.

Mr. Sumner told his audience about his experience at the Famous Players' Studio, and explained how "slow movies" are filmed. He also gave some sidelights on many of the famous stars of the silver screen. Of interest to the Rotarians was the knowledge imparted regarding the methods used in determining the cost of pictures to theatres of various classes. The wide difference in cost between films which are released for "first runs" in theatres in the larger cities, and the same films bought by houses in smaller places, or by theatres running the films at later dates, gave the listeners insight into the financial side of the movie game.

NEWTON LODGE OF ELKS

Newton Lodge of Elks played host to a large number of children at Nantasket Beach on Wednesday. There were children from the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, Working Boys Home and many from the congested section of the City. Robert A. Vachon, Esteemed Leading Knight, Dr. Fred Lowe and the Social & Community Welfare Committee were in charge of the arrangements and cars for transportaation were furnished by members of the Lodge.

The Annual Outing of the Lodge will be held at Saxonville on Sunday, August 8th. An old fashioned Clam Bake will be one of the special features. The Entertainment Committee, Wilfred Chagnon, chairman, has made all arrangements and have furnished many attractions that will make the affair a big success.

FIELD MEET

Over one hundred and fifty children from the vacation church schools of Newtonville, Watertown, and Waltham held a competitive field meet at Cabot Park Wednesday afternoon. Watertown placed first, Waltham second, and Newtonville, third.

The meet was held primarily to give instruction in sportsmanship rather than for the competition involved. Boys and girls between the ages of nine and thirteen participated. Points were awarded for punctuality of teams, for refraining from disputing umpires' decisions and for not criticizing errors of partners. Some surprising scores were amassed.

Games such as potato races, ring toss, quoits and similar contests were indulged in, one of the features being a "Boston bean hunt" in which the Watertown team averaged finds of ten beans each.

Hayden L. Stright, instructor of religious education of the Newtonville Methodist church and conductor of the church vacation school, was in charge. He was assisted by Homer Ginns of the First Baptist Church of Watertown, C. M. Keefer, director of the community boys' school of the Beth Eden Baptist Church of Waltham, and by Miss Grace Florena, principal of the girls' community school of the Waltham Universalist Church. Teachers of the various schools also assisted. The meet closed with salute to the Christian and American flags and singing of patriotic songs.

HARRIET E. HARPER

Mrs. Harriet E. Harper, widow of the late William E. Harper died suddenly on Wednesday at her late home, 195 Church street. She was born in Lyme, Connecticut 83 years ago and had resided in Newton 23 years. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Walter Forbush, three sisters, a brother, and three grandchildren. Her funeral service was held this morning at Grace Church; Rev. Laurens MacLure officiating. Burial was at Ashland.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

PRESENTED CUP AND MEDALS

The Earnshaw Mills baseball nine, winners of the first half of the Newton Twilight League championship series, were presented with the Graphic Cup and individual prizes of silver ver watch fobs prior to the game between the Earnshaw and Auburndale teams on Tuesday night at Victory Field.

Thomas Lyons, chairman of the Playground Commission, congratulated the team on its success, in behalf of the commission and introduced Mayor Childs who, after a brief and appropriate speech, gave each player his prize.

Mayor Cihlds thanked the players for their interest in the league, which is the first of its kind, in the history of the city and told them that they were doing a great deal for themselves the coming generations, and the baseball fans of the city in the way of sport. He congratulated them on their success, their opponents and every team in the league for the success of the league and even the umpires whose first class handling of the games has contributed in no little measure to the success of the league. He assured them all that each had the chance to carve for themselves the name that Bill Hunnefield, a former Saxony Mills player and a frequenter of Victory Field in years past, has been making for himself during the past few months with the Chicago White Sox.

The medals, which Mayor Childs, presented to the members of the team in behalf of the Playground department, were solid silver watchfobs. On the front was the city seal while the reverse side was engraved with "Newton Twilight League champions, first half 1926" followed by the name of the player.

Mayor Childs said that it was particularly fitting that the Earnshaw team should win the first half as Victory Field is situated in the section of the city called Nonantum, the name also inscribed on the city seal. The word "Nonantum," which is an Indian this has been the spirit displayed in name, means "brotherly love" and the champions playing.

The Earnshaw nine has also won the Newton Graphic cup which they will hold until it is won from them. Should the team repeat in the second half of the season it shall have won one leg on the cup, which will become the permanent possession of the first team to win it three years. Should the winner of the second half be some other team than the Earnshaw nine the two teams will play a city series the winner of which will win the first leg on the trophy.

CORRECTION

The Newton Graphic Cup which was presented to the Earnshaw Mills nine last Tuesday night, does not have to be won three times in succession as stated in the press. The first three-time winner of the city championship series which will take place at the close of the second half of the twi-league season will win permanent possession of the trophy regardless of whether the three victories are successive or not.

TWI-LIGHT LEAGUE SCHEDULE ON PAGE FOUR

SPORT NOTES

Howard Weeks, former Newton high track captain and Cornell sprinter, will compete in the second annual track and field carnival of St. Catharine's parish of Norwood tomorrow afternoon at Elk's Park, Norwood.

Larry Pratt, playing for Duxbury in the first tournament of the South Shore tennis league defeated his singles opponent in the matches with Scituate last Saturday afternoon, 8-6, 6-0.

The Newton Cubs were easily defeated Sunday afternoon at Cabot Park by the Somerville Cubs 20 to 1. Burgin and Custer were pounded for nineteen hits. The visitors big inning was the fifth in which they scored nine runs. The local nine crossed the plate once in the seventh inning to save a shut out.

Ed. Wilson of the B. A. A. track team won the mile walk at the St. Ambrose Catholic Club field day at the Town Field, Dorchester, in handy fashion last Saturday.

Harriet Ellison in the Ace had to be content with second place in the weekly races at Duxbury for 15-foot knockabouts last Saturday.

Captain-elect Clem Coady of the Harvard football team is spending the summer in Sunshine, Wyoming. The Newton boy will return about Sept. 1st and is expected to be in top condition for the gridiron season.

The Newton Pals shut out the Earnshaw Mills nine 5 to 0 last Friday night in a Newton twi-league game at Victory field. Jakey Pass was on the mound for the Pals and held the first-half champions to two hits. His teammates played errorless ball behind him and scored three runs in the fifth and two in the seventh. Schlieparker, pitching for the Earnshaw was touched for seven hits.

George Lambie's quintet won the five-a-side soccer competition held under the auspices of Clan Lindsay at Waverley Oaks last Saturday afternoon. Eight teams were in the tournament and Lindsay won the final game in the afternoon's play 2 to 0. Silver badges were presented the winning team which included George Lambie, captain, Alec Tawse, Robert Curry, David Smith, and Thomas Small.

Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban won the State junior tennis doubles final at Longwood last Saturday defeating Bell and Coen, 6-4, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2. The Waban pair won the first set and then raced through the second for a 6-2 score. In the third set errors upset their play and their opponents improved to win 8 to 6 by breaking through Johnson's service. Centering their attack on Coen, who took the brunt of the play all the way through the local team captured the fourth and deciding match.

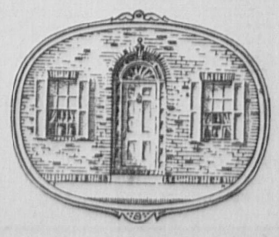
Arthur Noble was defeated by Junior Coen in the final of the State boys' singles at Longwood last Saturday 6-1, 6-0. The Kansas City boy dropped but two games in his entire play through the tournament. One to Noble and one in the semifinals to Scott, Noble's partner in the boys' doubles.

Noble and Scott captured the doubles title in the boys' state tournament from Nat Niles, Jr., and Louis Volpe, Jr., of Newton Centre, 4-6, 6-0, 7-5.

In the junior singles Johnson put out his doubles partner, Malcolm Hill in the fourth round 6-1, 7-5 only to lose to John Doeg of California in the semi-finals 7-5, 6-4.

Hill and Johnson were eliminated in the third round of the Longwood doubles by John Barr and Wilmer Allison of Texas in a hard fought match, 11-9, 6-4.

Saxony Mills was defeated Wednesday night at Victory field by the Philadelphia Colored giants, 3 to 1 in a seven-inning game. Crudup, visiting pitcher, held the locals to two hits. Collins, who scored the Saxony's only tally, getting one and Walsh the other.



Garage Man Couldn't Pass Up That Chance

"Three gallons of gas, please."

"Yes, sir. Want some cylinder oil, too?"

"No, just gas."

"Do you want some paint? Your car needs it and we've got some dandy paint—heat-proof, dirt-proof, guaranteed to wear long."

"No, I want only gas today."

"Then you want your car washed?"

"I said I wanted only gas."

"You want a tire then. We've got some good nonskids. Only $40 apiece. Want one? Yours—"

"I tell you I want only gas today!"

"Yes—sir; but—say, your rear lights are all shot to pieces. You need new ones. We just got in some dandy new crack-proof celluloid lights. Shall I put some in?"

"No! I want only gas, do you understand?"

"Your magneto needs adjusting—didja hear that funny noise in the motor when you stop? It needs adjusting. I'll fix it, what?"

"No! I want only gas, gas! Do you hear!"

"Yes, sir!" And with the gas obtained, the exasperated motorist drove angrily away. But for once the garage man had got even with his barber.—W. Peter Schramm, in the New Yorker.

Old Yuletide Custom Passing in England

An old custom, now almost extinct, existing only in certain portions of rural England, was that of the Christmas "waits" who went from house to house, singing carols, or discoursing music from various instruments, not always harmonious, and yet under the holy impression of the season the wild minstrelsy rang out upon the frosty midnight air and fell upon the listening ear with pleasure. Not more than forty years ago in Great Britain, it was a common thing for these singers of the holy night to pass along the streets, pausing here and there to render some song appropriate to the season. The origin of this custom may undoubtedly be traced to the Gloria in Excelsis, the song which the angels sang at the birth of the Redeemer near Bethlehem.

Not Quite Sure

The demure young woman signed her name in the hotel register "Mrs. T. Brown," and asked the clerk whether there were any letters for her.

"I don't suppose," he said, taking one from the rack, "that this could be meant for you." And he handed her a letter addressed "Mrs. T. Browne."

"Oh, yes," said the young woman, eagerly, "that's mine! I recognize the writing!"

"But you spell your name differently," said the clerk. "You spell it 'B-r-o-w-n,' while the name on the letter has a final 'e.'"

"That's all right," she replied. "I'm never quite sure how he spells it."

"Who?"

"My husband, of course. You see, we've been married only two days!"

Indian Romance

When you see a little Indian boy on the Glacier National Park reservation sitting by a stream ruminating he is not playing hookey from school. No, he's in love with a Blackfoot maiden and he is there by the stream romantically vowing his troth so that the rushing waters will carry to his sweetheart the fervor of his soul's desire.

She, of course, lives a few miles down the course of the rivulet and, he hopes, is at this very moment seated somewhere on the bank thinking the same thoughts that absorb him. Love making is just as queer among the Indians as it is when it takes possession of the pale-face youth.

A Sour Note

In a certain midwestern university letter grades are used. A, B, C, D and E, the latter standing for complete failure. A student recently appended the following brief note to his poorly written paper:

"Dear Professor: I know this is pretty bad; but I have been awfully busy leading the campus sings and have had little time for study."

When the paper was returned, it bore a short annotation. The professor had drawn a musical clef and inserted a single note—E flat. Beneath it he had written, "Sing this!"—Youth's Companion.

Cake Makes Town Famous

Nuremberg is one of the best known towns in Germany so far as American readers are concerned, probably because of Wagner's opera, "The Meistersinger of Nuremberg," but the fact remains that in Europe Nuremberg is more famous for its cake known as the Lubkuechen. The cake is made from a remarkable old recipe, and furthermore is made in animal shapes or, as is the case of the more ambitious bakers, in human poses, one of the best known being that of a country squire out walking. The cakes are shipped to all parts of the world.

Signifies Writer's Slip

The word "sic," introduced into a quotation, means that the words are those of the writer quoted and not those of the present writer. Suppose you were writing to a friend and quoting a remark from a paper that "the boot should then be placed on the head"—when "foot" is meant—you might add (sic) after the words to emphasize the fact that the slip is not yours. The word actually means "so," implying that it was so written.—Exchange.

DEMANDS SHOW DOWN

W. Lloyd Allen, attorney for Fred C. Woodward of Needham asks the Newton aldermen to take action on the petition of his client for a permit to run buses on Needham and Boylston streets. Wodward made his first application for a permit in October 1924, and subsequently made other requests to the aldermen. According to the agreement drawn up between the city of Newton and the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway, when the latter started to replace its electric cars with buses, that corporation is to receive the first opportunity to start new bus lines in the city. When application is made by anyone for bus permits on a new route, the M. & B. has 30 days in which to start buses on such a route, if it so desires. Should it decline, the petitioner is to receive consideration.

To date, there has been no official announcement that the M. & B. has ever been asked to run a line of buses on the route specified in Woodward's petition. Judge Allen asks that the M. & B. be officially offered a refusal, as provided for in the Bus Regulations.

BEARS FAMOUS NAME

The President is the name of a Studebaker Big Six Custom Sedan for seven passengers—one of the line of custom designed motor cars recently announced—and it is interesting to note how truly the character of the car proves worthy of its name. The President is a study in reserved dignity.

The full-vision steel body is finished in lustrous black with a belt of Thistle Green, pin-striped in Siskiyou Yellow. The interior is upholstered in deep gray broad-cloth and broadlace trim. A color scheme of Croatan Green with black belt and pin striping in ivory and upholstery in mohair is optional. Butler finish hardware, silk curtains, toggle grips and opal iridescent corner and dome lights, the latter lighting when the rear door is opened, complete the effect of custom refinement.

Both front and rear seats are deep and wide and form-fashioned to assure maximum riding ease. Even the auxiliary seats for the sixth and seventh passengers are designed and dimensioned to give full comfort.

On the instrument board, which is finished in a harmonizing duotone lacquer, the instruments—speedometer, ammeter, gasoline gauge, engine heat indicator, oil pressure gauge and clock—are artistically grouped under glass and illuminated by indirect lighting. Ventilation, without draft, is obtained by an exclusively designed windshield, controlled by turning a convenient handle on the dash. The double-beam headlights are operated by a lever on the steering column.

Custom design has given the car low-swung graceful lines. Four-wheel brakes, balloon tires and Watson stabilators insure comfort and safety on every type of road.

PURCELL—WHITFORD

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Lulu Belle Whitford, 40 Walter street, Somerville, to Phillip Purcell, 11 Lincoln place, West Newton, which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whitford, at three o'clock on July 26th.

The marriage was the culmination of a romance started on the telegraph wires of the Western Union. Mrs. Purcell formerly was employed as a recorder in the Boston office, while Mr. Purcell was employed at the Auburndale office.

A luncheon was served after the wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Whitford. After the luncheon the bride and groom left for a honeymoon through the White Mountains thence the Berkshires and New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Purcell will be at home at 11 Lincoln place after August ninth.

INNOVATION AT RIVERSIDE

Saturday and Sunday evenings a new wrinkle was devised for the entertainment of the thousands of canoeists on the Charles at Riverside. Members of the Auburndale Canoe Association gathered together a sizable orchestra, boarded a large float and went out on the river to play popular selections for the amusement of their fellow canoeists. Several hundreds of canoes surrounded the float and assisted in propelling it down to the Wa Be Wa Wa Boat Club and then back to Riverside. This nautical concert will be repeated every week-end during the summer.

ALDERMEN GRANT LICENSES

The Board of Aldermen have granted the following licenses:—

Albert Paley, dealer in second hand autos, 49 Elmwood street, 2nd class.

Bernard Motor Co., dealer in second hand motors, 405 Washington street, 1st class.

Mary Sloan, intelligence office, 340 Centre street.

Patrick Cooney, 45 Moulton street, trucking and express.

R. J. Rose, 76 Bennington street, 2 taxis, 1st class.

Frank Mason, 277 Washington street, intelligence office.

Catherine Brady, 1245 Washington street, common victualler.

Jacob Kligman of 456 Watertown street has another petition before the aldermen. One would need a Burroughs adding machine to count the number of times Jacob has presented petitions to the aldermen. Almost without exception they have been refused. This time he seeks to obtain a permit for a filling station and 19-car public garage.

Michael Bomba of 161 School street, Waltham, was refused a permit for a pool room at 2363 Washington street, Lower Falls; Gertrude Cohen was refused a permit for a common victualler license at 870 Walnut street; Herbert Newbrook was refused a similar permit at 245 Walnut street. Most persons applying for such permits do so because they wish to do business on Sundays. The License Committee gave leave to withdraw to Giovanni Amicangioli who asked for a common victualler license at 391 Langley road. His petition was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

GLOUCESTER SERVICE RESUMED

There are more good things near at hand, within an easy economical steamboat ride, than one would ever imagine without having special attention called to them. For instance, there is Gloucester, the headquarters of all the valiant and hardy fishermen of the northern Atlantic coast, and the centre of the Atlantic coast fish supply. The sail to Gloucester, down along the north shore, skirting historic Salem, Marblehead and Manchester-by-the-Sea, is one of the prettiest out of Boston harbor.

The Gloucester trips, always so popular, were abandoned some months ago, owing to lack of wharfing facilities, but since July 18 and daily, the Massachusetts Bay Steamboat Line of which Mr. Ralph Emery of this city is treasurer, is running the steamer Monhegan from Bay Line wharf, 400 Atlantic avenue, at 10.30 Daylight Savni gtime. The Monhegan has recently passed United States inspection, and has been entirely refitted and overhauled. Refreshments are served on board and staterooms are available. The price of the round trip is $1.50, and tickets may be obtained at the wharf, or at the Service Bureau of Filene's Store.

WINIFRED SMITH MARRIES

Winifred Smith, daughter of Mrs. Ann P. Smith of Newton Centre, was married July 17 at Elkton, Maryland, to Harry L. Grice of Baltimore. The bride has been on the stage for several years and is making her home at oFrest Park, Maryland.

MARK PARKER BIRTHPLACE

Monday afternoon a tablet was erected and dedicated at Auburndale to mark the birthplace of Horatio William Parker, late professor at Yale University and a composer of international repute. The exercises were under the auspices of the American Institute of Normal Methods, a summer institute of public school music supervisors. The tablet is inscribed with the date of Prof. Parker's birth, September 15, 1863; the date of his death, December 18, 1919, and refers to him as scholar, teacher, composer, friend. It was unveiled by his widow, Mrs. Anna P. Parker of New York. Prof. Birge of Indiana University sang one of Prof. Parker's songs, "I Remember."

Mr. Parker composed a number of oratorios, symphonies and operas. His oratorio, "Hora Novissima" was the first American composition to be played at the famous festival at Chester, England, and secured a degree for him from Cambridge University. His birthplace was at 7 Williston road.

POLICE NEWS

A number of offenders against automobile laws paid fines last Friday. Those fined for speeding were—Thomas Wheeler, Northampton street, Boston, $10; Albert Anderson, Morse street, Natick, $10; Alvira Butler, 1870 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, $10; Louis Spezzano, 97 Florence street, Newton Centre, $5; George Greene, High street, Ashland, $10. John Stuart of 150 Warren street, Newton Centre was fined $25 for driving without a license.

In court Monday Kaprian Polomarenko of Framingham was charged by Motorcycle Officers Goddard and McHugh with driving while under the influence of liquor. Kaprian's case was continued until August 4. Another charged with driving "wutiol" was John Pendergast of Cummings road. His case will also be heard August 4. Thomas Prattin of Framingham was fined $10 for speeding; also $10 for driving with improper lights.

In court Tuesday, Fletcher Denley of Malden was fined $25 for an offence against morals. He was arrested by Officers Bailey and Stanton.

FREE UNIFORMS FOR TRAFFIC COPS

Newton's traffic police are looking nifty in new khaki uniforms. The aldermen appropriated $325 to purchase new suits for the cops who wig-wag their arms. A couple of months past, Chief Burke supplied the motor-cycle police with brand new togs, but the traffic squad was not provided for at that time.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Judge Bacon, on Friday, sentenced Alfred Hicks of Austin street, to the Shirley Industrial School. He held for the Grand Jury Herbert Moran of Austin street, Lawrence Hanlon of Bailey place and Francis Frost of East Side parkway. Hicks took an appeal. The four young men were accused of entering the Oakley Spa at Newtonville and taking cigarettes and other articles.

CAPSIZES ON CHARLES

Persons who cannot swim will persist in playing with death by going out in canoes. George Hurlburt, 19, and William Pavos, 20, both of South Boston, hired a canoe at Auburndale Saturday evening, and while attempting to navigate it opposite Norumbega Park, capsized. They clung to the craft until rescued by Patrolman Edward Roche of the Metropolitan Police. On Sunday six canoes overturned, but all these upsets were in shallow water, so the only damage was to the clothing and dignity of the victims.

SLIGHT FIRE AT LUMBER YARD

Saturday night as Motorcycle Officer Goddard was patrolling Commonwealth avenue, he noticed smoke coming from the White-Cary lumber yard. Pulling Box 48, he hastened to the yard and discovered a chimney fire in one of the buildings which was causing many sparks to fall on the adjacent piles of lumber. When the firemen arrived, the blaze in the chimney was extinguished in short order.

NEWTON'S WAR DEAD

The Newton Graphic is preparing a War Memorial to show the part Newton played in the great war. One of the principal features, of course, will be as full and complete a list as possible of those who gave their lives in that great struggle. to forbid the free use of public highways.

The law forbids posters or placards being pasted or nailed to trees or posts along our streets. It seems inconsistent that such advertising boosting the candidacies of men running for public office, should be so frequently seen placed in violation of the law. It may be probable that the placards are tacked on trees without the knowledge of those whose cause they are pleading, but it is an easy matter to caution those distributing the cards not to violate the law.

The Lincoln School at the corner of Pearl and Thornton street is being painted. This old wooden school was built about the time of the Civil War, and if located in most parts of the city, would have been condemned long ago. But, the children who attend it seem to be as healthy as those in the modern schools.

Grand Canyon Marvel of Peace and Beauty

We did not expect to love the canyon. Friends had presaged a deep, overwhelming round of earth's side. Colored postals and railroad folders had prepared us for crudely hued lozenges on the precipitate walls. We expected neat, zebra stripes of vermillion, ochre and cobalt.

Instead we looked into the beautiful soft gulch of the canyon and our hearts were won. The crisp Arizona morning was cupped there when we first beheld it—on the deep sunken plateau with its dotted firs, on the pale pastels of the irregular far walls. Truncated peaks wore crowns of melted azure light and lower wreaths of faded geranium. The immense peace of the great jagged bowl played over us, an unplumbed, unfathomable mantle of serenity.

We saw colors change, the pinks grow dull, the soft bands of azure break up, and etherize in the full noon, then brood together as the lights lengthened, and set in colder strands of petunia blue. On the slab side of the river walls we saw the sweetest pearls cling and the gulf brim with frostier blues, until it lost them in dusk and night. Then on the brim in the high, clean wind we walked by that invisible cavern, saw the stars, large, fringed and low, and knew that vast as a familiar place where we could be at peace.—Christian Science Monitor.

Ancient Industry Is That of Bread Baking

Baking is probably the very oldest industry man engaged in. Wheat and barley, the oldest cereals known to have been found, together with the plowshare fashioned of wood and the stone hand mill consisting of a hollowed stone and a stone ball-shaped crusher, among the remains left by prehistoric man. The oldest bread was made in the form of cakes or fritters simply prepared by mixing wheat or barley to a batter with water and milk and baking these batter cakes of maybe the size and form of our present-day griddle cakes on hot ashes or over red-hot coals, or a hot stone, which represented the first bread pan and oven combined. Salt was probably the only other ingredient used besides the milk and water, as there was no baking powder and yeast was not used until brewing beer from germinated barley had become known. The Egyptians had perfected both baking and brewing 1,500 years before the beginning of the Christian era.

Rubbing It In

A well-known actress was appearing in a play with a certain actor who was noted for his irritability. He complained that the woman continually laughed at him during one of his most important scenes.

At last he wrote her a letter, in which he said: "I am extremely sorry to tell you that it is impossible for me to make any effect in my scene if you persist in laughing at me on the stage. May I ask you to change your manner, as the scene is a most trying one?"

To this the actress replied: "You are quite mistaken. I never laugh at you on the stage. I wait till I get home!"

New One

Here is a news item that someone in Los Angeles can probably get away with—once.

It was to blow out a match that John Helfetz speeded his automobile through North Broadway, Yonkers, at 35 miles an hour.

"I had three girls in my car and one of them tried to light a cigarette," he explained to the judge, adding: "I guess I'm a bit old-fashioned. I din't want my girl to smoke, so I stepped on the gas. The breeze blew out every match she tried to light."

And the judge smilingly said that that was a new one and suspended sentence.

Fox Changes Color

The blue fox is a color phase of the Arctic, or white fox, which is circumpolar in range, being found particularly along the seacoast of Arctic and subarctic regions. Its normal winter coat is white, while the summer pelage is brown and tawny. The blue fox is dark bluish in winter and tends toward brownish in summer. There are intermediates in which the coat may be spotted blue and white, or the blue and white may be blended, producing a dingy or smoky-white appearance.

Leading Languages

French is possibly the simplest language to learn. The German grammar is extremely complicated and English pronunciation is difficult for certain foreigners. The English language also contains a great number of colloquialisms used in everyday speech, which takes some time to acquire. All languages do not contain the same number of words. The English language contains approximately 700,000 words; German dictionaries contain about 300,000 words; French, 210,000 words.

Fortune Close at Hand

Whatever is necessary for your improvement, your enjoyment, your usefulness, is close to you. Distance lends enchantment to the view, but when a man is wise he knows he is standing on enchanted ground. A man's star is never in the sky. It is in his brain. Your ship of gold is not on the high seas; it is at the quay waiting to be unloaded and discharged. Your fortune is not at the bottom of a rainbow; it is at your feet.—W. L. Watkinson.

Mexican Couples Go in State to Wedding

Ancient wedding customs are still observed by the Mexicans. Their church weddings are always held in the morning. The bride and groom ride to the church in a closed carriage, with a footman and a driver in white trousers and correct English livery. The horses have docked tails and heavy white leather collars, besides white cockades streaming from their bridles.

The real picture, however, is said to be inside the carriage, which is completely lined with satin in a sort of tufted effect. The contracting parties sit beside each other. The bride wears conventional white and the groom evening clothes. Directly opposite them is a small child dressed in white velvet with the ring pillow on his lap. The wedding ceremony contains many picturesque symbols. The climax of the affair comes when the bride and groom are bound together with a heavy string. Immediately after the ceremony the whole party goes to the photographer's.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Painless Surgery Has Made Rapid Advance

The surgery of a century ago was a painful and almost brutal procedure, the Scientific American says. With the coming of antisepsis and later of asepsis, following the work of Lister and Pasteur, the mortality which resulted from surgery was greatly reduced through the elimination of bacterial infection following operation.

With the development of anesthesia, beginning with the work of Morton and Long on ether, and following with chloroform, nitrous oxid-oxygen gas, stovain and intraspinal anesthesia, the use of narcotics preliminary to operation to reduce the patient's sensibility and, more recently, the development of another gas anesthetic, ethylene, physicians have been able to work more slowly, more carefully and more accurately, extending surgical procedures to organs heretofore unapproachable by the surgeon's knife, thereby saving many lives in conditions previously called inoperable.

Moreover, continued study of nerve routes and nerve paths, with the development of anesthetic substances which may be applied directly to nerves, permits effectively blocking the sense of pain which may proceed along the nerves to the brain. So-called local anesthesia with such drugs as procain and butyn enables surgeons to operate on patients who are fully conscious and therefore are better able to resist the shock which may accompany extensive operative measures.

Comes Under Head of "Better Left Unsaid"

It was our first call on the new neighbors and Mr. B—— and I were engaged in a casual conversation about the peculiar names of certain dogs of the community.

The women, who had been parties to our conversation in its beginning, it seems, had switched to the subject of their own names and those of their families, while we were still talking dogs, and when there came a moment of silence between Mr. B—— and me I heard the end of Mrs. B——'s remark about "Fanny." Wishing to show my interest and having noted a rather disgusted inflection in my hostess' voice, I said sympathetically, "Fanny, good Lord, who's dog's that?"

I never have been more embarrassed in my life than when, after an awkward pause, my wife said: "Mrs. B——'s name is Fanny."—Chicago Tribune.

Faithful but Fractious

Some of these young women treat love as though it was a naughty boy who should be made to stand in a corner except as a great treat once in six weeks. . . . Women can be very tiresome. Wives can be intolerable. England and America are strewn with good men suffering from their wives' virtues. It is damnable. When a woman is faithful to her husband she generally manages to take it out of him in some other way. The mere fact that she is faithful makes her think that she has a right to be —well, disagreeable. Fidelity can cause the devil of a lot of trouble in the home unless it is well managed. Fidelity needs just as much good management as infidelity.—From "May Fair," by Michael Arlen.

The Safe Thrift Side

The advice of the thrift editor of the Tifton Gazette, given in rhyme, is to avoid getting "walloped by adversity." He says—

"Who spends his income as it comes and saves no systematic sums may some day find himself in dutch and need his money very much.

"If you would prosper and progress and crown your future with success, adopt some systematic plan of banking all the cash you can.

Secret of Scent

Scent is still in many respects an unsolved mystery. We know that almost every object gives out tiny particles which produce the sensation of scent. But the size of these particles is minute beyond belief, for a grain of musk will scent a drawer for a generation without losing any weight. Again, why is it that on one day a fox leaves a scent which hounds can follow at full speed, while on the next there is so little that the pack is utterly at loss? Scent does not depend upon the weather—that much we know.

Old National Emblems

Previous to the union of England and Scotland the shield of England was upheld by two lions. The shield of Scotland was upheld by two unicorns. After the union the lion appeared on one side and the unicorn on the other. Before the union the English shield contained three lions passant (walking) on a field of gold. The Scotch shield contained the lion rampant (standing on its hind legs) on a field of gold.

Old Egyptian Dolls

Judging by findings amongst the wrappings of mummified infants, the favorite toys in ancient Egypt were dolls. Some have a grotesque appearance, but a common kind of doll consisted of a flat board—like a large, bowlless spoon—the round part painted or carved to represent a face. Legs were usually absent. Others are so small that they can be strung like big beads, on threads that make a mop of hair for the doll's head.

ARTICLE No. 31

A large proportion of the questions submitted by correspondents are in reference to a take-out of partner's no-trump when second hand has passed. Every player has his own pet theory and the writer is no exception. In his opinion, a player should overbid partner's no-trump under the following conditions:

(a) Having an original bid in either major suit;
(b) Any six or more cards in either major suit;
(c) Any two five card suits;
(d) Any five card major suit if the hand contains a void suit, a singleton or no help for partner's no-trump.

In any discussion as to the advisability of taking out partner's no-trump bid with a bid of two hearts or two spades, careful consideration should be given to what the no-trump bidder should do. That is, if the dealer bids one no-trump, second hand passes and the dealer's partner bids two hearts or spades, with what type of hand should the dealer bid two no-trump or pass? Any theory of the take-out that you may adopt is incomplete without a thorough understanding between partners as to the procedure dealer should follow subsequent to the take-out. I am of the opinion that if this procedure becomes thoroughly understood, there will not be the various differences of opinion as to the take-out. With a partner who understands what to do after a take-out, it is much easier to arrive at the best bid of the two hands. The purpose of the take-out, of course, is to bid a suit that offers a better chance for game than the no-trump. If, however, the original no-trump bidder still considers the no-trump offers a better chance for game, he should bid two no-trump. If you adopt this procedure it is much safer to take out the no-trump with any five card major suit. Such a bid gives that information to partner and if he doesn't consider it the best bid for game, he should bid two no-trump. Such a procedure can never do any harm and in many hands will enable partners to make a game not otherwise possible. Auction is a partnership game and gives the best results when partners endeavor to bid twenty-six cards correctly, rather than thirteen. The free take-out of partner's no-trump handled by both players as just outlined seems to obtain the best bid of the two hands, and for that reason seems to be the right thing to do.

In the following hands there is no score, partner has bid one no-trump and second hand has passed. Do you think you should take him out? Think it over and compare results in the next article.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending July 24:—Patients in hospital 124; patients paying as much as cost of care or more $50; patients paying less than cost of care 41; free patients, including babies 33; babies born, boys 7, girls 7; patients treated by out patient department 102; accident cases 19; social service calls at hospital 12, at homes 10; patients transferred by social service car 7.

The recent intense heat spell gave the hospital three prostration cases. Two stayed over night and one was discharged after a few hours rest.

The children's ward is full and the possibility of having cribs on the piazza of the ward makes it possible to care for more of the little patients than would be possible in colder weather.

It has been possible during the last week to do some necessary painting in some of the rooms.

The executive committee at its meeting last week voted to purchase the much needed new ambulance in the near future.

Many of the nurses were able to attend the tennis games at Longwood Cricket Club through the kindness of a friend who supplied tickets.

Three new water coolers have been added to the hospital equipment.

Many friends of the hospital who are away for the summer have had sent to the hospital from the gardens of their Newton homes quantities of beautiful flowers.

TWO WOMEN ON THE BEACH

Two women were lolling upon the warm sand of a Cape beach one afternoon last summer.

"Such a vacation day as this has been," said one of them. "We come down here for rest and comfort. Yet I've spent all morning washing and ironing, something that I never have to do at home. Here, though, it is impossible to beg, borrow, or steal a laundress, and I just don't dare send fine summer things to strangers."

"I understand that feeling," replied the other woman. "What I don't understand, however, is why you don't provide yourself with laundry service at home that will follow you on your vacation. All of our laundry was sent off by parcel post this Monday morning. The postage charge was practically nothing. Then on Friday or Saturday we'll have the freshly-laundered things delivered to us just as if we were at home. There'll be no postage to pay either, for the laundry takes care of that charge one way."

Of course, you have guessed already that the second woman has been a regular customer of ours for years.

WAS NOT DROWNED

Saturday afternoon Willis S. Fitch of 14 Sargent street, while motoring through Worcester, stopped at Lake Quinsigamond and went in for a swim. When he emerged from the water he could not find his clothes, and supposing they had been stolen he drove home in his bathing suit. Later on in the day the Worcester police were told that some clothing remained unclaimed on the shore of the lake and they started a search to find the supposed victim of drowning. Through marks on the clothing the ownership was traced to Mr. Fitch. When he learned that the Worcester police were of the opinion he had been lost in the lake, he quickly informed them he is very much alive.

VAGRANT ARRESTED

August Waler, colored, of 1065 Calvert avenue, Baltimore, was in court Monday morning charged with vagrancy. He was arrested by Officer Forristall on complaint of Rev. T. P. McManmom of Corpus Christi Church, from whom he had solicited money. It was learned that he also had received aid from Rev. T. A. Curtin of Newton Centre. He pleaded guilty and his case was placed on file. Waler claimed he was endeavoring to raise his carfare from Boston to Baltimore.

NEWTON'S CASCADE

One does not have to travel to the White Mountains to see a cascade. There is one in this city—at least during every heavy rain. For some years the Eliot Block at Newton Corner has provided a small cascade with a fall of 60 feet or more. It does not give a beautiful scenic effect ,but it effectively drenches pedestrians who walk on the sidewalk adjoining Eliot Block while a rainstorm is in progress. Some of those who have enjoyed the heavy shower baths at this place would appreciate it if the gutters and water conductors on this building were repaired.
